26-51-1401. Apportionment and allocation.

(a) Except as otherwise specifically provided, a financial institution whose business activity is taxable both within and without this state shall allocate and apportion its net income as provided in this subchapter. All items of nonbusiness income, income which is not includable in the apportionable income tax base, shall be allocated pursuant to the provisions of §§ 26-51-704 — 26-51-708. A financial institution organized under the laws of a foreign country, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, or a territory or possession of the United States whose effectively connected income, as defined under the federal Internal Revenue Code, as in effect January 1, 1995, is taxable both within this state and within another state, other than the state in which it is organized, shall allocate and apportion its net income as provided in this subchapter.

(b) (1) All business income, income which is includable in the apportionable income tax base, shall be apportioned to this state by multiplying such income by the apportionment percentage.

(2) The apportionment percentage is determined by adding the taxpayer's receipts factor as described in § 26-51-1403, property factor as described in § 26-51-1404, and payroll factor as described in § 26-51-1405 together and dividing the sum by three (3). If one (1) of the factors is missing, the two (2) remaining factors are added and the sum is divided by two (2). If two (2) of the factors are missing, the remaining factor is the apportionment percentage. A factor is missing if both its numerator and denominator are zero, but it is not missing merely because its numerator is zero.

(c) Each factor shall be computed according to the method of accounting, cash or accrual basis, used by the taxpayer for the taxable year.

(d) If the allocation and apportionment provisions of this subchapter do not fairly represent the extent of the taxpayer's business activity in this state, the taxpayer may petition for, or the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration may require, in respect to all or any part of the taxpayer's business activity, if reasonable:

(1) Separate accounting;

(2) The exclusion of any one (1) or more of the factors;

(3) The inclusion of one (1) or more additional factors which will fairly represent the taxpayer's business activity in this state; or

(4) The employment of any other method to effectuate an equitable allocation and apportionment of the taxpayer's income.

(B) The amount of interest, dividends, net gains, but not less than zero (0), and other income from investment assets and activities in the investment account to be attributed to this state and included in the numerator is determined by multiplying all such income from such assets and activities by a fraction, the numerator of which is the average value of such assets which are properly assigned to a regular place of business of the taxpayer within this state and the denominator of which is the average value of all such assets.

(C) The amount of interest from federal funds sold and purchased and from securities purchased under resale agreements and securities sold under repurchase agreements attributable to this state and included in the numerator is determined by multiplying the amount described in subdivision (m)(1)(D) of this section from such funds and such securities by a fraction, the numerator of which is the average value of federal funds sold and securities purchased under agreements to resell which are properly assigned to a regular place of business of the taxpayer within this state and the denominator of which is the average value of all such funds and such securities.

(D) The amount of interest, dividends, gains, and other income from trading assets and activities, including, but not limited to, assets and activities in the matched book, in the arbitrage book and in foreign currency transactions, but excluding amounts described in subdivision (m)(2)(B) or (C) of this section, attributable to this state and included in the numerator is determined by multiplying the amount described in subdivision (m)(1)(E) of this section by a fraction, the numerator of which is the average value of such trading assets which are properly assigned to a regular place of business of the taxpayer within this state and the denominator of which is the average value of all such assets.

(E) For purposes of this subdivision (m)(2), average value shall be determined using the rules for determining the average value of tangible personal property set forth in § 26-51-1404(c) and (d).

(3) (A) In lieu of using the method set forth in subdivision (m)(2) of this section, the taxpayer may elect, or the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration may require in order to fairly represent the business activity of the taxpayer in this state, the use of the method set forth in this subdivision (m)(3).

(B) The amount of interest, dividends, net gains, but not less than zero

(0), and other income from investment assets and activities in the investment account to be attributed to this state and included in the numerator is determined by multiplying all such income from such assets and activities by a fraction, the numerator of which is the gross income from such assets and activities which are properly assigned to a regular place of business of the taxpayer within this state and the denominator of which is the gross income from all such assets and activities.

(C) The amount of interest from federal funds sold and purchased and from securities purchased under resale agreements and securities sold under repurchase agreements attributable to this state and included in the numerator is determined by multiplying the amount described in subdivision (m)(1)(D) of this section from such funds and such securities by a fraction, the numerator of which is the gross income from such funds and such securities which are properly assigned to a regular place of business of the taxpayer within this state and the denominator of which is the gross income from all such funds and such securities.

(D) The amount of interest, dividends, gains, and other income from trading assets and activities, including, but not limited to, assets and activities in the matched book, in the arbitrage book and in foreign currency transactions, but excluding amounts described in subdivision (m)(3)(B) or (C) of this section, attributable to this state and included in the numerator is determined by multiplying the amount described in subdivision (m)(1)(E) of this section by a fraction, the numerator of which is the gross income from such trading assets and activities which are properly assigned to a regular place of business of the taxpayer within this state and the denominator of which is the gross income from all such assets and activities.

(4) If the taxpayer elects or is required by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration to use the method set forth in subdivision (m)(3) of this section, it shall use this method on all subsequent returns unless the taxpayer receives prior permission from the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration to use, or the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration requires, a different method.

(5) The taxpayer shall have the burden of proving that an investment asset or activity or trading asset or activity was properly assigned to a regular place of business outside of this state by demonstrating that the day-to-day decisions regarding the asset or activity occurred at a regular place of business outside this state. Where the day-to-day decisions regarding an investment asset or activity or trading asset or activity occur at more than one (1) regular place of business and one (1) such regular place of business is in this state and one (1) such regular place of business is outside this state, such asset or activity shall be considered to be located at the regular place of business of the taxpayer where the investment or trading policies or guidelines with respect to the asset or activity are established. Unless the taxpayer demonstrates to the contrary, such policies and guidelines shall be presumed to be established at the commercial domicile of the taxpayer.

(n) All Other Receipts. The numerator of the receipts factor includes all other receipts pursuant to the rules set forth in §§ 26-51-715 — 26-51-717.

(o) Attribution of Certain Receipts to Commercial Domicile. All receipts which would be assigned under this section to a state in which the taxpayer is not taxable shall be included in the numerator of the receipts factor, if the taxpayer's commercial domicile is in this state.

History. Acts 1995, No. 495, § 1.

U.S. Code. Section 1286 of the Internal Revenue Code, referred to in this section, is codified as 26 U.S.C. § 1286.

26-51-1404. Property factor.

(a) Generally. The property factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the average value of real property and tangible personal property rented to the taxpayer that is located or used within this state during the taxable year, the average value of the taxpayer's real and tangible personal property owned that is located or used within this state during the taxable year, and the average value of the taxpayer's loans and credit card receivables that are located within this state during the taxable year; and the denominator of which is the average value of all such property located or used within and without this state during the taxable year.

(b) Property Included. The property factor shall include only property the income or expenses of which are included, or would have been included if not fully depreciated or expensed, or depreciated or expensed to a nominal amount, in the computation of the apportionable income base for the taxable year.

(c) Value of Property Owned by the Taxpayer.

(1) The value of real property and tangible personal property owned by the taxpayer is the original cost or other basis of such property for federal income tax purposes without regard to depletion, depreciation, or amortization.

(2) Loans are valued at their outstanding principal balance, without regard to any reserve for bad debts. If a loan is charged off, in whole or in part, for federal income tax purposes, the portion of the loan charged off is not outstanding. A specifically allocated reserve established pursuant to regulatory or financial accounting guidelines which is treated as charged off for federal income tax purposes shall be treated as charged off for purposes of this section.

(3) Credit card receivables are valued at their outstanding principal balance, without regard to any reserve for bad debts. If a credit card receivable is charged off, in whole or in part, for federal income tax purposes, the portion of the receivable charged off is not outstanding.

(d) Average Value of Property Owned by the Taxpayer.

(1) The average value of property owned by the taxpayer is computed on an annual basis by adding the value of the property on the first day of the taxable year and the value on the last day of the taxable year and dividing the sum by two (2).

(2) If averaging on this basis does not properly reflect average value, the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration may require averaging on a more frequent basis.

(3) The taxpayer may elect to average on a more frequent basis.

(4) When averaging on a more frequent basis is required by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration or is elected by the taxpayer, the same method of valuation must be used consistently by the taxpayer with respect to property within and without this state and on all subsequent returns unless the taxpayer receives prior permission from the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration or the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration requires a different method of determining average value.

(e) Average Value of Real Property and Tangible Personal Property Rented to the Taxpayer.

(1) The average value of real property and tangible personal property that the taxpayer has rented from another, and which is not treated as property owned by the taxpayer for federal income tax purposes, shall be determined annually by multiplying the gross rents payable during the taxable year by eight (8).

(2) (A) Where the use of the general method described in this subsection results in inaccurate valuations of rented property, any other method which properly reflects the value may be adopted by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration or by the taxpayer when approved in writing by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration.

(B) Once approved, such other method of valuation must be used on all subsequent returns unless the taxpayer receives prior approval from the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration or unless the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration requires a different method of valuation.

(f) Location of Real Property and Tangible Personal Property Owned by or Rented to the Taxpayer.

(1) Except as described in subdivision (f)(2) of this section, real property and tangible personal property owned by or rented to the taxpayer is considered to be located within this state if it is physically located, situated, or used within this state.

(2) (A) Transportation property is included in the numerator of the property factor to the extent that the property is used in this state.

(B) The extent an aircraft will be deemed to be used in this state and the amount of value that is to be included in the numerator of this state's property factor is determined by multiplying the average value of the aircraft by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of landings of the aircraft in this state and the denominator of which is the total number of landings of the aircraft everywhere.

(C) If the extent of the use of any transportation property within this state cannot be determined, then the property will be deemed to be used wholly in the state in which the property has its principal base of operations.

(D) A motor vehicle will be deemed to be used wholly in the state in which it is registered.

(g) Location of Loans.

(1) (A) A loan is considered to be located within this state if it is properly assigned to a regular place of business of the taxpayer within this state.

(B) A loan is properly assigned to the regular place of business with which it has a preponderance of substantive contacts.

(2) (A) A loan assigned by the taxpayer to a regular place of business without the state shall be presumed to have been properly assigned if:

(i) The taxpayer has assigned, in the regular course of its business, such loan on its records to a regular place of business consistent with federal or state regulatory requirements;

(ii) Such assignment on its records is based upon substantive contacts of the loan to such regular place of business; and

(iii) The taxpayer uses said records reflecting assignment of loans for the filing of all state and local tax returns for which an assignment of loans to a regular place of business is required.

(B) The presumption of proper assignment of a loan provided in subdivisions (g)(1)(B) and (g)(2)(A) of this section may be rebutted upon a showing by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration, supported by a preponderance of the evidence, that the preponderance of substantive contacts regarding such loan did not occur at the regular place of business to which it was assigned on the taxpayer's records.

(C) When such presumption has been rebutted, the loan shall then be located within this state if:

(i) The taxpayer had a regular place of business within this state at the time the loan was made; and

(ii) The taxpayer fails to show, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the preponderance of substantive contacts regarding such loan did not occur within this state.

(3) In the case of a loan which is assigned by the taxpayer to a place without this state which is not a regular place of business, it shall be presumed, subject to rebuttal by the taxpayer on a showing supported by the preponderance of evidence, that the preponderance of substantive contacts regarding the loan occurred within this state, if, at the time the loan was made, the taxpayer's commercial domicile, as defined by § 26-51-1402(3), was within this state.

(4) (A) To determine the state in which the preponderance of substantive contacts relating to a loan have occurred, the facts and circumstances regarding the loan at issue shall be reviewed on a case-by-case basis, and consideration shall be given to such activities as the solicitation, investigation, negotiation, approval, and administration of the loan.

(B) The terms “solicitation”, “investigation”, “negotiation”, “approval”, and “administration” are defined as follows:

(i) (a) “Solicitation” is either active or passive.

(b) Active solicitation occurs when an employee of the taxpayer initiates the contact with the customer. Such activity is located at the regular place of business which the taxpayer's employee is regularly connected with or working out of, regardless of where the services of such employee were actually performed.

(c) Passive solicitation occurs when the customer initiates the contact with the taxpayer. If the customer's initial contact was not at a regular place of business of the taxpayer, the regular place of business, if any, where the passive solicitation occurred is determined by the facts in each case;

(ii) “Investigation” is the procedure whereby employees of the taxpayer determine the credit-worthiness of the customer, as well as the degree of risk involved in making a particular agreement. Such activity is located at the regular place of business which the taxpayer's employees are regularly connected with or working out of, regardless of where the services of such employees were actually performed;

(iii) “Negotiation” is the procedure whereby employees of the taxpayer and its customer determine the terms of the agreement, e.g., the amount, duration, interest rate, frequency of repayment, currency denomination, and security required. Such activity is located at the regular place of business which the taxpayer's employees are regularly connected with or working out of, regardless of where the services of such employees were actually performed;

(iv) "Approval" is the procedure whereby employees or the board of directors of the taxpayer make the final determination whether to enter into the agreement. Such activity is located at the regular place of business which the taxpayer's employees are regularly connected with or working out of, regardless of where the services of such employees were actually performed. If the board of directors makes the final determination, such activity is located at the commercial domicile of the taxpayer; and

(v) "Administration" is the process of managing the account. This process includes bookkeeping, collecting the payments, corresponding with the customer, reporting to management regarding the status of the agreement, and proceeding against the borrower or the security interest if the borrower is in default. Such activity is located at the regular place of business which oversees this activity.

(h) Location of Credit Card Receivables. For purposes of determining the location of credit card receivables, credit card receivables shall be treated as loans and shall be subject to the provisions of subsection (g) of this section.

(i) Period for Which Properly Assigned Loan Remains Assigned. A loan that has been properly assigned to a state shall, absent any change of material fact, remain assigned to said state for the length of the original term of the loan. Thereafter, said loan may be properly assigned to another state if said loan has a preponderance of substantive contact to a regular place of business there.

26-51-1405. Payroll factor.

(a) Generally. The payroll factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the total amount paid in this state during the taxable year by the taxpayer for compensation and the denominator of which is the total compensation paid both within and without this state during the taxable year. The payroll factor shall include only that compensation which is included in the computation of the apportionable income tax base for the taxable year.

(b) Compensation Relating to Nonbusiness Income and Independent Contractors. The compensation of any employee for services or activities which are connected with the production of nonbusiness income, which is income that is not includable in the apportionable income base, and payments made to any independent contractor or any other person not properly classifiable as an employee shall be excluded from both the numerator and denominator of the factor.

(c) When Compensation Paid in this State. Compensation is paid in this state if any one (1) of the following tests, applied consecutively, is met:

- (1) The employee's services are performed entirely within this state;
- (2) The employee's services are performed both within and without the state, but the service performed without the state is incidental to the employee's service within the state. The term "incidental" means any service which is temporary or transitory in nature, or which is rendered in connection with an isolated transaction; and
- (3) If the employee's services are performed both within and without this state, the employee's compensation will be attributed to this state:

(A) If the employee's principal base of operations is within this state;

(B) If there is no principal base of operations in any state in which some part of the services are performed, but the place from which the services are directed or controlled is in this state; or

(C) If the principal base of operations and the place from which the services are directed or controlled are not in any state in which some part of the service is performed but the employee's residence is in this state.

26-51-1502. Legislative findings.

(a) Wetlands and riparian zones have significant benefits to the state. They include:

(1) Flood impact mitigation by slowing storm water runoff;

(2) Water quality enhancement by removing sediment, nitrogen, phosphorus, and other pollutants from surface water;

(3) Habitats for fish and wildlife, including waterfowl and rare or endangered species;

(4) Groundwater recharge can occur in wetlands that will assist in ensuring that groundwater is available for the future;

(5) Recreational uses for hunting, fishing, hiking, et cetera, that not only add to the quality of life, but also have a significant economic impact on the state; and

(6) Timber and food production in properly managed wetlands can provide wood products, plants, and animals for human and livestock consumption.

(b) Arkansas has lost over seventy percent (70%) of its pre-European settlement wetlands. Even though the rate of wetland loss in the United States has declined in recent years, wetlands in Arkansas continue to experience significant loss.

(c) The majority of lands suitable for wetlands and riparian zones are held by private owners. The state should encourage these owners to restore and enhance existing wetlands and riparian zones and, when possible, create new wetlands and riparian zones.

(d) The donation of wetland and riparian zone qualified real property interests should be encouraged by the state so that permanent protection of the conservation values of these lands is ensured.

26-51-1603. Credit permitted.

26-51-1604. Claiming the credit.

26-51-1605. Limits on amount of credit — Applicability of credit.

26-51-1606. Rules and regulations.

Cross References. Youth apprenticeship program, § 26-51-509.

26-51-1601. Legislative findings and intent.

The General Assembly finds that some of the youth apprenticeship/work-based learning programs in the state, while of high quality and standards, are not in occupations that are covered by Title 29, Subtitle (a), Part 29 of the Code of Federal Regulations which would allow the programs to be registered by the Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training of the U. S. Department of Labor. Employers of youth apprentices who are in programs/occupations registered by the Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training are allowed to participate in a two thousand dollar ($2,000) tax credit as provided in § 26-51-509. It is the intent of this subchapter to provide guidelines and a process for certifying high quality youth apprentice/work-based learning programs/occupations that meet the criteria set forth by the Vocational and Technical Education Division of the Department of Education in order that they may also participate in a two thousand dollar ($2,000) tax credit. The qualifying programs/occupations must meet the standards and program designs that are nationally recognized by business and industry and/or trade associations and have support by such groups in this state. No apprentice program may be certified as meeting the intent of the subchapter if its curriculum and standards are not nationally recognized and/or do not meet the criteria established for such programs.

History. Acts 1997, No. 1168, § 1.

A.C.R.C. Notes. The Vocational and Technical Education Division of the Department of Education was abolished and transferred to the Department of Workforce Education by a type 3 transfer under § 25-2-106 by Acts 1997, No. 803, § 4.

Subchapter 19 — Employee Tuition Reimbursement Tax Credit

26-51-1901. Legislative intent.

26-51-1902. Creation of tax incentive.

26-51-1903. Eligibility.

26-51-1901. Legislative intent.

It is recognized that the reimbursement or payment by an employer of or for tuition for employee training or courses that aid in improving job skills is in the best interest of the state. Increasing the skills and abilities of the workforce allows Arkansas to compete for jobs that require specialized knowledge and talent not available in sufficient supply. In order to reward those employers who subsidize educational opportunities for their employees and to encourage other employers to make such benefits available to their employees, it is necessary to create an incentive.

A.C.R.C. Notes. Acts 2005, No. 1232, § 1, provided:

“Legislative intent.

(a) Accelerate Arkansas, a statewide group of volunteers whose mission is to foster economic growth in Arkansas by raising the average Arkansas wage to the level of the national average wage by using the essential building blocks of the knowledge-based economy to create an environment supporting entrepreneurship and continuous innovation, developed its five-point strategy to increase per capita income:

- “(1) Support research and development that creates jobs;
- “(2) Provide incentives that make risk capital available in the funding gap;
- “(3) Encourage entrepreneurship and new enterprise development;
- “(4) Sustain successful existing companies; and
- “(5) Increase achievement in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics education.

“(b) These core strategies focus on the economic building blocks of research, entrepreneurship, risk capital, and the science and engineering workforce.

“(c) These core strategies are consistent with and supported by the findings in:

“(1) The Department of Economic Development's Report of the Task Force for the Creation of Knowledge-Based Jobs;

“(2) The Winthrop Rockefeller Foundation's Entrepreneurial Arkansas: Connecting the Dots; and

“(3) 'Arkansas' Position in the Knowledge-Based Economy', a report prepared by the Milken Institute and the Center for Business and Economic Research at the University of Arkansas.”

Amendments. The 2005 amendment substituted “or payment by an employer of or for tuition for employee training” for “by an employer of tuition paid by the employee for training.”

26-51-1902. Creation of tax incentive.

(a) There shall be allowed a credit against the income tax imposed by the Income Tax Act of 1929, § 26-51-101 et seq., equal to thirty percent (30%) of the cost of tuition reimbursed or paid by an employer to on behalf of a full-time, permanent employee for the cost of tuition, books, and fees for a program of undergraduate or postgraduate education from an accredited institution of postsecondary education located in Arkansas.

(b) In order to qualify for the income tax credit, the employer shall document that the employee has successfully completed the course.

(c) The incentive authorized by this section shall not exceed twenty-five percent (25%) of a business's income tax liability in any year.

A.C.R.C. Notes. Acts 2005, No. 1232, § 1, provided:

Acts 1987 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 13, § 6: June 12, 1987. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the State is in serious danger of losing revenues which are necessary to provide adequate funding for schools and other essential services required by the citizens of this State and that the provisions of this Act are necessary to avoid a substantial reduction in State revenues. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1989, No. 510, § 8: July 1, 1989. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that this Act establishes a new tax known as the 'Rental Vehicle Tax' and provides persons engaged in the business of renting licensed motor vehicles a credit for portion of the sales tax paid by the person on certain licensed motor vehicles purchased on or after July 1, 1989, and that for the effective administration of this act, the Act should become effective on July 1, 1989. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1989."

Acts 1995, No. 835, § 9: July 1, 1995. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the Arkansas law is unclear as it applies to the taxation of contractors and subcontractors who construct and repair buildings and other improvements and structures affixed to real estate; that Arkansas gross receipts and use tax laws which impose tax on certain services to motors, electrical appliances and devices, household appliances, and machinery were never intended by the General Assembly to apply to nonmechanical, passive or manually operated building systems or components; that none of the charges made by a contractor for labor or materials used in performing such nontaxable services are properly subject to tax; that contractors and subcontractors are suffering substantial losses on audits after making best efforts to comply with existing law; and that the gross receipts and use tax laws need to be clarified to specifically exclude certain services to buildings and other improvements or structures affixed to real estate from tax. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after July 1, 1995.”

Acts 1995, No. 848, § 7: Mar. 31, 1995. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the General Assembly has previously passed Act 1237 of 1975 and Act 983 of 1981 to exempt railroad parts, railroad cars and equipment and the repair and maintenance of such railroad parts, railroad cars and equipment from Arkansas Gross Receipts and Compensating Use Tax; that on January 1, 1987 the Arkansas Department of Finance and Administration issued new regulations which provide that parts, materials and supplies used in such repairs are still subject to tax; that Arkansas law specifically exempts parts and other tangible personal property incorporated into commercial jet aircraft and vessels, barges and towboats from tax; that a substantial number of Arkansans are employed in Arkansas facilities where such repairs are performed; and that these jobs are at risk due to the relocation of such repair facilities to other states which clearly exempt such parts, materials and supplies from tax. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1995, No. 1160, § 46: Apr. 11, 1995. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that certain changes are necessary to the Arkansas tax laws; that these changes are necessary immediately in order to maintain the efficient administration of the Arkansas income tax laws; and that this act is necessary to effectuate that purpose. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1997, No. 1266, § 5: Apr. 9, 1997. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that businesses which are donating merchandise to certain state and national personnel and emergency service workers and volunteers are being charged sales tax on their donations; that these donations are vital to the health and welfare of the citizens of this state; that taxation of these items will reduce the donations and assistance provided by businesses in this state to state disaster area workers and volunteers; and that this act will eliminate the tax on these donations thereby encouraging continued donations during times of state disaster. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, it shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, it shall become effective on the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Eighty-second General Assembly that certain Code provisions affecting the lease of property are in urgent need of clarification; that previous amendments to the Code concerning the lease of motor vehicles resulted in taxpayer confusion, particularly with respect to whether the short term rental of diesel-powered trucks was subject to gross receipts tax; and, that this act is necessary to clarify that the short-term rental of all vehicles is subject to gross receipts tax. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, it shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, it shall become effective on the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that current law excludes the transfer of a damaged vehicle to an insurance company from the definition of 'sale' for purposes of gross receipts tax; that this definition is in need of clarification to ensure that the original legislative intent is fulfilled; and that this act is immediately necessary to prevent possible confusion among the taxpayers of Arkansas. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto."

Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88: as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008: "Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008."

Acts 2007, No. 154, § 7: Mar. 1, 2007. Effective date clause provided: "Sections 1–6 of this act shall be effective on the first day of the calendar month following the effective date of this act."

Acts 2007, No. 154, § 8: Feb. 28, 2007. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the tax for free admission defeats the primary intent of a 'free' admission; that the recordkeeping for the seller or person furnishing the free admission is cost prohibitive and unnecessarily burdensome to the philanthropist and that the tax does not yield significant revenues to the state to justify the expense of the recordkeeping and submission of the tax; and that this act is immediately necessary for the state to enjoy the economic benefit from persons and entities giving free tickets to tourist attractions during the springtime. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto."

Acts 2007, No. 181, § 45: Jan. 1, 2008.

Acts 2009, No. 384, § 15: Mar. 10, 2009. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that certain provisions of the law require amendment to provide consistency with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, that a withdrawal from stock is subject to gross receipts tax under current law, that clarification is needed to ensure that the original legislative intent is fulfilled, and that this act is immediately necessary to prevent possible confusion among the taxpayers of Arkansas. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

The 2009 amendment by No. 384 deleted (13)(A)(vi), redesignated the subsequent subdivision accordingly, and made related changes; and added present (14).

The 2009 amendment by No. 655, in (15)(D)(i), deleted “as in effect on January 1, 2007” following “§ 4-1-101 et. seq.,” and made related and minor stylistic changes.

Effective Dates. Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: “Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008.”

Constitutionality.

The application of the sales tax to transfer of food, clothing, and services by businesses operated for profit and owned by a nonprofit charitable organization in exchange for the services of its members or employees does not violate the religion clauses of the United States and Arkansas Constitutions. Tony & Susan Alamo Found., Inc. v. Ragland, 295 Ark. 12, 746 S.W.2d 45 (1988), cert. denied, Alamo Foundation v. Ragland, 488 U.S. 852, 109 S. Ct. 137, 102 L. Ed. 2d 109 (1988).

Consumer or User.

Construction contracts involved sale of materials just as it would be if contractor would agree on price of material and labor separately. Wiseman v. Gillioz, 192 Ark. 950, 96 S.W.2d 459 (1936) (decision under prior law).

Manufacturer of pasteboard boxes that were sold to a company for use in preparation of its packaged articles for sale to wholesaler, jobbers, or retailers who in turn sold the package in unchanged form to the ultimate consumer, cost of box being an element in cost of packaged article and computed in arriving at selling price of the finished article same as other ingredients, was not required to pay retail sales tax. McCarroll v. Scott Paper Box Co., 195 Ark. 1105, 115 S.W.2d 839 (1938) (decision under prior law).

Contractor installing equipment and performing other construction work is the consumer of the materials and equipment used in fulfilling such contract and liable for the gross receipts tax thereon. John B. May Co. v. McCastlain, 244 Ark. 495, 426 S.W.2d 158 (1968).

Equipment purchased by private contractors as agents of the U.S. Navy under a contract with the Navy to build an ammunition depot was not subject to the Arkansas sales tax. Kern-Limerick, Inc. v. Scurlock, 347 U.S. 110, 74 S. Ct. 403, 98 L. Ed. 546 (1954); Parker v. Kern-Limerick, Inc., 223 Ark. 464, 266 S.W.2d 298 (1954).

If a general contractor purchases a precast concrete component, the tax due is based upon the price of that component; however, if a general contractor purchases the raw materials and produces the component from those raw materials, it is taxed only on the price paid for the raw materials. Pledger v. Featherlite Precast Corp., 308 Ark. 124, 823 S.W.2d 852 (1992), cert. denied, 506 U.S. 826, 113 S. Ct. 82, 121 L. Ed. 2d 46 (1992).

Doing Business.

Corporation not licensed to do business in state that sold merchandise to residents of Arkansas at its out-of-state store and by mail, but which delivered merchandise by truck in Arkansas to purchasers, was not liable for gross receipts tax. Thompson v. Rhodes-Jennings Furn. Co., 223 Ark. 705, 268 S.W.2d 376 (1954), cert. denied, Branyan & Peterson, Inc. v. Thompson, 348 U.S. 872, 75 S. Ct. 108, 99 L. Ed. 686 (1954).

Gross Receipts or Proceeds.

Permitting employees of hotel who prepare and serve food to consume meals without charge, there being no agreement as to such meals in the contract of employment, did not constitute a withdrawal of merchandise from the established business for consumption or use by such person or any other person within definition of "gross receipts," and the value of such meals was therefore not taxable. Cook v. Southwest Hotels, Inc., 213 Ark. 140, 209 S.W.2d 469 (1948).

If sales price for monuments erected at graves includes price for labor in erection of monuments, owner of monument works must pay sales tax on total sales price without any deduction for labor. Ferguson v. Cook, 215 Ark. 373, 220 S.W.2d 808 (1949).

The withdrawal by a corporation from stock of materials manufactured in Arkansas for use in a facility of the corporation located in Arkansas is subject to a sales tax. Georgia Pac. Corp. v. Larey, 242 Ark. 428, 413 S.W.2d 868 (1967).

Where company hired independent haulers to deliver its product to purchasers as required by the company's f.o.b. destination contract, gross receipts tax was properly assessed on full delivery price without any deduction for freight. Belvedere Sand & Gravel Co. v. Heath, 259 Ark. 767, 536 S.W.2d 312 (1976), overruled in part, Foote's Dixie Dandy, Inc. v. McHenry, 270 Ark. 816, 607

Administrative regulation carried out legislative intent as expressed in definition of "gross receipts" and thus was valid. Belvedere Sand & Gravel Co. v. Heath, 259 Ark. 767, 536 S.W.2d 312 (1976), overruled in part, Foot's Dixie Dandy, Inc. v. McHenry, 270 Ark. 816, 607 S.W.2d 323, 21 A.L.R.4th 565 (1980).

While inspection services provided by a service agency as part of a "full service" inspection, service, and repair contract are not specifically mentioned in § 26-52-301, as are the service and repair activities, inspection services do enhance the value of a full coverage contract and increase the marketability of the taxable services provided; accordingly, the cost of the unlisted services cannot be deducted under subdivision (a)(4) of this section, from the total consideration received for the contract, and the entire amount is subject to the three percent gross receipts tax. Ragland v. Miller Trane Serv. Agency, Inc., 274 Ark. 227, 623 S.W.2d 520 (1981).

Manufacturer's actions were subject to sales tax under subdivision (a)(4) of this section despite the fact that the barges were ferried to another state where prefabricated fiberglass hatch covers were installed. Cargo Carriers, Inc. v. Ragland, 278 Ark. 401, 646 S.W.2d 681 (1983).

Because uncollected accounts are clearly "losses" in the context of this section, they cannot be excluded in computing the tax due on gross receipts. Little Rock Mun. Water Works v. Ragland, 279 Ark. 324, 651 S.W.2d 78 (1983).

Where the taxpayer billed the general contractor for components, erection charges, and delivery charges, and the Revenue Division assessed a tax deficiency based on all of these, including the delivery charges, the Revenue Division was not attempting to collect a tax on hauling services as such, but was collecting a tax on the total consideration received by the vendor for the sale of tangible personal property, which included delivery. Pledger v. Featherlite Precast Corp., 308 Ark. 124, 823 S.W.2d 852 (1992), cert. denied, 506 U.S. 826, 113 S. Ct. 82, 121 L. Ed. 2d 46 (1992). Trial court did not err in denying car manufacturer a refund or deduction of the pro rata portion of gross receipts tax related to bad debts arising out of the sale and financing of motor vehicles as the car manufacturer was not a "taxpayer" for the purposes of the Arkansas Bad Debt Statute, § 26-52-101 et seq.; for the purposes of the motor vehicle gross receipts tax, the person liable to remit the tax was the consumer. DaimlerChrysler Servs. N. Am., LLC v. Weiss, 360 Ark. 188, 200 S.W.3d 405 (2004).

Trial court erred in finding that a corporation was a "taxpayer" for the purposes of § 26-52-309, commonly known as the Bad Debt Statute, and in granting a refund or deduction of the pro rata portion of gross receipts tax related to bad debts arising out of the sale and financing of motor vehicles in Arkansas; it was possible to be a taxpayer for one kind of tax, while not a taxpayer for another kind of tax. Weiss v. Am. Honda Fin. Corp., 360 Ark. 208, 200 S.W.3d 381 (2004).

Lease.

Where company, for a consideration, divested itself for a period of time of the right to the possession of its portable toilets, and invested the customer with the right of possession of its property, the transactions fit within the definition of leases, and were leases subject to the gross-receipts tax. Weiss v. Best Enters., Inc., 323 Ark. 712, 917 S.W.2d 543 (1996).

In determining whether a transaction constitutes a lease that is taxable under this chapter, the court looks to all of the factors involved to determine the true nature of the transaction. Weiss v. Best Enters., Inc., 323 Ark. 712, 917 S.W.2d 543 (1996).

Person.

Definition of "person" as found in Sales Tax Act specifically includes this state, any county, city, municipality, school district, or any other political subdivision of the state, whereas, the Use Tax Act, does not contain any such language. In failing to define "person" the General Assembly thereby necessarily intended to exclude the state and its subdivisions from the latter act.

Commissioner of Revenues v. Arkansas State Hwy. Comm'n, 232 Ark. 255, 337 S.W.2d 665 (1960).

Sale.

Automobiles, whether old or new, sold subsequent to the effective date of Acts 1935, No. 233 were subject to tax, unless received as part of the purchase price. S.R. Thomas Auto Co. v. Wiseman, 192 Ark. 584, 93 S.W.2d 138 (1936) (decision under prior law).

No tax was imposed unless transaction constituted a sale. Wiseman v. Gillioz, 192 Ark. 950, 96 S.W.2d 459 (1936) (decision under prior law).

Sale by retail of electricity to consumer, generally, for his use was subject to sales tax. McCarroll v. Ozark Rural Elec. Coop. Corp., 201 Ark. 329, 146 S.W.2d 693 (1940) (decision under prior law).

Rental of automobiles, owned by corporation engaged in automobile rental business, to users without drivers, mostly for short periods of time, with right to terminate the rental and retake the automobile at any time was not within subdivision (a)(3) of this section. U-Drive-'Em Serv. Co. v. Hardin, 205 Ark. 501, 169 S.W.2d 584 (1943).

The broad statutory definition of a sale does not include every transaction in which there is a transfer of possession for a consideration; rather, this section must be read as a whole for, if the reference to a transfer of possession is applied literally in every instance, absurd results will follow. Hervey v. Southern Wooden Box, Inc., 253 Ark. 290, 486 S.W.2d 65 (1972).

There was a distinct difference between the 1941 Sales Tax Act definition of "sale" and the Use Tax Act definition; however, after the 1965 amendment of the Sales Tax Act, the two acts complemented each other. American Television Co. v. Hervey, 253 Ark. 1010, 490 S.W.2d 796 (1973).

Although the definition of "sale" in this section includes "dues or fees to clubs," that term is absent from the tax imposing section, § 26-52-301, and therefore membership dues paid by members of a country club were not subject to gross receipt tax imposed by § 26-52-301. Heath v. El Dorado Golf & Country Club, 258 Ark. 664, 528 S.W.2d 394 (1975).

To establish its claim that repair parts were purchased for "resale," a taxpayer must show that the parts were purchased outside this state, that it is regularly engaged in the business of reselling goods purchased, and that the parts were purchased for resale. Federal Express Corp. v. Skelton, 265 Ark. 187, 578 S.W.2d 1 (1979).

When delivery of items was for purpose of transportation to the place where they would be installed, such a transaction was not a sale subject to sales tax. Gaddy v. DLM, Inc., 271 Ark. 311, 609 S.W.2d 6 (1980).

The Arkansas Gross Receipts Tax is applicable when there is a transfer of either title or possession for a valuable consideration. State, Dep't of Fin. & Admin. v. Dunhall Pharmaceuticals, Inc., 288 Ark. 16, 702 S.W.2d 402 (1986).

Where company gives samples of products without charge and the state is unable to show that there is a valuable consideration in the form of advertising, the distribution is not taxable. State, Dep't of Fin. & Admin. v. Dunhall Pharmaceuticals, Inc., 288 Ark. 16, 702 S.W.2d 402 (1986).

Under subdivision (a)(3) of this section, the transfer of title or possession requirement must occur in the sale of tangible personal property before the tax is imposed; the legislature provided no such requirement when imposing the tax on services. Ragland v. Allen Transformer Co., 293 Ark. 601, 740 S.W.2d 133 (1987), cert. denied, 486 U.S. 1007, 108 S. Ct. 1734, 100 L. Ed. 2d 197 (1988).

Meals, clothing, goods, and services furnished by retail businesses owned by a nonprofit charitable institution to members or employees who are called associates, in exchange for their work, are sales and subject to the sales tax. Transfers within a company are taxable at the value of the finished product (retail), rather than at the value of the raw materials used to make the finished product (wholesale). Tony & Susan Alamo Found., Inc. v. Ragland, 295 Ark. 12, 746 S.W.2d 45 (1988), cert. denied, Alamo Foundation v. Ragland, 488 U.S. 852, 109 S. Ct. 137, 102 L. Ed. 2d 109 (1988).

Fifteen percent surcharge or gratuity, added to each ticket as part of employees wages, is not a sale as contemplated in subdivisions (a)(3)(A) and (E) of this section and is not subject to the gross receipts tax. Ragland v. Meadowbrook Country Club, 300 Ark. 164, 777 S.W.2d 852 (1989).

Neither, "services," "wages," nor "gratuities" are included as taxable transactions within the meaning of a sale as defined in the Gross Receipts Act. Ragland v. Meadowbrook Country Club, 300 Ark. 164, 777 S.W.2d 852 (1989).

Where a printer performed postage and mailing services as a convenience for its customers and billed its customers for the estimated cost of the postage and used the money to purchase postage and to mail the brochures pursuant to its customers' instructions, the service of printing is subject to sales tax but the postage and mailing services are not taxable under subdivision (a)(3)(E) of this section. Pledger v. Simpson Press, Inc., 304 Ark. 274, 801 S.W.2d 44 (1990).

Seller.

If transaction came within terms of law, it made no difference what the seller and the buyer might be called. Wiseman v. Gillioz, 192 Ark. 950, 96 S.W.2d 459 (1936) (decision under prior law).

Service.

The purchase price of a motor vehicle extended warranty contract is not taxable under § 26-52-301(3)(C)(i) nor under subdivision (4) of this section, because an extended warranty is not "service" of a motor vehicle. State, Dep't of Fin. & Admin. v. Staton, 325 Ark. 341, 942 S.W.2d 804 (1996).

Taxpayer.

Lender was not entitled to bad-debt refunds, under § 26-52-309, of sales taxes paid on defaulted consumer credit accounts with retailers because: (1) the retailer, not the lender, was the "taxpayer" under § 26-52-309; and (2) the lender was not entitled to such refunds as an assignee of the retailer, as the Gross Receipts Act did not include "assignee" in the definition of a "taxpayer." Citifinancial Retail Servs. Div. of Citicorp Trust Bank, Fsb v. Weiss, 372 Ark. 128, 271 S.W.3d 494 (2008).

Cities and Counties.

Cities and Counties.

Cities and counties were not beneficiaries of funds arising from the sales tax until made to share by Acts 1943, No. 187, and since the act was not in effect until June 10, prior to the beginning of a new fiscal year July 1, 1943, cities and counties could participate only in money paid by the taxpayer during the last 21 days of June. *Page v. Effective Dates. Acts 1987, No. 372, § 3: July 1, 1987. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that a deposit should be required by the Commissioner of Revenue prior to the issuance of any new Arkansas Gross Receipts Tax permits and to provide a method allowing a credit against future Arkansas Gross Receipts Tax due against the deposit which has been posted. Said system shall insure the initial payment of Arkansas Gross Receipts Tax for new business and prevent the abusive use of permits for resale purchases only. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this legislation shall be in effect on or after July 1, 1987."

Acts 1993, No. 620, § 5: Mar. 22, 1993. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the two hundred fifty dollar ($250.00) deposit required to obtain a new gross receipts tax permit creates an undue burden on the party applying for such permit; that it creates an administrative burden on the Department of Finance and Administration to have this deposit as a credit to maintain and refund the deposit upon request after the appropriate time has elapsed; that a non-refundable fee of fifty dollars ($50.00) is less of a burden on the applicant and the department; and that this act will effectuate that purpose. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1995, No. 835, § 9: July 1, 1995. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the Arkansas law is unclear as it applies to the taxation of contractors and subcontractors who construct and repair buildings and other improvements and structures affixed to real estate; that Arkansas gross receipts and use tax laws which impose tax on certain services to motors, electrical appliances and devices, household appliances, and machinery were never intended by the General Assembly to apply to nonmechanical, passive or manually operated building systems or components; that none of the charges made by a contractor for labor or materials used in performing such nontaxable services are properly subject to tax; that contractors and subcontractors are suffering substantial losses on audits after making best efforts to comply with existing law; and that the gross receipts and use tax laws need to be clarified to specifically exclude certain services to buildings and other improvements or structures affixed to real estate from tax. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after July 1, 1995."

Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: "Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax

Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. Acts 1993, No. 282, § 5: Mar. 1, 1993. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that Act 5 of the Second Extraordinary Session of 1992 levies a gross receipts tax on the service of collecting a debt or account receivable; that this act has caused confusion as to who is subject to the tax and what constitutes taxable services in connection with the collection of debts or accounts receivable; that this act will clarify some of the confusion that exists; and that since the tax becomes effective on March 1, 1993, this act is necessary immediately. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1993, No. 1059, § 5: Sept. 1, 1994.

Acts 1993, No. 1162, § 6: Apr. 14, 1993. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that this act is necessary in order to eliminate confusion and simplify the collection of tax for the rental truck industry. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1993.”

Acts 1995, No. 257, § 5: Feb. 10, 1995. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the repair or remanufacture of metal platens should be exempt from the state sales tax when they are brought into this state merely for repair and then shipped back to the state of origin; that this act so provides; and this act should go into effect immediately in order to eliminate an unfair tax burden on those Arkansas businesses which repair metal platens to be shipped back to the state of origin. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1995, No. 284, § 6: July 1, 1995. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that recent court decisions resulted in disparate treatment by requiring hotels, motels and lodging houses furnishing lodging to transient guests to collect sales tax on such lodging while property management companies which provide similar services are not taxed; that this act is necessary to specify that these provisions of law apply to all entities which furnish accommodations of any type to transient guests and is designed to correct the current unequal treatment. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1995.”

Acts 1995, No. 835, § 9: July 1, 1995. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the Arkansas law is unclear as it applies to the taxation of contractors and subcontractors who construct and repair buildings and other improvements and structures affixed to real estate; that Arkansas gross receipts and use tax laws which impose tax on certain services to motors, electrical appliances and devices, household appliances, and machinery were never intended by the General Assembly to apply to nonmechanical, passive or manually operated building systems or components; that none of the charges made by a contractor for labor or materials used in performing such nontaxable services are properly subject to tax; that contractors and subcontractors are suffering substantial losses on audits after making best efforts to comply with existing law; and that the gross receipts and use tax laws need to be clarified to specifically exclude certain services to buildings and other improvements or structures affixed to real estate from tax. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after July 1, 1995.”

Acts 1995, No. 1008, § 10: emergency clause failed. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the Arkansas State Highway System is in dire need of improvement, rehabilitation, reconstruction and expansion; that the Arkansas State Highway and Transportation Department lacks sufficient funding for statewide highway improvements, rehabilitation, reconstruction and expansion projects; that necessary funding may be obtained by the issuance of bonds secured by an increase in the sales and use taxes; that this act is designed to provide the necessary revenues for such projects. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval." Acts 1997, No. 1263, § 5: Apr. 9, 1997. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found that the inclusion of the very broad language in the phrases 'service of providing a credit report' and 'service of collecting a debt or account receivable' has presented many unforeseen problems in the actual imposing of the Gross Receipts Tax upon such described services for both the Revenue Division of the Department of Finance & Administration and many businesses and professionals in Arkansas who provide all manner of these services in the aid of the credit reporting on the collection of debts and accounts receivable; and it appears that the state taxing authorities have not been able to secure universal compliance with the reporting and payment of these Gross Receipt Taxes by many businesses that are engaged in Arkansas in either credit reporting or debt collection businesses, but not with similar businesses located outside the State of Arkansas. Therefore an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, it shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, it shall become effective on the date the last house overrides the veto."

Acts 1997, No. 1359, § 41: July 1, 1997. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the Eighty-First General Assembly, that the Constitution of the State of Arkansas prohibits the appropriation of funds for more than a two (2) year period; that the effectiveness of this Act on July 1, 1997 is essential to the operation of the agency for which the appropriations in this Act are provided, and that in the event of an extension of the Regular Session, the delay in the effective date of this Act beyond July 1, 1997 could work irreparable harm upon the proper administration and provision of essential governmental programs. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1997."

Acts 1999, No. 1152, § 7: Apr. 6, 1999. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the Eighty-second General Assembly that the revenues generated by taxing bingo are dwindling; that many bingo parlors have been enjoined by court order as illegal gambling operations; that bingo operators are currently required to register on July 1 of each year and pay a registration fee; that the repeal of the bingo tax provisions will also repeal the need to pay a registration fee; that taxpayers and the Department of Finance and Administration will be relieved of performing unnecessary administrative tasks related to the registration fees if the tax provisions and annual registration requirements are repealed prior to July 1, 1999. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, it shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, it shall become effective on the date the last house overrides the veto."

Acts 1999, No. 1220, § 7: Apr. 7, 1999. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the Eighty-second General Assembly that certain Code provisions affecting the lease of property are in urgent need of clarification; that previous amendments to the Code concerning the lease of motor vehicles resulted in taxpayer confusion, particularly with respect to whether the short term rental of diesel-powered trucks was subject to gross receipts tax; and, that this act is necessary to clarify that the short-term rental of all vehicles is subject to gross receipts tax. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, it shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, it shall become effective on the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Acts 1999, No. 1348, § 7: July 1, 1999. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Eighty-second General Assembly that due to the inability to track and audit calls made with prepaid calling cards, the current system of collecting sales tax based upon the usage of prepaid calling cards creates an administrative burden on the telecommunication companies; that this act will promote uniform tax collection on prepaid calling cards; that this act will more fairly tax telecommunications and prevent the likelihood of taxes being avoided.

Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on July 1, 1999.”

Acts 1999, No. 1492, § 8: if contingency met, sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 shall become effective on Jan. 1, 2001, and Section 7 shall become effective on Jan. 1, 2002. Effective date clause provided: “Effective Date. The provisions of Section 5 shall be effective 90 days after adjournment. The provisions of Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 6 and 7 shall not be effective unless; a) the General Assembly refers a constitutional amendment to be approved during the 2000 general election; b) the amendment provides for a limitation on the increase in the assessed value of real property after a county-wide reappraisal; and c) the amendment is approved. If those conditions are met, Sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 shall become effective on January 1, 2001, and Section 7 shall become effective on January 1, 2002. Claims for refund may be filed in 2001 pursuant to §§ 26-51-601 — 26-51-608 for property taxes paid during calendar year 2000 for property assessed in calendar year 1999.”

Acts 2000 (2nd Ex. Sess.), Nos. 1 and 2, § 11. Dec. 15, 2000. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that Amendment 79 to the Arkansas Constitution requires the General Assembly to provide for a property tax credit of not less than $300 for each homestead; that providing such a property tax credit results in a significant reduction in revenues for funding county services and public schools; that without an alternative source of funding counties and public schools cannot operate effectively; that an increase in the state sales and use tax provides a source of funding for counties and public schools; that this act will accomplish the purposes of Amendment 79 in providing a property tax credit and source of funding. It is necessary that this act become effective immediately in order to facilitate the administration of the property tax credit and to generate sufficient revenues to fully fund the credit. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8 and 9 of this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, it shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, it shall become effective on the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Acts 2001, No. 907, § 2: effective by its own terms Aug. 1, 2002.

Acts 2001, No. 949, § 2: July 1, 2001. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly that public transportation vehicles, equipment, and facilities need to be replaced or purchased in order to ensure the safety of the citizens on the roads in the State of Arkansas. Matching federal funds enables the State of Arkansas to receive assistance in the purchase of these items. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2001.”

Acts 2003, No. 1112, § 2: Apr. 7, 2003. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the taxation of amounts billed to members of health spas, health clubs, fitness clubs, and private clubs for services not otherwise taxable under the Arkansas Gross Receipts Tax Act of 1941, § 26-52-101 et seq., is contrary to the legislative intent of § 26-52-301(6); that this law clarifies the proper taxation of dues and membership fees, which excludes amounts billed to a member of a health spa, health club, fitness club, or private club that are not within the meaning of the Arkansas Gross Receipts Tax Act of 1941, § 26-52-101 et seq.; and that this act is immediately necessary to ensure that the State of Arkansas properly and correctly applies the tax on dues and membership fees. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: “Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008.”

Acts 2003 (2nd Ex Sess.), No. 107, § 6: July 1, 2004. The amendment was effective by its own terms on July 1, 2004.

Acts 2003 (2nd Ex. Sess.), No. 107, § 12: became law without Governor's signature, Mar. 1, 2004. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly, that the provision of an equal opportunity for an adequate education to all the citizens of the state is imperative; that additional funds are immediately needed to provide an equal opportunity for an adequate education; that this act is designed to provide the additional revenues needed to provide this equal opportunity to all citizens; and that a delay in the effective date of this act will cause irreparable harm upon the provision of essential education opportunities and the proper administration of educational programs. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after the date of March 1, 2004.”

Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2005.”

Acts 2005, No. 1693, § 3: July 1, 2005. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the payment of sales and use tax is required on the purchase of new or used heavy equipment; that Arkansas law provides that heavy equipment used in some types of professions or businesses is exempt from tax; that enforcement of the sales and use tax laws on heavy equipment is very difficult for the Department of Finance and Administration; that requiring a decal to be affixed to each piece of heavy equipment as proof that the tax has been paid or as proof that it is legally exempt would assist in the enforcement of the sales and use tax laws; and that this act would accomplish that purpose. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2005.”

Acts 2005, No. 1879, § 3: Apr. 8, 2005. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that changes in technology have created confusion as to the taxability of various innovative and rapidly growing telecommunications services and that such confusion threatens to disrupt the flow of revenues that are critically needed by the state for the support of schools, to address deficiencies in school facilities as determined by the Supreme Court, to maintain prisons, and to ensure the uninterrupted provisions of critical services to the public. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto 1 the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the people of Arkansas are having to pay more in fuel costs due to the rise in oil prices; that the rise in fuel costs has resulted in an increase in the price of food and other goods; and that in order to offset these rising prices the sales and use tax rate on food and food ingredients should be reduced. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2007.”

Acts 2007, No. 154, § 7: Mar. 1, 2007. Effective date clause provided: “Sections 1–6 of this act shall be effective on the first day of the calendar month following the effective date of this act.”

Acts 2007, No. 154, § 8: Feb. 28, 2007. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the tax for free admission defeats the primary intent of a ‘free’ admission; that the recordkeeping for the seller or person furnishing the free admission is cost prohibitive and unnecessarily burdensome to the philanthropist and that the tax does not yield significant revenues to the state to justify the expense of the recordkeeping and submission of the tax; and that this act is immediately necessary for the state to enjoy the economic benefit from persons and entities giving free tickets to tourist attractions during the springtime. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Acts 2007, No. 185, § 4: Mar. 1, 2007. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly that the current sales and use tax on utilities consumed by manufacturers located within this state creates a competitive disadvantage, that this bill is intended to address that problem by providing a reduced tax rate on utilities consumed by manufacturers located in this state; and that this act is immediately necessary to prevent the loss of manufacturing jobs to other states that provide lower taxes on utilities consumed in manufacturing. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the portable toilet industry is currently applying tax on tangible personal property and services differently and that in order to achieve equity in the portable toilet industry, additional legislation is needed. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Acts 2009, No. 436, § 3: July 1, 2009. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that unemployment is rising in Arkansas, that the rise in unemployment has resulted in an increase in the number of Arkansans unable to afford basic necessities; and that in order to aid the people of Arkansas, the sales and use tax rate on food and food ingredients should be reduced. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2009.”

Acts 2009, No. 691, § 3: July 1, 2009. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2009.”

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2009.”

A.C.R.C. Notes. Acts 1997, No. 1359, § 32, added a subdivision (3)(E)(ii)(g) to this section which read as follows:

“The provisions of subdivision (3)(E)(i) of this section shall not be applicable to services provided in collecting dishonored checks.” However, Acts 1997, No. 1263, § 1, specifically repealed the language of former subdivisions (3)(E)(i) and (ii) that applied the tax imposed by this section on debt collection services.

Publisher's Notes. Acts 1992 (2nd Ex. Sess.), No. 5, § 6, provided:

“The revenues derived from the tax collected under this act shall be remitted to the State Treasurer, who shall deposit the revenues in the State Treasury as general revenues.”

Amendments. The 2003 amendment by No. 1112 redesignated former (6) as present (6)(A); in present (6)(A), inserted “membership”; in (6)(A)(ii), inserted “within the meaning of § 3-9-202(10)” and added (6)(B).

The 2003 amendment by No. 1273 repealed (3)(A).

The 2003 (2nd Ex. Sess.) amendment inserted “initial installation” and “flooring” in the introductory language of (3)(C)(i); inserted “initial installation” in (3)(C)(viii)(a); deleted former (3)(C)(viii)(a)(2) and redesignated the remaining subdivisions accordingly; added “except flooring” to the end of (3)(C)(viii)(a)(23); and added (3)(C)(ix).

The 2005 amendment added (3)(A)(viii) and (3)(A)(ix).

The 2007 amendment by No. 110, substituted “Except for food and food ingredients that are taxed under § 26-52-317, there” for “There” in the introductory language.

The 2007 amendment by No. 154, § 3 rewrote (5)(B). Section 4 deleted former (5)(B) and made related changes.

The 2009 amendment rewrote (2).

Acts 2003 (2nd Ex Sess.), No. 107, § 6: amendment effective by its own terms on July 1, 2004.

Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: “Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008.”

Acts 2007, No. 154, § 7, provided: “Effective Date. Sections 1-6 of this act shall be effective on the first day of the calendar month following the effective date of this act.”

Applicability.

Construction Materials.

Federal Cable Act.

Mobile Homes.

Satellite Transmissions.

Service.

Sewer Services.

Applicability.

Subdivision (3)(B) of this section does not apply to the business of renting and managing privately owned houses and townhouses for individual owners. Leathers v. Active Realty, Inc., 317 Ark. 214, 876 S.W.2d 583 (1994).

Entities not described in this section are not included in the services taxable under subdivision (3)(B) of this section. Leathers v. Active Realty, Inc., 317 Ark. 214, 876 S.W.2d 583 (1994).

Construction Materials.

The General Assembly intended to impose tax on materials such as gravel to be used in the construction of a temporary road to an oil-extraction project at the time of the sale between the supplier and the contractor, but the materials cannot again be taxed when the contractor bills his customers for constructing the roads on the sites. Ragland v. Dumas, 292 Ark. 515, 732 S.W.2d 119 (1987).

Federal Cable Act.

Subdivision (3)(D)(i) of this section fits within the area of discretion left by the Federal Cable Communications Policy Act (47 U.S.C. § 521(1), (3)) to allow state and local communities to regulate and tax cable services as they choose. Medlock v. Leathers, 311 Ark. 175, 842 S.W.2d 428 (1992), cert. denied, 508 U.S. 960, 113 S. Ct. 2929, 124 L. Ed. 2d 680 (1993).

Mobile Homes.

Chancellor erred in holding that taxpayers' mobile homes, which were attached to rented lots in a mobile home park, were fixtures and not tangible personal property subject to the gross receipts tax; evidence did not support the finding that the annexation of the mobile homes was intended to be permanent. Pledger v. Halvorson, 324 Ark. 302, 921 S.W.2d 576 (1996).

Satellite Transmissions.

This state, primarily a rural state, may classify between satellite and cable for taxation purposes because the state needs a satellite television transmission in those geographic areas where cable services are not feasible. Medlock v. Leathers, 311 Ark. 175, 842 S.W.2d 428 (1992), cert. denied, 508 U.S. 960, 113 S. Ct. 2929, 124 L. Ed. 2d 680 (1993).

Service.

The purchase price of a motor vehicle extended warranty contract is not taxable under subdivision (3)(C)(i) of this section nor under § 26-52-103(a)(4), because an extended warranty is not “service” of a motor vehicle. State, Dep't of Fin. & Admin. v. Staton, 325 Ark. 341, 942 S.W.2d 804 (1996).

Sewer Services.

Company that leased toilets failed to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that it was exempt from the gross-receipts tax as a public sewer service. Weiss v. Best Enters., Inc., 323 Ark. 712, 917 S.W.2d 543 (1996).

26-52-302. Additional taxes levied.

(a) (1) In addition to the excise tax levied upon the gross proceeds or gross receipts derived from all sales by this chapter, except for food and food ingredients that are taxed under § 26-52-317, there is levied an excise tax of one percent (1%) upon all taxable sales of property and services subject to the tax levied in this chapter.

(2) This tax shall be collected, reported, and paid in the same manner and at the same time as is prescribed by law for the collection, reporting, and payment of all other Arkansas gross receipts taxes.

(3) In computing gross receipts or gross proceeds as defined in § 26-52-103, a deduction shall be allowed for bad debts resulting from the sale of tangible personal property.

(b) (1) In addition to the excise tax levied upon the gross proceeds or gross receipts derived from all sales by this chapter, except for food and food ingredients that are taxed under § 26-52-317, there is hereby levied an excise tax of one-half of one percent (0.5%) upon all taxable sales of property and services subject to the tax levied in this chapter.

(2) This tax shall be collected, reported, and paid in the same manner and at the same time as is prescribed by law for the collection, reporting, and payment of all other Arkansas gross receipts taxes.

(3) However, in computing gross receipts or gross proceeds as defined in § 26-52-103, a deduction shall be allowed for bad debts resulting from the sale of tangible personal property.

(c) (1) Except for food and food ingredients that are taxed under § 26-52-317, there is levied an additional excise tax of one-half of one percent (0.5%) upon all taxable sales of property and services subject to the tax levied by this chapter.

(2) The tax shall be collected, reported, and paid in the same manner and at the same time as is prescribed by this chapter, for the collection, reporting, and payment of Arkansas gross receipts taxes.

(d) (1) Except for food and food ingredients that are taxed under § 26-52-317, there is levied an additional excise tax of seven-eighths of one percent (0.875%) upon all taxable sales of property and services subject to the tax levied by this chapter.

(2) The tax shall be collected, reported, and paid in the same manner and at the same time as prescribed by this chapter, for the collection, reporting, and payment of Arkansas gross receipts taxes.

History. Acts 1971, No. 214, § 2; 1979, No. 401, § 48; 1983 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 63, § 1; A.S.A. 1947, § 84-1903.1; Acts 1991, No. 3, § 1; 1999, No. 1492, § 3; 2000 (2nd Ex. Sess.), Nos. 1 and 2, § 8; 2003 (2nd Ex. Sess.), No. 107, § 1; 2007, No. 110, § 4.

A.C.R.C. Notes. As to distribution of moneys collected pursuant to subsection (a) of this section to the Court-Ordered Desegregation Trust Fund, see A.C.R.C. Notes, Title 6, Chapter 20, Subchapter 1.

The amendment of this section by Acts 1999, No. 1492, § 3, added subsection (c) to the section, but made the effectiveness of the addition of the subsection contingent upon the occurrence of the following: (a) That the General Assembly refers a constitutional amendment to be approved during the 2000 general election; (b) That the amendment provides for a limitation on the increase in the assessed value of real property after a county-wide reappraisal; and (c) That the constitutional amendment is approved.

Subsection (c) of this section became effective because in House Joint Resolution 1015 of 1999 the General Assembly referred to a vote of the electors at the 2000 general election a constitutional amendment that provided for a limit on the increase in the assessed value of real property as a result of a county-wide reappraisal, and the constitutional amendment was approved. This constitutional amendment is now incorporated into the Arkansas Constitution as Amendment 79.

As enacted by Acts 2000 (2nd Ex. Sess.), Nos. 1 and 2, § 8, subdivision (c)(1) began: "Beginning January 1, 2001,".

As enacted by Acts 2003 (2nd Ex. Sess.), No. 107, § 1, subdivision (d)(1) began: "Beginning March 1, 2004,".

Publisher's Notes. Acts 1983 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 108, §§ 1, 2, provided that tangible personal property which becomes a recognizable part of a completed structure or improvement to real property and which is purchased for use or consumption in the performance of construction contracts shall be exempt from any additional gross receipts tax or compensating tax levied by the 74th General Assembly during the First Extraordinary Session, 1983, when the construction contract for which the property was purchased is entered into prior to the effective date of the act levying an additional gross receipts tax or compensating tax; for the purposes of this act "construction contract" means a contract to construct, manage, or supervise the construction, erection, or substantial modification of a building or other improvement or structure affixed to real property, and the term "construction contract" shall not mean contract to produce tangible personal property.

Amendments. The 2003 (2nd Ex. Sess.) amendment added (d).

The 2007 amendment inserted "except for food and food ingredients that are taxed under § 26-52-317" in (a)(1) and (b)(1) and substituted "Except for food and food ingredients that are taxed under § 26-52-317, there" for "There" at the beginning of (c)(1) and (d)(1).

Effective Dates. Acts 1999, No. 1492, § 8, provided:

"The provisions of Section 5 shall be effective 90 days after adjournment. The provisions of Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 6 and 7 shall not be effective unless; a) the General Assembly refers a constitutional amendment to be approved during the 2000 general election; b) the amendment provides for a limitation on the increase in the assessed value of real property after a county-wide reappraisal; and c) the amendment is approved. If those conditions are met, Sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 shall become effective on January 1, 2001, and Section 7 shall become effective on January 1, 2002. Claims for refund may be filed in 2001 pursuant to §§ 26-51-601 — 26-51-608 for property taxes paid during calendar year 2000 for property assessed in calendar year 1999."

If those conditions are met, Sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 shall become effective on January 1, 2001, and Section 7 shall become effective on January 1, 2002. Claims for refund may be filed in 2001 pursuant to §§ 26-51-601 — 26-51-608 for property taxes paid during calendar year 2000 for property assessed in calendar year 1999." Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: "Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008."

26-52-309. Deduction for bad debts generally.

(a) (1) A taxpayer is allowed a deduction from taxable sales for a bad debt.

(2) Any deduction taken under this section that is attributed to a bad debt shall not include interest.

(b) The federal definition of “bad debt” in 26 U.S.C. § 166, as in effect on January 1, 2007, is the basis for calculating a bad debt deduction under this section except that the amount calculated pursuant to 26 U.S.C. § 166 shall be adjusted to exclude:

(1) A financing charge or interest;

(2) A sales or use tax charged on the purchase price;

(3) An uncollectible amount on property that remains in the possession of the taxpayer or seller, until the full purchase price is paid; and

(4) An expense incurred in attempting to collect any debt or repossessed property.

(c) (1) A bad debt may be deducted on the sales and use tax return of a taxpayer for the tax period during which:

(A) The bad debt is written off as uncollectible in the taxpayer's books and records; and

(B) The taxpayer is eligible to deduct the bad debt for federal income tax purposes if the taxpayer or seller kept accounts on a cash basis or could be eligible to be claimed if the taxpayer or seller kept accounts on an accrual basis.

(2) For purposes of this subsection, a taxpayer who is not required to file a federal income tax return may deduct a bad debt on a sales and use tax return filed for the period in which the bad debt is written off as uncollectible in the taxpayer's books and records if the taxpayer would be eligible for a bad debt deduction for federal income tax purposes if the taxpayer were required to file a federal income tax return.

(d) If a bad debt deduction under this section is taken for a bad debt and the debt is subsequently collected in whole or in part, the tax imposed by this chapter on the amount collected shall be paid and reported on the sales and use tax return filed for the tax period in which the collection is made.

(e) (1) If the amount of bad debt exceeds the amount of taxable sales for the tax period during which the bad debt is written off, the taxpayer may file a claim for a refund.

(2) The refund claim shall be filed within three (3) years from the due date of the sales and use tax return on which the bad debt could first be claimed.

(f) (1) If filing responsibilities have been assumed by a certified service provider, the certified service provider may claim, on behalf of the taxpayer, any bad debt deduction provided by this section.

(2) The certified service provider shall credit or refund the full amount of any bad debt deduction or refund received to the taxpayer.

(g) For the purposes of reporting a payment received on a previously claimed bad debt, any payment made on a debt or account is applied first proportionally to the taxable price of the tangible personal property or service and the sales tax on the tangible personal property or service and second to interest, service charges, and any other charges.

(h) If the books and records of a taxpayer claiming a bad debt deduction under this section support an allocation of the bad debt among the states which are members of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, the allocation is permitted.

(i) Except as provided in subsection (f) of this section, the only party entitled to a bad debt deduction or refund pursuant to this section is the taxpayer that originally reported and remitted the tax in question.

Amendments. The 2003 amendment inserted the subdivision designations in (a); inserted “on the return ... income tax purposes” in (a)(1); added (b)(1)(B); substituted “return filed for the period in which the collection is made” for “next return due after the collection” in (e); and added (f).

The 2007 amendment rewrote the section.

Effective Dates. Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: “Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008.”

Acts 2007, No. 181, § 45, provided: “Section 1 through 43 of this act are effective on January 1, 2008.”

Case Notes

Applicability.

Applicability.

Trial court did not err in denying car manufacturer a refund or deduction of the pro rata portion of gross receipts tax related to bad debts arising out of the sale and financing of motor vehicles as the car manufacturer was not a “taxpayer” for the purposes of the Arkansas Bad Debt Statute, § 26-52-101 et seq. DaimlerChrysler Servs. N. Am., LLC v. Weiss, 360 Ark. 188, 200 S.W.3d 405 (2004).

Trial court erred in finding that a corporation was a “taxpayer” for the purposes of this section and in granting a refund or deduction of the pro rata portion of gross receipts tax related to bad debts arising out of the sale and financing of motor vehicles in Arkansas; it was possible to be a taxpayer for one kind of tax, while not a taxpayer for another kind of tax. Weiss v. Am. Honda Fin. Corp., 360 Ark. 208, 200 S.W.3d 381 (2004).

Lender was not entitled to bad-debt refunds, under this section, of sales taxes paid on defaulted consumer credit accounts with retailers because: (1) the retailer, not the lender, was the "taxpayer" this section; and (2) the lender was not entitled to such refunds as an assignee of the retailer. Citifinancial Retail Servs. Div. of Citicorp Trust Bank, Fsb v. Weiss, 372 Ark. 128, 271 S.W.3d 494 (2008).

The 2007 amendment by No. 860 added "or prepaid wireless calling service" at the end of (b)(3)(A); and substituted "and prepaid wireless calling service are" for "is" in (b)(3)(B).

Effective Dates. Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: "Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008."

Acts 2007, No. 181, § 45, provided: "Sections 1 through 43 of this act are effective on January 1, 2008."

Acts 2007, No. 860, § 7, provided: "Sections 1–6 of this act will become effective on January 1, 2008."

26-52-319. Natural gas and electricity used by manufacturers.

(a) (1) Beginning July 1, 2007, in lieu of the gross receipts or gross proceeds tax levied in §§ 26-52-301 and 26-52-302(a)-(d), there is levied an excise tax on the gross receipts or gross proceeds derived from the sale of natural gas and electricity to a manufacturer for use directly in the actual manufacturing process at the rate of four and three-eighths percent (4.375%).

(2) Beginning July 1, 2008, the tax rate levied in subdivision (a)(1) of this section shall be imposed at the rate of three and seven-eighths percent (3.875%).

subdivision (a)(3)(A) of this section.

(ii) When the director determines that the amount of tax savings resulting from the determination described in subdivision (a)(3)(B)(i) of this section plus any use tax savings described in § 26-53-148(a)(3)(B) would reach twenty-seven million dollars ($27,000,000) during a fiscal year, the director shall not process any further refund claims through a refund process during the fiscal year for taxpayers seeking to claim the reduced tax rate provided by this section. The amount of twenty-seven million dollars ($27,000,000) is intended to cover the accumulated but unclaimed reduction of sales and use tax on natural gas and electricity as provided by Acts 2007, No. 185, as well as the additional reduction provided by Acts 2009, No. 695.

(iii) If the director determines that discontinuing refund payments as provided in subdivision (a)(3)(B)(ii) of this section is insufficient to prevent the amount of tax savings from exceeding twenty-seven million dollars ($27,000,000) during a fiscal year, the director may decline to accept any amended return filed by a taxpayer to claim an overpayment resulting from the reduced tax rate provided by this section for a period other than the period for which a tax return is currently due.

(C) (i) Refund requests and amended returns filed with the director to claim the overpayment resulting from the reduced rate in subdivision (a)(3)(A) of this section shall be processed in the order they are received by the director. A taxpayer that does not receive a refund after the refund and amended return process has ceased under subdivision (a)(3)(B) of this section shall be given priority to receive a refund during the subsequent fiscal year. The unpaid refunds from the prior fiscal year shall be processed before any refund claims filed in the current fiscal year to claim the benefit of this section.

(ii) The statute of limitations for refunds and amended returns under § 26-18-306(i)(1)(A) is extended for one (1) year to allow the payment of a refund under the process provided in subdivision (a)(3)(C)(i) of this section.

(4) The taxes levied in this subsection (a) shall be distributed as follows:

(A) Seventy-six and six-tenths percent (76.6%) of the tax, interest, penalties, and costs received by the director shall be deposited as general revenues;

(B) Eight and five-tenths percent (8.5%) of the tax, interest, penalties, and costs received by the director shall be deposited into the Property Tax Relief Trust Fund; and

(C) Fourteen and nine-tenths percent (14.9%) of the tax, interest, penalties, and costs received by the director shall be deposited into the Educational Adequacy Fund.

(5) (A) The excise tax levied in this section applies only to natural gas and electricity sold for use directly in the actual manufacturing process.

(B) Natural gas and electricity sold for any other purpose shall be subject to the full gross receipts or gross proceeds tax levied under §§ 26-52-301 and 26-52-302(a)-(d).

(6) The excise tax levied in this section shall be collected, reported, and paid in the same manner and at the same time as is prescribed by law for the collection, reporting, and payment of all other Arkansas gross receipts taxes.

(b) As used in this section, “manufacturer” means a manufacturer classified within sectors 31 through 33 of the North American Industry Classification System, as in effect on January 1, 2007.

(c) Natural gas and electricity subject to the reduced tax rate levied in this section shall be separately metered from natural gas and electricity used for any other purpose by the manufacturer or otherwise established in accordance with the rules issued under subsection (e) of this section.

(d) Prior to the sale of natural gas or electricity at the reduced excise tax rate levied in this section, the director may require any seller of natural gas or electricity to obtain a certificate from the consumer, in the form prescribed by the director, certifying that the manufacturer is eligible to purchase natural gas and electricity at the reduced excise tax rate.

(e) The director shall have and be invested with full power and authority to promulgate rules for the proper administration of this section.

(f) The gross receipts or gross proceeds derived from the sale of natural gas and electricity to a manufacturer shall continue to be subject to:

(1) The excise tax levied under the Arkansas Constitution, Amendment 75, § 2; and

"Whereas, it is in the best interest of higher education and public and private elementary and secondary schools and in the overall improvement of interest and participation in athletic events at colleges and universities and public and private elementary and secondary schools throughout the State that sales taxes paid by such institutions of higher learning and public and private elementary and secondary schools on admissions tickets to athletic events be refunded to the particular institution collecting such taxes, or exempted from the provisions of the Gross Receipts Tax"

Acts 1979, No. 449 contained a preamble which read:

"Whereas, the levy of sales and use taxes upon towboats, barges and the repair and construction of the same results in an undue hardship on Arkansas purchasers and Arkansas vendors of towboats and barges; and

"Whereas, adjoining states exempt barges and towboats from sales and use taxes resulting in Arkansas vendors and purchasers having a competitive disadvantage; and

"Whereas, this bill would merely put Arkansas towboat and barge vendors and purchasers on an equal footing with competitors in adjoining states; and

"Whereas, the result of this Act would be to boost the economy in this particular industry with the probable result of increased production and sales and increased tax collections resulting from the economic boost to this industry;

Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist, and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall take effect and be in force from and after the date of its approval."

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1975, No. 760, § 5: Apr. 7, 1975. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

the electrolytic reduction process will be of great value to the economic and industrial stability and development of this State, and is essential in reducing unemployment in this State. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act, being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1979, No. 54, § 4: July 1, 1979. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that it is essential to the effective and efficient administration and application of the exemption provided herein that the exemption be in effect on and after July 1, 1979; that acts of the General Assembly which do not contain an emergency clause take effect ninety days after adjournment of the General Assembly and that an extension of the regular session of 1979 beyond the normal sixty days could delay the effective date of this Act beyond July 1, 1979 and could thereby create serious administrative problems. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in effect on and after July 1, 1979.”

Acts 1979, No. 324, § 18: July 1, 1979. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1979.”

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1979, No. 449, § 3: Mar. 21, 1979. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the levy of the Arkansas Sales and Use Taxes on towboats and barges has resulted in an inequitable taxation of Arkansas vendors and purchasers, that surrounding states exempt such items from their sales and use tax, and that the Arkansas vendors and purchasers have thereby been placed in an unfavorable position in the competitive market place, and that this Act is immediately necessary to provide relief from this inequity. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after January 15, 1984.”

Acts 1985, No. 941, § 3: July 1, 1985. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that prescription drugs sold or used by hospitals should not be subject to the State sales tax; that this Act would grant such exemption and should go into effect as soon as possible; that July 1, 1985, is the proper date for implementing the provisions of this Act, and that unless this emergency clause is adopted this Act will probably not go into effect on July 1, 1985 because the General Assembly will probably not have adjourned ninety (90) days prior to July 1, 1985. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1985.”

Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect on and after February 1, 1987.”

Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that prescription drugs sold and administered by oncologists are now subject to the sales and use taxes; that granting an exemption in such circumstances will to a degree reduce the tremendous financial burden cancer patients must bear for their treatment; that this act provides that degree of assistance and that this act should go into effect immediately in order to help cancer patients as soon as possible. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1991, No. 215, § 5: July 1, 1991. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Seventy-Eighth General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that formerly such items were exempted from sales tax because such were covered as prescription drugs; that these items are now off the prescription drug list; further that the effectiveness of this act on July 1, 1991, is essential to the operation of all retail drug stores in this state and the Department of Finance and Administration and that in the event of an extension of the Regular Session, the delay in the effective date of this act beyond July 1, 1991, could work irreparable harm upon the proper administration and provision of essential governmental programs. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1991.”

Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act, being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1993, No. 1001, § 5: emergency failed to pass. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that under present law certain Arkansas businesses are put at an unfair advantage against out of state businesses due to the ‘forms’ used by the business being subjected to the state sales tax; that substantial employment opportunity is jeopardized in the state unless the relief provided by this act is granted immediately; that this act should go into effect as soon as possible in order to protect the employment opportunities within this state. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the application of any additional Gross Receipts or Compensating (Use) Tax levied by the state or any city or county to tangible personal property purchased for the performance of construction contracts entered into prior to the effective date of the tax increase will substantially increase the cost of performing contracts; that contractors are not able to include the additional tax in their contract price at the time the contract is entered into and, therefore, imposition of the tax to purchases of construction contractors would cause undue hardship. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall take effect and be in force from the date of its approval.”

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on July 1, 1999.”

Acts 2001, No. 622, § 2: Mar. 8, 2001. Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1 and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: “Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008.”

the public interest that the Arkansas Symphony Orchestra Society, Inc. enjoy the same tax exemption that other benevolent nonprofit organizations enjoy because it performs essential functions to the citizens of this state; that this act is necessary to encourage and promote the operation of the Arkansas Symphony Orchestra Society, Inc.; and that for the effective administration of this act it should become effective on July 1, 2005. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2007.”

Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Acts 2009, No. 767, § 2: July 1, 2009. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that county governments that use county owned or county controlled aircraft for law enforcement purposes should be exempt from paying Arkansas sales and use tax on thermal imaging equipment purchased for law enforcement purposes; and that for the effective administration of this act it should become effective on July 1, 2009. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist, and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2009.”

Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

expand production or create new jobs that may not require the replacement of machines in their entirety, as well as the sales and use tax exemption for dies and molds used directly in manufacturing; that it is critical to encourage manufacturers to modernize and retool their plants as economically as possible in order to remain competitive and preserve Arkansas jobs; and that clarifications to confirm the intent and purpose of the manufacturing machinery and equipment sales and use tax exemption is appropriate. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

A.C.R.C. Notes. Former subsection (t) of this section, now subdivision (24), was reenacted by Acts 1987, No. 986, § 1. Acts 1987, No. 834, provided that 1987 legislation reenacting acts passed in the 1976 Extended Session should not repeal any other 1987 legislation and that such other legislation would be controlling in the event of conflict.

Acts 1968 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 5, § 3, provided, in part, that the amendment of former subsection (r) of this section (now subdivision 23) and § 26-52-402(a)(1), (a)(2)(A), (a)(3), and (b) and (c) in part, shall not be construed so as to narrow the scope of the specific exemptions set out under Acts 1941, No. 386.

Section 26-52-504 referred to in subdivision (22)(B)(iii) of this section was repealed by Acts 2005, No. 2254, § 2. For current law, see § 26-52-801 et seq.

Publisher's Notes. Acts 1937, No. 189, § 1, exempted the sale of any cotton, or seed cotton, or lint cotton, or bale cotton, whether compressed or not, or cotton seed in its original condition from any retail sales tax.

Acts 1949, No. 15, § 2, provided that it was the intention of the act to exempt the sale of baby chickens from the provisions of Acts 1941, No. 386.

Acts 1991, No. 458, § 1, provided:

"It is found and determined by the General Assembly that Arkansas law provides an exemption from the Arkansas Gross Receipts Tax for the gross receipts or gross proceeds derived from the sale of raw products from farms, orchards and gardens, where the sale is made by the producer of the raw products directly to the consumer and user; that this exemption was always intended to include the sale of Christmas trees; that there has been confusion over this exemption because the Christmas tree farmers were erroneously classified by regulations as nurserymen; that a recent chancery court decision declared Christmas tree farmers to be entitled to the exemption; and that the purpose of this act is to clarify the law by stating that Christmas tree farmers are not nurserymen."

Acts 1995, No. 516 became law without the Governor's signature.

Sections 1—5 of Act 1005 of 1995 referred to in this section are set out in a note under chapter 57 of this title.

Amendments. The 2005 amendment added present (37) and made related changes.

The 2007 amendment by No. 87 added (11)(A)(iii) and (iv) and made related changes.

The 2007 amendment by No. 181 inserted "or food ingredients" in (3) and (27)(A)(iii); inserted "or food ingredients or prepared food" in (7); substituted "food or food ingredients or prepared food" for "foodstuffs" in (19); and added (38).

The 2007 amendment by No. 860 inserted "or prepared food" in (3).

The 2009 amendment by No. 655, in (22)(B)(iii), inserted "used manufactured homes, or used modular homes," substituted "§ 26-52-801 et seq." for "§ 26-52-504 [repealed]," and made related and minor stylistic changes.

The 2009 amendment by No. 1205 inserted "including the sale ... fruits, nuts, and herbs" in (18)(A)(iii), rewrote (18)(B)(ii), and made a related change.

Cross References. Wholesale motor fuel excise tax, § 26-57-1101 et seq.

Effective Dates. Acts 1985, No. 518, § 3 provided that the act was effective for tax years on and after July 1, 1985.

Acts 1987, No. 986, § 3, and Acts 1987, No. 1033, § 12, provided, in part, that the provisions of present subdivision (27) of this section shall be effective beginning October 1, 1987.

Acts 1992 (1st Ex. Sess.), Nos. 58 and 61, § 4, provided:

"The provisions contained in Section 2 and Section 3 of this act shall be effective on and after July 1, 1993."

Acts 1993, Nos. 820 and 987, § 5 provided:

"The sales tax provisions of this act shall be in full force and effect on July 1, 1993."

Constitutionality.

A state sales tax scheme that taxes general interest magazines, but exempts newspapers and religious, professional, trade, and sports journals, violates the First Amendment's guarantee of freedom of the press. Arkansas Writers' Project, Inc. v. Ragland, 481 U.S. 221, 107 S. Ct. 1722, 95 L. Ed. 2d 209 (1987).

Exemptions under subdivisions (7)-(10) of this section for purchases made by certain organizations were not violations of equal protection and due process clauses of the United States and Arkansas Constitutions as applied to the sales made by a nonprofit charitable organization. Tony & Susan Alamo Found., Inc. v. Ragland, 295 Ark. 12, 746 S.W.2d 45 (1988), cert. denied, Alamo Foundation v. Ragland, 488 U.S. 852, 109 S. Ct. 137, 102 L. Ed. 2d 109 (1988).

Construction.

Tax exemptions must be strictly construed against exemption, and to doubt is to deny the exemption. Ragland v. Dumas, 292 Ark. 515, 732 S.W.2d 119 (1987).

Agriculture.

Acts 1935, No. 233, exempting all foods necessary to life, naming butter fats, exempted whole milk since whole milk was the only product that contained "butter fats" in commercial quantities. Wiseman v. Affolter, 192 Ark. 509, 92 S.W.2d 388 (1936) (decision under prior law).

Subdivision (18) of this section does not contain an unreasonable or arbitrary classification because, even though business of florist and nurseryman are subdivisions of agriculture, they can be distinguished from that of farmer. Hardin v. Vestal, 204 Ark. 492, 162 S.W.2d 923 (1942).

Nest pads, feeder lids, filter flats, litter, vaccine and medication, and spray used in the production of poultry held not recognizable, integral parts of the finished product and are not exempt from sales tax. Hervey v. Tyson's Foods, Inc., 252 Ark. 703, 480 S.W.2d 592 (1972).

Taxpayer who grew grass sod and sold it directly to consumers was a nurseryman and, thus, not entitled to the raw farm products exemption of subdivision (18) of this section. Pledger v. Boyd, 304 Ark. 91, 799 S.W.2d 807 (1990).

The exemption for the sale of raw farm products does not apply to the sale of bermuda sod to be used as fairways and lawns. Pledger v. Boyd, 304 Ark. 91, 799 S.W.2d 807 (1990).

Amusements.

Tax assessed against owners of coin operated amusement games was not such a privilege or license tax as was referred to in Acts 1937, No. 154, § 15(b), as amended by Acts 1939, No. 364, and could not be deducted from the sales tax. Bangs v. McCarroll, 202 Ark. 103, 149 S.W.2d 53 (1941) (decision under prior law).

Billboards.

Painted bulletins, posters, facings, hardware, and paint, purchased out of state and used in connection with the taxpayer's billboard advertising service, were not exempt from the use tax. Technical Servs. of Ark., Inc. v. Pledger, 320 Ark. 333, 896 S.W.2d 433 (1995).

The term "services," as contemplated by the legislature in enacting the exemption in subdivision (13) of this section, does not mean "business." Technical Servs. of Ark., Inc. v. Pledger, 320 Ark. 333, 896 S.W.2d 433 (1995).

Burden of Proof.

The party claiming an exemption from taxes has the burden of proving his entitlement beyond a reasonable doubt. Ragland v. Dumas, 292 Ark. 515, 732 S.W.2d 119 (1987).

Charitable Organizations.

Sales by businesses operated for profit and owned by charitable organizations are not exempt from sales tax under subdivision (2) of this section. Tony & Susan Alamo Found., Inc. v. Ragland, 295 Ark. 12, 746 S.W.2d 45 (1988), cert. denied, Alamo Foundation v. Ragland, 488 U.S. 852, 109 S. Ct. 137, 102 L. Ed. 2d 109 (1988).

Discrimination.

Acts 1935, No. 233, § 15, and Acts 1937, No. 154, § 15, which allowed a credit of severance tax against sales tax, did not create discrimination against foreign commerce. Southern Kraft Corp. v. Hardin, 205 Ark. 512, 169 S.W.2d 637 (1943) (decision under prior law).

Sales of natural gas produced in another state and transported into Arkansas by pipe line to industrial customer were not transactions in interstate commerce so as to be exempt from sales tax. Arkansas-Louisiana Gas Co. v. Hardin, 206 Ark. 593, 176 S.W.2d 903 (1944) (decision under prior law).

—Exemption Not Found.

Packaging materials purchased out-of-state by a taxpayer in connection with its business of hazardous waste disposal were not purchased for resale as part of a finished product, notwithstanding that packaged fuel sold by the taxpayer was burned in cement kilns and power plants and that the packaging materials were consumed as part of the fuel, as the taxpayer actually paid the cement kilns and power plants to take the packaged waste and burn it and those entities never paid the taxpayer for packaged fuel during the audit period. Rineco Chem. Indus., Inc. v. Weiss, 344 Ark. 118, 40 S.W.3d 257 (2001).

Hospitals.

The exemption of the sale of materials used in the construction or repair of state-owned, tax-supported hospitals and sanitariums applies only to sales made directly to such hospitals and sanitariums. John B. May Co. v. McCastlain, 244 Ark. 495, 426 S.W.2d 158 (1968).

Contractor installing equipment and performing other construction work at state medical center was not the agent of the medical center in the purchase of the materials and equipment used in fulfilling contract, but the consumer thereof and liable for the gross receipts tax thereon. John B. May Co. v. McCastlain, 244 Ark. 495, 426 S.W.2d 158 (1968).

Interstate Commerce.

Transaction through which Arkansas corporation ordered from distributors or manufacturers in other states merchandise not carried in stock, with directions that shipments be made to its customers, and nonresident manufacturer charged the amount involved to the corporation, which, in turn, billed its customers within the state, was not in interstate commerce and was subject to sales tax. Hollis & Co. v. McCarroll, 200 Ark. 523, 140 S.W.2d 420 (1940) (decision under prior law).

Gas and electricity brought from another state were taxable when sales lost characteristics of interstate commerce. Southern Kraft Corp. v. Hardin, 205 Ark. 512, 169 S.W.2d 637 (1943) (decision under prior law).

Judicial Review.

The standard of review for tax exemption cases is trial de novo on the record, and appellate court will not reverse the chancellor's findings of fact unless they are clearly erroneous. Ragland v. Dumas, 292 Ark. 515, 732 S.W.2d 119 (1987).

Motor Vehicles.

The isolated-sale exemption in subdivision (17) of this section does not apply to the sale of used vehicles by sellers who are not regularly engaged in the business of selling vehicles; the clear intent of the General Assembly since 1959 has been that the private sale of used motor vehicles be subject to the sales tax and that the general-isolated sales exemption has no application to such sales. Pledger v. Mid-State Constr. & Materials, Inc., 325 Ark. 388, 925 S.W.2d 412 (1996).

Natural Gas.

Subdivision (12)(B) of this section does not provide a "sale for resale" exemption from the sales and use tax for natural gas used to manufacture glass. Arkansas Glass Container Corp. v. Pledger, 320 Ark. 10, 894 S.W.2d 599 (1995).

Newspapers.

Preprinted advertising supplements are not a component part of the newspapers in which they appear and are not exempt from use tax as newspapers under subdivision (4) of this section. Ragland v. K-Mart Corp., 274 Ark. 297, 624 S.W.2d 430 (1981).

Public Agencies.

State Highway Commission was not exempt from tax on commodities bought by the highway department. Arkansas State Hwy. Comm'n v. Wiseman, 192 Ark. 873, 95 S.W.2d 557 (1936) (decision under prior law).

Public Utilities.

Former § 77-1130 (prior to 1969 amendment) exempting rural electric cooperative corporations from excise taxes did not exempt them from duty of collecting the sales tax under Acts 1937, No. 154 from their individual members to whom they distributed electricity, making a charge therefor, and who as consumers were subject to the sales tax. McCarroll v. Ozark Rural Elec. Coop. Corp., 201 Ark. 329, 146 S.W.2d 693 (1940) (decision under prior law).

Sales for Resale.

—Advertising Space.

Where items were not exempt under subdivision (13) of this section, taxpayer was required to hold a retail sales permit in order to claim the sale for resale exemption under subdivision (12) of this section. Technical Servs. of Ark., Inc. v. Pledger, 320 Ark. 333, 896 S.W.2d 433 (1995).

—Constitutionally Prohibited Taxes.

Where imposition of sales tax was not constitutionally impermissible, defendant was not entitled to an exemption under subdivision (16) of this section. Pledger v. Arkla, Inc., 309 Ark. 10, 827 S.W.2d 126 (1992), cert. denied, 506 U.S. 870, 113 S. Ct. 203, 121 L. Ed. 2d 144 (1992).

—Construction.

General Assembly intended to impose the tax on materials, such as gravel to be used in the construction of a temporary road to an oil-extraction project, at the time of the sale between the supplier and the contractor, but the materials cannot again be taxed when the contractor bills his customers for constructing the roads on the sites. Ragland v. Dumas, 292 Ark. 515, 732 S.W.2d 119 (1987).

—Consumption or Use.

Sales by wholesaler to retailer of wrapping, paper bags and twine used by merchants for wrapping merchandise sold were "sales for consumption and use" and not "sales for resale" and therefore subject to the sales tax from the wholesaler within Acts 1935, No. 233. Wiseman v. Arkansas Whsle. Grocers' Ass'n, 192 Ark. 313, 90 S.W.2d 987 (1936) (decision under prior law). Sales to retail merchants of paper boxes, paper bags, twine, wrapping paper, and other material to be used by the merchants for the purpose of delivering merchandise sold by them to their customers, where no specific charge is made by the merchants to the customers for these commodities, except that in some instances they might be weighed along with the articles sold, are not sales for resale purposes and not exempt from tax imposed by this section. Dermott Grocery & Comm'n Co. v. Hardin, 203 Ark. 446, 156 S.W.2d 882 (1941).

Where most wooden cases were returned to soft drink seller, the cases were for the seller's own consumption or use, not a sale for resale, and cases were not exempt from use tax. Hervey v. Southern Wooden Box, Inc., 253 Ark. 290, 486 S.W.2d 65 (1972).

Paper plates, paper and plastic straws and stirrers, plastic tableware and utensils, paper napkins, sacks, and premoistened towelettes used in the short order restaurant business are subject to tax, as these items are used for consumption in the course of the restaurant business and not resold as a part of the price of the finished food. Heath v. Little Rock Paper Co., 257 Ark. 715, 520 S.W.2d 196 (1975).

—Exemption Found.

Purchase of disposable paper cups by vending machine beverage company from manufacturer held to be exempt from use tax as a purchase for resale. Hervey v. Southern Wooden Box, Inc., 253 Ark. 290, 486 S.W.2d 65 (1972).

Where a bottled water seller sold only to distributors, not directly to consumers, and its contracts with the distributors provided that it would sell bottles to the distributors at cost, the transactions fell within the sales tax exemption of sales for resale, which is carried forward into the use tax law. Ragland v. Mountain Valley Spring Co., 287 Ark. 4, 696 S.W.2d 710 (1985).

—Legislative Intent.

While this section was designed to prevent the same property from being subjected twice to the same tax, there was a correlative legislative intent that all property be subjected to the tax at some point in the course of its manufacture and sale to the ultimate consumer, as indicated by the sale for resale requirement that, for the initial sale to be exempt, the resale must be to a person having a sales tax permit. Hervey v. Southern Wooden Box, Inc., 253 Ark. 290, 486 S.W.2d 65 (1972).

—Manufacturing.

Traces of sulfur, defoaming agent, acetic acid, and soap chips found in finished manufactured paper product, use of which was merely incidental, economically impractical to remove, and did not improve the finished product, were not exempt from sales or use tax upon sales for resale. Hervey v. International Paper Co., 252 Ark. 913, 483 S.W.2d 199 (1972).

Where chlorine is used in manufacture of bromine, the chlorine does not become a part of the bromine, but quite the opposite, the chlorine takes something from the bromine, becomes chloride, and is discarded as worthless; thus it is at best consumed in the manufacturing process, not resold to the purchaser as tangible property, and is subject to the use tax. Great Lakes Chem. Corp. v. Wooten, 266 Ark. 511, 587 S.W.2d 220 (1979).

Under subdivisions (12)(A) and (B) of this section, there is no exemption from paying use tax on purchases of hexane and toluol where the two chemicals do not become recognizable integral parts of manufactured tennis balls and rubber moldings. Ragland v. General Tire & Rubber Co., 297 Ark. 394, 763 S.W.2d 70 (1989).

Items, such as molds or dies, that are destroyed or disposed of in the manufacturing process, do not qualify for the exemption in subdivision (12)(B) of this section because, if they are destroyed, there is no possibility of double taxation. Pledger v. C.B. Form Co., 316 Ark. 22, 871 S.W.2d 333 (1994).

—Recognizable Integral Part.

Paper and styrofoam cups and their lids, paper bowls, wrappers, and boxes used as containers for food by short order restaurants are exempt as these items are not consumed by the restaurant, but are a component of the product sold, their price becoming a component of the food sold to the final customer. Heath v. Little Rock Paper Co., 257 Ark. 715, 520 S.W.2d 196 (1975).

The word "integral" in subdivision (12)(B) of this section means necessary to the completeness of the final manufactured product. Arkansas Glass Container Corp. v. Pledger, 320 Ark. 10, 894 S.W.2d 599 (1995).

Where natural gas was used in the process of making glass, but most of the natural gas used in the process was used for heating the furnace, the natural gas did not become a recognizable and integral part of the product. Arkansas Glass Container Corp. v. Pledger, 320 Ark. 10, 894 S.W.2d 599 (1995).

Trace amounts of a compound or ingredient found in the finished product do not establish that the compound or ingredient was purchased for resale. Arkansas Glass Container Corp. v. Pledger, 320 Ark. 10, 894 S.W.2d 599 (1995).

Wooten*, 276 Ark. 37, 631 S.W.2d 835 (1982); State, Dep't of Fin. & Admin. v. Tedder, 326 Ark. 495, 932 S.W.2d 755 (1996); *Weiss v. 26-52-402. Certain machinery and equipment.

(a) There is specifically exempted from the tax imposed by this chapter the following:

(1) (A) Gross receipts or gross proceeds derived from the sale of tangible personal property consisting of machinery and equipment used directly in producing, manufacturing, fabricating, assembling, processing, finishing, or packaging of articles of commerce at manufacturing or processing plants or facilities in the State of Arkansas, including facilities and plants for manufacturing of feed, processing of poultry or eggs, or both, and livestock, and the hatching of poultry, but only to the extent that the machinery and equipment is purchased and used for the purposes set forth in this subdivision (a)(1).

(B) The machinery and equipment will be exempt under this subdivision (a)(1) if it is purchased and used to create new manufacturing or processing plants or facilities within this state or to expand existing manufacturing or processing plants or facilities within this state;

(2) (A) Machinery purchased to replace existing machinery and used directly in producing, manufacturing, fabricating, assembling, processing, finishing, or packaging of articles of commerce at manufacturing or processing plants or facilities in this state will be exempt under this subdivision (a)(2).

(B) (i) As used in subdivision (a)(2)(A) of this section, “machinery purchased to replace existing machinery” means that substantially all of the machinery and equipment required to perform an essential function is physically replaced with new machinery.

(ii) As used in subdivision (a)(2)(B)(i) of this section, “substantially” is intended to exclude routine repairs and maintenance and partial replacements that do not improve efficiency or extend the useful life of the entire machine, but it is not intended to mean that foundations and minor components that can be economically adapted, rebuilt, or refurbished must be completely replaced when replacement would be more expensive or impracticable than adapting, rebuilding, or refurbishing the old foundation or minor components.

(C) It is the intent of this subdivision (a)(2) to provide the exemptions in subdivision (a)(1) of this section and this subdivision (a)(2) as incentives to encourage the location of new manufacturing plants in Arkansas, the expansion of existing manufacturing plants in Arkansas, and the modernization of existing manufacturing plants in Arkansas through the replacement of old, inefficient, or technologically obsolete machinery and equipment; and

(3) Gross receipts or gross proceeds derived from the sale of tangible personal property consisting of machinery and equipment required by state law or regulations to be installed and utilized by manufacturing and processing plants or facilities in this state to prevent or reduce air or water pollution or contamination which might otherwise result from the operation of the plant or facility.

(4) [Repealed.]

(b) As used in this section, “manufacturing” or “processing” refer to and include those operations commonly understood within their ordinary meaning and shall also include:

- (1) Mining;
- (2) Quarrying;
- (3) Refining;
- (4) Extracting oil and gas;
- (5) Cotton ginning;
- (6) Drying of rice, soybeans, and other grains;

- (7) Manufacturing of feed;
- (8) Processing of poultry or eggs and livestock and the hatching of poultry;
- (9) Printing of all kinds, types, and characters, including the services of overprinting and photographic processing incidental to printing;
- (10) Processing of scrap metal into grades and bales for further processing into steel and other metals;
- (11) Retreading of tires for automobiles, trucks, and other mobile equipment powered by electrical or internal combustion engines or motors;
- (12) Rebuilding or remanufacturing of used parts for automobiles, trucks, and other mobile equipment powered by electrical or internal combustion engines or motors if the rebuilt or remanufactured parts are not sold directly to the consumer but are sold for resale; and
- (13) Producing of protective coatings which increase the quality and durability of a finished product.

(c) (1) (A) It is the intent of this section to exempt only such machinery and equipment as shall be used directly in the actual manufacturing or processing operation at any time from the initial stage when actual manufacturing or processing begins through the completion of the finished article of commerce and the packaging of the finished end product.

(B) As used in this subsection, “directly” is used to limit the exemption to only the machinery and equipment used in actual production during processing, fabricating, or assembling raw materials or semifinished materials into the form in which such personal property is to be sold in the commercial market.

(2) For purposes of this subsection, the following definitions, specific inclusions, and specific exclusions shall apply and represent the intent of the General Assembly as to its interpretation of the term “used directly”:

(A) (i) Machinery and equipment used in actual production includes machinery and equipment that meet all other applicable requirements and which cause a recognizable and measurable mechanical, chemical, electrical, or electronic action to take place as a necessary and integral part of manufacturing, the absence of which would cause the manufacturing operation to cease.

(ii) “Directly” does not mean that the machinery and equipment must come into direct physical contact with any of the materials that become necessary and integral parts of the finished product.

(iii) Machinery and equipment which handle raw, semifinished, or finished materials or property before the manufacturing process begins are not used directly in the manufacturing process.

(iv) Machinery and equipment which are necessary for purposes of storing the finished product are not used directly in the manufacturing process.

(v) Machinery and equipment used to transport or handle a product while manufacturing is taking place are used directly;

(B) Machinery and equipment used directly in the manufacturing process includes without limitation the following:

(i) Molds, frames, cavities, and forms that determine the physical characteristics of the finished product or its packaging material at any stage of the manufacturing process;

- (ii) Dies, tools, and devices attached to or a part of a unit of machinery that determine the physical characteristics of the finished product or its packaging material at any stage of the manufacturing process;
- (iii) Testing equipment to measure the quality of the finished product at any stage of the manufacturing process;
- (iv) Computers and related peripheral equipment that directly control or measure the manufacturing process; and
- (v) Machinery and equipment that produce steam, electricity, or chemical catalysts and solutions that are essential to the manufacturing process but which are consumed during the course of the manufacturing process and do not become necessary and integral parts of the finished product;

(C) Machinery and equipment “used directly” in the manufacturing process shall not include the following:

- (i) Hand tools;
- (ii) Machinery, equipment, and tools used in maintaining and repairing any type of machinery and equipment;
- (iii) Transportation equipment, including conveyors, used solely before or after the manufacturing process has been started or completed;
- (iv) Office machines and equipment including computers and related peripheral equipment not directly used in controlling or measuring the manufacturing process;
- (v) Buildings;
- (vi) Machinery and equipment used in administrative, accounting, sales, or other such activities of the business;
- (vii) All furniture;
- (viii) All other machinery and equipment not used directly in manufacturing or processing operations as defined in this section; and
- (ix) Machinery and equipment used by a manufacturer to produce or repair replacement dies, molds, repair parts, or replacement parts used or consumed in the manufacturer's own manufacturing process.

(d) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration may promulgate rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient administration of this section.

Sess.), No. 5, § 3, provided, in part, that the amendment of former subsection (r) of Acts 1941, No. 386, now § 26-52-401(23) and § 26-52-402(a)(1), (a)(2)(A), (a)(3), and (b) and (c) in part, shall not be construed so as to narrow the scope of the specific exemptions set out under Acts 1941, No. 386.

The tax incentive for filming a motion picture, found at § 26-4-201 et seq., which is cited in (a)(4) has expired. The new “Motion Picture Incentive Act of 1997” is codified as § 15-4-2001 et seq.

Publisher's Notes. Acts 1983, No. 791, § 3, provided that the provisions of this act shall apply for all gross receipts tax returns and compensating tax returns for the periods beginning on or after the effective date of this act.

Acts 1983, No. 870, § 4, provided that the provisions of this act shall apply for all gross receipts tax returns and compensating tax returns for the periods beginning on or after January 1, 1985. Amendments. The 2009 amendment by No. 655 deleted (a)(4). The 2009 amendment by No. 1208 substituted “frames, cavities, and forms” for “and dies” in (c)(2)(B)(i), inserted (c)(2)(B)(ii) and redesignated the subsequent subdivisions accordingly, inserted “at any stage of the manufacturing process” in (c)(2)(B)(i) and (c)(2)(B)(iii), and made related and minor stylistic changes.

Construction.

Tax exemptions must be strictly construed against exemption, and to doubt is to deny the exemption. Ragland v. Dumas, 292 Ark. 515, 732 S.W.2d 119 (1987). A tax-exemption provision must be strictly construed against the exemption. ALCOA v. Weiss, 329 Ark. 225, 946 S.W.2d 695 (1997).

Burden of Proof.

The party claiming an exemption from taxes has the burden of proving his entitlement beyond a reasonable doubt. Ragland v. Dumas, 292 Ark. 515, 732 S.W.2d 119 (1987).

Judicial Review.

The standard of review for tax exemption cases is trial de novo on the record, and appellate court will not reverse the chancellor's findings of fact unless they are clearly erroneous. Ragland v. Dumas, 292 Ark. 515, 732 S.W.2d 119 (1987).

Machinery and Equipment.

General Assembly, by the use of the terms machinery and equipment, intended implements, tools, or devices of some degree of complexity and continuing utility and not materials that become fully integrated into a construction project, the utility of which ends upon the termination of each project. Ragland v. Dumas, 292 Ark. 515, 732 S.W.2d 119 (1987).

The taxpayer was entitled to an exemption for initial purchases of chemicals used in the manufacturing of aircraft parts since those chemicals came within the definition of equipment because (1) the chemicals served as instruments or tools to soften metal or mill away excess metal in the manufacturing process, and (2) the chemicals possessed continuing utility. Weiss v. Chem-Fab Corp., 336 Ark. 21, 984 S.W.2d 395 (1999).

The taxpayer was not entitled to an exemption for replacement purchases of chemicals used in the manufacturing of aircraft parts in light of the contention of the Department of Finance and Administration that the issue of whether the replacement chemicals were more efficient or had a longer useful life than the initial chemicals should have been determined at the time the initial chemicals were originally purchased and not at the time of replacement. Weiss v. Chem-Fab Corp., 336 Ark. 21, 984 S.W.2d 395 (1999).

Circuit court did not err in determining that the stickyback tape used by the taxpayer was equipment that was exempt from sales taxes; it met the statutory requirement under subdivision (c)(1)(A) of this section of equipment used directly in the actual manufacturing or processing operation and was necessary and integral, as provided under subdivision (c)(2)(A)(i). Weiss v. Bryce Co., LLC, 2009 Ark. 412, — S.W.3d — (2009).

Manufacturing.

Evidence that plaintiff produced its own syrup which was then mixed with other ingredients to produce the finished product was sufficient to show that plaintiff was in the business of producing and selling bottled carbonated soft drinks and entitled it to the exemption as a manufacturer from use tax. Arkansas Beverage Co. v. Heath, 257 Ark. 991, 521 S.W.2d 835 (1975).

Where seller of machinery or equipment sells such machinery to graphic arts manufacturers for use in manufacturing finished products such as stationery, wedding, and business announcements, flyers, books, and business cards, the seller is not entitled to exemption from the gross receipts (sales) tax under subsection (a) of this section, since commercial printers who purchase the machinery are not "manufacturers" under this section, because printing, binding, and photography processes are not manufacturing in the ordinary meaning of the term, which is the meaning with which the term must be construed under subsection (b) of this section. Western Paper Co. v. Qualls, 272 Ark. 466, 615 S.W.2d 369 (1981).

Ready-mix concrete plants that are used to mix cement, sand, gravel, and water to produce ready-mix concrete are not exempt from taxation under subsection (a) of this section as manufacturing equipment, since the machinery is just used for mixing materials and does not produce a truly finished product, such as concrete blocks. Ragland v. Lyon's Mach. Co., 279 Ark. 147, 649 S.W.2d 401 (1983).

Molds and Dies.

Items, such as molds or dies, that are destroyed or disposed of in the manufacturing process, do not qualify for the exemption in § 26-52-401(12)(B) because if they are destroyed, there is no possibility of double taxation. Pledger v. C.B. Form Co., 316 Ark. 22, 871 S.W.2d 333 (1994). Subdivision (c)(2)(B)(i) of this section provides an exemption for molds that determine the physical characteristics of the finished product; this section does not require that they be permanent since molds need not have a "continuing utility" to come within the statutory definition of equipment. Pledger v. C.B. Form Co., 316 Ark. 22, 871 S.W.2d 333 (1994).

The meaning of the words used in mold and die exemption is clear: there is an exemption for molds that determine the physical characteristics of the finished product, and, when the sentence in the subsection exempting molds is read in full, there is no expressed legislative intent that equipment or machinery have "continuing utility." Pledger v. C.B. Form Co., 316 Ark. 22, 871 S.W.2d 333 (1994).

Manufacturer's plaster and cardboard forms, or molds, sold to a single customer who utilized the forms to build fuel cells that fit into a cavity in the wing and fuselage of military and commercial aircraft, were exempt from the gross receipts or sales tax under subdivision (c)(2)(B)(i) of this section. Pledger v. C.B. Form Co., 316 Ark. 22, 871 S.W.2d 333 (1994).

Pollution Control.

The exemption from taxes under subdivision (a)(3) of this section is based on the requirement that pollution-control equipment be installed and used to prevent or reduce air or water pollution that results from the operation of a plant or facility, and the exemption did not apply to taxpayer's lease of equipment for a reclamation project. ALCOA v. Weiss, 329 Ark. 225, 946 S.W.2d 695 (1997).

Used Directly.

Trucks used on private property to carry materials and not used in processing, fabricating, or assembly of raw material do not qualify for exemption from the sales tax under subsection (c) of this section. Heath v. Midco Equip. Co., 256 Ark. 14, 505 S.W.2d 739 (1974).

Where diesel locomotive cranes and 72-inch magnet were used as tools not only to move but to roll and position the old railroad tank cars during the time that the culverts were being fabricated, and as such were necessary and integral parts of the manufacturing operation, the trial court erred in classifying such machinery as "transportation equipment." Arkansas Ry. Equip. Co. v. Heath, 257 Ark. 651, 519 S.W.2d 45 (1975).

Where there was a showing that a case conveyor, bottling conveyor, and an electronic bottle inspector in bottling plant were so much a part of a continuous and well-synchronized operation that, if one of the machines failed to operate, the entire operation stopped, there was sufficient evidence that the machines were an integral part of the manufactured product and exempt. Arkansas Beverage Co. v. Heath, 257 Ark. 991, 521 S.W.2d 835 (1975).

A.C.R.C. Notes. Section 26-51-602 referred to in subsection (b) of this section was repealed by Acts 2000 (2nd Ex. Sess.), Nos. 1 and 2, § 7. Section 26-51-602 provided the following definitions for "income" and "household income":

"Household income" means the combined income received by members of a household during a calendar year.

"Income" means gross income as defined in the Arkansas Income Tax Act, as amended, § 26-51-101 et seq., less deductions allowed under § 26-51-423(a)(1). It shall also include alimony, support money, cash public assistance and relief, but shall not include relief granted under this subchapter; the gross amount of any pension or annuity, including all monetary retirement benefits from whatever source derived including but not limited to railroad retirement benefits, all payments received under the federal social Security Act, and veterans' disability pensions; all dividends and interest from whatever source derived not included in gross income, workers' compensation, and the gross amount of 'loss of time insurance' but does not include gifts from nongovernmental sources, surplus food, or other relief in kind supplied by a governmental agency. However, in the case of a claimant who is a World War I veteran of the United States armed services or the widow of such a veteran, the term 'income' as used herein shall not include federal or state retirement or pension benefits or disability benefits, railroad retirement benefits, or social security benefits."

Amendments. The 2009 amendment rewrote the section.

It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008."

Acts 2007, No. 140, § 5: Oct. 1, 2007. Effective date clause provided: "Effective date. Sections 1 – 4 of this act are effective on the first day of the calendar quarter following the effective date of this act."

Acts 2007, No. 181, § 45, provided: "Section 1 through 43 of this act are effective on January 1, 2008."

Acts 2007, No. 860, § 7, provided: "Sections 1–6 of this act will become effective on January 1, 2008."

Emergency clause provided: "It being considered necessary by the Legislature to more effectively collect Sales Tax on new and used cars as provided in this Act and to expedite such collection, that this Act should be in effect as soon as possible and it thereby being necessary for the public peace, health and protection of the State an emergency is hereby declared and this Act shall be in full force and effect immediately upon and after its passage."

Acts 1957, No. 19, § 6: Feb. 7, 1957. Emergency clause provided: "It has been found and is hereby declared by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas (1) that inflationary prices are having the effect of curtailing the activities of certain necessary agencies of the State Government, including the State Hospital and other eleemosynary institutions, and the University of Arkansas and the other state-supported institutions of higher learning, the Public School System, the Public Welfare Program, and others; (2) that a minimum program of operation of the said state agencies and activities requires a large amount of state funds in excess of the amounts estimated to be available under existing revenue laws; (3) that to fail to provide additional funds will have the effect of further curtailing the activities of said agencies and programs to the great detriment to all of the people of this State; and (4) that only the provisions of this act will provide funds in amounts sufficient to alleviate the aforementioned conditions. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall take effect and be in full force from and after the date of its passage and approval."

Acts 1965, No. 146, §§ 5, 7: Apr. 1, 1965. Emergency clause provided: "It has been found that increased population and increased cost of operating have placed heavy demands on funds available for the operation of government and it is necessary to supplement said funds so that proper functions of government may be performed. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that a more efficient collection of gross receipts taxes by certain consumer users could be accomplished by instituting a system whereby the consumer user would pay the gross receipts taxes direct to the Revenue Services Division of the Department of Finance and Administration, and that the immediate passage of this Act is necessary to enable the Revenue Services Division of the Department of Finance and Administration to promulgate appropriate rules and regulations for entering into agreements for direct payment of gross receipts taxes to the State of Arkansas by the user. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1979, No. 401, § 50: Jan. 1, 1980.

Acts 1979, No. 915, § 6: July 1, 1979. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Seventy-Second General Assembly that there is some doubt regarding the correct dates for the reporting and payment of the Arkansas gross receipts and compensating use taxes; that there is also some confusion as to whether the Gross Receipts Tax should be computed on the basis of the total combined gross receipts or gross proceeds derived by the taxpayer from all taxable sales during the month or upon the gross receipts or gross proceeds derived from each separate sale, and not upon any figure for gross receipts tax collected that may appear on taxpayer’s books of account, and that this Act is designed to clarify this matter by specifically providing that the tax is computed upon the total receipts for the month from all taxable sales and not upon the gross receipts derived from each sale; nor upon any figure for gross receipts tax collected that may appear on taxpayer’s books of account; that the effectiveness of this Act on July 1, 1979, is essential to the efficient collection of revenues for the State’s operations and that in the event of an extension of the regular session, delay in effective date of this Act beyond July 1, 1979, could work irreparable harm upon the proper collection of essential revenues for the State’s operations. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1979.”

Acts 1985, No. 691, § 4: effective for tax years on and after July 1, 1985.

Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the State is in serious danger of losing revenues which are necessary to provide adequate funding for schools and other essential services required by the citizens of this State and that the provisions of this Act are necessary to avoid a substantial reduction in State revenues. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after January 1, 1988.”

Acts 1989, No. 395, § 6: Mar. 7, 1989. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the provisions of Arkansas Code of 1987 Annotated § 26-53-101 et seq. do not specifically provide for allowance to be given to persons for similar taxes paid in other states; that the proper and effective administration of the compensating (use) tax will be greatly enhanced by the provisions of a reciprocal tax credit given by the State of Arkansas to purchasers who have previously paid a compensating tax in another state, provided that such other state offers the same tax credit to Arkansas purchasers for tangible personal property brought into the other state; that this act is immediately necessary in order to eliminate the possibility that Arkansas taxpayers will be subject to undue multiple taxation by other states due to the failure of the states’ taxing authorities to equate the Arkansas Gross Receipts Tax to sales tax for purposes of allowing a reciprocal sales tax credit; that this act is also necessary to lessen the administrative burdens on taxpayers whose monthly gross receipts tax liability is relatively small in amount. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and welfare, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1989 (3rd Ex. Sess.), No. 9, § 5: Nov. 3, 1989. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that this State is losing sales and use tax revenues on new and used motor vehicles purchased by Arkansas residents from sellers in other states and that these revenues are essential to fund public education and other necessary services provided by State government and the loss of these funds if causing irreparable harm to this State. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1991, No. 3, § 14: May 1, 1991. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined that the State of Arkansas is lacking adequate funds to provide for the education of its citizens and for other essential services: that increased funds must be raised to adequately provide for those needs; that certain persons are assisting taxpayers in evading or defeating the payment or collection of lawfully imposed state taxes depriving the state of needed revenues and that this act is designed to provide the necessary revenues to the state sufficient to meet these needs. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act, being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effective on and after May 1, 1991."

Acts 1991, No. 688, § 10: Mar. 21, 1991. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that some taxpayers are not properly completing and timely filing tax returns; that these failures create an administrative burden upon the Department of Finance and Administration; and that this act is designed to impose a fifty dollar ($50) penalty for failure to timely file returns, even if no tax is due, or if returns are not properly completed.

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1991, No. 1126, § 5: May 1, 1991. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after May 1, 1991."

Acts 1992 (2nd Ex. Sess.), No. 6, § 6: Dec. 18, 1992. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the State of Arkansas is in serious need of additional revenues which are necessary to provide adequate funding for essential services required by the citizens of this State and that the provisions of this act are necessary to increase State revenues. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1995, No. 268, § 11: Feb. 13, 1995. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that current law imposes a 10% penalty on late payment of sales or use tax on motor vehicles and trailers; that current law disallows the isolated sales exemption to a purchase of a motor vehicle or trailer; that each of these provisions are in need of clarification to ensure the original legislative intent is fulfilled; and that Sections 6 and 7 of this act should be effective immediately to prevent possible confusion among the taxpayers of this state. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and Sections 6 and 7 of this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect immediately upon its passage and approval."

Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that vendors in the ordinary course of business have relied to their detriment by accepting resale certificates from purchasers in good faith, only to later incur tax liability if the property purchased was not resold by the purchaser; that the purchaser in most cases will be in the best position to determine whether the resale exemption is valid but current law does not permit recourse against the purchaser if the property purchased is not in fact resold; and that the practicalities of business require that vendors be permitted to relieve themselves of tax liability upon good faith acceptance of a resale certificate and this act is designed to afford such relief. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1995."

Acts 1995, No. 835, § 9: July 1, 1995. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the Arkansas law is unclear as it applies to the taxation of contractors and subcontractors who construct and repair buildings and other improvements and structures affixed to real estate; that Arkansas gross receipts and use tax laws which impose tax on certain services to motors, electrical appliances and devices, household appliances, and machinery were never intended by the General Assembly to apply to nonmechanical, passive or manually operated building systems or components; that none of the charges made by a contractor for labor or materials used in performing such nontaxable services are properly subject to tax; that contractors and subcontractors are suffering substantial losses on audits after making best efforts to comply with existing law; and that the gross receipts and use tax laws need to be clarified to specifically exclude certain services to buildings and other improvements or structures affixed to real estate from tax. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after July 1, 1995.”

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1997.”

Acts 1997, No. 635, § 2: Jan. 1, 1998.

Acts 1997, No. 1192, § 6: July 1, 1997. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Eighty-First General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the sales tax laws regarding manufactured homes are confused and need clarification to prevent inequities and possible lawsuits over their misapplication; that the laws restrict somewhat the capacity of persons to know what is taxed and when; and that it is immediately necessary for the sales tax laws regarding manufactured homes to become more comparable with laws on all types and forms of housing. Therefore, in order to make the laws more compatible, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, shall become effective on and after July 1, 1997.”

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1997.”

Acts 2003, No. 664, § 5: Aug. 1, 2003. Effective date clause provided: “This act shall become effective on the first day of the calendar month following the ninetieth day after the sine die adjournment of this session or the first day of the calendar month following the ninetieth day after a recess or adjournment for a period longer than ninety (90) days.”

Acts 2003, No. 665, § 3: Jan. 1, 2004.

Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: “Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008."

Acts 2007, No. 154, § 7: Mar. 1, 2007. Effective date clause provided: "Sections 1–6 of this act shall be effective on the first day of the calendar month following the effective date of this act."

Acts 2007, No. 154, § 8: Feb. 28, 2007. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the tax for free admission defeats the primary intent of a 'free' admission; that the recordkeeping for the seller or person furnishing the free admission is cost prohibitive and unnecessarily burdensome to the philanthropist and that the tax does not yield significant revenues to the state to justify the expense of the recordkeeping and submission of the tax; and that this act is immediately necessary for the state to enjoy the economic benefit from persons and entities giving free tickets to tourist attractions during the springtime. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto."

Acts 2007, No. 179, § 2: Jan. 1, 2008.

Acts 2007, No. 181, § 45: Jan. 1, 2008.

Acts 2007, No. 860, § 7: Jan. 1, 2008.

Acts 2009, No. 384, § 15: Mar. 10, 2009. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that certain provisions of the law require amendment to provide consistency with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, that a withdrawal from stock is subject to gross receipts tax under current law, that clarification is needed to ensure that the original legislative intent is fulfilled, and that this act is immediately necessary to prevent possible confusion among the taxpayers of Arkansas. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto."

26-52-501. Preparation of returns — Payment of tax.

(a) (1) The tax levied under this chapter shall be due and payable on the first day of each month, except as provided in this subchapter, by any person liable for the payment of any tax due under this chapter.

(2) When a taxpayer becomes liable to file a report with the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration, the taxpayer must continue to file the report, even though no tax is due, until such time as the taxpayer notifies the director, in writing, that the taxpayer is no longer liable for the report.

(b) (1) For the purpose of ascertaining the amount of tax payable under this chapter, it shall be the duty of all taxpayers on or before the twentieth day of each month to deliver to the director, upon forms prescribed and furnished by the director, returns showing the total tax due derived from all taxable sales during the preceding calendar month.

(2) The returns shall show such further information as the director may require to enable the director to compute correctly and collect the tax levied.

(3) Whether an individual, corporation, partnership, limited liability company, or other entity, every taxpayer shall file a single report combining all taxes due derived from sales made from all Arkansas locations of the taxpayer's business which are registered and permitted with the director under the same federal employer's identification number or social security number.

(c) In addition to the information required on returns, the director may request and the taxpayer must furnish any information deemed necessary for a correct computation of the tax levied.

(d) The tax shall be computed by multiplying the tax rate by the amount of the total combined gross receipts or gross proceeds derived from all taxable sales during the preceding month without regard to the amount that may be allocated to gross receipts tax on the taxpayer's books of account.

(e) The taxpayer shall compute and remit to the director the required tax due for the preceding calendar month, with the remittance of the tax to accompany the returns required in this subchapter.

(f) The return and remittances by the taxpayer as required in subsections (a)-(e) of this section shall not be construed to constitute an assessment of the tax.

(g) (1) If not paid on or before the twentieth of that month, the tax shall be delinquent from that date.

(2) However, no penalty for delinquency shall be assessed if payment is made on or before the first day of the month next following.

(h) When the average amount of tax for which the taxpayer is liable for the previous fiscal year beginning on July 1 and ending on June 30 does not exceed one hundred dollars ($100) per month, the director may notify the taxpayer that a quarterly report and remittance in lieu of a monthly report may be made on or before July 20, October 20, January 20, and April 20 of each year for the preceding three-month period.

(i) When the average amount of tax for which the taxpayer is liable for the previous fiscal year beginning on July 1 and ending on June 30 does not exceed twenty-five dollars ($25.00) per month, the director may notify the taxpayer that a yearly report and remittance in lieu of a monthly report may be made on or before January 20 of each year for the preceding twelve-month period.

(j) The director may establish by regulation separate requirements for filing reports and returns and paying the tax levied under this chapter for taxpayers whose principal line of business does not include the retail selling of tangible personal property or performing taxable services.

Amendments. The 2003 amendment, in (h) and (i), substituted “average” for “total” and “previous fiscal ... June 30” for “month of January 1990 or any month thereafter” and inserted “per month, the director may notify the taxpayer that”; and inserted “in lieu of a monthly report” in (i). The 2007 amendment rewrote (b)(1) and (b)(3).

Case Notes

Taxpayer's Defense to Claims.

Taxpayer's Defense to Claims.

Where taxpayer's defense to state's claim for unpaid sales taxes was three year statute of limitations and he did not claim “no tax due,” venue of his suit to enjoin levy of execution was in the Pulaski Chancery Court, and not in the county in which the state had placed a certificate of indebtedness of record against him. Scurlock v. Yarbrough, 224 Ark. 113, 271 S.W.2d 916 (1954).

In proceeding to enjoin levy of execution for unpaid sales taxes where taxpayer claimed three-year statute of limitations barred action, court held that where record did not disclose what particular months the alleged unpaid taxes were charged against in situation where some of the months of the year in question might be barred and some months not, the entire total for the year could have been incurred in months not barred, and the plea of the statute of limitations as to that entire year was without merit. Scurlock v. Yarbrough, 224 Ark. 113, 271 S.W.2d 916 (1954).

26-52-502. Tax return on basis of cash actually received.

(a) Any person taxable under this chapter doing business wholly or partly on a credit basis may make application to the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration for permission to prepare his or her returns on the basis of cash actually received.

(b) The application shall be granted by the director under such rules and regulations as the director may prescribe.

(c) Any person making the application shall be taxable on all moneys collected during the taxable period.

History. Acts 1941, No. 386, § 8; A.S.A. 1947, § 84-1909.

In General.
Credit Basis.

In General.

If from time to time audits of corporation's business were made by state agents and in consequence of such audits corporation made an assessment of items claimed to be interstate transactions, but did not pay tax because of state's ruling that it was not to be included in the declaration, then the tax for disclosed and reported periods would not be assessable. Hollis & Co. v. McCarroll, 200 Ark. 523, 140 S.W.2d 420 (1940) (decision under prior law).

Credit Basis.

Acts 1935, No. 233 was not discriminatory because it provided that any person doing a credit business might apply for permission to prepare returns on basis of cash actually received and that any person making such an application should be taxable on all moneys collected, regardless of the date of sale. Wiseman v. Phillips, 191 Ark. 63, 84 S.W.2d 91 (1935) (decision under prior law).

26-52-503. Discount for prompt payment.

(a) At the time of transmitting the returns required under this chapter to the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration, the taxpayer shall remit with the returns to the director ninety-eight percent (98%) of the state tax due under the applicable provisions of this chapter and ninety-eight percent (98%) of the city and county gross receipts taxes collected by the director.

(b) Failure of the taxpayer to remit the tax on or before the twentieth day of the applicable month shall cause the taxpayer to forfeit his or her claim to the discount, and the taxpayer must remit to the director one hundred percent (100%) of the amount of tax plus any penalty and interest due.

(c) (1) (A) For tax payments made on or after February 1, 1993, the discount for prompt payment of state tax shall not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) per month for a taxpayer filing monthly gross receipts tax reports.

(B) A taxpayer filing a tax report on a quarterly, annual, or occasional basis shall be entitled to the discount for state tax, which shall not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each month included in the tax report.

(2) (A) The aggregate state tax discount available to a taxpayer who operates more than one (1) permitted business location within this state and who does not file a consolidated monthly gross receipts tax report for all locations shall not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) per month.

(B) In the case of a corporate taxpayer, parent corporation, that holds fifty percent (50%) or more of the outstanding shares of one (1) or more corporations, subsidiaries, that are subject to the tax imposed by this chapter, the aggregate state tax discount available to the parent corporation and all subsidiaries shall not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) per month.

(C) There shall be no limitation on the discount for prompt payment of city and county gross receipts taxes collected by the director.

Amendments. The 2003 amendment, in (a), inserted "state" preceding "tax" and added "and ninety-eight percent ... director"; in (c)(1), inserted "of state tax" and "for state tax"; in (c)(2)(a) and (c)(2)(B) inserted "state tax" following "aggregate"; added (c)(2)(C); and deleted former (c)(3).

(b) When a used aircraft is taken in trade as a credit or part payment on the sale of a new or used aircraft, the tax levied by this chapter and all other gross receipts taxes levied by the state shall be paid on the net difference between the total consideration for the new or used aircraft sold and the credit for the used aircraft taken in trade. However, if the total consideration for the sale of the new or used aircraft is less than two thousand dollars ($2,000), no tax shall be due.

(c) However, the gross receipts or gross proceeds derived from the sale of new aircraft manufactured or substantially completed within the State of Arkansas shall not be subject to the gross receipts tax when sold by the manufacturer or substantial completer to a purchaser for use exclusively outside this state, notwithstanding the fact that possession may be taken in the state for the sole purpose of removing the aircraft from the state under its own power.

Case Notes

Excess Collection.

Excess Collection.

Doctrine of unjust enrichment did not apply where out-of-state corporation retained out of purchase price from Arkansas customers two (now three) percent of amount of sale but agreed to return the two (now three) percent to customers if corporation was not liable for gross receipts tax. Thompson v. Rhodes-Jennings Furn. Co., 223 Ark. 705, 268 S.W.2d 376 (1954), cert. denied, Branyan & Peterson, Inc. v. Thompson, 348 U.S. 872, 75 S. Ct. 108, 99 L. Ed. 686 (1954).

A discount retailer that collected sales tax in accordance with a regulation promulgated pursuant to this section, and as a result held funds in excess of the three percent authorized by § 26-52-301, was entitled to retain the excess, since all statutory requirements were met, the consumers who paid the tax could not be identified, and a refund of the overcollection was not possible. Ragland v. K-Mart Corp., 274 Ark. 297, 624 S.W.2d 430 (1981).

Liability for Tax.

Retailer was liable for the tax if he failed to collect it. Arkansas Power & Light Co. v. Roth, 193 Ark. 1015, 104 S.W.2d 207 (1937) (decision under prior law).

Extension of credit by power company did not operate to deprive it of the power of, nor relieve it from the duty of, making collection of tax, nor to relieve consumer from liability to pay tax. Arkansas Power & Light Co. v. Roth, 193 Ark. 1015, 104 S.W.2d 207 (1937) (decision under prior law).

Consumer of electricity was liable to power company for tax on sale of electricity made to him even though he had not expressly contracted to pay such tax, since the duty was imposed by law. Arkansas Power & Light Co. v. Roth, 193 Ark. 1015, 104 S.W.2d 207 (1937) (decision under prior law).

Lender was not entitled to bad-debt refunds, under § 26-52-309, of sales taxes paid on defaulted consumer credit accounts with retailers because: (1) the retailer, not the lender, was the “taxpayer” liable for the tax; and (2) the lender was not entitled to such refunds as an assignee of the retailer, as the Gross Receipts Act did not include “assignee” in the definition of a “taxpayer.” Citifinancial Retail Servs. Div. of Citicorp Trust Bank, Fsb v. Weiss, 372 Ark. 128, 271 S.W.3d 494 (2008).

26-52-509. Direct payment of tax by consumer or user generally.

(a) In the exercise of his or her discretion, the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration by agreement with any consumer or user may permit a consumer or user under such agreement to accrue and remit gross receipts taxes directly to the Department of Finance and Administration, instead of such taxes being collected and paid by the seller as provided in § 26-52-508.

(b) The agreements may be revoked at any time by the director whenever the director determines that the revocation thereof should be in the best interests of collection of gross receipts taxes.

(c) A consumer or user being permitted to report gross receipts taxes directly to the department shall not be entitled to any discount for any collection and shall be subject to all provisions of this chapter in the same manner as the taxpayer liable to remit taxes under this chapter.

(d) This section is supplemental to this chapter.

26-52-510. Direct payment of tax by consumer-user — New and used motor vehicles, trailers, or semitrailers.

(a) (1) On or before the time for registration as prescribed by § 27-14-903(a), a consumer shall pay to the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration the tax levied by this chapter and all other gross receipts taxes levied by the state with respect to the sale of a new or used motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer required to be licensed in this state, instead of the taxes being collected by the dealer or seller.

(2) The director shall require the payment of the taxes at the time of registration before issuing a license for the new or used motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer.

(3) (A) The taxes apply regardless of whether the motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer is sold by a vehicle dealer or an individual, corporation, or partnership not licensed as a vehicle dealer.

(B) The exemption in § 26-52-401(17) for isolated sales does not apply to the sale of a motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer.

(4) If the consumer fails to pay the taxes when due:

(A) There is assessed a penalty equal to ten percent (10%) of the amount of taxes due; and

(B) Before the director issues a license for the motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer, the consumer shall pay to the director the penalty under subdivision (a)(4)(A) of this section and the taxes due.

(b) (1) (A) Except as provided in this section, when a used motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer is taken in trade as a credit or part payment on the sale of a new or used motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer, the tax levied by this chapter and all other gross receipts taxes levied by the state shall be paid on the net difference between the total consideration for the new or used vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer sold and the credit for the used vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer taken in trade.

(B) However, if the total consideration for the sale of the new or used motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer is less than two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500), no tax shall be due.

(C) (i) When a used motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer is sold by a consumer, rather than traded-in as a credit or part payment on the sale of a new or used motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer, and the consumer subsequently purchases a new or used vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer of greater value within forty-five (45) days of the sale, the tax levied by this chapter and all other gross receipts taxes levied by the state shall be paid on the net difference between the total consideration for the new or used vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer purchased subsequently and the amount received from the sale of the used vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer sold in lieu of a trade-in.

(ii) (a) Upon registration of the new or used motor vehicle, a consumer claiming the deduction provided by subdivision (b)(1)(C)(i) of this section shall provide a bill of sale signed by all parties to the transaction which reflects the total consideration paid to the seller for the vehicle.

(b) A copy of the bill of sale shall be deposited with the revenue office at the time of registration of the new or used motor vehicle.

(c) The deduction provided by this section shall not be allowed unless the taxpayer claiming the deduction provides a copy of a bill of sale signed by all parties to the transaction which reflects the total consideration paid to the seller for the vehicle.

(iii) If the taxpayer claiming the deduction provided in this section fails to provide a bill of sale signed by all parties to the transaction which reflects the total consideration paid to the seller for the vehicle, tax shall be due on the total consideration paid for the new or used vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer without any deduction for the value of the item sold.

(2) (A) (i) When a motor vehicle dealer removes a vehicle from its inventory and the vehicle is used by the dealership as a service vehicle, the dealer shall register the vehicle, obtain a certificate of title, and pay sales tax on the listed retail price of the new vehicle.

(ii) (a) When the motor vehicle dealer returns the service vehicle to inventory as a used vehicle and replaces it with a new vehicle for dealership use as a service vehicle, the dealer shall pay sales tax on the difference between the listed retail price of the new service vehicle to be used by the dealership and the value of the used service vehicle being returned to inventory.

(b) The value of the used service vehicle shall be the highest listed wholesale price reflected in the most current edition of the National Automotive Dealers Association's Official Used Car Guide.

(B) (i) As used in this subsection, "service vehicle" means a motor vehicle driven exclusively by an employee of the dealership and used either to transport dealership customers or dealership parts and equipment.

(ii) "Service vehicle" does not include motor vehicles which are rented by the dealership, used as demonstration vehicles, used by dealership employees for personal use, or used to haul or pull other vehicles.

(c) All parts and accessories purchased by motor vehicle sellers for resale or used by them for the reconditioning or rebuilding of used motor vehicles intended for resale are exempt from gross receipts tax, provided that the motor vehicle seller meets the requirements of § 26-52-401(12)(A) and applicable regulations promulgated by the director.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal any exemption from this chapter.

(e) A credit is not allowed for sales or use taxes paid to another state with respect to the purchase of a motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer that was first registered by the purchaser in Arkansas.

(f) (1) (A) Any motor vehicle dealer licensed pursuant to § 27-14-601(a)(6) who has purchased a used motor vehicle upon payment of all applicable registration and title fees may register the vehicle for the sole purpose of obtaining a certificate of title to the vehicle without payment of gross receipts tax, except as provided in subdivision (f)(1)(B) of this section.

(B) (i) The sale of a motor vehicle from the original franchise dealer to any other dealer, person, corporation, or other entity other than a franchise dealer of the same make of vehicle and which sale is reflected on the statement of origin shall be subject to gross receipts tax.

(ii) The vehicle shall be considered a used motor vehicle which shall be registered and titled, and tax shall be paid at the time of registration.

(iii) The provisions of subdivision (f)(1)(A) of this section shall not apply in those instances.

(2) No license plate shall be provided with the registration, and the used vehicle titled by a dealer under this subsection may not be operated on the public highways unless there is displayed on the used vehicle a dealer's license plate issued under the provisions of § 27-14-601(a)(6)(B)(ii).

(g) (1) (A) For purposes of this section, the total consideration for a used motor vehicle shall be presumed to be the greater of the actual sales price as provided on the bill of sale, invoice or financing agreement, or the average loan value price of the vehicle as listed in the most current edition of a publication which is generally accepted by the industry as providing an accurate valuation of used vehicles.

(B) If the published loan value exceeds the invoiced price, then the taxpayer must establish to the director's satisfaction that the price reflected on the invoice or other document is true and correct.

(C) If the director determines that the invoiced price is not the actual selling price of the vehicle, then the total consideration will be deemed to be the published loan value.

(2) (A) For purposes of this section, the total consideration for a new or used trailer or semitrailer shall be the actual sales price as provided on a bill of sale, invoice, or financing agreement.

(B) The director may require additional information to conclusively establish the true selling price of the new or used trailer or semitrailer.

In General.

Since this section provided who is to pay the tax, a car dealer is not required to tell every purchaser who would pay the tax or have the contract subjected to rescission. Lowell Perkins Agency, Inc. v. Jacobs, 250 Ark. 952, 469 S.W.2d 89 (1971).

Trial court did not err in denying car manufacturer a refund or deduction of the pro rata portion of gross receipts tax related to bad debts arising out of the sale and financing of motor vehicles as the car manufacturer was not a "taxpayer" for the purposes of the Arkansas Bad Debt Statute, § 26-52-101 et seq.; for the purposes of the motor vehicle gross receipts tax, the person liable to remit the tax was the consumer. DaimlerChrysler Servs. N. Am., LLC v. Weiss, 360 Ark. 188, 200 S.W.3d 405 (2004).

Trial court erred in finding that a corporation was a "taxpayer" for the purposes of § 26-52-309, commonly known as the Bad Debt Statute, and in granting a refund or deduction of the pro rata portion of gross receipts tax related to bad debts arising out of the sale and financing of motor vehicles in Arkansas; it was possible to be a taxpayer for one kind of tax, while not a taxpayer for another kind of tax. Weiss v. Am. Honda Fin. Corp., 360 Ark. 208, 200 S.W.3d 381 (2004).

Automobiles.

Automobiles, whether old or new, sold subsequent to the effective date of Acts 1935, No. 233, were subject to the tax, unless received as part of the purchase price. S.R. Thomas Auto Co. v. Wiseman, 192 Ark. 584, 93 S.W.2d 138 (1936) (decision under prior law).

This section relates to the method of collection and does not impose a use tax; therefore, sale of automobiles completed in another state and brought by owner into this state was not taxable under this section. Cook v. Southeast Ark. Transp. Co., 211 Ark. 831, 202 S.W.2d 772 (1947) (decision prior to enactment of § 26-53-101 et seq.).

Legislative Intent.

The amendment of subsection (b) of this section by Acts 1995, No. 268 was not an attempt by the legislature to retroactively change subsection (a) of this section or § 26-53-126(a). Pledger v. Mid-State Constr. & Materials, Inc., 325 Ark. 388, 925 S.W.2d 412 (1996).

Trailers.

There is no statutory authority to collect sales tax directly from purchaser of house trailer used as home and not required to be licensed. Cheney v. Frederick, 239 Ark. 466, 390 S.W.2d 121 (1965).

(c) Each prepaid funeral contract shall state the following: "ALL SALES TAXES DUE UNDER THE ARKANSAS GROSS RECEIPTS ACT OF 1941 WHICH ARE NOT PAID IN FULL AS OF THE DATE OF THIS CONTRACT ARE DUE UPON THE DEATH OF THE INDIVIDUAL FOR WHOM THIS CONTRACT IS PURCHASED."

History. Acts 1999, No. 598, § 1; 2009, No. 655, § 24.

Publisher's Notes. Former § 26-52-511, concerning refund of athletic and interscholastic event admissions, was repealed by Acts 1995, No. 124, § 1. The section was derived from Acts 1973, No. 516, §§ 1, 3; A.S.A. 1947, §§ 84-1941, 84-1943. For present law, see § 26-52-412.

26-52-521. Sourcing of sales.

(a) (1) This section applies for purposes of determining a seller's obligation to pay or collect and remit a sales or use tax with respect to the seller's retail sale of a product or service.

(2) This section does not affect the obligation of a purchaser or lessee to remit tax on the use of the product or service to the taxing jurisdictions of that use and does not apply to the sales or use taxes levied on the retail sale excluding lease or rental, of motor vehicles, trailers, or semitrailers that require licensing.

(b) Excluding a lease or rental, the retail sale of a product or service shall be sourced as follows:

(1) If the product or service is received by the purchaser at a business location of the seller, the sale is sourced to that business location;

(2) If the product or service is not received by the purchaser at a business location of the seller, the sale is sourced to the location where receipt by the purchaser or the purchaser's designated donee occurs, including the location indicated by instructions for delivery to the purchaser or donee known to the seller;

(3) If subdivisions (b)(1) and (2) of this section do not apply, the sale is sourced to the location indicated by an address for the purchaser that is available from the business records of the seller that are maintained in the ordinary course of the seller's business when use of this address does not constitute bad faith;

(4) If subdivisions (b)(1)-(3) of this section do not apply, the sale is sourced to the location indicated by an address for the purchaser obtained during the consummation of the sale, including the address of a purchaser's payment instrument, if no other address is available if the use of this address does not constitute bad faith; or

(5) If none of the previous rules of subdivisions (b)(1)-(4) of this section apply, including the circumstance in which the seller is without sufficient information to apply the previous rules, the location will be determined by the address from which tangible personal property was shipped or from which the service was provided, disregarding for these purposes any location that merely provided the digital transfer of the product sold.

(c) The lease or rental of tangible personal property other than property identified in subsection (d) or subsection (e) of this section shall be sourced as follows:

(1) (A) For a lease or rental that requires recurring periodic payments, the first periodic payment is sourced the same as a retail sale in accordance with the provisions of subsection (b) of this section.

(B) Periodic payments made after the first payment are sourced to the primary property location for each period covered by the payment.

(C) The primary property location shall be as indicated by an address for the property provided by the lessee that is available to the lessor from its records maintained in the ordinary course of business if use of this address does not constitute bad faith.

(D) The property location shall not be altered by intermittent use at different locations such as use of business property that accompanies employees on business trips and service calls;

(2) For a lease or rental that does not require recurring periodic payments, the payment is sourced the same as a retail sale in accordance with the provisions of subsection (b) of this section; and

(3) This subsection does not affect the imposition or computation of sales or use tax on leases or rentals based on a lump sum or accelerated basis or on the acquisition of property for lease.

(d) The lease or rental of motor vehicles, trailers, semitrailers, or aircraft that do not qualify as transportation equipment as defined in subsection (e) of this section shall be sourced as follows:

(1) (A) For a lease or rental that requires recurring periodic payments, each periodic payment is sourced to the primary property location.

(B) The primary property location shall be as indicated by an address for the property provided by the lessee that is available to the lessor from its records maintained in the ordinary course of business if use of this address does not constitute bad faith.

(C) This location shall not be altered by intermittent use at different locations;

(2) For a lease or rental that does not require recurring periodic payments, the payment is sourced the same as a retail sale in accordance with the provisions of subsection (b) of this section; and

(3) This subsection does not affect the imposition or computation of sales or use tax on leases or rentals based on a lump sum or accelerated basis or on the acquisition of property for lease.

(e) (1) Including a lease or rental, the retail sale of transportation equipment shall be sourced the same as a retail sale in accordance with the provisions of subsection (b) of this section, notwithstanding the exclusion of a lease or rental in subsection (b) of this section.

(2) As used in this section, “transportation equipment” means any of the following:

(A) Locomotives and railcars that are utilized for the carriage of persons or property in interstate commerce;

(2) (A) Upon receipt of the direct mail form, the seller is relieved of all obligations to collect, pay, or remit the applicable tax, and the purchaser is obligated to pay or remit the applicable tax on a direct pay basis.

(B) A direct mail form shall remain in effect for all future sales of direct mail by the seller to the purchaser until it is revoked in writing.

(3) (A) Upon receipt of information from the purchaser showing the jurisdictions to which the direct mail is delivered to recipients, the seller shall collect the tax according to the delivery information provided by the purchaser.

(2) Nothing in this subsection shall limit a purchaser's obligation for sales or use tax to any state to which the direct mail is delivered.

(d) The direct mail form must:

Emergency clause provided: "Whereas the General Assembly has determined that the local sales tax rate on sales by vendors in Texarkana, Arkansas is 1% higher than the local use tax rate on sales by out-of-state vendors into Texarkana, Arkansas; that this disparity affects the ability of Texarkana, Arkansas merchants to compete with out-of-state merchants; that this act will correct the disparity and allow for fair competition. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after July 1, 1997."

Case Notes

Constitutionality.

Constitutionality.

Acts 1977, No. 48, codified at this subchapter, is not an impermissible delegation of State legislature and taxing authority because the issue of equalizing taxes is localized, rather than State-wide, and the act presents a complete plan of what the tax plan would be, if approved, and the voters have no discretion to change the terms of the law as enacted. Boyd v. Weiss, 333 Ark. 684, 971 S.W.2d 237 (1998).

The geographical limitations contained in this act are rationally related to its purposes and the incidental circumstance that it provides a tax incentive for people in surrounding Arkansas cities to move to Texarkana is not determinative of the reasonableness of the act. Boyd v. Weiss, 333 Ark. 684, 971 S.W.2d 237 (1998).

Merely because Acts 1977, No. 48 ultimately affects less than all the State's territory does not render it unconstitutional for the purposes of equal protection. Boyd v. Weiss, 333 Ark. 684, 971 S.W.2d 237 (1998).

26-52-601. Legislative findings and intent.

(a) (1) In the passage of this subchapter, the General Assembly is cognizant of the inequities faced by cities and towns in this state and their inhabitants when the cities and towns are divided by a state line from an incorporated city or town in another state in which the tax burden of the citizens of the city or town in the adjoining state is substantially less than the tax burden imposed by the laws of this state upon the citizens of a border city or town in this state.

(2) The General Assembly is also cognizant that these tax inequities offer inducements to citizens who would otherwise settle in Arkansas and operate businesses in Arkansas to move to the border cities in the adjoining states.

(b) The passage of this subchapter is designed to establish a method of equalizing the inequities imposed under the tax laws of this state, thereby offering inducements to persons to establish their homes and businesses in the Arkansas border city or town.

History. Acts 1977, No. 48, § 1; A.S.A. 1947, § 84-1946n.

Case Notes

Purpose.

Purpose.

The stated purpose of Acts 1977, No. 48 is to protect border cities by exempting residents from state income taxes who might otherwise move to Texas; the mere fact that the revenue from the increased sales tax goes into the state treasury does not negate or supercede this purpose. Boyd v. Weiss, 333 Ark. 684, 971 S.W.2d 237 (1998).

26-52-602. Vote to equalize taxes authorized.

Whenever any city or town in this state is divided by a street state line from an incorporated city or town in an adjoining state in which the other state does not levy a state income tax, the qualified electors of the Arkansas border city or town may vote to equalize the state taxes paid by citizens in the border city or town in Arkansas with the tax advantages of the citizens of the adjoining city or town in the other state in the manner provided in this subchapter.

History. Acts 1977, No. 48, § 2; A.S.A. 1947, § 84-1946.

26-52-603. Benefits of subchapter for individual taxpayers only.

This subchapter is intended to exempt only individual taxpayers from the Arkansas income tax and not to provide exemption for corporations or any taxpayers other than individual taxpayers.

26-52-604. Individual taxpayers entitled to benefit of subchapter.

Any individual taxpayer residing in any border city or town located outside the State of Arkansas shall be entitled to the benefits of the provisions of this subchapter with respect to income derived by any individual taxpayer from employment or business activity engaged in the Arkansas border city upon which income tax is due the State of Arkansas under the provisions of the Income Tax Act of 1929, § 26-51-101 et seq.

are residents of the border city or town.

(b) The special election shall be called not later than one hundred twenty (120) days following the adoption of the ordinance by the governing body of the city or town, or the filing of a petition requesting the special election.

(e) On the ballot shall be printed the following issue:

the levy of an additional one percent (1%) state gross receipts tax on taxable sales in the City of -----, ----- County, Arkansas, paying state income taxes by individuals who are residents of ----- (town).

AGAINST

the levy of an additional one percent (1%) state gross receipts tax on taxable sales in the City of -----, ----- County, Arkansas, paying state income taxes by individuals who are residents of ----- (town).

(f) The voter shall cast the vote of his or her choice by placing an “X” opposite the issue of his or her choice.

Publisher's Notes. Acts 1977, No. 48, § 5, provided that the election authorized by that act be held on or before October 1, 1977, and not thereafter. The section further provided that if at an election held under the act, the qualified electors voted to levy the additional gross receipts tax in lieu of payment of state income taxes, the tax would be effective January 1, 1978, and thereafter.

Amendments. The 2005 amendment redesignated former (b) as (b)(1); substituted “forty-five (45)” for “sixty (60)” in (b)(1); and added (b)(2).

The 2007 amendment by No. 181 inserted “to be administered and collected as a local sales tax” following “(1%)” in (a).

The 2007 amendment by No. 1049 inserted “in accordance with § 7-5-103(b)” in (a); and rewrote (b).

The 2009 amendment substituted “§ 7-11-201 et seq.” for “§ 7-5-103(b)” in (a).

Emergency clause provided: “There is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that industrial concerns in Arkansas are experiencing intense competition, both domestic and from abroad; that to remain competitive in domestic and international markets requires, among other things, new investments in modern, efficient plants and equipment by industry; that the investments required for industrial plant modernization or expansion may represent extraordinary investments; that the incentives afforded by this Act can serve to stimulate the economy of the State of Arkansas and that failure to act immediately will result in the loss of jobs for Arkansans. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. Preambles. Acts 1979, No. 449 contained a preamble which read:

"Whereas, the levy of sales and use taxes upon towboats, barges and the repair and construction of the same results in an undue hardship on Arkansas purchasers and Arkansas vendors of towboats and barges; and

"Whereas, adjoining states exempt barges and towboats from sales and use taxes resulting in Arkansas vendors and purchasers having a competitive disadvantage; and

"Whereas, this bill would merely put Arkansas towboat and barge vendors and purchasers on an equal footing with competitors in adjoining states; and

"Whereas, the result of this Act would be to boost the economy in this particular industry with the probable result of increased production and sales and increased tax collections resulting from the economic boost to this industry;

"Now, therefore"

Effective Dates. Acts 1949, No. 487, § 31: Mar. 30, 1949. Emergency clause provided: "Since the enactment of the Arkansas Retail Sales Tax Act, Arkansas has been placed in the peculiar category of discriminating against its home merchants. This Act attempts to rectify the evil by placing domestic merchants upon an equal plane with foreign merchants. It is also recognized that adequate hospital facilities, old age pension payments and welfare assistance to the aged and distressed are essential for the preservation of the public health and welfare; and that adequate school facilities are vital to the preservation of our democratic system of government, and because of such necessities an emergency is declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health, peace and safety, shall take effect and be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1955, No. 55, § 2: Feb. 14, 1955. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby determined by the General Assembly that the imposition of the Compensating Tax upon the ginnerers of cotton in this State is unfair and burdensome and discourages the expansion of existing cotton ginning plants at this time when the development of such facilities is an economic necessity. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the protection of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1955, No. 94, § 8: Feb. 22, 1955. Emergency clause provided: "It has been found and is determined by the General Assembly of Arkansas that the Gross Receipts Tax and the Compensating Tax Act as now levied and collected works undue hardships and competition upon the many livestock and poultry growers of this State, and the passage of this Act will eliminate this situation and thereby work to the welfare of the public at large; therefore, it being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety of the State, an emergency is hereby declared and this act shall be in full force and effect from and after its approval."

Acts 1957, No. 19, § 6: Feb. 7, 1957. Emergency clause provided: "It has been found and is hereby declared by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas (1) that inflationary prices are having the effect of curtailing the activities of certain necessary agencies of the State Government, including the State Hospital and other eleemosynary institutions, and the University of Arkansas and the other state-supported institutions of higher learning, the Public School System, the Public Welfare Program, and others; (2) that a minimum program of operation of the said state agencies and activities requires a large amount of state funds in excess of the amounts estimated to be available under existing revenue laws; (3) that to fail to provide additional funds will have the effect of further curtailing the activities of said agencies and programs to the great detriment to all of the people of this State; and (4) that only the provisions of this act will provide funds in amounts sufficient to alleviate the aforementioned conditions. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall take effect and be in full force from and after the date of its passage and approval."

Acts 1957, No. 141, § 2: Mar. 4, 1957. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby determined by the General Assembly that the attempted imposition of the Compensating Tax upon the artificial drying of rice in this State is unfair and burdensome and discourages the expansion of existing commercial drying plants at this time when the development of such facilities is an economic and agricultural necessity. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act, being necessary for the protection of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1961, No. 43, § 3: Feb. 6, 1961. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that because of legislative oversight the definition of the term 'person' as contained in the Compensating Tax Act permits exemptions of certain governmental units from the payment of said tax which is not permitted in the Sales Tax Law, and that as a result thereof the State of Arkansas is losing revenues vitally needed for the support of the public schools and other vital services of this State; and that only by the immediate passage of this Act may this situation be corrected. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1961, No. 140, § 3: Feb. 22, 1961. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and declared by the General Assembly that there is need for additional revenue for the adequate operation of the various state agencies and institutions; and to determine in advance that adequate funds will be made available, as only in this Act provided. It is hereby declared necessary for the preservation of public peace, health and safety that this Act shall take effect and be in force immediately. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act, being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1967, No. 113, § 5: Feb. 20, 1967. Emergency clause provided: "It has been found and is declared by the General Assembly of Arkansas that certain exemptions in the sales tax and use tax to encourage capital investment in industrial, utility and manufacturing enterprises will be of great value to the economic and industrial development of the State; that it is important for such purposes and to correct inequities now existing that exemptions in the sales tax be identical to those of the use tax and that enactment of this bill will accomplish these purposes and aims. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist, and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall take effect and be in force from and after the date of its approval."

Acts 1968 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 5, § 5: Feb. 15, 1968. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of this State that the 'manufacturing and processing' exemptions in certain statutes of this State are confusing and difficult to administer and enforce; that revenues are being lost as a result thereof; that such confusion and loss of revenues have created an emergency, which emergency is hereby found and declared to exist, and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, welfare, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1971, No. 600, § 6: Apr. 7, 1971. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the maintenance and operation of economical mass transportation for the general public is essential to the public welfare, that the owners and/or operators of motor buses on designated streets according to regular schedules under franchise from municipalities in this State are in dire circumstances thereby jeopardizing the efficient and economical mass transportation of the public, and that the immediate passage of this Act is necessary to provide financial relief to the operation of mass transit facilities in municipalities in this State. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1973, No. 68, § 6: Feb. 6, 1973. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the levy of the Arkansas Gross Receipts Tax and the Arkansas Compensating Tax upon agricultural fertilizers, agricultural limestone, agricultural chemicals, and upon vaccines, medication, and medicinal preparations used in treating livestock and poultry, places a severe hardship upon the agricultural industry of this State and that this Act should be given effect immediately in order to remedy this inequitable situation. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1973, No. 182, §§ 9, 10: Jan. 1, 1973. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the present law relative to the taxation of banks and savings and loan associations is somewhat vague and indefinite, that such institutions should pay the same taxes as other business corporations in the State, and this Act is immediately necessary to clarify the laws with respect to the taxation of financial institutions and to assure that such institutions pay the same taxes as other business corporations. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval." Approved Feb. 22, 1973.

Acts 1975 (Extended Sess., 1976), No. 1237, § 5: Feb. 16, 1976. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that it was not the intent of Act 487 of 1949, as amended, to impose the compensating use tax upon aircraft, aircraft equipment, and railroad parts, cars, and equipment, or to tangible personal property owned or leased by aircraft, airmotive or railroad companies, brought into this State solely and exclusively for (i) the purpose of refurbishing, conversion, or modification or (ii) for storage pending shipment for use outside the State of Arkansas regardless of the length of time any such property is so stored in the State of Arkansas; that recent court decisions have construed said Act 487 of 1949, as amended, to impose and require the collection and payment of compensating use taxes upon such property; and that the immediate passage of this Act is necessary to clarify the legislative intent and to provide that any claim the State of Arkansas may now have outstanding, or which is due the State of Arkansas as a result of the court decisions for the collection of any such compensating use tax upon aircraft, aircraft equipment, and railroad parts, cars, and equipment, or to tangible personal property owned or leased by any aircraft, airmotive or railroad companies, brought into this State (i) solely and exclusively for the purpose of refurbishing, conversion, or modification, or (ii) for storage pending shipment for use outside the State of Arkansas regardless of the length of time any such property is so stored in the State of Arkansas, shall not be enforced, thereby correcting this inequity which was not intended by the General Assembly. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act, being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1979, No. 449, § 3: Mar. 21, 1979. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the levy of the Arkansas Sales and Use Taxes on towboats and barges has resulted in an inequitable taxation of Arkansas vendors and purchasers, that surrounding states exempt such items from their sales and use tax, and that the Arkansas vendors and purchasers have thereby been placed in an unfavorable position in the competitive market place, and that this Act is immediately necessary to provide relief from this inequity. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1979, No. 915, § 6: July 1, 1979. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the Seventy-Second General Assembly that there is some doubt regarding the correct dates for the reporting and payment of the Arkansas gross receipts and compensating use taxes; that there is also some confusion as to whether the Gross Receipts Tax should be computed on the basis of the total combined gross receipts or gross proceeds derived by the taxpayer from all taxable sales during the month or upon the gross receipts or gross proceeds derived from each separate sale, and not upon any figure for gross receipts tax collected that may appear on taxpayer's books of account, and that this Act is designed to clarify this matter by specifically providing that the tax is computed upon the total receipts for the month from all taxable sales and not upon the gross receipts derived from each sale; nor upon any figure for gross receipts tax collected that may appear on taxpayer's books of account; that the effectiveness of this Act on July 1, 1979, is essential to the efficient collection of revenues for the State's operations and that in the event of an extension of the regular session, delay in effective date of this Act beyond July 1, 1979, could work irreparable harm upon the proper collection of essential revenues for the State's operations. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1979."

Acts 1983, No. 791, § 6: Mar. 24, 1983. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the taxpayers of the State of Arkansas will be burdened in a manner not intended by this General Assembly; therefore, an emergency is therefore declared to exist and, this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its date of passage and approval."

Acts 1983, No. 829, § 2: Mar. 25, 1983. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the Arkansas Supreme Court has held that Act 487 of 1949 does not contain a 'withdrawal for use' provision comparable to the Arkansas Gross Receipts Tax Act and therefore there exists a discriminatory tax advantage to a person who owns tangible personal property outside of this State and subsequently transfers same into this State for consumption or use and that immediate passage of this Act is necessary to correct this inequity. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act, being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1983 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 63, § 3: Nov. 1, 1983. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the 74th General Assembly that the Arkansas Supreme Court has held that the current method of allocating State financial aid to public elementary and secondary education is unconstitutional and must be revised to meet constitutional standards; that reallocation of existing State financial aid would cause massive disruption of the system of public elementary and secondary education in this State; that the current level of State financial aid to public elementary and secondary education is inadequate to meet the mandate of Article 14 of the Arkansas Constitution that the State maintain a general, suitable and efficient system of free public schools; that experienced faculty members at the institutions of higher education are leaving the State of Arkansas because salary levels in Arkansas are not competitive with salaries in institutions of higher education in other states; that accreditation of certain essential programs operated by various institutions of higher education is in jeopardy because of inadequate financial support; that the present level of funding for essential State services will cause the curtailing of activities of necessary State agencies; that additional State revenues are required to alleviate these conditions. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect November 1, 1983."

Acts 1983 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 94, § 3: Nov. 9, 1983. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that a deduction for bad debts should be allowed under Arkansas' sales tax laws; that such deduction is not authorized by law and therefore the present law is inequitable and fundamentally unfair to that extent; that this Act should go into effect immediately to correct such inequity. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1987, No. 27, § 4: Feb. 11, 1987. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that in-state sellers of property and services are being discriminated against as a result of out-of-state vendors, who solicit sales by advertisements, not being required to collect and pay to the State compensating (use) tax upon such sales; that, as a result of the foregoing, this State is being deprived of much-needed revenue to which it is rightfully entitled; that providers of interstate telecommunication services have not been required to collect and remit gross receipts tax on interstate access and long distance telecommunications services which are hereby declared to be subject to the gross receipts tax. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1987, No. 772, § 5: Apr. 7, 1987. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that because of the case Ricarte v. State, CR 86-31 [290 Ark. 100, 717 S.W.2d 488 (1986)], a question has arisen over the validity of Act 1237 of the Extended Session of 1976; that this Act is a reenactment of the former law; and that the immediate passage of this Act is necessary to clarify the state of the law on this issue. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1987, No. 911, § 3: Apr. 13, 1987. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that under present law manufacturing and processing plants are exempt from paying the use tax on machinery and equipment required by law to be installed to prevent or reduce air or water pollution; that the exemption apparently does not apply to cities or towns; that some cities are under government order to install such machinery and equipment; that cities should be extended the exemption to the same extent manufacturing and processing facilities enjoy the exemption; that until the exemption becomes effective, some cities will suffer extra financial hardships; and that this Act will immediately implement such exemption. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1989, No. 395, § 6: Mar. 7, 1989. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the provisions of Arkansas Code of 1987 Annotated § 26-53-101 et seq. do not specifically provide for allowance to be given to persons for similar taxes paid in other states; that the proper and effective administration of the compensating (use) tax will be greatly enhanced by the provisions of a reciprocal tax credit given by the State of Arkansas to purchasers who have previously paid a compensating tax in another state, provided that such other state offers the same tax credit to Arkansas purchasers for tangible personal property brought into the other state; that this act is immediately necessary in order to eliminate the possibility that Arkansas taxpayers will be subject to undue multiple taxation by other states due to the failure of the states' taxing authorities to equate the Arkansas Gross Receipts Tax to sales tax for purposes of allowing a reciprocal sales tax credit; that this act is also necessary to lessen the administrative burdens on taxpayers whose monthly gross receipts tax liability is relatively small in amount. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and welfare, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1989, No. 817, § 6: July 1, 1989. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the State of Arkansas is in serious need of additional revenue for the purpose of funding critical education programs and other essential services required by the citizens of the State and the provisions of this act are necessary to raise needed revenue. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist in this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after July 1, 1989."

Acts 1989 (3rd Ex. Sess.), No. 9, § 5: Nov. 3, 1989. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that this state is losing sales and use tax revenues on new and used motor vehicles purchased by Arkansas residents from sellers in other states and that these revenues are essential to fund public education and other necessary services provided by State government and the loss of these funds if causing irreparable harm to this State. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1991, No. 3, § 14: May 1, 1991. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined that the State of Arkansas is lacking adequate funds to provide for the education of its citizens and for other essential services: that increased funds must be raised to adequately provide for those needs; that certain persons are assisting taxpayers in evading or defeating the payment or collection of lawfully imposed state taxes depriving the state of needed revenues and that this act is designed to provide the necessary revenues to the state sufficient to meet these needs. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act, being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effective on and after May 1, 1991.”

Acts 1991, No. 688, § 10: Mar. 21, 1991. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that some taxpayers are not properly completing and timely filing tax returns; that these failures create an administrative burden upon the Department of Finance and Administration; and that this act is designed to impose a fifty dollar ($50) penalty for failure to timely file returns, even if no tax is due, or if returns are not properly completed.

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1993, Nos. 820 and 987, § 9: Apr. 1, 1993. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of this state that unemployment and economic underdevelopment has reached intolerable levels in certain portions of this state and the state as a whole has been unable to compete with other state's incentive programs for economic development, and, that the incentives afforded by this Act are critical to the development and expansion of job opportunities in the state. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act, being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1993, No. 1001, § 5: emergency failed to pass. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that under present law certain Arkansas businesses are put at an unfair advantage against out of state businesses due to the ‘forms’ used by the business being subjected to the state sales tax; that substantial employment opportunity is jeopardized in the state unless the relief provided by this act is granted immediately; that this act should go into effect as soon as possible in order to protect the employment opportunities within this state. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1993, No. 1144, § 5: Apr. 14, 1993. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that non-profit agencies distributing free food-stuffs contribute immeasurably to the general well being of the poor and needy individuals in this state; that these organizations are non-profit organizations and that it is in the best interest of all the citizens of this State that such organizations be granted appropriate incentives to continue their outstanding work; and that this act is necessary to provide such incentive and allow these organizations to continue their work by exempting purchases by such organizations from the Arkansas gross receipts tax and should be given effect immediately. Therefore an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1995, No. 268, § 11: Feb. 13, 1995. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that current law imposes a 10% penalty on late payment of sales or use tax on motor vehicles and trailers; that current law disallows the isolated sales exemption to a purchase of a motor vehicle or trailer; that each of these provisions are in need of clarification to ensure the original legislative intent is fulfilled; and that Sections 6 and 7 of this act should be effective immediately to prevent possible confusion among the taxpayers of this state. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and Sections 6 and 7 of this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect immediately upon its passage and approval.”

Acts 1995, No. 358, § 6: July 1, 1995. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that vendors in the ordinary course of business have relied to their detriment by accepting resale certificates from purchasers in good faith, only to later incur tax liability if the property purchased was not resold by the purchaser; that the purchaser in most cases will be in the best position to determine whether the resale exemption is valid but current law does not permit recourse against the purchaser if the property purchased is not in fact resold; and that the practicalities of business require that vendors be permitted to relieve themselves of tax liability upon good faith acceptance of a resale certificate and this act is designed to afford such relief. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1995.”

Acts 1995, No. 387, § 7: approved Feb. 20, 1995. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the application of any additional Gross Receipts or Compensating (Use) Tax levied by the state or any city or county to tangible personal property purchased for the performance of construction contracts entered into prior to the effective date of the tax increase will substantially increase the cost of performing contracts; that contractors are not able to include the additional tax in their contract price at the time the contract is entered into and, therefore, imposition of the tax to purchases of construction contractors would cause undue hardship. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall take effect and be in force from the date of its approval."

Acts 1995, No. 848, § 7: Mar. 31, 1995. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1995, No. 850, § 8: effective for taxable years beginning Jan. 1, 1995.

Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the State of Arkansas is in serious need to provide for the health, welfare and education of the State's children by encouraging child care facilities to offer an 'appropriate early childhood program' and this Act is designed to meet that need by providing tax incentives to encourage construction of these facilities. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1995, No. 1160, § 46: Apr. 11, 1995. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that certain changes are necessary to the Arkansas tax laws; that these changes are necessary immediately in order to maintain the efficient administration of the Arkansas income tax laws; and that this act is necessary to effectuate that purpose. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1997, No. 951, § 34 provided: "Sections 1 through 24, 32 and 33 shall be effective for tax years beginning on and after January 1, 1997. However, it is the intent of this Act that those portions of the Internal Revenue Code adopted by this Act which for federal tax purposes do not become effective until some time after January 1, 1997, shall also not become effective for state tax purposes until the same time."

Acts 1997, No. 951, § 38: Mar. 31, 1997. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that current state tax laws are unclear or confusing, creating difficulty for taxpayers seeking to comply with these tax laws; that the changes made by Sections 25 through 31 of this bill are necessary to provide adequate direction to those taxpayers and to maintain the efficient administration of the Arkansas tax laws; and that the provisions of Sections 25 through 31 of this Act are necessary to effectuate that purpose. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and the provisions of Sections 25 through 31 of this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, Sections 25 through 31 shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, Sections 25 through 31 shall become effective on the date the last house overrides

Acts 1997, No. 1232, § 5: Jan. 1, 1998.

Acts 1999, No. 1348, § 7: July 1, 1999. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Eighty-second General Assembly that due to the inability to track and audit calls made with prepaid calling cards, the current system of collecting sales tax based upon the usage of prepaid calling cards creates an administrative burden on the telecommunication companies; that this act will promote uniform tax collection on prepaid calling cards; that this act will more fairly tax telecommunications and prevent the likelihood of taxes being avoided.

Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on July 1, 1999.”

Acts 1999, No. 1492, § 8: if contingency met, sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 shall become effective on Jan. 1, 2001, and Section 7 shall become effective on Jan. 1, 2002. Effective date clause provided: “Effective Date. The provisions of Section 5 shall be effective 90 days after adjournment. The provisions of Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 6 and 7 shall not be effective unless; a) the General Assembly refers a constitutional amendment to be approved during the 2000 general election; b) the amendment provides for a limitation on the increase in the assessed value of real property after a county-wide reappraisal; and c) the amendment is approved. If those conditions are met, Sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 shall become effective on January 1, 2001, and Section 7 shall become effective on January 1, 2002. Claims for refund may be filed in 2001 pursuant to §§ 26-51-601 — 26-51-608 for property taxes paid during calendar year 2000 for property assessed in calendar year 1999.”

Acts 2000 (2nd Ex. Sess.), Nos. 1 and 2, § 11. Dec. 15, 2000. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that Amendment 79 to the Arkansas Constitution requires the General Assembly to provide for a property tax credit of not less than $300 for each homestead; that providing such a property tax credit results in a significant reduction in revenues for funding county services and public schools; that without an alternative source of funding counties and public schools cannot operate effectively; that an increase in the state sales and use tax provides a source of funding for counties and public schools; that this act will accomplish the purposes of Amendment 79 in providing a property tax credit and source of funding. It is necessary that this act become effective immediately in order to facilitate the administration of the property tax credit and to generate sufficient revenues to fully fund the credit. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8 and 9 of this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, it shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, it shall become effective on the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Acts 2001, No. 1375, § 2: July 1, 2003. Effective date clause provided: “This act shall be effective on and after July 1, 2003.”

Acts 2003, No. 365, § 3: Aug. 1, 2003. Effective date clause provided: “This act shall become effective on the first day of the calendar month following the ninetieth day after the sine die adjournment of this session or the first day of the calendar month following the ninetieth day after a recess or adjournment for a period longer than ninety (90) days.”

Acts 2003, No. 551, § 3: May 1, 2003. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that there are a substantial number of Arkansas truckers who have registered their trucks in the state of Oklahoma; that their Oklahoma registrations expire on March 31; that this act will encourage those truckers to register their vehicles in the State of Arkansas; that unless this act goes into effect as soon as possible, that incentive will not exist for another year; and that the Department of Finance and Administration needs thirty (30) days lead time to implement this act. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on May 1, 2003.”

Acts 2003, No. 664, § 5: Aug. 1, 2003. Effective date clause provided: “This act shall become effective on the first day of the calendar month following the ninetieth day after the sine die adjournment of this session or the first day of the calendar month following the ninetieth day after

Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: “Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008.”

Acts 2003, No. 1473, § 74: July 1, 2003. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that this act includes technical corrects to Act 923 of 2003 which establishes the classification and compensation levels of state employees covered by the provisions of the Uniform Classification and Compensation Act; that Act 923 of 2003 will become effective on July 1, 2003; and that to avoid confusion this act must also [become] effective on July 1, 2003. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2003.”

Acts 2003 (2nd Ex. Sess.), No. 107, § 12: became law without Governor's signature, Mar. 1, 2004. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly, that the provision of an equal opportunity for an adequate education to all the citizens of the state is imperative; that additional funds are immediately needed to provide an equal opportunity for an adequate education; that this act is designed to provide the additional revenues needed to provide this equal opportunity to all citizens; and that a delay in the effective date of this act will cause irreparable harm upon the provision of essential education opportunities and the proper administration of educational programs. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after the date of March 1, 2004.”

Acts 2005, No. 1693, § 3: July 1, 2005. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the payment of sales and use tax is required on the purchase of new or used heavy equipment; that Arkansas law provides that heavy equipment used in some types of professions or businesses is exempt from tax; that enforcement of the sales and use tax laws on heavy equipment is very difficult for the Department of Finance and Administration; that requiring a decal to be affixed to each piece of heavy equipment as proof that the tax has been paid or as proof that it is legally exempt would assist in the enforcement of the sales and use tax laws; and that this act would accomplish that purpose. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2005.”

Acts 2007, No. 110, § 9: July 1, 2007. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the people of Arkansas are having to pay more in fuel costs due to the rise in oil prices; that the rise in fuel costs has resulted in an increase in the price of food and other goods; and that in order to offset these rising prices the sales and use tax rate on food and food ingredients should be reduced. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2007.”

Acts 2007, No. 140, § 5: Oct. 1, 2007. Effective date clause provided: “Sections 1–4 of this act are effective on the first day of this calendar quarter following the effective date of the act.”

Acts 2007, No. 181, § 45: Jan. 1, 2008.

Acts 2007, No. 182, § 32: Jan. 1, 2008.

Acts 2007, No. 185, § 4: Mar. 1, 2007. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly that the current sales and use tax on utilities consumed by manufacturers located within this state creates a competitive disadvantage, that this bill is intended to address that problem by providing a reduced tax rate on utilities consumed by manufacturers located in this state; and that this act is immediately necessary to prevent the loss of manufacturing jobs to other states that provide lower taxes on utilities consumed in manufacturing. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Acts 2007, No. 860, § 7: Jan. 1, 2008.

Acts 2009, No. 384, § 15: Mar. 10, 2009. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that certain provisions of the law require amendment to provide consistency with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, that a withdrawal from stock is subject to gross receipts tax under current law, that clarification is needed to ensure that the original legislative intent is fulfilled, and that this act is immediately necessary to prevent possible confusion among the taxpayers of Arkansas. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Acts 2009, No. 436, § 3: July 1, 2009. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that unemployment is rising in Arkansas, that the rise in unemployment has resulted in an increase in the number of Arkansans unable to afford basic necessities; and that in order to aid the people of Arkansas, the sales and use tax rate on food and food ingredients should be reduced. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2009.”

Acts 2009, No. 691, § 3: July 1, 2009. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly that manufacturers in this state have suffered losses due to sharp increases in energy costs; that these manufacturers are unable to set the price for the products they produce and are particularly vulnerable to price volatility; that the current sales and use tax on utilities consumed by these manufacturers located within this state creates a competitive disadvantage; that this act is intended to address that problem by providing a reduced tax rate on utilities consumed by manufacturers located in this state; and that this act is necessary to prevent the loss of manufacturing jobs. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2009.”

Acts 2009, No. 1208, § 3: Apr. 7, 2009. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that differences of opinion have developed between the Department of Finance and Administration and Arkansas manufacturers concerning the meaning of important sections of the manufacturing machinery and equipment sales and use tax exemption, including particularly the exemption for the purchase and installation of machinery and equipment to modernize and improve the efficiency of existing machinery and equipment, expand production or create new jobs that may not require the replacement of machines in their entirety, as well as the sales and use tax exemption for dies and molds used directly in manufacturing; that it is critical to encourage manufacturers to modernize and retool their plants as economically as possible in order to remain competitive and preserve Arkansas jobs; and that clarifications to confirm the intent and purpose of the manufacturing machinery and equipment sales and use tax exemption is appropriate. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

History. Acts 1949, No. 487, § 4; 1961, No. 43, §§ 1, 2; 1983, No. 829, § 1; 1985, No. 999, § 1; A.S.A. 1947, §§ 84-3104, 84-3104n; Acts 1995, No. 1160, § 22; 2003, No. 1273, § 12; 2007, No. 181, § 31; 2009, No. 384, §§ 11, 12; 2009, No. 655, § 28.

Amendments. The 2003 amendment alphabetized the subdivisions; added present (7)(B)(i), (9)(B), (10) and 12(B); inserted “fidiucary” and “or any other legal entity” in (3)(A); rewrote present (6)(B); inserted “including cash ... third party” in (7)(A)(ii); inserted “distribution, or taxable services” and “taxable services or” throughout this section; and made stylistic and related changes.

The 2007 amendment added present (1), (2), (3), (9), (14), and (19) and redesignated subdivisions accordingly; and rewrote present (7)(A), (11), and (13).

The 2009 amendment by No. 384 deleted former (12)(A)(vi), redesignated the subsequent subdivision accordingly, and made related changes; and added present (7).

The 2009 amendment by No. 655 deleted former (7)(B), redesignated the remaining subdivision accordingly, deleted "joint venture" following "limited liability partnership," and made a related change.

Effective Dates. Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: "Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008." Acts 2007, No. 181, § 45, provided: "Section 1 through 43 of this act are effective on January 1, 2008."

Person.

The use tax was not intended to be applied to purchases made by a municipality, since the "persons" to be taxed were defined in the Sales Tax Act to include "corporations," "cities" and "municipalities," whereas in the Use Tax Act passed to complement the sales tax only "corporations" of these terms was set out in the definition of "persons." Scurlock v. Springdale, 224 Ark. 408, 273 S.W.2d 551 (1954) (decision prior to 1961 amendment).

Since tax acts are construed in favor of the taxpayer, a court would not imply that the word "corporation" included "municipal corporation" in the definition of "persons" subject to the use tax. Scurlock v. Springdale, 224 Ark. 408, 273 S.W.2d 551 (1954) (decision prior to 1961 amendment).

Whereas definition of "person" as found in the Sales Tax Act specifically included this state, any county, city, municipality, school district, or any other political subdivision of the state, this section did not contain any such language; in failing to so define "person" the General Assembly thereby necessarily intended to exclude the state and its subdivisions from the Use Tax Act.

Commissioner of Revenues v. Arkansas State Hwy. Comm'n, 232 Ark. 255, 337 S.W.2d 665 (1960) (decision prior to 1961 amendment).

Since the definition of "person" in the Use Tax Act did not specifically include the state or its subdivisions, it was not broad enough to apply to the State Highway Commission. Commissioner of Revenues v. Arkansas State Hwy. Comm'n, 232 Ark. 255, 337 S.W.2d 665 (1960) (decision prior to 1961 amendment).

Purchase.

To establish its claim that the repair parts were purchased for "resale," a taxpayer must show that the repair parts were purchased outside this state, that it is regularly engaged in the business of reselling the goods purchased, and that the parts were purchased for resale. Federal Express Corp. v. Skelton, 265 Ark. 187, 578 S.W.2d 1 (1979).

Where chlorine is used in the manufacture of bromine, the chlorine does not become a part of the bromine, but quite the opposite, the chlorine takes something from the bromine, becomes chloride, and is discarded as worthless; thus it is at best consumed in the manufacturing process, not resold to the purchaser as tangible property, and is subject to the use tax. Great Lakes Chem. Corp. v. Wooten, 266 Ark. 511, 587 S.W.2d 220 (1979).

Sale.

Out-of-state corporation that solicits orders for sale in Arkansas through traveling salesmen is liable for use tax on sales though sales are subject to approval of office of corporation located out of state. Thompson v. Rhodes-Jennings Furn. Co., 223 Ark. 705, 268 S.W.2d 376 (1954), cert. denied, Branyan & Peterson, Inc. v. Thompson, 348 U.S. 872, 75 S. Ct. 108, 99 L. Ed. 686 (1954).

Out-of-state corporation that authorized its salesmen to enter into written contracts with residents of Arkansas for sale of merchandise and also required maintenance of salesroom in Arkansas, plus on the spot service and inspection of machinery sold, was liable for use tax. Thompson v. Rhodes-Jennings Furn. Co., 223 Ark. 705, 268 S.W.2d 376 (1954), cert. denied, Branyan & Peterson, Inc. v. Thompson, 348 U.S. 872, 75 S. Ct. 108, 99 L. Ed. 686 (1954).

Where agents of company representing numerous magazine publishers recruited students to sell magazine subscriptions, and the students after making their sales sent the checks and money collected to a clearing house designated by the company, the company made "sales" of the magazine subscriptions within the meaning of subdivision (11) of this section. Ragland v. Quality School Plan, Inc., 279 Ark. 256, 651 S.W.2d 447 (1983).

Sales Price.

If a general contractor purchases a precast concrete component, the tax due is based upon the price of that component; however, if a general contractor purchases the raw materials and produces the component from those raw materials, it is taxed only on the price paid for the raw materials. Pledger v. Featherlite Precast Corp., 308 Ark. 124, 823 S.W.2d 852 (1992), cert. denied, 506 U.S. 826, 113 S. Ct. 82, 121 L. Ed. 2d 46 (1992).

Because services that are part of the sale are not to be excluded in the use tax assessment, the professional skills and labor of an advertising agency are necessarily included in the costs of advertising materials. Pledger v. Baldor Int'l, Inc., 309 Ark. 30, 827 S.W.2d 646 (1992).

Tangible Personal Property.

A magazine subscription is "tangible personal property" within the meaning of subdivision (15) of this section. Ragland v. Quality School Plan, Inc., 279 Ark. 256, 651 S.W.2d 447 (1983).

Precast concrete components, large, specially designed and constructed pieces of concrete, were tangible personal property and not real property at the time they were transported to a jobsite. Pledger v. Featherlite Precast Corp., 308 Ark. 124, 823 S.W.2d 852 (1992), cert. denied, 506 U.S. 826, 113 S. Ct. 82, 121 L. Ed. 2d 46 (1992).

Use.

Under the statutory definition, the right to use property cannot be separated from the property itself. American Television Co. v. Hervey, 253 Ark. 1010, 490 S.W.2d 796 (1973).

Where aircraft belonging to interstate air freight carrier were retained in the state for approximately 50 days to receive extensive modifications, the aircraft were subject to the compensating tax, even though ultimate use of the aircraft was in the carrier's interstate system. Skelton v. Federal Express Corp., 259 Ark. 127, 531 S.W.2d 941 (1976) (decision prior to 1976 amendment of § 26-53-115).

Vendor.

The definition of a "vendor" in this section is quite inclusive, and a sale cannot be made in Arkansas without someone being the vendor. Ragland v. Quality School Plan, Inc., 279 Ark. 256, 651 S.W.2d 447 (1983).

26-53-103. Administration of subchapter.

- (a) The administration of this subchapter is vested in and shall be exercised by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration.
- (b) The administration cost of this subchapter shall not exceed three percent (3%) of the actual revenues collected.

26-53-104. Rules and regulations — Forms.

- (a) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration shall promulgate rules and regulations and prescribe forms for the proper enforcement of this subchapter.
- (b) (1) The rules, regulations, and forms shall be dated and issued under a systematic method of numbering, and copies shall be made available to any person requesting them.

(2) A complete file of all the rules, regulations, and forms shall be kept in the office of the director.

26-53-105. Sales and Use Tax Section.

The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration shall create within the Revenue Division of the Department of Finance and Administration the Sales and Use Tax Section for the collection, enforcement, and administration of the tax levied by this subchapter.

26-53-106. Imposition and rate of tax generally — Presumptions.

- (a) There is levied and there shall be collected from every person in this state a tax or excise for the privilege of storing, using, distributing, or consuming within this state any article of tangible personal property or taxable service purchased for storage, use, distribution, or consumption in this state at the rate of three percent (3%) of the sales price of the tangible personal property or taxable service except for food and food ingredients that are taxed under § 26-53-145.

(b) This tax will not apply with respect to the storage, use, distribution, or consumption of any article of tangible personal property purchased, produced, or manufactured outside this state until the transportation of the article of tangible personal property has finally come to rest within this state or until the article of tangible personal property has become commingled with the general mass of property of this state.

(c) This tax applies to use, storage, distribution, or consumption of every article of tangible personal property or taxable service except as provided in this subchapter irrespective of whether the article of tangible personal property or similar articles of tangible personal property or the taxable service is manufactured within the State of Arkansas or is available for purchase within the State of Arkansas and irrespective of any other condition.

(d) (1) (A) For the purpose of the proper administration of this subchapter and to prevent evasion of the tax and the duty to collect the tax imposed in this section, it shall be presumed that tangible personal property or taxable services sold by any vendor for delivery in this state or transportation to this state are sold for storage, use, distribution, or consumption in this state unless the vendor selling the tangible personal property or taxable service has taken from the purchaser a resale certificate signed by and bearing the name, address, and sales tax permit number of the purchaser certifying that the property or taxable service was purchased for resale, except that sales made electronically will not require the purchaser's signature.

(B) The use by the purchaser of a resale certificate and any resulting liability for, or exemption from, use tax in a transaction involving a resale certificate shall be governed in all respects by the terms of § 26-52-517.

(2) It is further presumed that tangible personal property or taxable services shipped, mailed, expressed, transported, or brought to this state by the purchaser were purchased from a vendor for storage, use, distribution, or consumption in this state.

History. Acts 1949, No. 487, §§ 5, 10; 1957, No. 19, § 2; 1959, No. 260, § 2; 1975 (Extended Sess., 1976), No. 1237, § 1; A.S.A. 1947, §§ 84-3105, 84-3110; reen. Acts 1987, No. 772, § 1; Acts 1989, No. 817, § 1; 1995, No. 358, § 2; 2003, No. 1273, §§ 13-16; 2007, No. 110, § 5; 2009, No. 655, §§ 29, 30.

A.C.R.C. Notes. Part of this section was reenacted by Acts 1987, No. 772, § 1. Acts 1987, No. 834, provided that 1987 legislation reenacting acts passed in the 1976 Extended Session should not repeal any other 1987 legislation and that such other legislation would be controlling in the event of conflict.

Publisher's Notes. By Acts 1993, No. 1237, § 1, the General Assembly amended § 26-53-106 to add (e); however, the language is already codified in § 26-53-115, and the 1993 amendment made only minor stylistic changes; § 1 provided:

“(e) Provided, however, that the tax levied in this act shall not apply to aircraft, aircraft equipment, and railroad parts, cars, and equipment, or to tangible personal property owned or leased by aircraft, airmotive or railroad companies brought into the state of Arkansas solely and exclusively for (i) refurbishing, conversion or modification within this state and is not used or intended for use in this state, and the presence of such tangible personal property within this state shall not be construed as storage, use, or consumption in this state for the purpose of this act, if such aircraft, aircraft equipment, and railroad parts, cars, and equipment, or tangible personal property is removed from this state within sixty (60) days from the date of the completion of such refurbishing, conversion, or modification, or (ii) storage for use outside or inside the state of Arkansas regardless of the length of time any such property is so stored in the state of Arkansas. If any such property is subsequently initially used in the state of Arkansas, the tax levied by this act shall be and become applicable to the property so used in Arkansas. Provided, further, that nothing in this subsection is intended to exempt from taxation any materials used or services furnished in the refurbishing, conversion, or modification of such property in this state which is subject to the Arkansas Gross Receipts Tax.”

Amendments. The 2003 amendment inserted “or taxable service” in (a), (c) and twice in (d)(1)(A); in (d)(1)(A), inserted “or taxable services” and added “except that sales made electronically will not require the purchaser’s signature” following “resale”; and inserted “or taxable services” in (d)(2).

The 2007 amendment added “except for food and food ingredients which are taxed under § 26-53-145” at the end of (a).

The 2009 amendment inserted “tangible personal” following “sales price of the” and “or taxable service” in (a); inserted “or the taxable service” in (c); and made minor stylistic changes.

Effective Dates. Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: “Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state’s laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state’s proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008.”

Constitutionality.

Use tax is not a tax on property; hence it does not violate Ark. Const., Art. 16, § 5, requiring all property taxes to be equal and uniform. Morley v. E.E. Barber Constr. Co., 220 Ark. 485, 248 S.W.2d 689 (1952).

Subdivision (d)(2) of this section recognizes constitutional limitation of a state's imposition of a tax on goods in interstate transit; if goods have not "come to rest" within state, they are still in stream of interstate commerce, and tax may not be levied. Martin v. Riverside Furniture Corp., 292 Ark. 399, 730 S.W.2d 483 (1987).

Materials did "finally come to rest" in Arkansas within the meaning of this section and were not exempted from use tax. Martin v. Riverside Furniture Corp., 292 Ark. 399, 730 S.W.2d 483 (1987).

Where the Revenue Division imposed both the sales and use taxes upon the price of the concrete components regardless of whether they were precast within or without the state, there was equal treatment for similarly situated in-state and out-of-state taxpayers in the imposition of the taxes, and as a result, there was no violation of the commerce clause. Pledger v. Featherlite Precast Corp., 308 Ark. 124, 823 S.W.2d 852 (1992), cert. denied, 506 U.S. 826, 113 S. Ct. 82, 121 L. Ed. 2d 46 (1992).

Applicability.

This section operates retrospectively to include within its operation only those delinquent taxpayers who have failed and refused to pay the tax, those who have paid the tax are excluded from the operation of the law simply because they paid the tax; thus, the exclusion of those persons who were attempting to comply with the law at the time the tax matured, in effect, penalizes them because of their compliance. Federal Express Corp. v. Skelton, 265 Ark. 187, 578 S.W.2d 1 (1979).

Under subsection (b) of this section, there was no intention for consumption of a product to be the equivalent of its coming to rest; rather, the statute contemplated that property had to first come to rest before it was consumed in order for it to be taxable. Mississippi River Transmission Corp. v. Weiss, 347 Ark. 543, 65 S.W.3d 867 (2002).

Catalogue Sales.

Where no agency relationship existed between out-of-state mail order school book company and Arkansas teachers, the company's sales of books in Arkansas were not subject to a vendor's use tax. Pledger v. Troll Book Clubs, Inc., 316 Ark. 195, 871 S.W.2d 389 (1994).

Not Subject to Tax.

Importation by corporation of paneling manufactured in a plant owned by the corporation outside the state and the use thereof in remodeling the offices of the corporation located in Arkansas was not subject to use tax. Georgia Pac. Corp. v. Larey, 242 Ark. 428, 413 S.W.2d 868 (1967).

This subchapter did not apply to a manufacturer who purchased compressor fuel where the transfer of ownership as well as the right to use the compressor fuel occurred in Oklahoma. Boral Gypsum, Inc. v. Leathers, 325 Ark. 272, 924 S.W.2d 805 (1996).

This subchapter does not support taxing sheetrock manufacturer for purchase of out-of-state diverted natural gas, known as "compressor fuel," transported by pipeline to manufacturer. Boral Gypsum, Inc. v. Leathers, 325 Ark. 272, 924 S.W.2d 805 (1996).

Sales Price.

Where person contracted to install reinforcing steel bars at missile sites within the state and manufactured the bars in an out-of-state plant, the use tax provided under this section should have been on the finished bars and not the raw materials, as the term "sales price" used in this section is used to provide a method of determining the basis on which the three percent would apply and does not mean there must be an ordinary sale before the tax is payable. Republic Steel Corp. v. McCastlain, 240 Ark. 979, 403 S.W.2d 90 (1966).

The Revenue Division properly calculated the sales and use tax due on the sale of precast concrete components based upon the sale price charged the general contractor. The precast concrete components were large, specially designed and constructed pieces of concrete, and were tangible personal property. They were not real property at the time they were transported to the jobsite. Pledger v. Featherlite Precast Corp., 308 Ark. 124, 823 S.W.2d 852 (1992), cert. denied, 506 U.S. 826, 113 S. Ct. 82, 121 L. Ed. 2d 46 (1992).

Subject to Tax.

Rentals and leases are unquestionably covered under this section, and rented tapes and films that finally come to rest for the purpose for which they are sent are subject to tax. American Television Co. v. Hervey, 253 Ark. 1010, 490 S.W.2d 796 (1973).

Painted bulletins, posters, facings, hardware, and paint, purchased out of state and used in connection with the taxpayer's billboard advertising service, were not exempt from the use tax. Technical Servs. of Ark., Inc. v. Pledger, 320 Ark. 333, 896 S.W.2d 433 (1995).

History. Acts 1983 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 63, § 2; A.S.A. 1947, § 84-3105.4; Acts 1989, No. 817, § 2; 1991, No. 3, § 3; 1999, No. 1492, § 4; Acts 2000 (2nd Ex. Sess.), Nos. 1 and 2, § 9; 2003, No. 1273, § 17; 2003 (2nd Ex. Sess.), No. 107, §§ 3, 4; 2007, No. 110, § 6.

A.C.R.C. Notes. The amendment of this section by Acts 1999, No. 1492, § 4, added subsection (c) to the section, but made the effectiveness of the addition of that subsection contingent upon the occurrence of the following: (a) That the General Assembly refers a constitutional amendment to be approved during the 2000 general election; (b) That the amendment provides for a limitation on the increase in the assessed value of real property after a county-wide reappraisal; and (c) That the constitutional amendment is approved.

Subsection (c) of this section became effective as a result of House Joint Resolution 1015 of 1999 the General Assembly referred to a vote of the electors at the 2000 general election a constitutional amendment that provided for a limit on the increase in the assessed value of real property as a result of a county-wide reappraisal, and the constitutional amendment was approved. This constitutional amendment is now Arkansas Constitution Amendment 79.

As enacted by Acts 2000 (2nd Ex. Sess.), Nos. 1 and 2, § 9, subdivision (c)(1) began:

“Beginning January 1, 2001,”.

As enacted by Acts 2003 (2nd Ex. Sess.), No. 107, § 4, subdivision (d)(1) began:

“Beginning March 1, 2004,”.

Amendments. The 2003 amendment inserted “and taxable services” following “personal property” and “of 1949” following Arkansas Compensating Tax Act” in (a) and (b); inserted “and taxable services” following “personal property” in (c); and made a minor stylistic change.

The 2003 (2nd Ex. Sess.) amendment added (d).

The 2007 amendment added “except for food and food ingredients which are taxed under § 26-53-145” at the end of (a)(1), (b)(1), (c)(1) and (d)(1).

Effective Dates. Acts 1999, No. 1492, § 8: provided: “The provisions of Section 5 shall be effective 90 days after adjournment. The provisions of Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 6 and 7 shall not be effective unless; a) the General Assembly refers a constitutional amendment to be approved during the 2000 general election; b) the amendment provides for a limitation on the increase in the assessed value of real property after a county-wide reappraisal; and c) the amendment is approved. If those conditions are met, Sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 shall become effective on January 1, 2001, and Section 7 shall become effective on January 1, 2002. Claims for refund may be filed in 2001 pursuant to §§ 26-51-601 - 26-51-608 for property taxes paid during calendar year 2000 for property assessed in calendar year 1999.”

Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: “Effective date. 26-53-112. Exemptions generally.

There are specifically exempted from the taxes levied in this subchapter:

(1) Property or services, the storage, use, distribution, or consumption of which this state is prohibited from taxing under the United States Constitution or laws or the

Arkansas Constitution or laws; and

(2) Sales of tangible personal property or services on which the tax under the Arkansas Gross Receipts Act of 1941, § 26-52-101 et seq., is levied and any tangible personal property or services specifically exempted from taxation by the Arkansas Gross Receipts Act of 1941, § 26-52-101 et seq., and legislation enacted subsequent to the Arkansas Gross Receipts Act of 1941, § 26-52-101 et seq.

History. Acts 1949, No. 487, § 6; 1971, No. 222, § 3; A.S.A. 1947, § 84-3106; Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 22.

Amendments. The 2003 amendment inserted “or services” and “distribution” in (1); and twice inserted “or services” in (2).

Effective Dates. Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: “Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008.”

Items Not Exempted.

Where most wooden cases were returned to soft drink seller, the cases were for the seller's own consumption or use, not a sale for resale, and cases were not exempt from use tax. Hervey v. Southern Wooden Box, Inc., 253 Ark. 290, 486 S.W.2d 65 (1972).

Where chlorine is used in manufacture of bromine, the chlorine does not become a part of the bromine, but quite the opposite, the chlorine takes something from the bromine, becomes chloride, and is discarded as worthless; thus it is at best consumed in the manufacturing process, not resold to the purchaser as tangible property, and is subject to use tax. *Great Lakes Chem. 26-53-114. Exemption for certain machinery and equipment.

(a) There is specifically exempted from the taxes levied in this subchapter:

(1) (A) Only to the extent that the machinery and equipment is purchased and used for the purposes set forth in this subdivision (a)(1), machinery and equipment used directly in the producing, manufacturing, fabricating, assembling, processing, finishing, or packaging of articles of commerce at manufacturing or processing plants or facilities in the State of Arkansas, including facilities and plants for manufacturing feed, processing of poultry and eggs and livestock and the hatching of poultry.

(B) The machinery and equipment will be exempt under this section if it is purchased and used to create new manufacturing or processing plants or facilities within this state or to expand existing manufacturing or processing plants or facilities within this state;

(2) (A) Machinery purchased to replace existing machinery in its entirety and used directly in producing, manufacturing, fabricating, assembling, processing, finishing, or packaging of articles of commerce at manufacturing or processing plants or facilities in this state will be exempt under this section.

(B) (i) As used in subdivision (a)(2)(A) of this section, “machinery purchased to replace existing machinery” means that substantially all of the machinery and equipment required to perform an essential function is physically replaced with new machinery.

(ii) As used in subdivision (a)(2)(B)(i) of this section, “substantially” is intended to exclude routine repairs and maintenance and partial replacements that do not improve efficiency or extend the useful life of the entire machine, but it is not intended to mean that foundations and minor components which can be economically adapted, rebuilt, or refurbished must be completely replaced when replacement would be more expensive or impracticable than adapting, rebuilding, or refurbishing the old foundation and minor components; and

(3) Machinery and equipment required by state or federal law or regulations to be installed and utilized by manufacturing or processing plants or facilities or cities or towns in this state to prevent or reduce air or water pollution or contamination which might otherwise result from the operation of the plants or facility or city or town.

(b) As used in this section, “manufacturing” or “processing” refer to and include those operations commonly understood within their ordinary meaning and shall also include:

(1) Mining;

(2) Quarrying;

(3) Refining;

(4) Extracting oil and gas;

(5) Cotton ginning;

(6) Drying of rice, soybeans, and other grains;

(7) Manufacturing of feed;

(8) Processing of poultry and eggs and the hatching of poultry;

(9) Printing of all kinds, types, and characters, including the services of overprinting and photographic processing incidental to printing;

(10) Processing of scrap metal into grades and bales for further processing into steel and other metals;

(11) Rebuilding or remanufacturing of used parts and retreading of tires for automobiles, trucks, and other mobile equipment powered by electrical or internal combustion engines or motors if the rebuilt or remanufactured parts or retreaded tires are not sold directly to the consumer but are sold for resale; and

(12) Producing of protective coatings which increase the quality and durability of a finished product.

(c) (1) It is the intent of this section to exempt only such machinery and equipment as shall be used directly in the actual manufacturing or processing operation at any time from the initial stage when actual manufacturing or processing begins through the completion of the finished article of commerce and the packaging of the finished end product.

(2) As used in this section, “directly” is used to limit the exemption to only the machinery and equipment used in actual production during processing, fabricating, or assembling raw materials or semifinished materials into the form in which such personal property is to be sold in the commercial market.

(3) For purposes of this subsection, the following definitions, specific inclusions, and specific exclusions shall apply and represent the intent of the General Assembly as to its interpretation of the term “used directly”:

(A) (i) Machinery and equipment used in actual production include machinery and equipment that meet all other applicable requirements and which cause a recognizable and measurable mechanical, chemical, electrical, or electronic action to take place as a necessary and integral part of manufacturing, the absence of which would cause the manufacturing operation to cease.

(ii) “Directly” does not mean that the machinery and equipment must come into direct physical contact with any of the materials that become necessary and integral parts of the finished product.

(iii) Machinery and equipment which handle raw, semifinished, or finished materials or property before the manufacturing process begins are not used directly in the manufacturing process.

(iv) Machinery and equipment which are necessary for purposes of storing the finished product are not used directly in the manufacturing process.

(v) Machinery and equipment used to transport or handle product while manufacturing is taking place are used directly;

(B) Further, machinery and equipment used directly in the manufacturing process includes without limitation the following:

(i) Molds, frames, cavities, and forms that determine the physical characteristics of the product or its packaging materials at any stage of the manufacturing process;

(ii) Dies, tools, and devices attached to or part of a unit of machinery that determine the physical characteristics of the product or its packaging material at any stage of the manufacturing process;

(iii) Testing equipment to measure the quality of the product at any stage of the manufacturing process;

(iv) Computers and related peripheral equipment that directly control or measure the manufacturing process; and

(v) Machinery and equipment that produce steam, electricity, or chemical catalysts and solutions that are essential to the manufacturing process but which are consumed during the course of the manufacturing process and do not become necessary and integral parts of the finished product;

(C) Machinery and equipment “used directly” in the manufacturing process shall not include the following:

(i) Hand tools;

(ii) Machinery, equipment, and tools used in maintaining and repairing any type of machinery and equipment;

(iii) Transportation equipment, including conveyors, used solely before or after the manufacturing process has been started or completed;

(iv) Office machines and equipment including computers and related peripheral equipment not directly used in controlling or measuring the manufacturing process;

(v) Buildings;

(vi) Machinery and equipment used in administrative, accounting, sales, or other such activities of the business;

(vii) All furniture;

(viii) All other machinery and equipment not used directly in manufacturing or processing operations as defined in this section; and

(ix) Machinery and equipment used by a manufacturer to produce or repair replacement dies, molds, repair parts or replacement parts, used or consumed in the manufacturer's own manufacturing process.

(d) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration may promulgate rules and regulations for the orderly and efficient administration of this section.

Publisher's Notes. Acts 1967, No. 113, § 3, provided that all laws and parts of laws in conflict with this act are repealed, provided, however, that the exemptions now granted by subsections (A), (B), (C), (E), (F), and (G) of Acts 1949, No. 487, as amended by Section 1 of Acts 1955, No. 55, § 1, as amended by Acts 1957, No. 141, § 1, as amended by Acts 1959, No. 35, § 1, as amended by Acts 1961, No. 140, § 1, shall not be construed so as to be narrowed in scope by this amendment of subsection (d) of that act as provided in section 2 of this act, and provided further, the amendment of subsection (r) of Acts 1941, No. 386, § 4, shall not be construed so as to narrow the scope of the specific exemptions set out under that act.

Acts 1968 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 5, provided, in part that the exemptions now granted by subsections (A), (B), (C), (E), (F), and (G) of Acts 1949, No. 487, § 6, as amended by Acts 1955, No. 55, § 1, as amended by Acts 1957, No. 141, § 1, as amended by Acts 1959, No. 35, § 1, as amended by Acts 1961, No. 140, § 1, shall not be construed so as to be narrowed in scope by this amendment of subsection (D) of that act as provided in section 2 of this act.

Amendments. The 2009 amendment, in (c)(3)(B)(i), substituted "frames, cavities, and forms" for "and dies" and deleted "finished" preceding "product," inserted (c)(3)(B)(ii) and redesignated the subsequent subdivisions accordingly, inserted "at any stage of the manufacturing process" in (c)(3)(B)(i) and (c)(3)(B)(iii), and made related and minor stylistic changes.

Effective Dates. Acts 1983, No. 791, § 3, provided that the provisions of this act shall apply for all gross receipts tax returns and compensating tax returns for the periods beginning on or after the effective date of this act.

Acts 1983, No. 870, §§ 3, 4, provided that it is the intent of this act to provide the enumerated exemptions as incentives to encourage the location of new manufacturing plants in Arkansas, the expansion of existing manufacturing plants in Arkansas, and the modernization of existing manufacturing plants in Arkansas through the replacement of old, inefficient, or technologically obsolete machinery and equipment, and that the provisions of this act shall apply for all gross receipts tax returns and compensating tax returns for the periods beginning on or after January 1, 1985.

Purpose.

The purpose of the 1968 amendment is perfectly clear — the original act, by exempting all tangible personal property used by manufacturers, could arguably have exempted office furniture, typewriters, automobiles, and various other personal property not used directly in the manufacturing process; the amendment limited the exemption to machinery and equipment used directly in manufacturing, but it still has to be used “at manufacturing or processing facilities.” Gaddy v. Hummelstein Iron & Metal, Inc., 266 Ark. 1, 585 S.W.2d 1 (1979).

By enacting this section the legislature did not change the prior law but merely intended to clarify it. Pledger v. Baldor Int'l, Inc., 309 Ark. 30, 827 S.W.2d 646 (1992).

Appeals.

On appeal, the Supreme Court reviews tax exemption cases de novo and does not reverse a finding of fact unless it is clearly against the preponderance of the evidence. S.H. & J. Drilling Corp. v. Qualls, 268 Ark. 71, 593 S.W.2d 178 (1980).

Articles of Commerce.

Tax exemption is properly denied where finished products are not “articles of commerce” as required under the exemption provisions of subdivision (a)(1)(A) of this section. C & C Mach., Inc. v. Ragland, 278 Ark. 629, 648 S.W.2d 61 (1983).

Company engaged in construction and repair work on state highways under contracts with state was not exempt from tax on ground that material used in highway was material used in "creation of facilities." Morley v. E.E. Barber Constr. Co., 220 Ark. 485, 248 S.W.2d 689 (1952).

Spare parts were held not to be machinery purchased "to expand existing manufacturing facilities" within meaning of subdivision (a)(1)(B) of this section. Qualls v. Georgia-Pacific Corp., 269 Ark. 426, 602 S.W.2d 646 (1980).

Manufacturing or Processing.

Dam used in part to manufacture electricity is a manufacturing facility. Morley v. Brown & Root, Inc., 219 Ark. 82, 239 S.W.2d 1012 (1951).

Personal tangible property purchased by contractors engaged in construction of dam used in part for manufacturing of electricity was exempt from use tax to the extent that property went into construction of dam. Morley v. Brown & Root, Inc., 219 Ark. 82, 239 S.W.2d 1012 (1951).

Company engaged in construction and repair of roads held not a manufacturer. Morley v. E.E. Barber Constr. Co., 220 Ark. 485, 248 S.W.2d 689 (1952).

General Assembly did not have any intent to exempt poultry feed from tax by virtue of enactment of this section. Teague v. Scurlock, 223 Ark. 271, 265 S.W.2d 528 (1954) (decided prior to enactment of §§ 26-52-404 and 26-53-120).

One engaged in ginning cotton held not engaged in the business of manufacturing or processing. Scurlock v. Henderson, 223 Ark. 727, 268 S.W.2d 619 (1954), superseded by statute as stated in, Ragland v. Arkansas Valley Coal Servs., Inc., 275 Ark. 108, 627 S.W.2d 559 (1982) (decision prior to 1955 amendment).

"Manufacturing" and "processing" are not considered as two distinct operations, "processing" having reference to some stage of manufacture. Pellerin Laundry Mach. Sales Co. v. Cheney, 237 Ark. 59, 371 S.W.2d 524 (1963).

Laundry and dry cleaning machinery and equipment are not manufacturing or processing equipment and machinery. Pellerin Laundry Mach. Sales Co. v. Cheney, 237 Ark. 59, 371 S.W.2d 524 (1963).

Out-of-state purchases of incubators for use in commercial hatchery held not for use in processing within meaning of this section. Peterson Produce Co. v. Cheney, 237 Ark. 600, 374 S.W.2d 809 (1964).

In determining what will constitute a manufacturer or processor within the exemption provided by this section Supreme Court will follow the common usage or popular meaning of words. C. J. C. Corp. v. Cheney, 239 Ark. 541, 390 S.W.2d 437 (1965).

Foreign corporation supplying ready-mix concrete to contractor was not exempt as a "manufacturer or processor." C. J. C. Corp. v. Cheney, 239 Ark. 541, 390 S.W.2d 437 (1965).

Fabrication of drainage culverts from abandoned railroad tank cars constituted a manufacturing process within meaning of subdivision (a)(1)(A) of this section. Arkansas Ry. Equip. Co. v. Heath, 257 Ark. 651, 519 S.W.2d 45 (1975).

Evidence held sufficient to show company was in business of producing and selling bottled carbonated soft drinks, entitling it to exemption as manufacturer. Arkansas Beverage Co. v. Heath, 257 Ark. 991, 521 S.W.2d 835 (1975).

One processing and packaging slaughtered poultry for sale and cooked poultry for transportation and marketing held not a manufacturer. Heath v. Westark Poultry Processing Corp., 259 Ark. 141, 531 S.W.2d 953 (1976).

Manufacturing and processing are not two distinct operations and a taxpayer, in order to be entitled to the exemption, must first qualify as a manufacturer. Gaddy v. Hummelstein Iron & Metal, Inc., 266 Ark. 1, 585 S.W.2d 1 (1979).

A dealer in scrap metal is not a manufacturer of scrap metal, because that is what it begins with and what it ends with; it changes the form of scrap metal, but it does not make a new product. Gaddy v. Hummelstein Iron & Metal, Inc., 266 Ark. 1, 585 S.W.2d 1 (1979).

Coal company's crushing process held not to constitute "manufacturing" because process did not change essential identity of the coal. Ragland v. Arkansas Valley Coal Servs., Inc., 275 Ark. 108, 627 S.W.2d 559 (1982).

Automated equipment, or "minilabs," purchased and used by businesses which process film, do not fall within the manufacturing exemption from use tax because the equipment is not used to produce "articles of commerce." Pledger v. Noritsu America Corp., 320 Ark. 371, 896 S.W.2d 595 (1995).

Packaging materials purchased out-of-state by a taxpayer in connection with its business of hazardous waste disposal did not qualify as machinery and equipment used directly in producing, manufacturing, fabricating, assembling, processing, finishing, or packaging of articles of commerce at manufacturing or processing plants or facilities in the state as the taxpayer paid cement kilns and power plants to take packaged waste and burn it and those entities never paid the taxpayer for packaged fuel during the audit period. Rineco Chem. Indus., Inc. v. Weiss, 344 Ark. 118, 40 S.W.3d 257 (2001).

Pollution Control.

Provisions in subdivision (a)(3) of this section exempting antipollution equipment from the tax applies to any industry including utilities. Heath v. Research-Cottrell, Inc., 258 Ark. 813, 529 S.W.2d 336 (1975).

Exemption granted by subdivision (a)(3) of this section applies to contractors as well as to manufacturers or processors. Heath v. Research-Cottrell, Inc., 258 Ark. 813, 529 S.W.2d 336 (1975).

Subdivision (a)(3) of this section applies to the design, furnishing, and installation of natural draft cooling tower to prevent water pollution. Heath v. Research-Cottrell, Inc., 258 Ark. 813, 529 S.W.2d 336 (1975).

Recorder to monitor pollutants was not exempt from use tax as machinery or equipment used directly in manufacturing process. Southern Steel & Wire Co. v. Wooten, 276 Ark. 37, 631 S.W.2d 835 (1982).

Replacement of Existing Machinery.

Substitution of new metal post on moving arm of glass-cutting machine was not replacement of machinery in its entirety. Fourco Glass Co. v. Heath, 261 Ark. 192, 547 S.W.2d 121 (1977).

Construction of new glass furnace built on foundation of old furnace was not replacement in its entirety. Fourco Glass Co. v. Heath, 261 Ark. 192, 547 S.W.2d 121 (1977).

Substitution of new parts for components held not to constitute replacement of "machinery in its entirety" as would come within subdivision (a)(2) of this section. S.H. & J. Drilling Corp. v. Qualls, 268 Ark. 71, 593 S.W.2d 178 (1980).

Where company used original parts from an old boiler in reconstructing a new one, machinery was not "replaced in its entirety" under subdivision (a)(2) of this section. Qualls v. Georgia-Pacific Corp., 269 Ark. 426, 602 S.W.2d 646 (1980).

Where items were physically combined with other existing components in order to construct a machine that had a single purpose and function, replacing those items did not constitute replacement of machinery in its entirety. Southern Steel & Wire Co. v. Wooten, 276 Ark. 37, 631 S.W.2d 835 (1982).

Testing Equipment.

The exemption for testing equipment includes equipment used to test components of a finished product. Pledger v. Baldor Int'l, Inc., 309 Ark. 30, 827 S.W.2d 646 (1992).

Used Directly.

Use of commercial poultry feed to fatten fowls for market held not exempt from tax under this section, as feed not deemed an integral part of the finished product. Teague v. Scurlock, 223 Ark. 271, 265 S.W.2d 528 (1954) (decided prior to enactment of §§ 26-52-404 and 26-53-120).

Turbine generators are primary facilities used directly in processing and manufacturing. Cheney v. Georgia-Pacific Paper Corp., 237 Ark. 161, 371 S.W.2d 843 (1963).

Miscellaneous items held not to be exempt as manufacturing machinery or supplies used directly in making wood pulp or paper. Cheney v. Georgia-Pacific Paper Corp., 237 Ark. 161, 371 S.W.2d 843 (1963).

Oil and gas drilling rigs held to be used directly in mining, processing, and production of natural resources. Larey v. Wolfe, 242 Ark. 715, 416 S.W.2d 266 (1967).

Egg and poultry processing equipment replacements, hatchery equipment, feeder lids, trays, pads, and cases for baby chicks, held not an integral part of the end product and not exempt from use tax. Hervey v. Tyson's Foods, Inc., 252 Ark. 703, 480 S.W.2d 592 (1972).

Traces of chemical substances, use of which was merely incidental, were not exempt from use tax. Hervey v. International Paper Co., 252 Ark. 913, 483 S.W.2d 199 (1972).

Use of locomotive cranes and magnet held to be “directly” used in manufacturing process within meaning of subdivision (a)(1) of this section and were not removed from exemption as “transportation equipment” within meaning of subsection (c) of this section. Arkansas Ry. Equip. Co. v. Heath, 257 Ark. 651, 519 S.W.2d 45 (1975).

Sufficient evidence was found that bottling machines were being used directly in the producing, assembling, processing, and packaging of finished product. Arkansas Beverage Co. v. Heath, 257 Ark. 991, 521 S.W.2d 835 (1975).

Ultraviolet detection system used to monitor equipment held not exempt from use tax under subsection, not used directly in manufacturing process. Southern Steel & Wire Co. v. Wooten, 276 Ark. 37, 631 S.W.2d 835 (1982).

The purchase of a large crane was a tax exempt transaction, because the crane was directly used in the manufacture of lumber and of wood chips, the latter being eventually sold to paper mills. Ragland v. Deltic Farm & Timber Co., 288 Ark. 604, 708 S.W.2d 90 (1986).

The purchase of a computer aided design/computer-aided manufacturing system by a hand tool manufacturer was a tax exempt transaction, because the system performed an essential function directly in the manufacture of tools in that the system’s function, designing and manufacturing, directly pertained to dies, and the dies shaped the wrenches and hand tools which were “articles of commerce.” Pledger v. Easco Hand Tools, Inc., 304 Ark. 47, 800 S.W.2d 690 (1990).

Die block materials which constituted the molds and dies which in turn determined the physical characteristics of the finished product were exempt. Simply because the material is purchased in raw form and shaped by the taxpayer instead of being purchased in finished form should not, alone, cause it to be taxable. Pledger v. Easco Hand Tools, Inc., 304 Ark. 47, 800 S.W.2d 690 (1990).

The term “used directly in manufacturing” does not require the equipment to directly come into contact with the finished product before qualifying for use tax exemption. Pledger v. Baldor Int’l, Inc., 309 Ark. 30, 827 S.W.2d 646 (1992).

26-53-115. Exemption for certain aircraft and railroad cars, parts, and equipment.

(a) The tax levied in this subchapter shall not apply to aircraft, aircraft equipment, and railroad parts, cars, and equipment, or to tangible personal property owned or leased by aircraft, airmotive, or railroad companies brought into the State of Arkansas solely and exclusively for:

(1) Refurbishing, conversion, or modification within this state and which is not used or intended for use in this state, and the presence of such tangible personal property within this state shall not be construed as storage, use, or consumption in this state for the purpose of this subchapter if the aircraft, aircraft equipment, and railroad parts, cars, and equipment, or tangible personal property is removed from this state within sixty (60) days from the date of the completion of the refurbishing, conversion, or modification; or

(2) Storage for use outside or inside the State of Arkansas regardless of the length of time any such property is so stored in the State of Arkansas.

(b) If any such property is subsequently initially used in the State of Arkansas, the tax levied by this subchapter shall be and become applicable to the property so used in Arkansas.

(c) The General Assembly determines that it was not the intent of this subchapter to impose the compensating tax upon aircraft, aircraft equipment, and railroad parts, cars, and equipment or to any tangible personal property owned or leased by aircraft, airmotive, or railroad companies as provided in § 26-53-106 and as classified by this section.

History. Acts 1949, No. 487, § 5; 1957, No. 19, § 2; 1959, No. 260, § 2; 1975 (Extended Sess., 1976), No. 1237, §§ 1, 2; A.S.A. 1947, §§ 84-3105, 84-3105n; reen. Acts 1987, No. 772, § 1; 1995, No. 848, § 3; 2009, No. 655, § 33.

A.C.R.C. Notes. This section was reenacted by Acts 1987, No. 772, § 1. Acts 1987, No. 834, provided that 1987 legislation reenacting acts passed in the 1976 Extended Session should not repeal any other 1987 legislation and that such other legislation would be controlling in the event of conflict.

Publisher's Notes. By Acts 1993, No. 1237, § 1, the General Assembly amended § 26-53-106 to add (e); however, the language is already codified in § 26-53-115, and the 1993 amendment made only minor stylistic changes; § 1 provided:

“(e) Provided, however, that the tax levied in this act shall not apply to aircraft, aircraft equipment, and railroad parts, cars, and equipment, or to tangible personal property owned or leased by aircraft, airmotive or railroad companies brought into the state of Arkansas solely and exclusively for (i) refurbishing, conversion or modification within this state and is not used or intended for use in this state, and the presence of such tangible personal property within this state shall not be construed as storage, use, or consumption in this state for the purpose of this act, if such aircraft, aircraft equipment, and railroad parts, cars, and equipment, or tangible personal property is removed from this state within sixty (60) days from the date of the completion of such refurbishing, conversion, or modification, or (ii) storage for use outside or inside the state of Arkansas regardless of the length of time any such property is so stored in the state of Arkansas. If any such property is subsequently initially used in the state of Arkansas, the tax levied by this act shall be and become applicable to the property so used in Arkansas. Provided, further, that nothing in this subsection is intended to exempt from taxation any materials used or services furnished in the refurbishing, conversion, or modification of such property in this state which is subject to the Arkansas Gross Receipts Tax.”

Amendments. The 2009 amendment deleted (c)(2), (c)(3), and (d), and redesignated the remaining text of (c).

Case Notes

Constitutionality.

Initial Use.

Refurbishing, Conversion, or Modification.

Constitutionality.

Acts 1975 (Extended Sess. 1976), No. 1237, §§ 2, 5, were a clear attempt by the 1975 General Assembly to interpret a law enacted by the 1949 General Assembly after the Supreme Court has interpreted and applied that law; this action violates the separation of powers principle. Federal Express Corp. v. Skelton, 265 Ark. 187, 578 S.W.2d 1 (1979).

Initial Use.

The Compensating Tax Act is not intended to reach as far as to apply simply to the first use of new railroad boxcars designed for usage throughout an interstate system. Burlington N. R. Co. v. Ragland, 280 Ark. 182, 655 S.W.2d 437 (1983).

Refurbishing, Conversion, or Modification.

Where aircraft belonging to interstate air freight carrier were retained in the state for approximately 50 days to receive extensive modifications, the aircraft were subject to the compensating tax, even though ultimate use of the aircraft was in the carrier's interstate system. Skelton v. Federal Express Corp., 259 Ark. 127, 531 S.W.2d 941 (1976) (decision prior to 1976 amendment).

Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. (2) The required amount of the tax collected by the vendor from the purchaser shall be displayed separately upon the check, sales slip, bill, receipt, or other evidence of sale.

(3) The processing of orders electronically, by fax, telephone, the Internet, or other electronic ordering process, or the processing of orders by non-electronic means, by mail order, fax, telephone, or otherwise, does not relieve a vendor of responsibility for collection of the tax from the purchaser if both the following conditions exist:

(A) The vendor holds a substantial ownership interest, directly or through a subsidiary, in a retailer maintaining sales locations in Arkansas or is owned in whole or in substantial part by such a retailer or by a parent or subsidiary of the retailer; and

(B) The vendor sells the same or a substantially similar line of products as the Arkansas retailer under the same or a substantially similar business name, or the facilities or employees of the Arkansas retailer are used to advertise or promote sales by the vendor to Arkansas purchasers.

(4) As used in this section, "substantial ownership interest" in an entity means that degree of ownership of equity interests in an entity that is not less than that degree of ownership specified by 26 U.S.C. § 267, as in effect on January 1, 2001, with respect to a person other than a director or officer.

(b) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal any exemption from the Arkansas Gross Receipts Act of 1941, § 26-52-101 et seq., or this subchapter.

26-53-126. Tax on new and used motor vehicles, trailers, or semitrailers — Payment and collection.

(a) (1) Upon being registered in this state, a new or used motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer required to be licensed in this state is subject to the tax levied in this subchapter and all other use taxes levied by the state regardless of whether the motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer was purchased from a dealer or an individual.

(2) (A) On or before the time for registration as prescribed by § 27-14-903(a), the person making application to register the motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer shall pay the taxes to the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration instead of the taxes being collected by the dealer or individual seller.

(B) The director shall collect the taxes before issuing a license for the motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer.

(3) The exemption in § 26-52-401(17) for isolated sales does not apply to the sale of a motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer.

(4) If the person making application to register the motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer fails to pay the taxes when due:

(A) There is assessed a penalty equal to ten percent (10%) of the amount of taxes due; and

(B) Before the director issues a license for the motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer, the person making application to register the motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer shall pay to the director the penalty under subdivision (a)(4)(A) of this section and the taxes due.

(b) (1) When a used motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer is taken in trade as a credit or part payment on the sale of a new or used vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer, the tax levied in this subchapter and all other use taxes levied by the state shall be paid on the net difference between the total consideration for the new or used vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer sold and the credit for the used vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer taken in trade.

(2) However, if the total consideration for the sale of the new or used motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer is less than two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500), no tax shall be due.

(3) (A) When a used motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer is sold by a consumer, rather than traded in as a credit or part payment on the sale of a new or used motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer, and the consumer subsequently purchases a new or used vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer of greater value within forty-five (45) days of the sale, the tax levied by this chapter and all other gross receipts taxes levied by the state shall be paid on the net difference between the total consideration for the new or used vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer purchased subsequently and the amount received from the sale of the used vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer sold in lieu of a trade-in.

(B) (i) Upon registration of the new or used motor vehicle, consumers claiming the deduction provided by subdivision (b)(3)(A) of this section shall provide a bill of sale signed by all parties to the transaction which reflects the total consideration paid to the seller for the vehicle.

(ii) A copy of the bill of sale shall be deposited with the revenue office at the time of registration of the new or used motor vehicle.

(iii) The deduction provided by this subdivision (b)(3) shall not be allowed unless the taxpayer claiming the deduction provides a copy of a bill of sale signed by all parties to the transaction which reflects the total consideration paid to the seller for the vehicle.

(C) If the taxpayer claiming the deduction provided in this subdivision (b)(3) fails to provide a bill of sale signed by all parties to the transaction which reflects the total consideration paid to the seller for the vehicle, tax shall be due on the total consideration paid for the new or used vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer without any deduction for the value of the item sold.

(c) The tax imposed by this subchapter shall not apply to a motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer to be registered by a bona fide nonresident of this state.

(d) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal any exemption from this subchapter.

(e) (1) Upon payment of all applicable registration and title fees, any motor vehicle dealer licensed pursuant to § 27-14-601(a)(6) who has purchased a used motor vehicle may register the vehicle for the sole purpose of obtaining a certificate of title to the vehicle without payment of use tax.

(2) No license plate shall be provided with such registration, and the used vehicle titled by a dealer under this subsection may not be operated on the public highways unless there is displayed on the used vehicle a dealer's license plate issued under the provisions of § 27-14-601(a)(6)(B)(ii).

(f) (1) (A) For purposes of this section, the total consideration for a used motor vehicle shall be presumed to be the greater of the actual sales price as provided on a bill of sale, invoice or financing agreement, or the average loan value of the vehicle as listed in the most current edition of a publication which is generally accepted by the industry as providing an accurate valuation of used vehicles.

(B) If the published loan value exceeds the invoiced price, then the taxpayer must establish to the director's satisfaction that the price reflected on the invoice or other document is true and correct.

(C) If the director determines that the invoiced price is not the actual selling price of the vehicle, then the total consideration will be deemed to be the published loan value.

(2) (A) For purposes of this section, the total consideration for a new or used trailer or semitrailer shall be the actual sales price as provided on a bill of sale, invoice, or financing agreement.

(B) The director may require additional information to conclusively establish the true selling price of the new or used trailer or semitrailer.

A.C.R.C. Notes. See § 26-52-514 concerning such alternative method.

Amendments. The 2009 amendment rewrote (a); and in (f)(2)(B), substituted “new or used trailer or semitrailer” for “trailer.”

Case Notes

Construction.

Legislative Intent.

Construction.

Defendant's conduct in failing to pay use taxes on a motor home fell within § 26-18-202; defendant was not accused of having violated a provision of the vehicle registration laws, and the taxes required under this section are not exempt from the tax evasion laws. Owens v. State, 354 Ark. 644, 128 S.W.3d 445 (2003).

Legislative Intent.

The amendment of this section by Acts 1995, No. 268 was not an attempt by the legislature to retroactively change subsection (a) of this section or § 26-52-510(a). Pledger v. Mid-State Constr. & Materials, Inc., 325 Ark. 388, 925 S.W.2d 412 (1996).

26-53-127. Refunds to governmental agencies.

A governmental agency may apply to the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration for refund of the amount of the tax levied and paid upon sales to it for food and food ingredients used for free distribution to the poor and needy or to public penal and eleemosynary institutions, as provided by law.

Constitutionality.

This section is not unconstitutional on the ground that General Assembly in granting exemptions acted in an arbitrary manner. Teague v. Scurlock, 223 Ark. 271, 265 S.W.2d 528 (1954).

In General.

A governmental agency may apply in certain instances for a refund, but an agency cannot apply for a refund if it has not previously paid the tax. Commissioner of Revenues v. Arkansas State Hwy. Comm'n, 232 Ark. 255, 337 S.W.2d 665 (1960).

Construction.

Tax exemption provisions must be strictly construed. C. J. C. Corp. v. Cheney, 239 Ark. 541, 390 S.W.2d 437 (1965).

Any tax exemption provision must be strictly construed against the exemption, and to doubt is to deny the exemption. S.H. & J. Drilling Corp. v. Qualls, 268 Ark. 71, 593 S.W.2d 178 (1980); Qualls v. Georgia-Pacific Corp., 269 Ark. 426, 602 S.W.2d 646 (1980).

Appeals.

On appeal, the Supreme Court reviews tax exemption cases de novo and does not reverse a finding of fact unless it is clearly against the preponderance of the evidence. S.H. & J. Drilling Corp. v. Qualls, 268 Ark. 71, 593 S.W.2d 178 (1980).

Burden of Proof.

Since taxation is the rule and exemption the exception, the burden is on taxpayers to clearly show they are entitled to exemption from the use tax. Cheney v. Georgia-Pacific Paper Corp., 237 Ark. 161, 371 S.W.2d 843 (1963).

There is a presumption in favor of the taxing power of the state, and a claimant has the burden to clearly establish any right to an exemption. C. J. C. Corp. v. Cheney, 239 Ark. 541, 390 S.W.2d 437 (1965).

Taxpayer has the burden of clearly establishing an exemption beyond a reasonable doubt. S.H. & J. Drilling Corp. v. Qualls, 268 Ark. 71, 593 S.W.2d 178 (1980).

(b) (1) Every vendor shall designate with the director an agent for service within this state for the purpose of enforcing this subchapter.

(ii) Proof of payment of such a tax shall be made according to the rules and regulations promulgated by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration.

(B) If the amount of tax paid in another state is less than the amount of Arkansas compensating tax imposed on the property or services by this subchapter, then the taxpayer shall pay to the director an amount of Arkansas compensating tax sufficient to make the combined amount of tax paid in the other state and this state equal to the total amount of Arkansas compensating tax that would be due if no tax on the property or services had been paid to any other state.

(2) No credit shall be given under this section for taxes paid on such property or services in another state if that state does not grant credit for taxes paid on similar tangible personal property or services in this state.

(b) The provisions of this section shall be cumulative to the provisions of this subchapter and shall not be construed as repealing or modifying any of the provisions of this subchapter.

(c) (1) No credit shall be allowed for sales or use taxes paid to another state with respect to the purchase of motor vehicles, trailers, or semitrailers which are first registered by the purchaser in Arkansas.

(E) Prior to January 1, 2013, the nonprofit organization acquired a collection of artwork with a fair market value in excess of one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) for public viewing and exhibition at the qualified museum facility.

(d) (1) After filing the statement required under subdivision (c)(1) of this section, if the director finds that the nonprofit organization has a good faith plan and intent to satisfy the conditions of subdivision (c)(2) of this section prior to January 1, 2013, the director shall issue an exemption certificate to the nonprofit organization within sixty (60) days after the filing of the statement.

(2) The director may revoke the exemption certificate at any time after it is issued if the director determines that the nonprofit organization is unable to satisfy the conditions under subdivision (c)(2) of this section prior to January 1, 2013.

(3) After filing the statement required under subdivision (c)(2) of this section, if the director determines that the nonprofit organization has not met the conditions under subdivision (c)(2) of this section, the director shall revoke the exemption certificate of the nonprofit organization.

(4) If the nonprofit organization fails to file the statement described in subdivision (c)(2) of this section on or prior to June 30, 2013, the director shall revoke the exemption certificate.

(5) Revocation by the director of an exemption certificate shall be retroactive to the date of its issuance subject to subsection (e) of this section.

(e) (1) If the director revokes the exemption certificate, any tax deficiency, related interest, and applicable penalties due under the Arkansas Gross Receipts Act of 1941, § 26-52-101 et seq., this subchapter, or the Arkansas Tax Procedure Act, § 26-18-101 et seq., may be assessed against the nonprofit organization but may not be assessed against a third party that has relied in good faith on the exemption certificate prior to its revocation.

(2) If the director revokes the exemption certificate, any tax deficiency, related interest, and applicable penalties assessed against the nonprofit organization shall also include any tax deficiency, related interest, and applicable penalties assessed on purchases made by the nonprofit organization's contractors and agents for the benefit of the nonprofit organization in reliance on the exemption certificate.

(3) (A) Any assessment by the director under subdivision (e)(1) or subdivision (e)(2) of this section shall be made in accordance with the Arkansas Tax Procedure Act, § 26-18-101 et seq.

(B) However, the time period for the director to make the assessment is extended to whichever of the following occurs first:

(i) Three (3) years from the date the nonprofit organization files the statement under subdivision (c)(2) of this section; or

(ii) July 1, 2016.

(4) The nonprofit organization may contest any assessment or other determination by the director in accordance with the Arkansas Tax Procedure Act, § 26-18-101 et seq.

26-53-147. Heavy equipment.

(a) Every person purchasing heavy equipment as defined in § 26-52-318 for storage or use within this state from a dealer located outside of this state, and who does not pay tax to the out-of-state dealer, is liable for the use tax imposed by this chapter.

(b) The purchaser shall pay the use tax to the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration.

(c) If the purchaser pays the use tax to an out-of-state dealer, the purchaser shall present proof to the director that the Arkansas use tax has been paid.

History. Acts 2005, No. 1693, § 2; 2009, No. 682, § 2.

Amendments. The 2009 amendment deleted “and receive a decal under § 26-52-318 to affix to each piece of heavy equipment purchased” in (b); deleted “and receive a decal from the director to affix to each piece of heavy equipment purchased” in (c); and made minor stylistic and punctuation changes.

Effective Dates. Acts 2009, No. 682, § 3, provided: “Sections 1 and 2 of this act are effective on the first day of the calendar quarter following the effective date of this act.”

26-53-148. Natural gas and electricity used by manufacturers.

(a) (1) Beginning July 1, 2007, in lieu of the tax levied in §§ 26-53-106 and 26-53-107(a)-(d), there is levied an excise tax on the sales price of natural gas and electricity purchased by a manufacturer for use directly in the actual manufacturing process at the rate of four and three-eighths percent (4.375%).

(2) Beginning July 1, 2008, the tax rate levied in subdivision (a)(1) of this section shall be imposed at the rate of three and seven-eighths percent (3.875%).

(3) (A) Beginning July 1, 2009, the tax rate levied in subdivision (a)(1) of this section shall be imposed at the rate of three and one-eighth percent (3.125%).

(B) (i) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration shall monitor the amount of tax savings received by all taxpayers as a result of the reduction in the tax rate from that levied in §§ 26-53-106 and 26-53-107 to that levied in subdivision (a)(3)(A) of this section.

(ii) When the director determines that the amount of tax savings resulting from the determination described in subdivision (a)(3)(B)(i) of this section plus any gross receipts tax savings described in § 26-52-319(a)(3)(B) would reach twenty-seven million dollars ($27,000,000) during a fiscal year, the director shall not process any further refund claims through a refund process during the fiscal year for taxpayers seeking to claim the reduced tax rate provided by this section. The amount of twenty-seven million dollars ($27,000,000) is intended to cover the accumulated but unclaimed reduction of sales and use tax on natural gas and electricity as provided by Acts 2007, No. 185, as well as the additional reduction provided by Acts 2009, No. 695.

(iii) If the director determines that discontinuing refund payments as provided in subdivision (a)(3)(B)(ii) of this section is insufficient to prevent the amount of tax savings from exceeding twenty-seven million dollars ($27,000,000) during a fiscal year, the director may decline to accept any amended return filed by a taxpayer to claim an overpayment resulting from the reduced tax rate provided by this section for a period other than the period for which a tax return is currently due.

(C) (i) Refund requests and amended returns filed with the director to claim the overpayment resulting from the reduced rate in subdivision (a)(3)(A) of this section will be processed in the order they are received by the director. A taxpayer that does not receive a refund after the refund and amended return process has ceased under subdivision (a)(3)(B) of this section shall be given priority to receive a refund during the subsequent fiscal year. The unpaid refunds from the prior fiscal year shall be processed before any refund claims filed in the current fiscal year to claim the benefit of this section.

(ii) The statute of limitations for refunds and amended returns under § 26-18-306(i)(1)(A) is extended for one (1) year to allow the payment of a refund under the process provided in subdivision (a)(3)(C)(i) of this section.

(4) The taxes levied in subsection (a) of this section shall be distributed as follows:

(A) Seventy-six and six-tenths percent (76.6%) of the tax, interest, penalties, and costs received by the director shall be deposited as general revenues;

(B) Eight and five-tenths percent (8.5%) of the tax, interest, penalties, and costs received by the director shall be deposited into the Property Tax Relief Trust Fund; and

(C) Fourteen and nine-tenths percent (14.9%) of the tax, interest, penalties, and costs received by the director shall be deposited into the Educational Adequacy Fund.

(5) (A) The excise tax levied in this section applies only to natural gas and electricity purchased for use directly in the actual manufacturing process.

(B) Natural gas and electricity purchased for any other purpose shall be subject to the full compensating use tax levied under §§ 26-53-106 and 26-53-107(a)-(d).

(6) The excise tax levied in this section shall be collected, reported, and paid in the same manner and at the same time as is prescribed by law for the collection, reporting, and payment of all other Arkansas compensating use taxes.

(b) As used in this section, “manufacturer” means a manufacturer classified within sectors 31 through 33 of the North American Industry Classification System, as in effect on January 1, 2007.

(c) Natural gas and electricity subject to the reduced tax rate levied in this section shall be separately metered from natural gas and electricity used for any other purpose by the manufacturer or otherwise established in accordance with the rules issued under subsection (e) of this section.

(d) Prior to purchasing any natural gas or electricity at the reduced excise tax rate levied in this section, the director may require any seller of natural gas or electricity to obtain a certificate from the consumer, in the form prescribed by the director, certifying that the manufacturer is eligible to purchase natural gas and electricity at the reduced excise tax rate.

(e) The director shall have and be invested with full power and authority to promulgate rules for the proper administration of this section.

(f) The purchase of natural gas and electricity by a manufacturer shall continue to be subject to:

(1) The excise tax levied under the Arkansas Constitution, Amendment 75, § 2; and

(2) All municipal and county compensating use taxes.

History. Acts 2007, No. 185, § 2; 2009, No. 691, § 2; 2009, No. 695, § 2.

A.C.R.C. Notes. Acts 2007, No. 185, § 3, provided:

"All existing exemptions from the gross receipts tax levied by the Arkansas Gross Receipts Act or 1941, § 26-52-101 et seq., and the compensating use tax levied by the Arkansas Compensating Tax Act of 1949, § 26-53-101 et seq., for natural gas or electricity used in manufacturing or other purposes that are otherwise provided by law shall continue in full force and effect."

Acts 2009, No. 691, and Acts 2009, No. 695, are identical acts that amended subsection (a) of this section. Acts 2009, No. 695, was used to codify subsection (a) of this section pursuant to § 1-2-207(a).

Amendments. The 2009 amendment by identical acts Nos. 691 and 695 inserted (a)(3) and redesignated the subsequent subdivisions accordingly.

Subchapter 2 — Contractors

26-53-202. Subchapter cumulative.

26-53-203. Tangible personal property procured from without state for use by contractors.

26-53-204 — 26-53-206. [Repealed.]

Effective Dates. Acts 1965, No. 125, § 8: Feb. 25, 1965. Emergency clause provided: "Whereas, contractors are deemed to be consumer under the provisions of Act 487 of 1949 (As Amended) but some confusion as to this interpretation has existed, causing a hinderance to the proper administration of the Compensating Tax Law of this State, and it has been found that increased population and increased cost of living have placed heavy demands on funds available for the operation of government, and it is necessary to supplement said funds so that the proper functions of government may be performed. Therefore, in order to provide supplemental funds for the operation of government, and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1967, No. 253, § 2: Mar. 10, 1967. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the provisions of Act 125 of 1965 do not adequately provide for allowance to be given contractors coming within the purview of such Act, for similar taxes paid in other states, that the proper and effective administration of such Act will be greatly enhanced by the provision of a reciprocal tax credit allowance given by the State of Arkansas to those out-of-state contractors who have previously paid a compensating tax in another state, provided such other state offers the same tax credit allowance to Arkansas contractors for machinery, equipment and other personal property brought into their state to fulfill a contract, that such a provision will eliminate an inequity existing in the present law and will provide for better acceptance of our citizens' upon their going into other states to perform contracts, that this Act is immediately necessary in order to correct the situation so as to begin the enforcement of Act 125 of 1965 in a proper, effective and equitable manner. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and welfare, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1997, No. 951, § 34: Sections 1 through 24, 32 and 33 shall be effective for tax years beginning on and after January 1, 1997. However, it is the intent of this Act that those portions of the Internal Revenue Code adopted by this Act which for federal tax purposes do not become effective until some time after January 1, 1997, shall also not become effective for state tax purposes until the same time.

Acts 1997, No. 951, § 38: Mar. 31, 1997. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that current state tax laws are unclear or confusing, creating difficulty for taxpayers seeking to comply with these tax laws; that the changes made by Sections 25 through 31 of this bill are necessary to provide adequate direction to those taxpayers and to maintain the efficient administration of the Arkansas tax laws; and that the provisions of Sections 25 through 31 of this Act are necessary to effectuate that purpose. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and the provisions of Sections 25 through 31 of this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, Sections 25 through 31 shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, Sections 25 through 31 shall become effective on the date the last house overrides the veto.”

26-53-203. Tangible personal property procured from without state for use by contractors.

(a) (1) All tangible personal property which is procured from without this state for use, storage, distribution, or consumption including machinery, equipment, repair or replacement parts, materials, and supplies used, stored, distributed, or consumed by a contractor in the performance of a contract in this state shall be subject to the compensating tax of four and five-tenths percent (4.5%) of the purchase price as provided by the Arkansas Compensating Tax Act, § 26-53-101 et seq., or four and five-tenths percent (4.5%) of its market or book value, whichever is greater, if the property has been subjected to prior use before coming to rest for use, storage, distribution, or consumption within this state. The four and five-tenths percent (4.5%) compensating tax shall be in addition to any other compensating taxes levied by the State of Arkansas.

(2) The tax shall be due and payable regardless of whether or not any right, title, or interest in the tangible personal property becomes vested in the contractor.

(b) In the case of leases or rentals of tangible personal property by a contractor for use, storage, distribution, or consumption in this state, the contractor shall report and remit the compensating tax on the basis of rental or lease payments made to the lessor of the tangible personal property during the term of the lease or rental, which lease rentals shall be in accordance with written contracts between lessor and lessee furnished to the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration.

(c) (1) The provisions of this subchapter shall not apply in respect to the use, consumption, distribution, or storage of tangible personal property as defined in this subchapter for use or consumption in this state upon which a like tax equal to or greater than the amount imposed by this subchapter has been paid in another state, the proof of payment of the tax to be according to rules and regulations made by the director.

Where the Revenue Division imposed both the sales and use taxes upon the price of the concrete components regardless of whether they were precast within or without the state, there was equal treatment for similarly situated in-state and out-of-state taxpayers in the imposition of the taxes and, as a result, there was no violation of the commerce clause. *Pledger v. 26-53-301. Authorization to enter.

26-53-302. Arrangements for collection and payment.

26-53-303. Waiver of collection and enforcement of taxes.

Effective Dates. Acts 1970 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 10, § 6: Mar. 13, 1970. Emergency clause provided: “The General Assembly finds that the State of Arkansas is in immediate need of additional funds for general revenue purposes and that considerable revenue can be gained in collecting compensating tax on sales of tangible personal property by retailers of other states to Arkansas residents. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist, and this Act, being necessary for the preservation of the public health, peace and safety, shall be effective from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 2003, No. 1273, § 88, as amended by Acts 2005, No. 2008, § 1, and Acts 2007, No. 180, § 1: Jan. 1, 2008. Effective date clause provided: “Effective date. It is found and determined by the Eighty-fourth General Assembly that the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement is necessary in order to stop the loss of sales tax revenue due to the rapid growth of internet sales, to level the playing field between local businesses and out-of-state businesses, and to negate the undue burden on interstate commerce; and that this act is necessary in order for Arkansas to be in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. Under the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, when at least ten (10) states comprising at least twenty percent (20%) of the total population, as determined by the 2000 Federal census, of all states imposing a state sales tax have petitioned for membership and have been found to be in compliance with the requirements of the agreement, the agreement will become effective unless a specific effective date is otherwise given. These contingencies were met and the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement went into effect on October 1, 2005. Pursuant to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement, a state may apply to become a party to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement by submitting a petition for membership and certificate of compliance to the governing board. The governing board shall then determine if the petitioning state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. A state is in compliance with the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement if the effect of the state's laws, rules, regulations, and policies is substantially in compliance with the requirements in the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement. The petitioning state's proposed date of entry to the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Agreement shall be on the first day of a calendar quarter. It is anticipated that Arkansas will become a full member of the Streamlined Sales and Use Tax Governing Board on January 1, 2008. In order to allow the Department of Finance and Administration and local businesses additional time to prepare for the changes necessary as the result of this act, all of the sections in this act will become effective on January 1, 2008. Thus, any section of this act with a specific effective date shall have an effective date of January 1, 2008, and not the specific effective date provided in the introductory language to the section, and when no effective date was listed in the section, then the effective date will also be January 1, 2008.”

26-53-301. Authorization to enter.

(a) When in the judgment of the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration it is necessary in order to secure the collection of any tax, penalties, or interest due or to become due under this subchapter, the director may negotiate agreements with the tax departments of other states in respect to the collecting, reporting, payment, and enforcement of tax on sales of tangible personal property or taxable services to residents of Arkansas by a retailer maintaining a place of business in the other state.

(b) In consideration of such an agreement, the director may make similar agreements for the collecting, reporting, payment, and enforcement of tax as imposed by the other states on sales of tangible personal property or taxable services to residents of other states by retailers maintaining places of business in Arkansas.

26-53-302. Arrangements for collection and payment.

The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration, in negotiating an agreement with the tax department of another state, may as part of the agreement provide for reciprocal arrangements whereby the parties collecting the tax in the other state may deduct at the time of making returns to the director such percentage of the amount due and accounted for, which may be retained by the parties reporting as an offset against costs of collecting and reporting as is allowed by such other states to parties in this state collecting the tax for the other state. No such deduction shall be allowed, however, if the amount due is delinquent at the time of the tax payment.

History. Acts 1970 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 10, § 2; A.S.A. 1947, § 84-3136.

26-53-303. Waiver of collection and enforcement of taxes.

(a) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration, in negotiating agreements, is authorized by way of compromise to waive the collection and enforcement of taxes on sales to residents of Arkansas made in another state and delivered into Arkansas when such sales were made prior to the effective date of any agreement negotiated.

(b) However, the director in any case shall not be authorized to waive payment and enforcement of the tax in another state unless the tax department of the other state waives collection, payment, and enforcement of their tax in this state in the same manner as the tax payment is waived by this state.

Case Notes

Nonprofit Entities.

Nonprofit Entities.

Nonprofit agricultural cooperative was immune from corporate franchise tax law although § 2-2-123 revoked cooperative's exemptions from some other state taxes, as tax statute must be made expressly applicable to entity, and mere removal of some tax exemptions did not allow levying of franchise tax on nonprofit cooperative. Jefferson Coop. Gin, Inc. v. Milam, 255 Ark. 479, 500 S.W.2d 932 (1973) (decision under prior law).

26-54-104. Annual franchise tax.

(3) Each mutual assessment insurance corporation shall pay three hundred dollars ($300);

(5) Each corporation, other than those in subdivisions (2)-(4) of this section, without authorized capital stock shall pay three hundred dollars ($300);

(7) Each corporation actually and actively in the process of liquidation and which does not rent or lease its property but which retains its corporate charter or authority for the sole purpose of winding up its affairs shall pay an annual tax as provided in subdivision (6) of this section or an amount equivalent to three-tenths of one percent (0.3%) of the value of its real and tangible personal property in Arkansas, whichever is smaller, but in no instance shall the tax be less than one hundred fifty dollars ($150); and

In General.
Purpose.
Applicability.
Doing Business.
Failure to Comply.
Valuation.

In General.

Tax on franchise of corporations is valid, as it is a tax on the privilege or right granted by the state to a corporation to do business in the state and is not an asset of the corporation whose value can be ascertained for the purpose of taxation as property. Saint Louis S.W. Ry. v. State ex rel. Norwood, 106 Ark. 321, 152 S.W. 110 (1913), aff'd, 235 U.S. 350, 35 S. Ct. 99, 59 L. Ed. 265 (1914) (decision under prior law).

Purpose.

Intention of former statute was to impose franchise tax on all "live" corporations, whether actively engaged in business or not. Arkansas Anthracite Coal Co. v. State, 149 Ark. 28, 231 S.W. 184 (1921) (decision under prior law).

Applicability.

Former statute applied to all active corporations; that is, those corporations which were functioning, and not those corporations which were dormant. Arkansas Anthracite Coal Co. v. State, 149 Ark. 28, 231 S.W. 184 (1921) (decision under prior law).

Domestic corporations owning coal lands that they have leased to others were liable for tax, though they transacted no other active business in the state. Arkansas Anthracite Coal Co. v. State, 149 Ark. 28, 231 S.W. 184 (1921) (decision under prior law).

A domestic corporation whose business consisted merely in soliciting and receiving applications for membership, issuing policies to members, and collecting assessments for the purpose of paying the policies, in addition to paying the salaries of its officers, was not doing business for profit and not subject to tax. State ex rel. Attorney Gen. v. Bankers & Planters Mut. Ins. Ass'n, 152 Ark. 182, 238 S.W. 17 (1922) (decision under prior law).

Doing Business.

A foreign corporation authorized to do business in the state could be required to pay franchise tax, though the corporation was not actually doing business in the state. State ex rel. Applegate v. Chicago Land & Timber Co., 173 Ark. 234, 292 S.W. 98 (1927) (decision under prior law).

Corporation paying tax is authorized to do business during the entire year for which payment is made. Arkansas Power & Light Co. v. State, 175 Ark. 495, 299 S.W. 1028 (1927) (decision under prior law).

Domestic corporations doing business both within and outside the state held not required to pay tax to the state of Arkansas on income derived from sources outside of Arkansas. Cheney v. Stephens, Inc., 231 Ark. 541, 330 S.W.2d 949 (1960) (decision under prior law).

Failure to Comply.

Although corporation had failed to file a report and pay the franchise tax, it could bring an action on its own account, so long as the Attorney General had not proceeded to annul its charter. Jones v. Bank of Commerce, 131 Ark. 362, 199 S.W. 103 (1917) (decision under prior law).

The only effect of a certificate of the Governor declaring a foreign corporation to have forfeited its right to do business in the state by failure to pay its franchise tax was to withdraw from the foreign corporation authority to transact business in this state, but not to prevent its being sued in this state. Mushrush v. Downing, 181 Ark. 85, 24 S.W.2d 972 (1930) (decision under prior law).

Valuation.

Since Acts 1911, No. 112, § 6, limited the tax on foreign corporations to that portion of its capital represented by its property and business in this state, former statute prescribing the value of no par value stock for tax purposes did not impose tax on property of foreign corporation outside of state. State ex rel. Att'y Gen. v. Margay Oil Corp., 167 Ark. 614, 269 S.W. 63 (1925); Margay Oil Corp. v. Applegate, 169 Ark. 96, 272 S.W. 845 (1925), aff'd, 273 U.S. 666, 47 S. Ct. 458, 71 L. Ed. 830 (1927) (decisions under prior law).

It is immaterial whether the property of a corporation is of the value of its capital stock. State ex rel. Applegate v. Chicago Land & Timber Co., 173 Ark. 234, 292 S.W. 98 (1927) (decision under prior law).

State was without authority to charge a corporation franchise tax on its capital stock as represented by property owned and business transacted in the state, but only had authority to charge on the capital stock as represented by property owned and used in business transacted in the state. Koonce v. Pierce Petroleum Corp., 176 Ark. 187, 3 S.W.2d 9 (1928) (decision under prior law).

Forfeiture of Charter.

Forfeit of Charter.

Section 4-27-1420, this section and § 26-54-112 presuppose that a corporation whose charter has been forfeited has not yet been dissolved, and since a corporation with a forfeited charter has not been dissolved, the corporation continues to exist for limited purposes. Gibson v. Dennis (In re Russell), 123 B.R. 48 (Bankr. W.D. Ark. 1990).

26-54-111. Charter forfeiture for failure to pay tax — Procedure.

Case Notes

In General.

Officers and Directors.

In General.

It is within the power of the state legislature to declare that a corporation delinquent in payment of franchise taxes shall ipso facto cease to exist. Gibson v. Dennis (In re Russell), 123 B.R. 48 (Bankr. W.D. Ark. 1990).

Officers and Directors.

Officers and directors of a corporation who actively participate in its operation during the time when the corporate charter is revoked for failure to pay corporate franchise taxes are individually liable for debts incurred during the period of revocation. Larzelere v. Reed, 35 Ark. App. 174, 816 S.W.2d 614 (1991).

26-54-112. Reinstatement of corporations.

(a) (1) (A) (i) Any corporation whose charter or permit authority to do business in the state has been declared forfeited by proclamation of the Governor or the Secretary of State may be reinstated to all its rights, powers, and property.

(ii) Reinstatement shall be retroactive to the time that the corporation's authority to do business in the state was declared forfeited.

(B) The reinstatement shall be made after the filing of all delinquent franchise tax reports satisfactory to the Secretary of State and the payment of all taxes and penalties due for each year of delinquency.

(2) However, no reinstatement shall be allowed after seven (7) years from the date the charter or permit authority to do business in the state was declared forfeited by proclamation of the Governor or the Secretary of State.

(b) If the Secretary of State issued the original corporate charter, permit, or authority, the Secretary of State shall reinstate the corporation upon payment by the corporation of all amounts due, as provided in subsection (a) of this section.

(c) (1) If the original corporate charter, permit, or authority was issued by an official other than the Secretary of State, the official shall reinstate the corporation upon the corporation's filing with the official the receipt of the Secretary of State showing payment of all amounts due, as provided in subsection (a) of this section.

(2) Thereafter, the corporation shall stand in all respects as though its name had never been declared forfeited.

Case Notes

In General.
Corporate Status.

In General.

Sections 4-27-1420, 26-54-110 and this section presuppose that a corporation whose charter has been forfeited has not yet been dissolved, and since a corporation with a forfeited charter has not been dissolved, the corporation continues to exist for limited purposes. Gibson v. Dennis (In re Russell), 123 B.R. 48 (Bankr. W.D. Ark. 1990).

Corporate Status.

Where company's charter was revoked on February 1, 1959, for nonpayment of taxes and the charter was restored upon payment of all delinquent taxes on December 19, 1960, payment of taxes did not restore company to its corporate status at time it first became delinquent, but only restored it to that status as of December 19, 1960, the time of payment of the taxes. Moore v. Rommel, 233 Ark. 989, 350 S.W.2d 190 (1961) (decision under prior law).

The reinstatement of the appellant's corporate status did not retroactively restore the corporation as of the date of its revocation. Tribco Mfg. Co. v. People's Bank of Imboden, 67 Ark. App. 268, 998 S.W.2d 756 (1999).

Following the revocation of its corporate charter, a corporation loses its capacity to sue and any lawsuit filed during this status must be dismissed, and the subsequent reinstatement of the corporate status does not retroactively restore or otherwise vest the corporation with a continuous existence. Terry v. Rice (In re Cheqnet Sys.), 246 B.R. 873 (Bankr. E.D. Ark. 2000).

Trial court did not err in denying appellant's motion to dismiss for lack of standing on the ground that appellee's Louisiana corporate charter had been revoked at the time it filed its original complaint against appellant for unlawfully detaining property where under both Arkansas and Louisiana law, reinstatement of a corporate charter was retroactive to the date of its revocation. Omni Holding & Dev. Corp. v. C.A.G. Invs., Inc., 370 Ark. 220, 258 S.W.3d 374 (2007).

Pursuant to this section, the restoration of a corporation's corporate status vests it with continuous existence as though the revocation of its charter never occurred. Omni Holding & Dev. Corp. v. C.A.G. Invs., Inc., 370 Ark. 220, 258 S.W.3d 374 (2007).

26-54-113. Disposition of funds.

(a) All taxes and penalties collected under the provisions of this chapter each month shall be deposited into the State Treasury to the credit of the Revenue Holding Fund Account of the State Apportionment Fund.

(b) (1) On or before the fifth day of the following month, the Treasurer of State shall allocate and transfer the taxes and penalties collected to the General Revenue Fund Account of the State Apportionment Fund until a total of eight million dollars ($8,000,000) has been transferred during a fiscal year.

(2) After the transfers required by subdivision (b)(1) of this section have been made, the taxes and penalties collected under this chapter during the remainder of the fiscal year shall be special revenues, and the Treasurer of State shall transfer the taxes and penalties collected to the Educational Adequacy Fund after making the deductions required by § 19-5-203(b)(2).

History. Acts 1979, No. 889, § 12; A.S.A. 1947, § 84-1844; Acts 2003 (2nd Ex. Sess.), No. 94, § 4.

Amendments. The 2003 (2nd Ex. Sess.) amendment, in (a), inserted "each month," deleted "general revenues and shall be" preceding "deposited," and inserted "Revenue Holding Fund Account of the"; added (b)(2); and rewrote (b)(1).

Effective Dates. Acts 2003 (2nd Ex. Sess.), No. 94, § 4: amendment effective by its own terms

26-54-114. Nonpayment of franchise taxes.

(a) No corporation or limited liability company shall be allowed to file any forms or documentation related to that corporation or limited liability company if the corporation or limited liability company owes past-due franchise taxes to the Secretary of State.

(b) No person shall be allowed to file any initial forms or documentation with the Secretary of State to create any legal entity in the State of Arkansas or to obtain authority to do business in the State of Arkansas if that person is substantially connected to any corporation or limited liability company that owes past-due franchise taxes to the Secretary of State.

(c) As used in this section:

(1) “Past-due franchise taxes” means only those taxes owed three (3) years prior to the year in which the current filing is presented;

(2) “Past officer or director” means a person who was associated with the corporation or limited liability company during the time that its charter was revoked for nonpayment of franchise taxes; and

(3) “Substantially connected” means a present officer or director or a past officer or director of a corporation.

Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall take effect and be in force from the date of its passage and approval."

Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the public peace, health and safety shall take effect and be in force from the date of its passage."

Acts 1957, No. 393, § 5: Mar. 27, 1957. Emergency clause provided: "It has been found and declared by the General Assembly that the bond heretofore required to be posted by distributors of motor fuel to assure the payment of state taxes upon such fuel have in many instances been sufficient to insure the State of Arkansas against the loss of revenues, that the penalties heretofore prescribed by law for failure of distributors to pay the taxes upon motor fuel within the prescribed time were excessive and therefore almost unenforceable, and that this Act will provide for an increase in the bond and a decrease in the penalties provided for failure to pay the tax on or before the due date and will thereby render the motor fuel tax laws of this State more enforceable. Therefore an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, safety and welfare shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1959, No. 273, § 2: Mar. 25, 1959. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1965 (1st Ex. Sess.), No 41, § 16: June 10, 1965. It is, therefore, declared that an emergency exists and this act shall take effect and be in force from and after the date of its passage and approval.”

Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and declared that by providing for an adequate bond of distributors that there will be an increase in collection of highway user taxes, and that by providing that the Motor Fuel Tax be paid by the first receiver, there will be a substantial increase in the collection of highway user taxes. Therefore, an emergency is hereby found and declared to exist, and the Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.” Approved June 10, 1965.

Acts 1967, No. 45, § 2: Feb. 7, 1967. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in effect from the date of its passage and approval.”

Acts 1967, No. 198, §§ 3, 5: July 1, 1967. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the existing law relative to the liability of licensed distributors for motor fuel taxes on motor fuel is difficult to interpret and therefore creates confusion and uncertainty as to the tax liability of licensed distributors in this State, and that this Act is immediately necessary to correct this situation. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in effect from the date of its passage and approval.” Approved Mar. 6, 1967.

Acts 1971, No. 295, § 4: Mar. 15, 1971. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that under the present law relating to the bond required to be deposited by licensed motor fuel distributors there is no specific limitation on the amount of the bond which the Commissioner of Revenues may require such distributor to post; that said law makes no distinction between licensed motor fuel distributors that are organized under the laws of the State of Arkansas and wholly owned by Arkansas residents, and non-resident distributors; that the bond required by the Commissioner of Revenues in the case of some resident distributors is extremely high and places an unreasonable burden on the distributor; that the purpose for requiring the deposit of a bond is to assure that the distributor will remit to the State all motor fuel taxes due the state; that since resident motor fuel distributors have property within the State which may be attached by the State for taxes in case the distributor fails to remit all taxes due, the bond required to be posted by resident distributors need not be in an amount equal to the total taxes to be remitted to the State by the distributor but that a maximum bond of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00) is adequate to protect the State in the collection of motor fuel taxes; and that this Act is immediately necessary to prescribe a maximum bond for resident motor fuel distributors. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1973, No. 445, § 26: July 1, 1973. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that immediate steps must be taken to provide additional State funds, and to allocate federal revenue sharing funds, for the construction of State highways which are essential to the public health, safety, and welfare and that the immediate passage of this Act is necessary in order that fiscal officials of the State may make plans to prepare for the collection of additional highway revenues effective from and after July 1, 1973. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1973."

Acts 1973, No. 507, § 3: Mar. 29, 1973. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that a great inequity exists under the present law relative to the border tax rate on motor fuel in certain cities of this State in that service stations that were within the limits of a city or town on or before June 1, 1967, are entitled to charge and remit the border tax rate, while other nearby competing stations which are in an area made a part of the city or town since June 1, 1967, are required to collect and pay a higher rate of tax on motor fuel sold, and that this Act is immediately necessary to correct this situation and to provide proper competitive markets in such cities or towns. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1979, No. 437, § 8: July 1, 1979. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that existing highway user revenue sources do not provide for the adequate maintenance, repair, construction and reconstruction of state highways, county roads and city streets; that the motor vehicular traffic on the public highways and streets of this State makes it immediately necessary that additional funds be provided in order to finance adequate highway, road and street maintenance and construction programs; that the continued economic expansion and growth of this State will be jeopardized if an adequate system of public roads and streets is not provided; and that only by the immediate passage of this Act may such vitally needed additional funds be provided to solve the aforementioned problems. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after July first of 1979."

Acts 1979, No. 686, § 4: Apr. 2, 1979. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the Seventy-Second General Assembly that the present evaporation and collection allowance rate for motor fuel distributors is insufficient to cover the cost of collection, and that the passage of this Act is necessary to correct this situation. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1979, No. 802, §§ 3, 5: July 1, 1979. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that this Act is necessary to control the payments of motor fuel tax. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1979."

Acts 1983, No. 830, § 5: Mar. 25, 1983. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the orderly administration of the motor fuel tax laws is essential for the effective collection of these taxes; that some uncertainty exists regarding the sale of fuels to the United States and, that this Act is necessary to clarify this situation. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1985, No. 112, § 2: May 30, 1985. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that there is urgent need for additional funds to provide for construction, repair and maintenance of state highways; that the exemption of gasohol from motor fuel taxes and special motor fuel taxes may in the future result in a substantial amount of highway revenues since such laws provide for a total exemption from all motor fuel and special motor fuel taxes for motor fuels which contain only ten percent anhydrous ethanol and this exemption could well lead to more widespread use of this fuel; that it is the purpose of this Act to repeal such exemptions and to assure that persons using such fuels pay their fair share of the cost of constructing and maintaining highways in the state and that this Act should be given effect immediately to accomplish this purpose. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after May 30, 1985.”

Acts 1987, No. 763, § 8: July 1, 1987. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the State of Arkansas is in serious danger of losing revenues which are necessary to provide adequate funding for essential needs of the citizens of this State and the provisions of this Act are necessary to avoid a substantial reduction in State revenues. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1987.”

Acts 1989, No. 168, § 5: July 1, 1989. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that this act is necessary to secure the indebtedness to the state for motor fuel taxes; that this act should go into effect on July 1, 1989, in order to provide sufficient time to give notice to all persons involved; and that unless this emergency clause is adopted, the act may not go into effect on July 1, 1989. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after July 1, 1989.”

Acts 1991, No. 688, § 10: Mar. 21, 1991. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that some taxpayers are not properly completing and timely filing tax returns; that these failures create an administrative burden upon the Department of Finance and Administration; and that this act is designed to impose a fifty dollar ($50) penalty for failure to timely file returns, even if no tax is due, or if returns are not properly completed.

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1993, No. 1029, § 11: July 1, 1993. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Seventy-Ninth General Assembly that current laws do not require explicit monthly reports from terminals or pipeline companies regarding their activities relative to gasoline and diesel transactions and as a consequence the State may be experiencing a loss of fuel tax revenues since certain of such transactions may result in the evasion of such taxes; that such tax revenues are greatly needed by the State for highway, road, and street purposes; and that only by the effectiveness of the amendments contained in this act as expeditiously as possible may the aforementioned problems be solved. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after July 1, 1993.”

Acts 1995, No. 1160, § 46: Apr. 11, 1995. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that certain changes are necessary to the Arkansas tax laws; that these changes are necessary immediately in order to maintain the efficient administration of the Arkansas income tax laws; and that this act is necessary to effectuate that purpose. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 2001, No. 1035, § 2: July 1, 2001. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Eighty-third General Assembly that motor fuels are taxed in order to repair, maintain, and construct the roads in Arkansas. It is also found that automobiles used solely for racing do not use the roads in Arkansas; and therefore, those persons paying taxes on leaded gasoline or methanol for racing automobiles are being unfairly taxed. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2001.”

Acts 2001, No. 1498, § 2: Apr. 12, 2001. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly that border territory included within the limits of a border city, incorporated town, or planned community after February 1, 1973 are unjustly being denied the border tax rate on motor fuels. This leads to confusion within a border city, incorporated town, or planned community as to which entities are subject to the border tax rate on motor fuels. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, it shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, it shall become effective on the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Case Notes

In General.
Applicability.

In General.

Acts 1921, No. 606 was not invalid as being arbitrary, unreasonable, or discriminatory in its application in that it did not affect vehicles propelled by steam, electricity, or gasoline purchased out of the state. Standard Oil Co. v. Brodie, 153 Ark. 114, 239 S.W. 753 (1922) (decision under prior law).

Applicability.

Acts 1934 (Ex. Sess.), No. 11, § 22, levying a tax on gasoline applied to all gasoline sold or used within the state, whether used on highways or not, except that motor fuel manufactured, produced, or compounded in, or imported into, the state and subsequently sold for exportation was not taxable. Sparling v. Refunding Bd., 189 Ark. 189, 71 S.W.2d 182 (1934) (decision under prior law).

Cited: Whiteley v. Wilcox Oil Co., 225 Ark. 293, 280 S.W.2d 903 (1955).

26-55-206. Purpose of tax — Allocation.

(a) The tax imposed by this subchapter is levied for the purpose of providing revenue to be used by the State of Arkansas to defray, in whole or in part, the cost of constructing, widening, reconstructing, maintaining, resurfacing, and repairing the public highways, and retiring highway indebtedness of this state.

(b) (1) The funds collected by this subchapter shall be allocated and distributed only in the manner now established by existing laws relating to motor fuel taxes.

(2) One cent (1¢) of the tax levied on each gallon of motor fuel under this subchapter shall be remitted to the Treasurer of State separate and apart from other motor fuel and distillate special fuel taxes, and the gross amount thereof, without making any deduction therefrom for credit to the Constitutional Officers Fund and the State Central Services Fund, shall be distributed as provided by the Arkansas Highway Revenue Distribution Law, §§ 27-70-201 — 27-70-203, 27-70-206, and 27-70-207.

History. Acts 1941, No. 383, § 3; 1979, No. 437, § 3; A.S.A. 1947, §§ 75-1105, 75-1241.1.

Case Notes

In General.
Construction.

In General.

A legislative declaration that a gasoline tax is a privilege or excise tax is not conclusive where its constitutionality is attacked, as its character must be determined by its incidents. Sparling v. Refunding Bd., 189 Ark. 189, 71 S.W.2d 182 (1934) (decision under prior law). The tax provided for by Acts 1934 (Ex. Sess.), No. 11 was a privilege and not a property tax. Sparling v. Refunding Bd., 189 Ark. 189, 71 S.W.2d 182 (1934) (decision under prior law). The gasoline tax had its origin not as a sales tax upon the commodity but as a tax upon the privilege and use of the highways. McCarroll v. Mitchell, 198 Ark. 435, 129 S.W.2d 611 (1939) (decision under prior law).

Construction.

This section did not conflict with former statute providing that no person shall drive into the state any motor vehicle operated for hire without first having paid a tax on all motor fuel over 20 gallons, used or to be used, in operating the vehicle while in the state. McLeod v. Santa Fe Trail Transp. Co., 205 Ark. 225, 168 S.W.2d 413 (1943).

26-55-207. Exemptions.

The tax imposed by § 26-55-205 shall not be collected upon or with respect to the following transactions:

(1) The sale of motor fuel by a pipeline importer who has first received such motor fuel into this state via common carrier pipeline, barge, or rail to a duly licensed distributor in this state;

(2) The sale of motor fuel by a duly licensed distributor for export from the State of Arkansas, and shipped by common carrier f.o.b. destination, to any other state or territory or to any foreign country, or the export of motor fuel by a duly licensed distributor from the State of Arkansas to any other state or territory or to any foreign country, if satisfactory proof of actual exportation of all the motor fuel is furnished at the time and in the manner prescribed by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration;

(3) The sale of motor fuel to the United States Government;

(4) The sale of motor fuel for use in propelling airplanes, provided that satisfactory proof is furnished in the manner prescribed by the director that the motor fuel is to be used in the propelling of airplanes.

26-55-210. Border tax rate areas generally.

(a) (1) The tax on motor fuel sold in cities, incorporated towns, or planned communities which border on a state line or sold within eight hundred feet (800') of the state line or sold within eight hundred feet (800') of the maximum shore line of a navigable lake, the opposite shore line of which is beyond the Arkansas state line or sold within eight hundred feet (800') of the Arkansas terminal of a bridge spanning a river where the state line is in the center of the main channel of the river, when such sales of motor fuel are made therein and delivered into the storage tanks of retail dealers or when such sales are made therein to consumers and delivered into the storage tanks of such consumers or directly into the standard fuel tank of a motor vehicle, shall be at the same rate as the tax levied on motor fuel sold in other areas of the state, but in no event shall the rate of tax on motor fuel sold in such border areas be more than one cent (1¢) per gallon above the rate of tax levied in the adjoining state.

(2) Further, no existing city or incorporated town, the corporate limits of which did not on August 1, 1941, or planned community, the limits of which did not on May 18, 1965, extend to within two (2) miles of the state line, shall take advantage of such border rate.

(3) Additionally, no tax is imposed upon or in respect to the transactions exempt from taxation under § 26-55-207.

(4) The tax on motor fuel sold from any establishment adjacent to a federal interstate highway and within one (1) mile of a state line shall be at the rate of tax levied in the adjoining state but not exceed the rate levied in this subchapter.

(b) Whenever any bridge spanning a river where the state line is in the center of the main channel of the river as defined and subject to the provisions of subsection (a) of this section shall have been or shall be abandoned, redesigned, relocated, or otherwise changed so that areas previously within eight hundred feet (800') of the Arkansas terminal of a bridge spanning a river where the state line is in the center of the main channel of the river shall no longer be in whole or in part within eight hundred feet (800') of the Arkansas terminal of such bridge, then the tax on motor fuel sold within eight hundred feet (800') of the Arkansas terminal of that bridge prior to its abandonment, redesign, relocation, or other change shall continue to be fixed on the same basis as if no such abandonment, redesign, relocation, or other change of the Arkansas terminal of the bridge had been made or taken place.

(c) Any distributor or dealer of motor fuel who shall sell and deliver any motor fuel within any border rate tax area, except as provided in subsection (a) of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum of not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500) or be imprisoned in the county jail for not to exceed thirty (30) days, or be both so fined and imprisoned.

(d) This section shall apply to abandonments, redesign, relocation, and other changes of bridges made both before and after the passage of this section.

Constitutionality.

Acts 1931, No. 63 was not unconstitutional as granting special privileges or immunities nor as abridging the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States. Bollinger v. Watson, 187 Ark. 1044, 63 S.W.2d 642 (1933) (decision under prior law).

This section was held not void on ground it conflicted with § 26-55-230, which contains the only provisions for computation and collection of the tax and there is no provision in the law whereby it may be determined how much fuel has been sold and delivered into the tanks of auto owners' vehicles and how much was sold otherwise, since, under § 26-55-204, rules and regulations may be prescribed requiring dealers to report how much gasoline was sold by them under conditions not permissible at the preferential rate. Hardin v. Croom, 203 Ark. 519, 157 S.W.2d 520 (1942).

Construction.

When all of this section is read together, it appears clear that the legislative intent was to allow border dealers a preferential rate only in the circumstances stated. Hardin v. Croom, 203 Ark. 519, 157 S.W.2d 520 (1942).

Incorporated Towns.

Gasoline dealers in a town bordering on the state line and incorporated since the passage of act were held not entitled to exemption provided by Acts 1935, No. 147. Wiseman v. Omaha, 192 Ark. 718, 94 S.W.2d 116 (1936) (decision under prior law).

In suit to enjoin collection of motor vehicle fuel tax sold within town at a rate in excess of that provided by the laws of bordering state, exclusion of testimony that town, which was incorporated, included a strip of land a quarter of a mile wide and four miles long, that its land was agricultural, timber land, and bluff land and seven-eighths thereof was uninhabited except for isolated farm houses was error, since, under those facts, order of incorporation of the town would be void ab initio and subject to collateral attack. McCarroll v. Arnold, 199 Ark. 1125, 137 S.W.2d 921 (1940) (decision under prior law).

In suit to restrain collection of state taxes on sales of gasoline within corporate limits of border town, evidence justified trial court's holding that agricultural and timber lands included in the corporate limits were not needed for urban purposes nor intended to be used for urban purposes and that incorporation was void. Arnold v. McCarroll, 200 Ark. 1094, 143 S.W.2d 35 (1940) (decision under prior law).

Where single purpose actuating those who enlarged the territorial area of border town by embracing a narrow strip extending to within state boundary was to provide, by technical means, a method by which gasoline dealers might account for the equivalent of lower tax charged in adjoining state, citizen of state, after Attorney General had ruled in favor of state's view that only lesser rate should be charged, was entitled to bring suit against the state and to enjoin it from collecting only the lesser tax as charged in the adjoining state. Park v. Hardin, 203 Ark. 1135, 160 S.W.2d 501 (1942).

26-55-211. Border tax rate applicable within corporate boundaries.

(a) Whenever any territory included within the boundaries of any city, incorporated town, or planned community in this state is included within the border tax rate on motor fuel, as provided for in § 26-55-210, or by any other law of this state governing the border area tax rate on motor fuel, the same rate of tax on motor fuel that applies in the border tax area of the city, incorporated town, or planned community shall also apply to all sales of motor fuel within the boundaries of the city, incorporated town, or planned community.

(b) Except in a city bordering a state line that is the main channel of the Mississippi River, the provisions of this section shall apply only to that territory included within the limits of such city, incorporated town, or planned community on July 1, 2001, and shall not apply to territory added to or annexed to the city, incorporated town, or planned community after July 1, 2001.

Case Notes

Constitutionality.

Constitutionality.

The classification in Acts 1997, No. 727, § 2, that limited the application of this section only to border cities along the Mississippi River, a small portion of the state, was not rationally related to the purpose of the legislation, which was to assist certain cities compete with other cities; further, Acts 1997, No. 727, § 2, is clearly local and special legislation enacted in violation of Ark. Const. Amend. 14. Weiss v. Geisbauer, 363 Ark. 508, 215 S.W.3d 628 (2005).

26-55-212. Border tax rate areas — Use of auxiliary fuel tanks.

(a) Any consumer of motor fuel who has purchased motor fuel within a border rate area and has obtained delivery of the motor fuel into a storage tank shall not thereafter deliver any such motor fuel into an auxiliary tank attached to any motor vehicle and shall only use such motor fuel in propelling a motor vehicle as has been delivered directly from a storage tank into the standard fuel tank of a motor vehicle.

(b) As used in this section, "standard fuel tank" means the fuel tank attached to the motor vehicle by the original manufacturer of the motor vehicle, except that it shall exclude any auxiliary fuel tank of a motor vehicle even if attached to a motor vehicle by the original manufacturer thereof.

(c) Any consumer who violates this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be fined in any sum of not less than fifty dollars ($50.00) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500) or be imprisoned in the county jail for not to exceed thirty (30) days, or be both so fined and imprisoned.

Constitutionality.

This section was held not void on ground that it was in restraint of trade for the reason the act imposed no limitation upon the amount of fuel which any purchaser might buy but only upon the amount which might be bought at a single purchase at a reduced rate. Hardin v. Croom, 203 Ark. 519, 157 S.W.2d 520 (1942).

Provision of this section requiring gasoline to be delivered into standard tank was held not violative of the Constitution in granting certain citizens rights denied to others in that owners of vehicles having larger tanks may buy more motor fuel than owners of smaller tanks. Hardin v. Croom, 203 Ark. 519, 157 S.W.2d 520 (1942).

Administration written request to be released and discharged.

(2) However, the request shall not operate to relieve, release, or discharge the surety from any liability already accrued, or which shall accrue, before the expiration of the sixty-day period.

(b) (1) The director shall promptly on receipt of notice of such request notify the distributor who furnished the bond, and unless the distributor on or before the expiration of such sixty-day period files with the director a new bond with a surety company satisfactory to the director in the amount and form provided in § 26-55-222, the director shall immediately cancel the license of the distributor.

26-55-230. Computation and payment of tax.

(a) At the time of filing of each monthly report with the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration, each distributor shall pay to the director the full amount of the motor fuel tax for the next-preceding calendar month, which shall be computed as follows:

(1) From the sum of the total number of gallons of motor fuel received, reduced by the total number of gallons received upon which the tax has been paid as evidenced by the itemized statement filed pursuant to § 26-55-229(c)(8) by the distributor within the State of Arkansas during the next-preceding calendar month, plus the total number of gallons of motor fuel deducted on any previous monthly report of the distributor under the provisions of subdivisions (a)(1)(C) and (D) of this section with respect to which the tax payable under this subchapter remains unpaid, shall be made the following deductions:

(A) The total number of gallons of motor fuel received by the distributor within the State of Arkansas and sold or otherwise disposed of during the next-preceding calendar month as set forth in § 26-55-207;

(B) The total number of gallons of motor fuel received by the distributor within the State of Arkansas and sold or otherwise disposed of during the next-preceding calendar month as set forth in § 26-55-210;

(C) The total number of gallons of motor fuel which, during any previous calendar month, was received, within the meaning of § 26-55-202(13)(A) or § 26-55-202(13)(B), by being placed in a tank but had not been withdrawn therefrom at the close of the next-preceding calendar month;

(D) The total number of gallons of motor fuel received during any previous calendar month, within the meaning of § 26-55-202(13)(A), by being placed in a tank, which was thereafter delivered by the person receiving it to a common carrier pipeline for shipment or delivery to a point in Arkansas, but had not been, at the close of the next-preceding calendar month, delivered by the pipeline at its destination, even though because of being mingled in the common carrier pipeline system with other motor fuel, the motor fuel to be delivered to the point of destination is not the identical motor fuel delivered by the shipper to the common carrier pipeline;

(E) (i) That number of gallons of motor fuel lost due to fire, flood, storm, theft, or other cause beyond the distributor's control, other than through evaporation.

(ii) The deduction for the loss may be included in the report filed for the month in which the loss occurred or in any subsequent report filed within a period of one (1) year; and

(F) (i) That number of gallons of motor fuel which shall be equal to three percent (3%) of the first one million gallons (1,000,000 gals.), and no allowance for the remaining gallons of the total number of gallons of motor fuel received by the distributor during the next-preceding calendar month, less the total number of gallons deducted under subdivisions (a)(1)(A)-(E) of this section.

(ii) It is determined by the General Assembly that three percent (3%) of the first one million gallons (1,000,000 gals.) and no allowance for the remaining gallons so received is the actual and average amount of loss resulting from evaporation, shrinkage, and the losses resulting from unknown causes irrespective of the amount thereof, and the cost of collection;

(2) The number of gallons remaining after the deductions set forth in subdivision (a)(1) of this section have been made shall be multiplied by the rate of tax under § 26-55-205; and

(3) The remaining number of gallons computed on a volumetric basis shall be multiplied by the rate provided by law in the adjoining state, such rate not to exceed the rate provided by § 26-55-205, and the resulting figure, together with the figure obtained in subdivision (a)(2) of this section, shall be the total amount of motor fuel tax due for the next-preceding calendar month.

(b) In reporting and computing this tax, distributors shall adjust all volume measurements of motor fuel to a temperature of sixty degrees Fahrenheit (60° F).

(c) The director by regulation shall provide for the payment and collection of the motor fuel tax when it is due but which under the terms of this subchapter is not required to be remitted by a distributor.

In General.

The term "expenditures," contained in Ark. Const., Art. 19, § 12 does not include the shrinkage allowance permitted to motor fuel distributors. Snyder v. Martin, 305 Ark. 128, 806 S.W.2d 358 (1991).

Collections.

Filling station operator not licensed as distributor was not entitled to recover from distributor retainage allowed such distributor on taxes collected on motor fuel shipped to filling station on theory that distributor was unjustly enriched. Whiteley v. Wilcox Oil Co., 225 Ark. 293, 280 S.W.2d 903 (1955).

Credits.

That certain gasoline was destroyed, or lost by fire, after tax was paid, did not entitle manufacturer or dealer to credit upon new shipments for amount of tax paid upon destroyed gasoline. Barnsdall Ref. Corp. v. Ford, 194 Ark. 658, 109 S.W.2d 151 (1937) (decision under prior law).

Deductions.

Acts 1929, No. 146 did not authorize the reduction or exemption of one percent from tank truck shipments. Barnsdall Ref. Corp. v. Ford, 194 Ark. 658, 109 S.W.2d 151 (1937) (decision under prior law).

A wholesale dealer in gasoline received in this state by barge was not entitled to deduction from gallonage tax for evaporation loss on gasoline actually delivered to it in this state. Terminal Oil Co. v. McCarroll, 201 Ark. 830, 147 S.W.2d 352 (1941), overruled in part, Foote's Dixie Dandy, Inc. v. McHenry, 270 Ark. 816, 607 S.W.2d 323, 21 A.L.R.4th 565 (1980) (decision under prior law).

The deduction permitted by statute for "shrinkage allowance" is not an appropriation of public money within the framework of Ark. Const., Art. 19, § 12. It is merely a deduction, nothing more. Snyder v. Martin, 305 Ark. 128, 806 S.W.2d 358 (1991).

26-55-231. Failure to report or pay tax — Revocation or cancellation of license.

(a) (1) If a distributor at any time files a false monthly report of the data or information required by this subchapter or fails, refuses, or neglects to file the monthly report required by this subchapter, or to pay the full amount of the tax as required by this subchapter, the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration may give notice to the distributor of an intention to revoke the license of the distributor.

(2) The distributor shall be entitled to a period of five (5) days after receipt of the notice from the director, within which to apply for a hearing before the director on the question of having the distributor's license revoked. The director shall grant a hearing at such time and place as the director may designate of which the distributor shall have five (5) days' advance notice in writing.

(3) After the hearing, at which time the distributor shall be entitled to present evidence and argument of counsel, the director shall decide whether the distributor's license shall be revoked.

(4) (A) Upon the issuance of an order revoking the license, the distributor shall be entitled to an appeal to the circuit court in the county where the distributor may do business where the question shall be tried de novo.

(B) An appeal shall lie from the circuit court of that county as in other cases provided by law.

(5) If the distributor fails to apply for a hearing within the time set out in subdivision (a)(2) of this section, the director may forthwith cancel the license of the distributor and notify the distributor of the cancellation by registered mail to the last known address of the distributor appearing on the files of the director. The director shall also notify the surety company on the distributor's bond in like manner.

(b) (1) Upon receipt of a written request from any distributor licensed under this subchapter to cancel the license issued to the distributor, the director shall have the power to cancel the license effective sixty (60) days from the date of the receipt of the written request.

(2) However, no such license shall be cancelled upon the request of any distributor unless and until the distributor prior to the date of the cancellation shall have paid to the State of Arkansas all excise taxes payable under the laws of the State of Arkansas, together with any and all penalties, interest, and fines accruing under any of the provisions of this subchapter, and unless and until the distributor shall have surrendered to the director the license certificate theretofore issued to the distributor.

(c) If upon investigation the director ascertains and finds that any person to whom a license has been issued under this subchapter is no longer engaged in the receipt, use, or sale of motor fuel as a distributor and has not been so engaged for a period of sixty (60) days, the director shall have the power to cancel the license by giving the person thirty (30) days' notice of the cancellation mailed to the last known address of the person, in which event the license certificate theretofore issued to the person shall be surrendered to the director.

(d) In the event that the license of any distributor shall be cancelled by the director as provided in this section and in the further event that the distributor shall have paid to the State of Arkansas all excise taxes due and payable by it under this subchapter, together with any and all penalties accruing under any of the provisions of this subchapter, then the director shall cancel and surrender the bond filed by the distributor.

26-55-232. Failure to report or pay taxes promptly — Penalties.

(a) When any distributor fails to file its monthly report with the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration on or before the time fixed in this subchapter for the filing thereof or when the distributor fails to submit the data outlined in §§ 26-55-229 and 26-55-230 in the monthly report, or when the distributor fails to pay to the director the amount of excise taxes due to the State of Arkansas when the excise taxes are payable, the distributor shall forfeit two percent (2%) of the amount due if the taxes are not remitted or paid within ten (10) days after the due date, and an additional eight percent (8%) shall be forfeited if the taxes are not remitted or paid on or before the thirtieth day after the taxes become due.

(b) (1) If the tax and penalty are not paid within sixty (60) days after the tax and penalty become due, then the license of the distributor shall be suspended.

(2) Thereafter the tax and penalty shall bear interest at the rate of one percent (1%) per month until paid.

(3) At the end of the sixty (60) days, the director shall notify the bonding company of the delinquency and declare the bond forfeited and shall certify the delinquent account to the Office of Revenue Legal Counsel of the Revenue Division of the Department of Finance and Administration for collection.

(c) However, when failure to pay the tax or file the sworn reports required by this subchapter within the time prescribed by law or when errors or omissions in the reports or payments are the result of mistake or arise from circumstances beyond the control of the licensed distributor and the delinquency or inaccuracy was unavoidable and devoid of intent to evade the tax, the director in his or her discretion may waive the additional eight percent (8%) penalty and the interest prescribed in this section.

(d) Deposit in the United States mails, with postage prepaid of the report or remittance in payment of the taxes, in sufficient time to reach the director in the ordinary course of the mails on or before the twenty-fifth day of the month, shall be deemed compliance with this section, even though the report or remittance in fact shall not reach the director until after the twenty-fifth day of the month.

26-55-233. Failure to file report — Assessment and collection of tax.

(a) Whenever any distributor neglects or refuses to make and file any report for any calendar month as required by this subchapter or files an incorrect or fraudulent report, then the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration shall:

(1) Determine upon such information as may be available to the director the number of gallons of motor fuel with respect to which the distributor has incurred liability under the motor fuel tax laws of the State of Arkansas for any particular month; and

(2) Fix the amount of taxes and penalties payable to the director by the distributor under this subchapter accordingly.

(b) (1) In any action or proceeding for the collection of the motor fuel tax or any penalties or interest imposed in connection therewith, an assessment by the director of the amount of tax due or interest or penalties due to the state shall constitute prima facie evidence of the claim of the state and the burden of proof shall be upon the distributor to show that the assessment was incorrect and contrary to law.

(2) However, no assessment shall be made for any month after the expiration of three (3) years from the date set for the filing of the monthly return, except that, in case of a false or fraudulent report with intent to evade tax or of failure to file a report, assessment may be made at any time.

Case Notes

Construction.
Classification.

Construction.

Acts 1941, No. 383, § 6; 1943, No. 188, § 1, were not in conflict with § 26-55-205, which levies a tax on all motor fuel sold or used in the state or purchased for sale or use in the state. McLeod v. Santa Fe Trail Transp. Co., 205 Ark. 225, 168 S.W.2d 413 (1943) (decision under prior law).

Classification.

Classification of motor carriers, motor buses, and other motor vehicles operated for hire as opposed to all other motor vehicles was not an arbitrary classification. McLeod v. Santa Fe Trail Transp. Co., 205 Ark. 225, 168 S.W.2d 413 (1943) (decision under prior law).

In alternate or optional methods of determining calculation of tax allowed to operators of motor carriers, motor buses, and other motor vehicles operated for hire, provided they operate on a regular schedule, provision as to operation on regular schedule, as opposed to not operating on a regular schedule, was a fair classification. McLeod v. Santa Fe Trail Transp. Co., 205 Ark. 225, 168 S.W.2d 413 (1943) (decision under prior law).

26-55-703. Exemptions.

The tax levied by this subchapter shall not apply to gasoline imported into this state in the fuel supply tanks, including any additional containers, of motor vehicles being used solely for noncommercial purposes if the aggregate capacity of the fuel supply tanks, including any additional containers, does not exceed thirty gallons (30 gals.).

History. Acts 1953, No. 112, § 2; 1965 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 41, § 4; 1967, No. 356, § 1; A.S.A. 1947, § 75-1150.

Case Notes

Applicability.

Applicability.

Twenty-gallon exemption applied only when the motor fuel was actually measured at the port of entry and actually measured at the port of exit, and it did not apply when the alternate or optional method of determining the tax was used by the operator. McLeod v. Santa Fe Trail Transp. Co., 205 Ark. 225, 168 S.W.2d 413 (1943) (decision under prior law).

(2) This marking shall be a nontransferable marking which shall be renewed on an annual basis.

(b) Applications for gasoline, diesel, and liquefied petroleum gas users' permits must be on a form prescribed and furnished by the director, to include such relevant information as deemed necessary by the director, for the proper administration of this subchapter.

(b) If it shall be determined by the quarterly reports filed with the director that the interstate user has used more gallons of gasoline in this state than the gasoline tax due thereon has been paid, the interstate user shall remit to the director an excise tax of eighteen and one-half cents ($18\frac{1}{2}\text{¢}$) per gallon on the gasoline.

(c) Interstate users may not take credit on reports at a tax rate in excess of that actually paid.

(d) (1) For the purpose of determining whether a licensed interstate user owes tax or is entitled to a credit or refund, the licensed interstate user shall determine the average miles per gallon of fuel used. The average miles per gallon shall be determined by dividing the total miles traveled in all jurisdictions by the total gallons of fuel used in all jurisdictions.

(2) The licensed interstate user shall then determine the total amount of fuel used within the State of Arkansas by dividing the total number of miles traveled within the State of Arkansas by the average miles per gallon.

(3) The taxpayer's tax liability shall be calculated by multiplying the number of gallons of fuel used within the State of Arkansas by eighteen and one-half cents ($18\frac{1}{2}\text{¢}$) per gallon. A taxpayer shall be entitled to credits against his or her tax liability for tax-paid fuel purchased within the State of Arkansas.

(e) For any licensed interstate user who fails to maintain adequate mileage or fuel records as required by § 26-55-719 for the purpose of determining the amount the interstate user owes the State of Arkansas for tax on motor fuel used in this state as provided in this section, the number of gallons of motor fuel used in this state shall be determined by an assessment based on the following mileage factors per gallon of motor fuel as compared to the appropriate class of vehicle set out in subsection (f) of this section.

(f) (1) For the purposes of this section:

(A) All automobiles, except buses, with a capacity of less than eight (8) passengers shall be deemed to be Class A vehicles;

(B) All truck-type vehicles, except buses, with a factory rating and gross loaded weight of less than twenty-two thousand five hundred pounds (22,500 lbs.) shall be deemed to be Class B vehicles;

(C) All other vehicles, except buses, with a factory rating in excess of twenty-two thousand five hundred pounds (22,500 lbs.), or whose total gross loaded weight exceeds twenty-two thousand five hundred pounds (22,500 lbs.), shall be deemed to be Class C vehicles; and

(D) All buses rated and licensed as such shall be deemed to be Class D vehicles.

(2) The mileage factor per gallon of motor fuel for:

(A) Class A vehicles shall be twelve (12) miles;

(B) Class B vehicles shall be eight (8) miles;

(C) Class C vehicles shall be five (5) miles; and

(D) Class D vehicles shall be six (6) miles.

(3) These mileage factors shall be utilized in conjunction with the Arkansas mileage as determined through an audit and based upon the best records available regardless of source.

(g) (1) For the purposes of determining the amount any unlicensed or unbonded user owes the State of Arkansas for tax on motor fuel used in this state, only the above mileage factors per gallon of motor fuel for the applicable vehicle shall be utilized.

(2) If a quarterly report of an interstate user results in a net credit, the interstate user may elect to have the credit carried forward and applied against the motor fuel tax due for the succeeding eight (8) quarters or until the credit is completely used, whichever occurs first. In the alternative, a taxpayer who is entitled to a net credit on his or her quarterly fuel use tax report may elect to have the amount of credit refunded to him or her.

(3) An interstate user who had a total tax liability for motor fuel taxes during the previous calendar year of less than one hundred dollars ($100) upon application to the director may obtain permission to report the interstate user's motor fuel tax liability on an annual basis. The annual report shall be due on or before the last day of the month following the end of each fiscal year.

(h) The director shall prescribe the appropriate forms necessary for the administration of this subchapter. The director may make appropriate rules and regulations necessary to ensure the accurate reporting of mileage traveled and gallons used and purchased by the licensed interstate users.

Effective Dates. Acts 1965 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 40, ch. 4, § 7: June 10, 1965. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the existing highway user tax laws of this State are inadequate to provide sufficient funds to properly construct, reconstruct and maintain the State highways, county roads and city streets of this State; that the existing investment of millions of dollars in public roads, streets and bridges is in jeopardy if additional funds are not provided; that increased motor vehicle traffic poses a serious threat to public safety unless immediate steps are taken to provide a more adequate and better maintained system of public roads, streets and bridges; that the existing Special Motor Fuels Tax Law of this State is not conducive to proper enforcement, and immediate steps must be taken to provide for a more enforceable law in order to avoid tax evasion; and, that the immediate passage of this Act is necessary to correct the aforementioned circumstances. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1967, No. 199, §§ 2, 3: July 1, 1967. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that a limitation period for collection of taxes, penalties and interest is necessary to the economic welfare of suppliers, dealers and users of special motor fuel in this State; that it is an undue burden and hardship on such suppliers, dealers and users to maintain records for an indefinite period, and that this Act is immediately necessary to establish a limitation on the collection of such taxes and to thereby remove an undue burden on such suppliers, dealers and users. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall take effect on the date of its passage and approval." Approved Mar. 6, 1967.

Acts 1987, No. 985, § 17, as revised by Acts 1987 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 20, § 7: Aug. 1, 1987. Acts 1987, No. 985, § 17 provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the State of Arkansas is in serious danger of losing revenues which are necessary to provide adequate funding for essential needs of the citizens of this State and the provisions of this Act are necessary to avoid a substantial reduction in State revenues. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act, being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect on and after July 1, 1987." However, Acts 1987 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 20, § 7 provided: "Act 985 of 1987 shall not be in effect on and after July 1, 1987, as stated in Section 17 of Act 985 of 1987 but shall be in full force and effect on and after August 1, 1987."

Acts 1987 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 20, § 10: June 12, 1987. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that, for the purpose of administering the distillate special fuel tax to increase revenues necessary for essential services required by the citizens of this State, it is necessary to remove the requirement of an exemption certificate for purchasers of distillate special fuel for off-road use. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1991, No. 688, § 10: Mar. 21, 1991. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that some taxpayers are not properly completing and timely filing tax returns; that these failures create an administrative burden upon the Department of Finance and Administration; and that this act is designed to impose a fifty dollar ($50) penalty for failure to timely file returns, even if no tax is due, or if returns are not properly completed.

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1993, No. 1026, § 9: Apr. 12, 1993. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that confusion exists among wholesalers of diesel fuel with respect to the reporting of inventories of diesel fuel for taxation purposes pursuant to the ‘Special Motor Fuels Tax Law’ and as a consequence diesel fuel tax revenues may be due the state at an earlier date than some wholesalers are remitting them. It is also found that such fuel tax revenues are greatly needed by the state in a timely manner as contemplated by the current diesel fuel tax laws in order that improvements may be expeditiously made to the State Highway System, the county roads, and the municipal streets. It is further found that the amendments contained in this act clarifying the ‘Special Motor Fuels Tax Law’ are necessary to correct the aforementioned problems. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1995, No. 1160, § 46: Apr. 11, 1995. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that certain changes are necessary to the Arkansas tax laws; that these changes are necessary immediately in order to maintain the efficient administration of the Arkansas income tax laws; and that this act is necessary to effectuate that purpose. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 2007, No. 87, § 8: July 1, 2007: Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly that due to sharp increases in oil prices, traditional fuel taxation has become a large percentage of the cost of production for Arkansas farmers thereby creating burdensome price increases for Arkansas consumers; that a change in the manner in which tax is paid on dyed diesel fuel is necessary to reduce the cost of production for Arkansas farmers; and that this act is necessary in order to provide tax relief as soon as reasonably possible. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2007.”

“Whereas, Section 11 of Act 40 of the First Extraordinary Session of 1965 provides that in determining whether a distillate special fuel user is entitled to a refund or owes the state tax on distillate special fuels for the monthly reporting period, the number of gallons of distillate special fuel used in the State by such user shall be determined upon the basis of five (5) miles per gallon of fuel consumed; and

“Whereas, the Arkansas Supreme Court, in the case of Larey, Commr. v. Continental Southern Lines, Inc., et al (October 23, 1967) held that the prescribed method of computing the tax due on distillate special fuel by interstate users results in discrimination against certain interstate users and in favor of similar intrastate users and is therefore unconstitutional; and

“Whereas, it is believed that legislation is immediately necessary to prescribe the method of computing such tax liability or tax credit;

“Now, therefore”

Effective Dates. Acts 1965 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 40, ch. 4, § 7: June 10, 1965. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the existing highway user tax laws of this State are inadequate to provide sufficient funds to properly construct, reconstruct and maintain the State highways, county roads and city streets of this State; that the existing investment of millions of dollars in public roads, streets and bridges is in jeopardy if additional funds are not provided; that increased motor vehicle traffic poses a serious threat to public safety unless immediate steps are taken to provide a more adequate and better maintained system of public roads, streets and bridges; that the existing Special Motor Fuels Tax Law of this State is not conducive to proper enforcement, and immediate steps must be taken to provide for a more enforceable law in order to avoid tax evasion; and, that the immediate passage of this Act is necessary to correct the aforementioned circumstances. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1967, No. 138, § 2: July 1, 1967.

Acts 1967, No. 357, § 12: Mar. 15, 1967. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the laws of this State levying a tax upon special motor fuels and prescribing the procedure for collecting the same are confusing and difficult of enforcement and that this Act is immediately necessary to clarify the laws levying the special motor fuel tax in order that said tax may be more effectively and efficiently enforced. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in effect from the date of its passage and approval.”

Acts 1973, No. 445, § 26: July 1, 1973. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that immediate steps must be taken to provide additional State funds, and to allocate federal revenue sharing funds, for the construction of State highways which are essential to the public health, safety, and welfare and that the immediate passage of this Act is necessary in order that fiscal officials of the State may make plans to prepare for the collection of additional highway revenues effective from and after July 1, 1973. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1973.”

Acts 1977, No. 51, § 5: July 1, 1977. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Seventy-First General Assembly, that the Constitution of the State of Arkansas prohibits the appropriation of funds for more than a two (2) year period; that the effectiveness of this Act on July 1, 1977 is essential to the operation of the agency for which the appropriations in this Act are provided, and that in the event of an extension of the Regular Session, the delay in the effective date of this Act beyond July 1, 1977 could work irreparable harm upon the proper administration and providing of essential governmental programs. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1977.”

Acts 1977, No. 354, § 5: July 1, 1977. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the State of Arkansas is in need of additional funds for the construction and maintenance of the State Highway System, the county roads, and municipal streets of this State; that the present laws governing the rate of tax to be computed upon the use of highways in this State with respect to the class of motor carriers covered by the provisions of this Act, do not adequately apportion to each class of user a mileage factor reasonably approximating the actual miles per gallon of fuel used in this State, and that by the enactment of this Act the State of Arkansas will obtain its fair and reasonable share of taxes due from said classes of motor carriers at the existing rates of tax, and will also gain the benefits of penalty for failure of motor carriers to comply with the motor fuel and distillate motor fuel tax laws in reporting and paying taxes upon which Arkansas motor fuel or distillate special fuel taxes have not been collected, and that the immediate passage of this Act is necessary to correct this situation. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1977.”

Acts 1979, No. 437, § 8: July 1, 1979. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that existing highway user revenue sources do not provide for the adequate maintenance, repair, construction and reconstruction of state highways, county roads and city streets; that the motor vehicular traffic on the public highways and streets of this State makes it immediately necessary that additional funds be provided in order to finance adequate highway, road and street maintenance and construction programs; that the continued economic expansion and growth of this State will be jeopardized if an adequate system of public roads and streets is not provided; and that only by the immediate passage of this Act may such vitally needed additional funds be provided to solve the aforementioned problems. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after July first of 1979.”

Acts 1979, No. 764, § 5: July 1, 1979.

Acts 1980 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 46, § 2: Jan. 30, 1980. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that because of the increased tax liabilities accrued by interstate users of distillate special fuels through the lengthening of their tax reporting period from monthly to quarterly by Act 764 of 1979, the maximum surety bond required of interstate users may not adequately protect the state from revenue losses, it is necessary to the public peace, health, and safety that the maximum amount of such bonds be raised without delay. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1983, No. 830, § 5: Mar. 25, 1983. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the orderly administration of the motor fuel tax laws is essential for the effective collection of these taxes; that some uncertainty exists regarding the sale of fuels to the United States and, that this Act is necessary to clarify this situation. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1987, No. 803, § 14: July 1, 1987. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that this Act makes various changes in the motor fuel tax law and the special motor fuel tax law; that such changes should go into effect at the beginning of the next fiscal year; and that unless this emergency clause is adopted, this Act may not go into effect until after the beginning of the next fiscal year. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after July 1, 1987.”

Acts 1987, No. 985, § 17, as revised by Acts 1987 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 20, § 7: Aug. 1, 1987. Acts 1987, No. 985, § 17 provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the State of Arkansas is in serious danger of losing revenues which are necessary to provide adequate funding for essential needs of the citizens of this State and the provisions of this Act are necessary to avoid a substantial reduction in State revenues. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act, being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect on and after July 1, 1987.” However, Acts 1987 (1st Ex.

Sess.), No. 20, § 7 provided: "Act 985 of 1987 shall not be in effect on and after July 1, 1987, as stated in Section 17 of Act 985 of 1987 but shall be in full force and effect on and after August 1, 1987."

Acts 1987 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 20, § 10: June 12, 1987. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that, for the purpose of administering the distillate special fuel tax to increase revenues necessary for essential services required by the citizens of this State, it is necessary to remove the requirement of an exemption certificate for purchasers of distillate special fuel for off-road use. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1991, No. 219, § 10: Feb. 22, 1991. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that many of the highways, roads and streets in this state are operationally inadequate and immediate steps must be taken to provide additional funds for the maintenance, construction and reconstruction of such highways, roads and streets; that proper maintenance, construction and reconstruction of such highways, roads and streets is essential to the public health, welfare and safety of the people of this state and that only by the immediate passage of this act may such vitally needed additional funds be provided to solve the aforementioned problems. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after the first day of the first month immediately following its passage and approval."

Acts 1991, Nos. 364 and 382, § 9: Mar. 6, 1991. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that many of the highways, roads and streets in this state are operationally inadequate and immediate steps must be taken to provide additional funds for the maintenance, construction and reconstruction of such highways, roads and streets; that proper maintenance, construction, and reconstruction of such highways, roads and streets is essential to the public health, welfare and safety of the people of this state and that only by the immediate passage of this act may such vitally needed additional funds be provided to solve the aforementioned problems. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after the first day of the first month immediately following its passage and approval."

Acts 1993, No. 1026, § 9: Apr. 12, 1993. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that confusion exists among wholesalers of diesel fuel with respect to the reporting of inventories of diesel fuel for taxation purposes pursuant to the 'Special Motor Fuels Tax Law' and as a consequence diesel fuel tax revenues may be due the state at an earlier date than some wholesalers are remitting them. It is also found that such fuel tax revenues are greatly needed by the state in a timely manner as contemplated by the current diesel fuel tax laws in order that improvements may be expeditiously made to the State Highway System, the county roads, and the municipal streets. It is further found that the amendments contained in this act clarifying the 'Special Motor Fuels Tax Law' are necessary to correct the aforementioned problems. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1995, No. 777, § 13: July 1, 1995. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the Eightieth General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that current laws allowing for a refund of tax paid on gasoline used for agricultural purposes is an inefficient and impractical method of providing tax relief to farmers; that current laws collecting motor fuel tax on liquefied petroleum gas based upon a flat fee is inequitable and imposes an undue burden on some taxpayers in this State; that current licensing and bonding requirements on motor fuel and distillate special fuel dealers are unnecessary and contrary to federal law; that this bill is designed to correct each of these deficiencies in current law and this Act should be effective on July 1, 1995. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after July 1, 1995."

Acts 1995, No. 954, § 6: Apr. 6, 1995. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the Eightieth General Assembly that the United States Congress, through the passage of P.L. 103-66, has adopted legislation to curtail the illegal usage of diesel fuel that has not been taxed for federal taxation purposes by requiring the bulk of off-road non taxed diesel fuels be dyed and by requiring the bulk of on-road taxable diesel fuels be undyed; that confusion has arisen in this State due to the federal dyeing requirements and usage of dyed and undyed diesel fuel and Arkansas laws, which are silent in the area of dyed diesel fuels; that the federal government is experiencing success in curtailing the abuse of nontaxable diesel fuels, due to the dyeing requirements, and this State should realize more fuel tax revenues by adopting mechanisms to curtail such abuses with regard to state fuel taxes by adopting similar requirements; that the adoption of such mechanisms will more equitably insure that highway users pay their fair share for the construction, reconstruction and maintenance of highways and bridges in the State, county and municipal highway, road, and street systems; and that the provisions of this Act are essential to the continued operation of State government. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1999, No. 1028, § 9: Apr. 1, 1999. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Eighty-second General Assembly that existing highway user revenue sources do not provide sufficient funds for the necessary maintenance, repair, construction and reconstruction of state highways, county roads and municipal streets; that there is an immediate and urgent need for adequate state highways, county roads and municipal streets; that the continued economic expansion and growth of this state will be jeopardized if an adequate system of state highways, county roads and municipal streets is not provided; and that only by the immediate passage of this act may such vitally needed additional funds be provided to solve these problems. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, it shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, it shall become effective on the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Acts 2005, No. 685, § 4: Mar. 9, 2005. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that there is an immediate need for the construction, reconstruction, and renovation of highways and roads comprising the federal interstate road system within the State of Arkansas; that a construction program cannot be accomplished without the issuance of bonds secured by federal highway assistance payments to finance the program; and that this act is immediately necessary in order to begin the process of facilitating the issuance of bonds. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Acts 2007, No. 87, § 8: July 1, 2007: Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly that due to sharp increases in oil prices, traditional fuel taxation has become a large percentage of the cost of production for Arkansas farmers thereby creating burdensome price increases for Arkansas consumers; that a change in the manner in which tax is paid on dyed diesel fuel is necessary to reduce the cost of production for Arkansas farmers; and that this act is necessary in order to provide tax relief as soon as reasonably possible. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2007.”

Acts 2007, No. 511, § 3: Mar. 27, 2007. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that there is an immediate need for the construction, reconstruction and renovation of highways and roads comprising the U.S. Interstate system within the State of Arkansas and that such a program cannot be accomplished without the issuance of bonds secured by federal highway assistance payments to finance the program. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

26-56-204. Licenses and bonds for suppliers and users, etc., generally.

(a) (1) (A) No person shall commence operations as a supplier, user, or off-road consumer of distillate special fuel without first procuring a license for that purpose from the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration. The license shall be issued and remain in effect until revoked as provided in this section.

(B) (i) Any person holding or applying for a supplier's license after August 1, 1987, shall make an election to operate either as a pipeline importer or first receiver. Once having made an election in writing filed with the director, the election will remain in force until such time as the supplier makes another written election to change the supplier's status.

(ii) The election and any change therein shall take effect on the first month following filing of the election.

(iii) The director may promulgate such forms and regulations as may be necessary to ensure uniformity with federal usage of exemption certificates issued for nonhighway diesel purchases.

(b) (1) Each application for a license or registration as a supplier, user, or off-road consumer of distillate special fuel, and each license or registration, shall have as a condition that the applicant and holder shall comply with the provisions of this subchapter.

(2) (A) Each annual registration as a user or off-road consumer shall have as a further condition that the applicant shall not deliver or permit delivery into the fuel supply tanks of motor vehicles any distillate special fuel which have been purchased tax-free by the applicant.

(B) A taxable use of distillate special fuel purchased tax-free by an applicant for an annual registration as a user or off-road consumer, in addition to the penal provisions prescribed in this subchapter, at the discretion of the director shall forfeit the right of the applicant to purchase distillate special fuel tax-free.

(c) (1) Every supplier shall file with the director a surety bond of not less than one and one-half (1½) times or one hundred fifty percent (150%) of the prior six (6) months average distillate special fuel tax due which is based upon the gallonage of distillate special fuel to be sold or distributed as shown by the application for a license if the applicant has not previously been engaged in the business of a supplier, or as shown by sales for the previous year if the applicant previously has been engaged in such business in this state. However, no bond shall be filed for less than one thousand dollars ($1,000).

(2) If the director deems it necessary to protect the state in the collection of distillate special fuel taxes, the director may require any supplier to post a bond in an amount up to three (3) times or three hundred percent (300%) of the prior six (6) months average distillate special fuel tax due.

(3) (A) However, the director is authorized to waive the posting of bond by any licensed supplier organized and operating under the laws of Arkansas and wholly owned by residents of this state who has been licensed for a period of at least three (3) years and who has not been delinquent in remitting distillate special fuel taxes during the three-year period immediately preceding application by the supplier for waiver of bond.

(B) If any supplier whose bond has been waived by the director as authorized in subdivision (c)(3)(A) of this section, subsequently becomes delinquent in remitting distillate special fuel taxes to the director, the director may require that the supplier post a bond in the amount required in this section, and the supplier shall not be eligible to petition for a waiver of bond for a period of three (3) years thereafter.

(d) (1) Each application of an interstate user for a license shall be accompanied by a surety bond of a surety company authorized to do business in this state, in favor of the director, satisfactory to the director, and in an amount to be fixed by the director of not less than one thousand dollars ($1,000) nor more than fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), guaranteeing the payment of any and all taxes, penalties, interest, attorney's fees, and costs levied by, accrued, or accruing under this subchapter.

(2) Any violation of this subchapter shall be cause for revocation of any license issued under this subchapter.

(e) (1) The bond or bonds shall be issued by a surety company qualified to do business in Arkansas, which shall be executed by the supplier or interstate user as the principal obligor and shall be made payable to the State of Arkansas as the obligee.

(2) The bond shall be conditioned upon the prompt filing of true reports and the payment by the supplier or interstate user to the director of any and all distillate special fuel taxes which are levied or imposed by the State of Arkansas, together with any and all penalties and interest thereon, and generally upon faithful compliance with the provisions of this subchapter.

(f) (1) In the event that liability upon the bond filed pursuant to this section by the supplier or interstate user with the director shall be discharged or reduced, whether by judgment rendered, payment made, or otherwise, or if in the opinion of the director any surety on the bond shall have become unsatisfactory or unacceptable, then the director may require the filing of a new bond with a satisfactory surety in the same form and amount; failing which, the director shall immediately cancel the license of the supplier or interstate user.

(2) If a new bond shall be furnished, the director shall cancel the bonds for which the new bond shall be substituted.

(g) In the event that upon a hearing of which the supplier or interstate user shall be given five (5) days' notice in writing, the director shall decide that the amount of the existing bond is insufficient to ensure payment to the State of Arkansas of the amount of the tax and any penalties and interest for which said supplier or interstate user is or may at any time become liable, then the supplier or interstate user upon written demand of the director shall immediately file an additional bond in the same manner and form and with a surety company thereon approved by the director in any amount determined by the director to be necessary to secure at all times the payment to the State of Arkansas of all taxes, penalties, and interest due under the provisions of this section, failing which, the director shall immediately cancel the license of the supplier or interstate user.

(h) (1) Any surety on any bond furnished as provided in this section shall be released and discharged from any and all liability to the State of Arkansas accruing on the bond after the expiration of sixty (60) days from the date upon which a surety shall have lodged with the director written request to be released and discharged. However, the request shall not operate to relieve, release, or discharge the surety from any liability already accrued or which shall accrue before the expiration of the sixty-day period.

(2) Upon receipt of notice of such request, the director shall promptly notify the supplier or interstate user who furnished the bond, and unless the supplier or interstate user on or before the expiration of the sixty-day period files with the director a new bond with a surety company satisfactory to the director in the amount and form as provided in this section, the director shall immediately cancel the license of that supplier or interstate user.

(3) If a new bond shall be furnished as provided in this section, the director shall cancel the bond for which the new bond shall be substituted.

(i) In lieu of furnishing a bond or bonds executed by a surety company as provided in this section, any supplier or interstate user may furnish a bond or other instrument in a form prescribed by the director of equal, full amount to the amount of the bond or bonds required by this section, which will provide security or payment of all amounts as described in this section and in compliance with all provisions of this subchapter.

(j) (1) A supplier may operate under his or her supplier's license as a dealer or as a user without securing a separate license, but he or she shall be subject to all other conditions, requirements, and liabilities imposed by this subchapter upon a dealer or a user.

(2) A licensed supplier, but not a dealer, may use distillate special fuel in motor vehicles owned or operated by him or her without securing a separate license as a user, subject to all conditions, requirements, and liabilities imposed herein upon a user.

(k) (1) Any violation of this subchapter shall be cause for revocation of any license issued pursuant to this subchapter.

(2) (A) Should his or her license be revoked, any supplier or user may bring an action against the director in the circuit court of the county of his or her domicile within fifteen (15) days of the date of revocation to determine whether or not the supplier or user has in fact violated any of the provisions of this chapter.

(B) If the circuit court determines that the provisions of the law have been violated by the supplier or user, it shall affirm the director's action in revoking the license.

26-56-209. Records required — Invoices — Falsification of records.

(a) Every person required by law to secure a license under any motor fuel or distillate special fuel tax law shall keep records in the time and manner and subject to inspection and audit as required by the Arkansas Tax Procedure Act, § 26-18-101 et seq., for each place of business or place of storage in Arkansas, including a complete record of all distillate special fuel purchased or received and sold, delivered, or used by him or her showing for each purchase, receipt, sale, delivery, or use:

(1) The date;

(2) The name and address of the seller or of the persons from whom received, and if sold or delivered in bulk quantities, the name and address of the purchaser or recipient;

(3) An accurate record of the number of gallons of each product used for taxable purposes with quantities measured by a meter; and

(4) Inventories of distillate special fuel on hand at the end of each month at bulk storage facilities.

(b) (1) For each bulk sale and delivery of distillate special fuel, whether or not subject to tax under this subchapter, the record required shall include an invoice with serial numbers printed thereon showing the name and address of both the supplier and the purchaser, and the complete information set out in subsection (a) of this section for each such sale, one (1) counterpart of which shall be delivered to the purchaser and another counterpart kept by the supplier or dealer for the period of time and purpose provided in subsection (a) of this section.

(2) (A) For each delivery of distillate special fuel into the fuel supply tank of a motor vehicle, the required record shall include a serially-numbered invoice issued in not less than duplicate counterparts on which shall be printed or stamped with a rubber stamp the name and address of the supplier, dealer, or user making such delivery and on which shall be shown, in spaces to be provided on that invoice, the date of delivery, the number of gallons and kind of distillate special fuel so delivered, the total mileage recorded on the speedometer or hub meter of the motor vehicle into which delivered, and the motor vehicle registration number of the motor vehicle.

(B) The invoice shall reflect that the tax has been paid or accounted for on each of the products delivered.

(C) (i) One (1) counterpart of the invoice shall be kept by the supplier, dealer, or user making such delivery as a part of his or her record and for the period of time and purposes provided in subsection (a) of this section.

(ii) Another counterpart shall be delivered to the operator of the motor vehicle and carried in the cab compartment of the motor vehicle for inspection by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration or his or her representatives until the fuel it covers has been consumed.

(c) (1) Every person who operates a motor vehicle that is equipped to use motor fuels taxable under the Motor Fuel Tax Law, § 26-55-201 et seq., and distillate special fuel interchangeably in the propulsion of the motor vehicle shall carry in the cab compartment of the motor vehicle for inspection by the director or his or her representative, not only the counterpart of the serially-numbered invoice required under subsection (b) of this section for the delivery of distillate special fuel into the fuel supply tanks of the motor vehicle but also an invoice or receipt from the seller for each delivery into the fuel supply tanks of the motor vehicle of motor fuels taxable under the Motor Fuel Tax Law, § 26-55-201 et seq., which latter invoice or receipt shall show the same information as to date of delivery, quantity, speedometer or hub meter mileage, and motor vehicle registration number as is required for the invoice covering distillate special fuel.

(2) These invoices shall be carried with the motor vehicle until the kinds of fuels covered thereby have been consumed.

(d) (1) On all deliveries of distillate special fuel to a user by common or contract carriers, the shipper shall stamp on the manifest or bill of lading in letters not less than one-quarter inch (1/4") high "TAX PAID" whenever the tax levied under this subchapter, other than the tax levied by § 26-56-224(b)-(f), has been paid, and "NOT FOR MOTOR VEHICLE USE" whenever the tax levied under this subchapter has not been paid or if the fuel is dyed distillate special fuel.

(2) It shall be a violation of this chapter for any driver for a carrier to deliver distillate special fuel covered by a manifest or bill of lading stamped "NOT FOR MOTOR VEHICLE USE" into a tank marked "TAX-PAID SPECIAL FUELS".

(e) The willful issuance of any invoice, bill of sale, or receipt which is false, untrue, or incorrect in any material particular, or the alteration or changing except for errors, or forging any such invoice, bill of sale, or receipt, or any duplicate of any such receipt pertaining to distillate special fuel shall constitute a violation of this chapter.

Amendments. The 2007 amendment, in the first sentence of (d), inserted "other than the tax levied by § 26-56-224(b)-(f)" and inserted "or if the fuel is dyed distillate special fuel."

26-56-210. Prima facie presumptions — Failure to keep records, issue invoices, or file reports — Tax, penalties, and interest.

(a) Any supplier, dealer, or user who fails to keep the records, issue the invoices, or file the reports required by this subchapter shall be prima facie presumed to have sold, delivered, or used for taxable purposes all distillate special fuel shown by a verified audit by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration or any authorized representative, to have been delivered to such supplier, dealer, or user and unaccounted for at each place of business or place of storage from which distillate special fuel is sold, delivered, or used for any taxable purposes.

(b) (1) The director is authorized to fix or establish the amount of taxes, penalties, and interest due the State of Arkansas from such records of deliveries or from any records or information available to the director, and if the tax claim as developed from that procedure is not paid, the claim and any audit made by the director or an authorized representative, or any report filed by such supplier, dealer, or user, shall be admissible in evidence in any suit or judicial proceedings filed by the director and shall be prima facie evidence of the correctness of said claim or audit.

(2) However, the prima facie presumption of the correctness of the claim may be overcome by evidence adduced by the supplier, dealer, or user.

History. Acts 1965 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 40, ch. 2, § 10; A.S.A. 1947, § 75-1250.

Case Notes

Purpose.

Audits.

Burden of Proof.

Presumptions.

Purpose.

This section is intended to require dealers to preserve their records and invoices so that the state can verify the payment of motor fuel taxes, if such taxes are due. Ragland v. Gulf Oil Corp., 288 Ark. 185A, 705 S.W.2d 15 (1986).

Audits.

The only purpose of the audit requirement in this section is to provide an approved method to determine the quantity of fuel delivered to a dealer before it can be charged with that amount under the statute. Ragland v. Gulf Oil Corp., 288 Ark. 182, 703 S.W.2d 449 (1986).

Where an audit of oil company established the delivery of 370,312 gallons, for which distributor could not account, and where the amount of fuel delivered to the distributor was never in dispute, and was effectively waived by distributor throughout the proceedings, the point was equally waived for purposes of this section; hence, the contention that this section required an audit before the presumption could arise was without merit. Ragland v. Gulf Oil Corp., 288 Ark. 182, 703 S.W.2d 449 (1986).

Burden of Proof.

The burden is not on the state to show what use was made of the fuel when the dealer fails to keep the records required under the law; rather, the burden is on the dealer to show that the sales were not for taxable purposes. Ragland v. Gulf Oil Corp., 288 Ark. 185A, 705 S.W.2d 15 (1986).

Presumptions.

This section creates a prima facie presumption that the fuel at issue was used for taxable purposes where distributor admittedly destroyed its records. Ragland v. Gulf Oil Corp., 288 Ark. 182, 703 S.W.2d 449 (1986).

This section requires proof of specific transactions not subject to the tax in order to rebut the presumption of liability. Ragland v. Gulf Oil Corp., 288 Ark. 185A, 705 S.W.2d 15 (1986).

26-56-211. [Repealed.]

Publisher's Notes. This section, concerning unlicensed importers, was repealed by Acts 1987, No. 803, § 11. The section was derived from Acts 1965 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 40, ch. 2, §§ 12, 13; 1967, No. 357, §§ 5, 7; A.S.A. 1947, §§ 75-1252, 75-1253.

26-56-212. Bonded and unbonded interstate users — Penalty for insufficient purchase.

Any distillate special fuel user who is a bonded or unbonded interstate distillate fuel user operating Class B vehicles as described in § 26-56-214, who upon arriving at a point of exit from this state shall have failed to purchase sufficient gallons of distillate special fuel in this state and pay the tax thereon as required by law, as determined in this subchapter, calculated at the rate of four miles per gallon (4 MPG) for each mile traveled in this state:

(1) The unbonded distillate special fuel user shall pay a penalty of four cents (4¢) per gallon on each gallon of distillate special fuel which he or she failed to buy in this state, in addition to paying the tax on the distillate special fuel at the point of exit from this state upon which the tax has not been paid; and

(2) Any bonded distillate special fuel user shall pay a penalty of four cents (4¢) per gallon of the total number of gallons of distillate special fuel which he or she failed to buy in this state during each report period, in addition to paying the tax upon the distillate special fuel upon which tax has not been paid.

History. Acts 1977, No. 354, § 2; A.S.A. 1947, § 75-1187.1.

Publisher's Notes. Acts 1977, No. 354, § 4, provided in part that the act would be supplemental to the Special Motor Fuels Tax Law, § 26-56-101 et seq.

26-56-213. Bonded and unbonded users — Knowing failure to pay tax or penalty.

Upon conviction, a bonded or unbonded distillate special fuel user is guilty of a Class A misdemeanor if the bonded or unbonded distillate special fuel user knowingly fails to pay the:

(1) Arkansas gallonage tax due the State of Arkansas on motor fuel and distillate special fuel used on the highways of this state as required in § 26-56-214 with respect to distillate special fuel tax used on Class B vehicles; or

(2) Penalty on the fuel on which the Arkansas distillate special fuel tax has not been paid, as required in § 26-56-214.

History. Acts 1977, No. 354, § 3; A.S.A. 1947, § 75-1187.2; Acts 2009, No. 655, § 66.

Publisher's Notes. Acts 1977, No. 354, § 4, provided in part that the act would be supplemental to the Special Motor Fuels Tax Law, § 26-56-101 et seq.

Amendments. The 2009 amendment subdivided the section; in the introductory language, inserted "Upon conviction" and "is guilty of a Class A misdemeanor," and deleted "and intentionally" following "knowingly"; deleted "shall be guilty of a Class A misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished in the manner provided by law" at the end of (2); and made related and minor stylistic changes.

26-56-214. Interstate users — Reports — Computation of tax and refunds.

(a) Whenever an interstate user of distillate special fuel who is a bonded user of distillate special fuel in all states in which he or she operates has exportations in excess of importations of tax-paid distillate special fuel in the fuel supply tanks of motor vehicles which distillate special fuel was delivered by a supplier into bulk storage facilities of the user within the State of Arkansas, the supplier may make a refund or allow a credit for the amount of the tax upon such excess upon approval by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration of a statement from the user to the effect that the tax-paid distillate special fuel was exported.

(b) (1) For the purpose of determining whether an interstate distillate special fuel user owes special motor fuel tax or is entitled to a credit or refund, the licensed interstate distillate special fuel user shall file a quarterly report on or before the last day of the month following the end of each calendar quarter.

(2) If it shall be determined by the quarterly report that the interstate user has used distillate special fuel in this state in excess of the number of gallons of the distillate special fuel upon which the Arkansas tax had been paid, the interstate user shall remit to the director, at the time of filing the report, an excise tax of eighteen and one-half cents (18½¢) per gallon of the excess gallonage used.

(3) If it shall be determined that the interstate user has purchased more gallons of distillate special fuel in this state than he or she has used in this state, then the interstate user shall be entitled to a credit or refund of eighteen and one-half cents (18½¢) per gallon of the excess gallonage purchased in the state.

(c) The quarterly report required by this subchapter shall be filed on or before the last day of the month following the end of each calendar quarter and shall be made on forms prescribed by the director and shall include such information as the director may require.

(d) (1) For the purpose of determining whether a distillate special fuel user owes tax or is entitled to a credit or refund as provided in subsection (b) of this section, the distillate special fuel user shall file with the director a report showing the quantities of special motor fuels used in this state during the preceding calendar quarter. This report shall be due on or before the last day of the month following the end of each calendar quarter.

(2) If it shall be determined by the quarterly report filed with the director that the distillate special fuel user has used more gallons of special motor fuel in this state than the special motor fuel tax due thereon has been paid, the distillate special fuel user shall remit to the director an excise tax of eighteen and one-half cents ($18\frac{1}{2}\text{¢}$) per gallon of special motor fuel.

(3) Distillate special fuel users may not take credit on reports at a tax rate in excess of that actually paid.

(e) (1) For the purpose of determining whether a distillate special fuel user owes tax or is entitled to a credit or refund, the distillate special fuel user shall determine the average miles per gallon of fuel used. The average miles per gallon shall be determined by dividing total miles traveled in all jurisdictions by the total gallons of fuel used in all jurisdictions. The distillate special fuel user shall then determine the total amount of fuel used within the State of Arkansas by dividing the total number of miles traveled within the State of Arkansas by the average miles per gallon.

(2) The number of gallons of distillate special fuels upon which the tax has been paid by an interstate user shall be determined from the form obtained by the interstate user from a dealer or licensed bulk supplier on forms containing information prescribed by § 26-56-209.

(3) The taxpayer's tax liability shall be calculated by multiplying the number of gallons of fuel used within the State of Arkansas by eighteen and one-half cents ($18\frac{1}{2}\text{¢}$) per gallon. A taxpayer shall be entitled to credits against his or her tax liability for tax-paid fuel purchased within the State of Arkansas.

(f) (1) Any licensed interstate user who fails to maintain adequate mileage or fuel records, for the purpose of determining the amount the interstate user owes the State of Arkansas for tax on distillate special fuel used in this state as provided in this section, the number of gallons of distillate special fuel used in this state shall be determined by an assessment based on the following mileage factors per gallon of distillate special fuel as compared to the appropriate class of vehicle set out in subdivision (f)(2) of this section.

(2) For the purposes of this section:

(A) All automobiles, except buses, with a capacity of less than eight (8) passengers shall be deemed to be Class A vehicles;

(B) All truck-type vehicles, except buses, with a factory rating and gross loaded weight of less than twenty-two thousand five hundred pounds (22,500 lbs.) shall be deemed to be Class B vehicles;

(C) All other vehicles, except buses, with a factory rating in excess of twenty-two thousand five hundred pounds (22,500 lbs.), or whose total gross loaded weight exceeds twenty-two thousand five hundred pounds (22,500 lbs.), shall be deemed to be Class C vehicles; and

(D) All buses rated and licensed as such shall be deemed to be Class D vehicles.

(3) The mileage factor per gallon of distillate special fuel for:

(A) Class A vehicles shall be twelve (12) miles;

(B) Class B vehicles shall be eight (8) miles;

(C) Class C vehicles shall be five (5) miles; and

(D) Class D vehicles shall be six (6) miles.

(4) These mileage factors shall be utilized in conjunction with the Arkansas mileage as determined through an audit and based upon the best records available regardless of source.

(g) For the purposes of determining the amount any unlicensed or unbonded user owes the State of Arkansas for tax on distillate special fuel used in this state, only the above mileage factors per gallon of distillate special fuel for the applicable vehicles shall be utilized.

Application of the formula of five miles per gallon to interstate bus companies that actually obtain an average of 6.3 miles per gallon of distillate fuel was arbitrary, unreasonable, discriminatory, and unconstitutional, violating Ark. Const., Art. 2, § 3, and Art. 16, § 5, and U.S. Const., Art. 4, § 2, cl. 1, and Amend. 14, § 1, and constitutes an undue burden on interstate commerce in violation of U.S. Const., Art. 1, § 8, cl. 3. *Larey v. 26-56-215. Interstate users — Tax refund procedure.

(a) (1) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration shall quarterly estimate the amount necessary to pay refunds to interstate users of special motor fuels who are entitled to refunds with respect to special motor fuel taxes paid in this state as authorized in § 26-56-214, and upon certification by the director, the Treasurer of State shall transfer from the gross amount of special motor fuel taxes collected each month the amount so certified and shall credit the amount to the Interstate Motor Fuel Tax Refund Fund, which is established on the books of the State Treasury, from which the Department of Finance and Administration shall make refunds as provided by law.

(2) The transfers from the gross motor fuel taxes and special motor fuel taxes collected each month shall be after deducting allowances for bad checks or claims but before making any other distribution as provided by law.

(b) All warrants drawn against the fund which are not presented for payment within one (1) year of issuance shall be void.

(c) Neither the director nor any member or employee of the department shall be held personally liable for making any refund by reason of a fraudulent claim being filed as a basis for such refund.

(d) The director is authorized to promulgate rules and regulations and to prescribe the necessary forms required for the administration of claims for tax refunds from interstate users of special motor fuels in this state as authorized by law, which rules and regulations shall be in conformance with the following requirements:

(1) The director shall first determine, with respect to each refund claim filed, that the bond of the interstate user is adequate to compensate the State of Arkansas for any losses with respect to the recovery of any refunds illegally claimed by the interstate user, and the director may require the increase of the bond if the director determines it to be inadequate before approving any such claim for refund;

(2) Each interstate user of motor fuels and special motor fuels claiming refunds shall maintain adequate records to substantiate each claim for refund, and the director may reject any claim for refund if the director determines the applicant has not maintained adequate records or has not conformed to the rules and regulations of the department in filing the claim therefor;

(3) Each claim for refund shall be upon the request of the interstate user, which shall be verified by the interstate user as to its accuracy and validity; and

(4) (A) Each quarterly report filed by a licensed interstate user of special motor fuels with the department shall reflect thereon the amount of special motor fuels purchased for use in Arkansas during the quarter, the number of gallons of special motor fuels upon which taxes are due the State of Arkansas for the quarter, and the excess gallonage upon which the interstate user is entitled to refunds.

(B) At the end of each calendar quarter, the licensed interstate user may make application for refund with respect to the number of gallons of special motor fuels upon which the special motor fuels taxes have been paid during the calendar quarter for which the interstate user is entitled to refund.

(a) In order to enforce the provisions of this subchapter, the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration or his or her authorized representative is empowered to stop any motor vehicle which appears to be operating with distillate special fuel for the purpose of examining the invoices and for such other investigative purposes reasonably necessary to determine whether the taxes imposed by this subchapter have been paid, or whether the motor vehicle is being operated in compliance with the provisions of this subchapter.

(b) If after examination or investigation it is determined by the director or his or her authorized representative that the tax imposed by this subchapter has not been paid with respect to the fuels being used in the motor vehicle, the director or his or her representative shall immediately assess the tax due, together with the penalty hereinafter provided, to the owner of the motor vehicle, and give the owner written notice of the assessment by handing it to the driver of the motor vehicle.

(c) The director or his or her representative is empowered to impound any motor vehicle found to be operating in violation of this chapter by a person other than one who has furnished the bond required of users by § 26-56-204(c) until such time as any tax assessed as provided herein has been paid.

26-56-217. Separate storage tanks for taxable distillate special fuels and for tax-free storage.

(a) (1) All users except suppliers of distillate special fuel who maintain their own storage tanks in the state are required to have a separate storage tank for taxable distillate special fuel other than dyed distillate special fuel, which tanks are to be physically separate and apart from any other tanks or fueling units, and to indicate it by placing thereon in a conspicuous place the words "TAX-PAID FUELS" in letters not less than five inches (5") high.

(2) Suppliers are required to collect the tax on all distillate special fuel delivered into those tanks.

(b) (1) All users who have facilities for storing distillate special fuel intended for other than highway use and which facilities are suitable to fuel motor vehicles using distillate special fuel, except those facilities used for residential purposes, shall mark the storage facilities with the words "NOT FOR MOTOR VEHICLE USE" in letters not less than five inches (5") high, and suppliers may deliver into such storage facilities without collecting the tax levied in this subchapter other than the tax levied by § 26-56-224(b)-(f).

(2) (A) If users do not provide such tanks, then all distillate special fuel delivered by a supplier into storage tanks suitable for fueling motor vehicles become taxable, provided, however, that any city or county using a computerized fuel dispensing system that will automatically record each transaction as to pump operator and specific motor vehicle to which the distillate special fuel is dispensed may have taxable and nontaxable distillate special fuel delivered into the same tank.

(B) The distributor shall collect the tax on the taxable portion of each purchase based upon the sworn statement of the purchaser as to the amount of taxable distillate special fuel purchased.

(C) Each city or county shall file a report with the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration accounting for the taxable and nontaxable distillate special fuel used and miles driven by each motor vehicle which requires taxable distillate special fuel in such a manner, at such time, and on such forms as shall be prescribed by the director.

(D) The director may promulgate regulations to establish a system to periodically reconcile the taxable distillate special fuel purchased and actual taxable distillate special fuel used by the city or county.

(3) However, when a user has one (1) or more storage tanks used for the storage of distillate special fuel within the meaning of this chapter, and the user does not own, possess, lease, or otherwise operate a motor vehicle licensed or required to be licensed for use upon the public highway and capable of using said distillate special fuel, the requirement for marking such storage facilities "NOT FOR MOTOR FUEL USE" shall be waived.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to amend or change the meaning of any other section of this chapter.

(1) At the time of sale and delivery, the supplier obtains from the purchaser a fully executed annual registration for purchases of tax-free distillate special fuel; and

(2) The supplier maintains the registration form for a period of six (6) years.

(c) When a user, dealer, or off-road consumer registration has been revoked and written notice of the revocation has been received by the supplier from the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration, it shall be unlawful for the supplier to make bulk sales or deliveries to the user, dealer, or off-road consumer of distillate special fuel on which the tax has not been paid.

(B) Assess a penalty of ten dollars ($10.00) per gallon on all such fuel that could be contained in the fuel supply tank or tanks of such motor vehicle, if filled to capacity.

(2) Further, if any dyed distillate special fuel is found in any fuel storage tank or fuel storage facility outside of the terminal utilized by the operator of that motor vehicle, or any other person, for the purpose of fueling that motor vehicle, the director shall:

(2) (A) The presence of any amount of dyed distillate special fuel in the fuel supply tank of any motor vehicle not excepted in § 26-56-225 or in a fuel storage tank or fuel storage facility outside of the terminal utilized by the operator of such motor vehicle, or any other person, for the purpose of fueling that motor vehicle, shall create a rebuttable presumption that the entire amount of fuel that could be contained in the fuel supply tank of such motor vehicle, or of a fuel storage tank or fuel storage facility, if mixed, has been, or is being, used or utilized for taxable purposes.

(B) Thus the entire amount of such fuel that could be contained in such tanks and facilities, if filled to capacity, shall be susceptible to full distillate special fuel taxation.

(3) Such assessments shall be made against the operator of any motor vehicle, or owner or operator of such fuel storage tank or fuel storage facility outside of the terminal, or any other person the director deems responsible for the usage or utilization of such distillate special fuel in any motor vehicle involved in the assessment.

(2) The director shall have the authority to:

(A) Take samples of distillate special fuel stored in fuel storage tanks or fuel storage facilities outside of the terminal, which fuel may be used or utilized in motor vehicles;

(B) Measure the amount of fuel that could be contained in such tanks or facilities, if filled to capacity; and

(C) Test such fuel, regardless of the location of such tanks or facilities.

(b) (1) (A) Any person who shall refuse to allow the director to sample, test, and measure the fuel that could be contained in any fuel supply tank of a motor vehicle, or in any fuel storage tank, or in any fuel storage facility outside of the terminal shall be assessed taxes at the total per-gallon tax rates set out in this chapter upon all fuels as determined by the director that could be contained in such fuel supply tank, fuel storage tank, or fuel storage facility, if filled to capacity.

(B) Additionally, a penalty of ten dollars ($10.00) per gallon on all such fuel shall be assessed.

(2) (A) It shall be prima facie evidence that the entire amount of such fuel in the fuel supply tank, fuel storage tank, or fuel storage facility outside of the terminal is taxable and that, by the refusal to allow such sampling, measuring, or testing, distillate special fuel taxes have not been paid on such fuel.

(B) The director shall add a penalty of twenty percent (20%) of the total amount of the assessed taxes excluding the ten-dollar-per-gallon penalty to the total amount assessed for willful refusal to allow such sampling, measuring, or testing, which penalty shall be in addition to all other penalties provided in this section, this chapter, and in the Arkansas Tax Procedure Act, § 26-18-101 et seq.

(3) Such assessments shall be made against the operator of any motor vehicle, fuel storage tank, or fuel storage facility outside of the terminal involved in the assessment or against any other person the director deems responsible for the use or utilization of such fuel in any motor vehicle involved in the assessment.

(2) All assessments made pursuant to this section shall be in lieu of the ten-dollar-per-gallon penalty otherwise provided in §§ 26-56-226 — 26-56-228, but shall be in addition to all other penalties provided therein.

(b) All assessments and procedures related to assessments authorized by §§ 26-56-223 — 26-56-231 shall be conducted in accordance with and pursuant to the Arkansas Tax Procedure Act, § 26-18-101 et seq.

- (c) The fuel user's permit shall be obtained annually before the director shall register and issue a motor vehicle license for the vehicle.
- (d) (1) At the time of applying for such permit and prior to the registration and issuance of a motor vehicle license for the vehicle, each applicant except licensed liquefied gas special fuels suppliers shall remit to the director, in addition to the regular fee prescribed by law for the registration and licensing of the vehicle, an additional fee in an amount which is determined by the General Assembly, based upon information available from statistical studies of the motor vehicular use of liquefied gas special fuels by various classes of users, as follows:

Nonfarm Vehicles

Annual Additional Fee

Passenger cars and motor homes
Pickup trucks, one-half (1/2) and three-quarter (3/4) ton
Pickup trucks, one (1) ton
Trucks, maximum gross loaded weight in excess of one (1)ton but not exceeding 22,500 pounds -----	520.00
Passenger buses except school buses manufactured and licensed as such -----	520.00
School buses manufactured and licensed as such

Farm Vehicles

In order to aid in the production of farm products and to eliminate apparent inequities in liquefied gas special fuels fees which are in lieu of the gallonage tax on such fuel used in vehicles operated primarily on farms and not on the main highway system of this state, a special classification is created for farm vehicles using liquefied gas special fuels and entitled to be registered and licensed as natural resources farm vehicles. The flat fee in lieu of the gallonage tax on the fuel used in such vehicle shall be as follows:

Pickup trucks, one-half (1/2) and three-quarter (3/4) ton

Pickup trucks, one (1) ton

Trucks, maximum gross loaded weight in excess of one (1)ton but not exceeding 22,500 pounds -----

178.00

260.00

(2) If the director determines that the flat fee provided herein in lieu of the gallonage tax on liquefied gas special fuels is, in the case of common or contract carriers or other vehicles for hire, inadequate to compensate for the gallonage tax, the director may require such common or contract carriers or owners of other vehicles for hire to pay a fee based upon the actual mileage of the common or contract carrier or vehicle for hire for the previous year, the current year, or any other reasonable basis.

(3) The director shall establish regulations for computing the fees and for the enforcement of the collection thereof.

(4) If any new liquefied gas special fuels vehicle is placed in operation or any other vehicle shall be converted to a liquefied gas special fuels vehicle during the registration year, the owner shall be permitted to pay a proportionate part of the liquefied gas special fuels user's permit fee for such vehicle for the remainder of the current registration year based upon one-twelfth ($\frac{1}{12}$) of the annual fee for such vehicle for each calendar month or fraction thereof remaining in the current registration year.

to the Constitutional Officers Fund and the State Central Services Fund as provided in the Revenue Stabilization Law, § 19-5-101 et seq., the Treasurer of State shall transfer on the last business day of each month:

“(A) Fifteen percent (15%) of the amount thereof to the County Aid Fund;

“(B) Fifteen percent (15%) of the amount thereof to the Municipal Aid Fund; and “Seventy percent (70%) of the amount thereof to a special account in the State Highway and Transportation Department Fund to be designated the ‘1991 Highway Construction and Maintenance Account’.

“(b) The funds in the 1991 Highway Construction and Maintenance Account shall be held, managed, and used in the same manner and for the same purposes as set out in the Arkansas Highway Revenue Distribution Law, § 27-70-201 et seq., excluding, however, § 27-70-206;

“(c) Provided that, in keeping with the spirit of section 105 of Public Law 97-424 and the Arkansas State Highway Commission's goals for encouraging the participation of disadvantaged business enterprises in entering into and performing contracts with the commission, including the purchasing of supplies and equipment by the commission and for the construction, reconstruction, and maintenance of highways and bridges in the state highway system, the Arkansas State Highway Commission is authorized to expend up to ten percent (10%) of the total funds and revenues available and disbursed to the commission pursuant to this section for the purposes of achieving those goals.”

26-56-305. Users' permits — Transfer.

When a motor vehicle permitted to use liquefied gas special fuels under this subchapter is altered to operate on a fuel other than liquefied gas special fuels or destroyed prior to the expiration of the permit period, the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration upon the request of the motor vehicle owner within ten (10) days of the conversion or destruction and the payment of a two-dollar transfer fee shall transfer the permit for the remainder of the permit period to another motor vehicle operating on liquefied gas special fuels owned by the person.

(a) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration shall promulgate special serially numbered window decals to be issued for motor vehicles for which liquefied gas special fuels user's permits are issued, except motor vehicles of licensed liquefied gas special fuels suppliers, which distinctive window decals shall evidence not only the registration of the motor vehicle but shall evidence the fact that the special permit fee charged under § 26-56-304 has been paid.

(b) Each motor vehicle bearing such special and distinctive window decals shall entitle the owner or user of the motor vehicle to purchase liquefied gas special fuels from licensed liquefied gas special fuels suppliers only without the necessity of paying the gallonage tax levied thereon under § 26-56-301, it being the intent of that section that the payment of the special fee levied by § 26-56-304 shall be in lieu of and in full satisfaction of the liquefied gas special fuels gallonage taxes that would have otherwise been due on liquefied gas special fuels used in the motor vehicle during the period for which the license and permit is issued.

(c) When a motor vehicle bearing a special and distinctive liquefied gas special fuels window decal is transferred, the liquefied gas special fuels window decal shall remain with the motor vehicle, and, when the registration of the motor vehicle is transferred to the new owner, such new owner shall be entitled to purchase liquefied gas special fuels for the motor vehicle without payment of the gallonage tax thereon the same as the former owner.

(a) Each licensed liquefied gas special fuels supplier or interstate user shall compute, report, and pay the tax on all liquefied gas special fuels used in each vehicle owned or operated by him or her in this state on which the tax levied by this subchapter has not been paid by ascertaining the total highway miles driven in this state and dividing this total by the applicable mileage factor, as set forth below, to compute the quantity of special fuel used upon which the tax levied in § 26-56-301 is applicable.

(b) (1) For the purpose of this section, all automobiles with a capacity of fewer than eight (8) passengers shall be deemed to be Class A vehicles.

(2) All truck-type vehicles with a factory rating and gross loaded weight of less than twenty-two thousand five hundred pounds (22,500 lbs.) shall be deemed to be Class B vehicles.

(3) All vehicles with a factory rating in excess of twenty-two thousand five hundred pounds (22,500 lbs.) or whose total gross loaded weight exceeds twenty-two thousand five hundred pounds (22,500 lbs.) shall be deemed to be Class C vehicles.

(1) Class A vehicles shall be twelve (12) miles;

(2) Class B vehicles shall be eight (8) miles; and

(3) Class C vehicles shall be four (4) miles.

(d) When calculating the number of gallons of liquefied gas special fuels on which the gallonage tax levied by § 26-56-301 is due, the suppliers and users shall be allowed a credit equal to the amount of the tax paid on each gallon of liquefied gas special fuels purchased or received in this state when each such credit is supported by a copy of the purchase invoice showing the amount of tax paid, signed by the supplier or dealer from which the liquefied gas special fuels was purchased or delivered.

(e) The due date of the interstate user reports shall be the twenty-fifth day following each calendar quarter.

(1) The total gallons of liquefied gas special fuels sold or delivered to each liquefied gas special fuels dealer, the name and address and dealer license number of each dealer, and the tax collected thereon;

(2) The number of gallons of liquefied gas special fuels sold or delivered to liquefied gas special fuels users other than dealers, the name and address of each user, the quantity sold or delivered to each user, and the tax collected thereon;

Effective Dates. Acts 1977, No. 546, § 41: July 1, 1977.

Acts 1979, No. 911, § 17: July 1, 1979.

Acts 1983, No. 255, § 5: Feb. 25, 1983. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the Arkansas Supreme Court recently held certain provisions of the Arkansas Tobacco Products Tax Act of 1977 relating to residency of wholesale cigarette and wholesale tobacco permit holders to be unconstitutional as a violation of the commerce clause of the United States Constitution since there was no stated relationship between the residency requirements and any valid governmental interests; that this Act is designed to clarify the intent and purpose of the residency requirement for wholesale cigarette and/or wholesale tobacco products dealers by recognizing the fact that smoking of cigarettes and use of other tobacco products can be hazardous to the health, safety and welfare of the people of Arkansas and that the State of Arkansas has a valid governmental interest in protecting the health, safety and welfare of her citizens; and that this Act is designed to recognize and establish such valid governmental interests and to reinstate the residency requirements for wholesale cigarette and wholesale tobacco products dealers and should be given effect immediately. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1983, No. 399, § 3: Mar. 10, 1983. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the State is in urgent need of additional revenues to provide essential services to the citizens of this State; that the increase in the cigarette tax provided for in this Act will provide a portion of such urgently needed revenues and should be given effect immediately. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1985, No. 356, § 3: Mar. 15, 1985. Emergency clause provided: “Prior to the passage of Act 399 of 1983, which amended Act 546 of 1977, cigarette vendors were considered to be the same as other retailers, and as a result of said Act, cigarette vendors were not permitted to purchase cigarettes for resale taxed at the same cigarette tax rate as for other retailers. The purpose of this amendment is to clarify that licensed retailers and licensed cigarette vendors are both retailers entitled to purchase cigarettes for resale at the same cigarette tax rate; and this act is necessary to correct the injustice created by Act 399 of 1983. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this Act shall therefore become effective on and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1985, No. 684, § 5: Mar. 27, 1985. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that additional legislation is needed to protect the health and welfare of the citizens of this State who use tobacco, and that it is necessary that the Director of the Arkansas Health Department be authorized to inspect locations in Arkansas where cigarettes and tobacco products are sold or stored, to determine whether such cigarettes and tobacco products are fresh and not contaminated; because of the relatively high Arkansas cigarette tax of twenty-one cents (21¢) per package of cigarettes, the State may begin to experience losses of cigarette tax revenues as a result of bootlegging of untaxed cigarettes in this State; and that this Act should be given effect immediately to alleviate this situation. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1985, No. 824, § 5: Apr. 4, 1985. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that additional legislation is needed to protect the health and welfare of the citizens of this State who use tobacco, and that it is necessary that the Director of the Arkansas Health Department be authorized to inspect locations in Arkansas where cigarettes and tobacco products are sold or stored, to determine whether such cigarettes and tobacco products are fresh and not contaminated; because of the relatively high Arkansas cigarette tax of twenty-one cents (21¢) per package of cigarettes, the State may begin to experience losses of cigarette tax revenues as a result of bootlegging of untaxed cigarettes in this State; and that this Act should be given effect immediately to alleviate this situation. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1987, No. 628, § 4: Apr. 4, 1987. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of Arkansas that the excise tax on tobacco products does not presently extend to cover all commercially sold products made from tobacco and that to achieve tax equity in the taxation of tobacco products the excise tax for such products should extend to snuff as well as other products made from tobacco and that in order to correct this tax inequity, it is essential the tax on tobacco products include snuff in its application. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1995, No. 1160, § 46: Apr. 11, 1995. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that certain changes are necessary to the Arkansas tax laws; that these changes are necessary immediately in order to maintain the efficient administration of the Arkansas income tax laws; and that this act is necessary to effectuate that purpose. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1997, No. 434, § 18: July 1, 1997. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined that cancer is a leading cause of death among Arkansans; that, of cancer deaths, breast cancer claims more lives of women than any other type except lung cancer; that there are nineteen hundred (1900) new cases of breast cancer diagnosed each year; that breast cancer mortality rates have increased in Arkansas in recent years; that presently breast cancer is claiming the lives of over four hundred seventy (470) women in Arkansas each year; that this number of deaths will increase as our population grows older; that information barriers result in women being unaware of the risk of breast cancer or the value of early detection; that financial barriers prevent some women from taking advantage of mammography; and that there is a lack of funding for breast cancer research in the state; it is further found and determined that to reduce the number of lives continuing to be needlessly lost, it is necessary to increase the state tax on cigarettes and tobacco products to provide funding for breast cancer, to provide for screening, diagnostic, and treatment services for women at risk of developing breast cancer and to assure continuing research with respect to the cause, cure and prevention of breast cancer. This act will provide greatly needed revenues to fund essential research and services with respect to the cause, cure, detection and prevention of breast cancer, and breast cancer education in the state. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1997.”

Acts 1997, No. 1337, § 30: became law without the Governor's signature. Noted Apr. 11, 1997. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the regulation of the manufacture, distribution, and sale of tobacco products in this state should be transferred from the Department of Finance and Administration to an independent agency; that this act establishes the Arkansas Tobacco Control Board as such independent agency; that the transfer of duties should occur at the beginning of the next fiscal year; and that unless this emergency clause is adopted, the transfer will most likely not occur until after the beginning of the next fiscal year. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1997.”

Acts 1997, No. 1359, § 41: July 1, 1997. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Eighty-First General Assembly, that the Constitution of the State of Arkansas prohibits the appropriation of funds for more than a two (2) year period; that the effectiveness of this Act on July 1, 1997 is essential to the operation of the agency for which the appropriations in this Act are provided, and that in the event of an extension of the Regular Session, the delay in the effective date of this Act beyond July 1, 1997 could work irreparable harm upon the proper administration and provision of essential governmental programs. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1997.”

Acts 1999, No. 1285, § 7: Apr. 7, 1999. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Eighty-second General Assembly that smoking of cigarettes is not only hazardous to the health of the smoker but also presents serious public health concerns; that federal law and regulations establish various policies relating to the manufacture, importation and marketing of cigarettes; that it is urgent that state law be aligned with the federal laws and regulations as soon as possible to assure that consumers be adequately informed of the adverse effects of cigarette smoking; and that this act is designed to align Arkansas law with federal law to assure that only those cigarettes manufactured according to specifications and packed in containers labeled with appropriate warnings are available to Arkansas consumers and should be given effect immediately. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, it shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, it shall become effective on the date the last house overrides the veto."

Acts 2001, No. 1368, § 6: Apr. 5, 2001. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly that lack of compliance with state and local tax laws reduces the available revenues to fund the public schools and other essential state services, and that this act is designed and intended to ensure that adequate funding is available for those programs and to ensure full compliance with the tax laws of this state. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, it shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, it shall become effective on the date the last house overrides the veto."

Acts 2001, No. 1669, § 38: July 1, 2001. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly, that the Constitution of the State of Arkansas prohibits the appropriation of funds for more than a two (2) year period; that the effectiveness of this Act on July 1, 2001 is essential to the operation of the agency for which the appropriations in this Act are provided, and that in the event of an extension of the Regular Session, the delay in the effective date of this Act beyond July 1, 2001 could work irreparable harm upon the proper administration and provision of essential governmental programs. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 2001."

Acts 2001, No. 1698, § 4: July 1, 2001. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly that changes in distributions and funding sources must take place at the beginning of the state fiscal year in order to maintain approved accounting standards and to reduced confusion and that in the event of an extended session, this act may not take effect until after July 1 thereby placing the funding of the breast cancer program in jeopardy. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2001."

Acts 2005, No. 384, § 4: Mar. 31, 2005. Effective date clause provided: "Effective date. Section 1 shall apply to all funds placed into, due to be placed into, or being held in a qualified escrow account pursuant to Arkansas Code § 26-57-261 on or after March 31, 2005."

Acts 2005, No. 384, § 5: Feb. 24, 2005. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that smoking poses a serious health risk to Arkansans; that the Master Settlement Agreement is a critical component in reducing the rate of smoking in Arkansas; and that the provisions of this act are immediately necessary for the continued effective administration and enforcement of provisions of the Master Settlement Agreement in Arkansas. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto."

Acts 2009, No. 180, § 6: Mar. 1, 2009. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that existing funding levels are inadequate to meet the medical care needs of the state. That without immediately obtaining adequate funding levels for medical care the citizens of this state will suffer irreparable harm to their health and well-being. This bill shall immediately provide additional funding that is needed to make the funding level adequate and humane. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on March 1, 2009."

Acts 2009, No. 542, § 2: Mar. 24, 2009. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that stamp deputies are required to furnish a bond; that the bond requirement allows cigarette wholesalers to make purchases on open account; that the bond requirement is in need of clarification to ensure that the original legislative intent is fulfilled; and that this act is immediately necessary to prevent possible confusion. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist, and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto." Acts 2009, No. 940, § 5: Apr. 6, 2009. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the tax on cigarettes has been drastically increased; that the increase went into effect on March 1, 2009; that there are cities that adjoin border cities that are separated by a river from a city in an adjoining state; that these border cities are able to sell cigarettes at the rate of the adjoining state; and that this creates a drastic loss in cigarette sales for the cities that adjoin these border cities. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto."

Proceedings.

Even though the director for the Arkansas Tobacco Control Board sent the tobacco company an offer of settlement "recommending" a $500 fine for the tobacco company which gave unlawful rebates to retailers, and the company accepted the offer, the defense of agency estoppel was not preserved, and because the evidence established that the company had paid rebates to at least 28 Arkansas retail establishments, it was not arbitrary or capricious for the Board to reject the "recommendation" and impose a $28,000 fine, and suspension of the company's permit for six months. *H.T. 26-57-202. Legislative findings and purpose.

(a) It is recognized, found, and determined by the General Assembly that:

(1) The Surgeon General has determined that the smoking of cigarettes is detrimental to the health of the smoker;

(2) The General Assembly had already recognized this hazard many years ago when it enacted § 5-27-227 regulating the sale of tobacco to minors, §§ 20-27-701 — 20-27-703 [repealed] establishing a policy for public smoking, and this subchapter, to provide for close supervision and control of the sale of cigarettes and other tobacco products;

(3) The state has a very valid governmental interest in preserving and promoting the public health and welfare of its citizens; and

(4) It is the responsibility of the General Assembly to enact legislation to protect and further this essential governmental interest.

(b) It is therefore the intent of this subchapter to:

(1) Provide for the close supervision and control of the licensing of persons to sell cigarettes and other tobacco products in this state in order to assure that cigarettes and other tobacco products distributed in the state are fresh, not contaminated, and are properly taxed, stamped, stored, and distributed only to persons authorized to receive these products; and

(2) Impose licenses, fees, taxes, and restrictions on the privilege of dealing in or otherwise doing business in tobacco products in order to promote the public health and welfare of the citizens of this state and to protect the revenue collection procedures incorporated within this subchapter.

History. Acts 1977, No. 546, § 3; 1979, No. 911, § 5; 1983, No. 255, § 1; 1985, No. 684, § 1; 1985, No. 824, § 1; A.S.A. 1947, § 84-4503.

A.C.R.C. Notes. Sections 20-27-701 — 20-27-703 referred to in subdivision (a)(2) of this section were repealed by Acts 2006 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 8, § 2. For current laws concerning public smoking, see §§ 20-27-704 — 20-27-709, the Arkansas Clean Indoor Air Act of 2006, § 20-27-1801 et seq., and the Arkansas Protection from Secondhand Smoke for Children Act of 2006, § 20-27-1901 et seq.

Case Notes

Constitutionality.

Constitutionality.

This section is not merely a burden on interstate commerce, it brings tobacco commerce to a halt at the borders unless it is conducted by Arkansans; thus, this section and § 26-57-217 are unconstitutional to the extent they prevent nonresidents from engaging in business in Arkansas. Ragland v. McLane Co., 287 Ark. 216, 697 S.W.2d 892 (1985).

Trial court erred in finding that the Arkansas Tobacco Control Board incorrectly interpreted the Tobacco Act as limiting retail sales to physical locations in the state and in holding that barring direct-to-consumer sales of cigarettes would violate the dormant Commerce Clause of the United States Constitution; the Tobacco Control Board correctly interpreted the Tobacco Act to require cigarette retailers to sell face-to-face and such interpretation did not violate the dormant Commerce Clause. Ark. Tobacco Control Bd. v. Santa Fe Natural Tobacco Co., 360 Ark. 32, 199 S.W.3d 656 (2004).

Case Notes

Proceedings.

Proceedings.

Even though the director for the Arkansas Tobacco Control Board sent the tobacco company an offer of settlement “recommending” a $500 fine for the tobacco company which gave unlawful rebates to retailers, and the company accepted the offer, the defense of agency estoppel was not preserved, and because the evidence established that the company had paid rebates to at least 28 Arkansas retail establishments, it was not arbitrary or capricious for the Board to reject the “recommendation” and impose a $28,000 fine, and suspension of the company's permit for six months. H.T. Hackney Co. v. Davis, 353 Ark. 797, 120 S.W.3d 79 (2003).

(ii) After the prosecuting attorney has presented proof, an owner or interest holder of the property seized is allowed to present evidence showing why the seized property should not be forfeited.

(iii) If the circuit court determines that grounds for forfeiting the seized property exist and that a defense to forfeiture has not been established by the owner or interest holder, the circuit court shall enter an order under this section. However, if the circuit court determines either that the prosecuting attorney has failed to establish that grounds for forfeiting the seized property exist or that the owner or interest holder has established a defense to forfeiture, the court shall order that the seized property be immediately returned to the owner or interest holder.

(2) (A) Notice of the entry of a temporary restraining order and an opportunity for hearing shall be afforded to a person known to have an interest in the property.

(B) The hearing shall be held at the earliest possible date consistent with Rule 65 of the Arkansas Rules of Civil Procedure and is limited to the issues of whether:

(i) There is a probability that the state will prevail on the issue of forfeiture and that failure to enter the temporary restraining order will result in the property's being destroyed, conveyed, alienated, encumbered, disposed of, received, removed from the jurisdiction of the circuit court, concealed, or otherwise made unavailable for forfeiture; and

(ii) The need to preserve the availability of property through the entry of the requested temporary restraining order outweighs the hardship on an owner or interest holder against whom the temporary restraining order is to be entered;

(3) The state has the burden of proof by a preponderance of the evidence to show that the defendant's property is subject to forfeiture;

(4) (A) On a determination of liability of a person for conduct giving rise to forfeiture under this section, the circuit court shall enter a judgment of forfeiture of the property subject to forfeiture as alleged in the complaint and may authorize the prosecuting attorney or a law enforcement officer to seize property subject to forfeiture under this section not previously seized or not then under seizure.

(B) The order of forfeiture shall be consistent with subsection (l) of this section.

(o) The circuit court shall order the forfeiture of other property of a claimant or defendant up to the value of the claimant's or defendant's property found by the circuit court to be subject to forfeiture under this section if any of the forfeitable property had remained under the control or custody of the claimant or defendant and:

(1) Cannot be located;

(2) Was transferred or conveyed to, sold to, or deposited with a third party;

(3) Is beyond the jurisdiction of the circuit court;

(4) Was substantially diminished in value while not in the actual physical custody of the seizing law enforcement agency;

(2) The fund shall consist of moneys obtained under this section and other revenue as may be provided by law or ordinance.

Construction With Other Law.

Proceedings.

Construction With Other Law.

Subdivision (a)(5) of this section clearly permits the Arkansas Tobacco Control Board to conduct hearings regarding any permit or license in violation of the Unfair Cigarette Sales Act, codified at § 4-75-701 et seq., and the Act encompasses § 4-75-708 and §§ 4-75-701 and 708. H.T. Hackney Co. v. Davis, 353 Ark. 797, 120 S.W.3d 79 (2003).

Proceedings.

Even though the director for the Arkansas Tobacco Control Board sent the tobacco company an offer of settlement "recommending" a $500 fine for the tobacco company which gave unlawful rebates to retailers, and the company accepted the offer, the defense of agency estoppel was not preserved, and because the evidence established that the company had paid rebates to at least 28 Arkansas retail establishments, it was not arbitrary or capricious for the Board to reject the "recommendation" and impose a $28,000 fine, and suspension of the company's permit for six months. H.T. Hackney Co. v. Davis, 353 Ark. 797, 120 S.W.3d 79 (2003).

(ii) 2000: $.0104712 per unit sold;

(iii) For each of 2001 and 2002: $.0136125 per unit sold;

(v) For each of 2007 and each year thereafter: $.0188482 per unit sold.

(B) A tobacco product manufacturer that places funds into escrow pursuant to subdivision (a)(2)(A) of this section shall receive the interest or other appreciation on such funds as earned. Such funds themselves shall be released from escrow only under the following circumstances:

(i) To pay a judgment or settlement on any released claim brought against such tobacco product manufacturer by the state or any releasing party located or residing in the state. Funds shall be released from escrow under subdivision (a)(2)(B)(i) of this section:

(a) In the order in which they were placed into escrow; and

(b) Only to the extent and at the time necessary to make payments required under such judgment or settlement;

(ii) To the extent that a tobacco product manufacturer establishes that the amount it was required to place into escrow on account of units sold in the state in a particular year was greater than the Master Settlement Agreement payments, as determined under section IX(i) of the Master Settlement Agreement including after final determination of all adjustments, that the manufacturer would have been required to make on account of the units sold had it been a participating manufacturer, the excess shall be released from escrow and revert back to such tobacco product manufacturer; or

(iii) To the extent not released from escrow under subdivisions (a)(2)(B)(i) or (a)(2)(B)(ii) of this section, funds shall be released from escrow and revert back to such tobacco product manufacturer twenty-five (25) years after the date on which they were placed into escrow.

(C) Each tobacco product manufacturer who elects to place funds into escrow pursuant to subdivision (a)(2) of this section shall annually certify to the Attorney General that the tobacco product manufacturer is in compliance with subdivision (a)(2) of this section. The Attorney General may bring a civil action on behalf of the state against any tobacco product manufacturer who fails to place into escrow the funds required under this section. Any tobacco product manufacturer who fails in any year to place into escrow the funds required under this section shall:

(i) Be required within fifteen (15) days to place such funds into escrow as shall bring him or her into compliance with this section. The court, upon a finding of a violation of subdivision (a)(2) of this section, may impose a civil penalty to be paid to the general fund of the state in an amount not to exceed five percent (5%) of the amount improperly withheld from escrow per day of the violation and in a total amount not to exceed one hundred percent (100%) of the original amount improperly withheld from escrow;

(ii) In the case of a knowing violation, be required within fifteen (15) days to place such funds into escrow as shall bring him or her into compliance with this section. The court, upon a finding of a knowing violation of subdivision (a)(2) of this section, may impose a civil penalty to be paid to the general fund of the state in an amount not to exceed fifteen percent (15%) of the amount improperly withheld from escrow per day of the violation and in a total amount not to exceed three hundred percent (300%) of the original amount improperly withheld from escrow; and

(iii) In the case of a second knowing violation, be prohibited from selling cigarettes to consumers within the state, whether directly or through a distributor, retailer, or similar intermediary for a period not to exceed two (2) years.

(b) Each failure to make an annual deposit required under this section shall constitute a separate violation.

History. Acts 1999, No. 1165, § 2; 2005, No. 384, § 1.

A.C.R.C. Notes. Acts 2005, No. 384, § 3, provided:

“Severability.

(a) If this act or any portion of the amendment to Arkansas Code § 26-57-261(2)(B)(ii) made by this act is held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional, then Arkansas Code § 26-57-261(2)(B)(ii) shall be deemed to be repealed in its entirety.

“(b) If Arkansas Code § 26-57-261(2)(B) shall thereafter be held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be unconstitutional, then this act shall be deemed repealed and Arkansas Code § 26-57-261(2)(B)(ii) be restored as if the amendment made by this act had not been made.

“(c) Neither any holding of unconstitutionality nor the repeal of Arkansas Code § 26-57-

261(2)(B)(ii) shall affect, impair, or invalidate any other portion of Arkansas Code § 26-57-261 or the application of Arkansas Code § 26-57-261 to any other person or circumstance, and the remaining portions of Arkansas Code § 26-57-261 shall continue in full force and effect.”

Amendments. The 2005 amendment, in (2)(B)(ii), inserted “on account of units sold in the state” and substituted “the Master Settlement Agreement payments ... units sold” for “on account of the units sold” for “in a particular year was greater than the state’s allocable share of the total payments that such manufacturer would have been required to make in that year under the Master Settlement Agreement, as determined pursuant to section IX(i)(2) of the Master Settlement Agreement and before any of the adjustments or offsets described in section IX(i)(3) of that agreement other than the inflation adjustment” in (2)(B)(ii).

Effective Dates. Acts 2005, No. 384, § 4, provided: “Effective date. Section 1 shall apply to all funds placed into, due to be placed into, or being held in a qualified escrow account pursuant to Arkansas Code § 26-57-261 on or after March 31, 2005.”

Case Notes

Constitutionality.

Federal Preemption.

Constitutionality.

Where an amendment to this section implementing a settlement between states and tobacco companies required a non-participating manufacturer to pay amounts in escrow pending any finding of future liability, the post-deprivation remedy of either returning the escrowed funds at the end of 25 years or litigation if the right to return was disputed was constitutionally sufficient. Dos Santos v. Beebe, 418 F. Supp. 2d 1064 (W.D. Ark. 2006).

Where a tobacco products manufacturer which did not participate in a settlement between states and tobacco companies alleged that an amendment to this section, which provided that the nonparticipating manufacturer paid more into escrow and retroactively eliminated refunds of the manufacturer’s prior escrow overpayments, impermissibly burdened the manufacturer’s free speech rights through economic pressure to participate in the settlement, no unconstitutional burden was shown since the manufacturer did not pay more than participating companies and merely lost its prior competitive advantage. Dos Santos v. Beebe, 418 F. Supp. 2d 1064 (W.D. Ark. 2006).

Where a tobacco products manufacturer which did not participate in a settlement between states and tobacco companies alleged that an amendment to this section implementing the settlement had the effect of causing or allowing participating companies to conduct their business as though they were part of an output cartel, to the extent that the amendment might foster monopolistic conduct, the amendment did not violate Ark Const. Art. 2, § 19, since the regulatory scheme of which the amendment formed a part was created to serve the public interest in combating the serious health effects of smoking. Dos Santos v. Beebe, 418 F. Supp. 2d 1064 (W.D. Ark. 2006).

Tobacco product distributors’ equal protection claims were dismissed where distributors were not required to pay more for their Arkansas sales than would a participating manufacturer. Grand River Enters. Six Nations, Ltd. v. Beebe, 418 F. Supp. 2d 1082 (W.D. Ark. 2006).

Tobacco product distributors’ substantive due process claims relating to the prospective application of this section were dismissed where there was a rational relationship between the allocable share amendment and the states expressed purpose of ensuring effective administration of a master settlement agreement, which was a critical component in reducing the rate of smoking in Arkansas. Grand River Enters. Six Nations, Ltd. v. Beebe, 418 F. Supp. 2d 1082 (W.D. Ark. 2006).

This section and § 26-57-1303 did not violate a tobacco importer’s First Amendment rights where its only complaint, a loss of competitive advantage, did not unconstitutionally burden speech, whether considered personal or commercial. Int’l Tobacco Ptnrs., LTD v. Beebe, 420 F. Supp. 2d 989 (W.D. Ark. 2006).

Tobacco importer’s claim that prospective application of this section violated procedural due process was dismissed where the post-deprivation remedy, either return of the funds at the end of 25 years or litigation if the right to return was disputed, was constitutionally sufficient. Int’l Tobacco Ptnrs., LTD v. Beebe, 420 F. Supp. 2d 989 (W.D. Ark. 2006).

Tobacco importer's claim that retroactive application of this section violated substantive due process survived a motion to dismiss where the importer had a protected property interest and it had alleged a substantial financial impact on its business. Int'l Tobacco Ptnrs., LTD v. Beebe, 420 F. Supp. 2d 989 (W.D. Ark. 2006).

The Allocable Share Amendment, subdivision (a)(2)(B)(ii) of this section, does not violate the dormant Commerce Clause, U.S. Const., Art. I, § 8, cl. 3; the Amendment does not make any distinction between in-state and out-of-state non-participating cigarette manufacturers, the Amendment is not clearly excessive in relation to the legitimate interest in public health, and the Amendment does not affect interstate commerce. Grand River Enters. Six Nations v. Beebe, 574 F.3d 929 (8th Cir. 2009).

The Allocable Share Amendment, subdivision (a)(2)(B)(ii) of this section, does not violate the Equal Protection Clause; although the Amendment does treat participating cigarette manufacturers under a master settlement agreement and non-participating manufacturers differently, the difference in treatment is rationally related to the state's legitimate interest in collecting future medical costs related to tobacco use. Grand River Enters. Six Nations v. Beebe, 574 F.3d 929 (8th Cir. 2009).

The Allocable Share Amendment, subdivision (a)(2)(B)(ii) of this section, does not violate the Due Process Clause; the state's interest in reducing smoking-related healthcare costs outweighs any private interest in escrow payments made by cigarette manufacturers. Also, before any escrow funds are permanently retained, the state must seek and be granted a court judgment or enter into a settlement. Grand River Enters. Six Nations v. Beebe, 574 F.3d 929 (8th Cir. 2009).

The Allocable Share Amendment, subdivision (a)(2)(B)(ii) of this section, did not violate the First Amendment rights of appellants, including a cigarette manufacturer that was a non-participant in a master settlement agreement. The loss of a competitive advantage that existed before the Amendment was enacted did not equate to an unlawful burden. Grand River Enters. Six Nations v. Beebe, 574 F.3d 929 (8th Cir. 2009).

Federal Preemption.

Tobacco importer's claim that the allocable share amendment set forth in this section and § 26-57-1303(c) violated 15 U.S.C.S. § 1 was dismissed where the amendment did not mandate price-setting or output price fixing by private parties and, as a result, the state statutes were not preempted by the Sherman Act. Int'l Tobacco Ptnrs., LTD v. Beebe, 420 F. Supp. 2d 989 (W.D. Ark. 2006).

The Allocable Share Amendment, subdivision (a)(2)(B)(ii) of this section, was not preempted by the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C.S. § 1; although the Amendment placed some pressure on certain cigarette manufacturers to raise prices to offset required escrow payments, that pressure did not force the manufacturers to raise prices in all cases, and the Amendment did not create a hybrid restraint of trade. Also, because the Amendment was enacted by the state legislature, Parker state action immunity applied. Grand River Enters. Six Nations v. Beebe, 574 F.3d 929 (8th Cir. 2009).

26-57-262. Sale of export cigarettes.

(a) Findings and Purpose.

(1) Cigarette smoking presents serious public health concerns to the state and to the citizens of the state. The Surgeon General has determined that smoking causes lung cancer, heart disease, and other serious diseases and that there are hundreds of thousands of tobacco-related deaths in the United States each year. These diseases most often do not appear until many years after the person in question begins smoking.

(2) It is the policy of the state that consumers be adequately informed about the adverse health effects of cigarette smoking by including warning notices on each package of cigarettes.

(3) It is the intent of the General Assembly to align state law with federal laws, regulations, and policies relating to the manufacture, importation, and marketing of cigarettes, and in particular, the Federal Cigarette Labeling and Advertising Act, 15

U.S.C. § 1331 et seq., and 26 U.S.C. § 5754.

(4) The General Assembly finds that consumers and retailers purchasing cigarettes are entitled to be fully informed about any adverse health effects of cigarette smoking by the inclusion of warning notices on each package of cigarettes and to be assured through appropriate enforcement measures that cigarettes they purchase were manufactured for consumption within the United States.

(b) Definitions.

As used in this section:

(1) (A) “Cigarette” means any product that contains nicotine, is intended to be burned or heated under ordinary conditions of use, and consists of or contains:

(i) Any roll of tobacco wrapped in paper or in any substance not containing tobacco;

(ii) Tobacco, in any form, that is functional in the product which, because of its appearance, the type of tobacco used in the filler, or its packaging and labeling is likely to be offered to or purchased by consumers as a cigarette; or

(iii) Any roll of tobacco wrapped in any substance containing tobacco which, because of its appearance, the type of tobacco used in the filler, or its packaging and labeling is likely to be offered to or purchased by consumers as a cigarette described in subdivision (b)(1)(A)(i) of this section.

(B) “Cigarette” includes “roll your own”, which is any tobacco which, because of its appearance, type, packaging, or labeling is suitable for use and likely to be offered to or purchased by consumers as tobacco for making cigarettes.

(C) For purposes of this definition of “cigarette”, nine one-hundredths (0.09) of an ounce of “roll your own” tobacco shall constitute one (1) individual “cigarette”; and

(2) “Package” means a pack, carton, or container of any kind in which cigarettes are offered for sale, sold, or otherwise distributed or intended for distribution to consumers.

(c) Tax Stamps.

(1) No tax stamp may be affixed to or made upon any package of cigarettes if:

(A) The package differs in any respect with the requirements of the Federal Cigarette Labeling and Advertising Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1331 et seq., for the placement of labels, warnings, or any other information upon a package of cigarettes that is manufactured, packaged, or imported for sale, distribution, or use within the United States;

(B) The package is labeled “For Export Only”, “U.S. Tax Exempt”, “For Use Outside U.S.”, or similar wording indicating that the manufacturer did not intend that the product be sold in the United States;

(C) The cigarettes in the package do not comply with any other applicable requirements imposed pursuant to federal law and federal implementing regulations;

(D) The package in any way violates federal trademark or copyright laws;

(E) The package or a package containing individually stamped packages has been altered by adding or deleting the wording, labels, or warnings described in this subdivision (c)(1); or

(F) With respect to the cigarettes, any person is not in compliance with 15 U.S.C. § 1335a relating to submission of ingredient information to federal authorities, 19

U.S.C. §§ 1681-1681b relating to imports of certain cigarettes, 26 U.S.C. § 5754, relating to previously exported tobacco products, or any other federal law or implementing federal regulations.

(2) Any person who sells or holds for sale cigarette packages to which is affixed a tax stamp in violation of this section shall be subject to the penalties prescribed in subdivision (c)(5) of this section.

(3) The Arkansas Tobacco Control Board may revoke a wholesale or retail license of any person who sells or holds for sale cigarette packages to which is affixed a tax stamp in violation of this section.

(4) The Department of Finance and Administration or Arkansas Tobacco Control may seize and destroy or sell to the manufacturer only for export packages that do not comply with this section.

(5) A violation of this section is a deceptive act or practice and shall constitute a Class A misdemeanor.

(6) On or before the fifteenth business day of each month, each person licensed to affix the state tax stamp to cigarettes shall file with the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration for all cigarettes imported into the United States to which the person has affixed the tax stamp in the preceding month copies of the customs certificates with respect to the cigarettes required to be submitted by 19 U.S.C. § 1681a(c).

(7) Any person who sells, distributes, or manufactures cigarettes and sustains direct economic or commercial injury as a result of a violation of this section may bring an action in good faith for appropriate injunctive relief.

History. Acts 1999, No. 1285, §§ 1-3; 2001, No. 1545, §§ 1, 2; 2009, No. 785, § 29.

Amendments. The 2009 amendment made a minor stylistic change in (c)(3), and substituted “Arkansas Tobacco Control” for “the board” in (c)(4).

Case Notes

Gambling.

Gambling.

There is a narrow exception to the rule that chancery courts will refrain from interfering with prosecutorial functions, but that exception is limited to the chancery court's protection of property rights in the form of lawful businesses; it does not apply to forms of illegal gambling. Dickey v. Signal Peak Enters., 340 Ark. 276, 9 S.W.3d 517 (2000).

Where defendant was charged with possession of gambling devices and a jury found him not guilty by mistake of law due to his reliance upon inapplicable law in operating his arcade business, defendant's assertion of the defense was an admission that he had engaged in illegal conduct and, because the jury found defendant's machines were illegal, the trial court did not err in ordering the machines forfeited and destroyed. Mullins v. State, 359 Ark. 414, 198 S.W.3d 504 (2004).

Case Notes

Amusement Devices.

Any Money or Property.

Gambling Device.

Amusement Devices.

Three countertop machines were not gaming devices per se where no tokens, money, or prizes were offered in connection with the machines, and the countertop machines were specifically listed as amusement devices under subdivision (1) of this section; the machines were more akin to video arcade machines intended for amusement because a player inserted money and could play gambling-like games, but never received anything in return except amusement. State v. 26 Gaming Machs., 356 Ark. 47, 145 S.W.3d 368 (2004).

Any Money or Property.

When a pinball machine that gives free games, permissible under this section, is set up and the free games won on the machine are converted to cash by the proprietor's paying off these games in money, the machine clearly becomes a gaming device. Bostic v. City of Little Rock, 241 Ark. 671, 409 S.W.2d 825 (1966).

Gambling Device.

Just as devices described as slot machines in another case were determined to be illegal gaming devices, defendant's devices were gambling devices proscribed by § 5-66-104; because they were slot machines, they were expressly excluded by § 26-57-403(a) from the definition of amusement devices found at subdivision (1) of this section. Paris v. State, 87 Ark. App. 344, 192 S.W.3d 277 (2004).

26-57-403. Automatic money payoff mechanisms not legalized.

(a) Nothing contained in this section and §§ 26-57-401, 26-57-402, and 26-57-404 — 26-57-407 shall be deemed to legalize, authorize, license, or permit any machine commonly known as a slot machine, roscoe, or jackpot, or any machine equipped with any automatic money payoff mechanism.

(b) Any person owning or possessing an amusement device described in § 26-57-402 or any person employed by or acting on behalf of the person, who gives to any other person money for a noncash prize, toy, or novelty received as a reward in playing the amusement device or for free games won on the amusement device shall be guilty of a Class A misdemeanor.

Constitutionality.

Acts 1963, No. 527 which purported to amend Acts 1959, No. 148, § 69, was in violation of Ark. Const., Amend. No. 19 (Ark. Const., Art. 5, §§ 37-41), which prohibits any increase in taxes except by the vote of three-fourths of each house. Combs v. Glen Falls Ins. Co., 237 Ark. 745, 375 S.W.2d 809 (1964).

Notwithstanding the separability provision of Acts 1963, No. 527, § 2, the Supreme Court, in holding the tax increase provisions of Acts 1963, No. 527, amending Acts 1959, No. 148, § 69, invalid, held that the alternatives offered by the section to insurance companies of paying the higher tax or making extensive investments in Arkansas were complementary and interdependent and to enforce one without the other would be a perversion of legislative intent and equivalent to the enactment of a statute the General Assembly did not see fit to adopt. Combs v. Glen Falls Ins. Co., 237 Ark. 745, 375 S.W.2d 809 (1964).

Acts 1985, No. 804, § 32, provided, in part, that the act would be cumulative of prior laws, and that no prior law or part of a law would be deemed to be in conflict with the act unless failure to do so would prevent giving effect to an explicit provision of the act. As to applicability of Acts 1987, No. 1033, see Publisher's Notes, § 26-57-601.

(B) In no event shall the offset reduce the life premium tax due by more than seventy percent (70%).

(ii) On or before March 1 of 2000 and each year thereafter, any such authorized life or disability insurer, including health maintenance organizations, desiring to qualify under this provision shall furnish the appropriate data and request on forms prescribed by the commissioner.

(iii) However, for purposes of calculating the taxes under §§ 23-63-102 — 23-63-104, an insurer qualifying for a credit under this section shall compute the tax due under §§ 23-63-102 — 23-63-104, if any, by using an Arkansas premium tax

(c) (1) In addition to any premium tax credit not related to the same eligible property for which an insurer qualifies under subsection (a) of this section, there is allowed a premium tax credit for the amount of the Arkansas historic rehabilitation income tax credit allowed by the certification of completion issued by the Department of Arkansas Heritage under the Arkansas Historic Rehabilitation Income Tax Credit Act, § 26-51-2201 et seq.

(2) The premium tax credit under this subsection may be used to offset the premium tax imposed by §§ 26-57-603 — 26-57-605.

(3) The amount of the premium tax credit under this section that may be claimed by the taxpayer in a tax year shall not exceed the amount of premium tax due by the taxpayer.

Case Notes

Constitutionality.
Applicability.

Constitutionality.

The imposition of a so-called tax by Acts 1917, No. 264, § 1, consisting of a percentage of the premiums paid, upon corporations which insured in other states in companies not authorized to do business in this state was held invalid under U.S. Const. Amend. 14. Saint Louis Cotton Compress Co. v. Arkansas, 260 U.S. 346, 43 S. Ct. 125, 67 L. Ed. 297 (1922) (decision under prior law).

Acts 1931, No. 235, imposing a higher privilege tax on gross receipts of foreign companies, did not violate U.S. Const. Amend. 14, since the classification was neither capricious nor arbitrary. Central States Life Ins. Co. v. State, 190 Ark. 605, 80 S.W.2d 628 (1935) (decision under prior law).

Acts 1931, No. 235 was not passed in violation of Const. Art. 5, § 31, although passed by a mere majority vote, since funds derived therefrom were to be used for public health and the necessary expenses of state government. Central States Life Ins. Co. v. State, 190 Ark. 605, 80 S.W.2d 628 (1935) (decision under prior law).

Applicability.

Acts 1931, No. 235 was to apply to gross premium receipts for the entire year 1931, although practically one-half of the fiscal year 1931 expired before the act became effective. Du Laney v. Continental Life Ins. Co., 185 Ark. 517, 47 S.W.2d 1082 (1932) (decision under prior law).

Money paid for annuity insurance was taxable. State ex rel. Holt v. New York Life Ins. Co., 198 Ark. 820, 131 S.W.2d 639 (1939) (decision under prior law).

State was not entitled to recover in suit against life insurance company for back taxes on annuity insurance premiums where insurance company made report of the premiums collected and paid the taxes due thereon, there being no element of fraud in its failure to report its annuity premiums, as the administrative officers of the state were of the opinion that such premiums were not taxable. State ex rel. Holt v. New York Life Ins. Co., 198 Ark. 820, 131 S.W.2d 639 (1939) (decision under prior law).

26-57-611. Disposition of nonallocated funds.

The Insurance Commissioner shall deposit all premium taxes collected under this subchapter that are not allocated and appropriated for the various funds under the Workers' Compensation Law, § 11-9-101 et seq., for the Arkansas Fire and Police Pension Review Board and firemen's relief and pension funds under § 24-11-809 and for the Arkansas Fire and Police Pension Review Board and police officer's pension and relief funds under § 24-11-301 into the State Treasury as general revenues.

(2) It is further found and determined that the public policy of this state is to provide adequate fire protection services for property of citizens through the use of properly trained and equipped firefighters, and that the provisions of this section and §§ 14-284-401 — 14-284-409 are necessary in furtherance of the public health and safety.

(b) In addition to the premium taxes collected from insurers under other provisions of Arkansas law, each authorized insurer and each formerly authorized insurer shall pay to the Fire Protection Premium Tax Fund a tax at the rate of one-half of one percent (½%) on net direct written premiums for coverages upon real and personal property, including, but not limited to, fire, allied lines, farm owner and homeowner multiple peril, vehicle physical damage, and vehicle collision, or any combination thereof.

(e) (1) A premium tax payment shall be made upon a company check payable to the fund.

(2) If the cumulative premium tax payment is less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00), then the insurer may defer payment to the following quarter or quarters of the current calendar year but shall pay the tax no later than March 1 of the following year.

(f) The provisions of this section and § 14-284-401 et seq. are intended to be supplemental to current provisions of Arkansas law, and shall not be construed as repealing or superseding any other laws applicable thereto.

26-57-615. Domiciled insurers' premium tax credit for certain fees payable to other jurisdictions.

(a) If, by the laws of any state other than Arkansas or by the retaliatory laws of any state other than Arkansas, any insurer domiciled in Arkansas on or after April 6, 1993, shall be required to pay any fee based on the insurer's premium volume in such other state of licensure, and the fee imposed by such other state is due and payable either because the administrative and financial regulatory fee, "financial fee", based on premium volume assessed by the State Insurance Department Trust Fund Act, § 23-61-701 et seq., as it is popularly known, on insurers licensed in Arkansas and organized or domiciled in such other state is greater than the comparable fee assessed in such other state, or such other state has no comparable fee but requires payment on a retaliatory basis, then to the extent such fee amounts are legally due and are paid in such other state, any insurer domiciled in Arkansas on and after April 6, 1993, may claim a dollar-for-dollar credit for such fees paid against its annual premium taxes due the State of Arkansas under this subchapter, but such credit shall only be calculated on the amount which would not have been required to be paid in such other state of licensure in the absence of the existence of the financial fee assessed under the State Insurance Department Trust Fund Act, § 23-61-701 et seq., and in no event shall the credit permitted by this section exceed ninety percent (90%) of the insurer's annual premium tax due the State of Arkansas.

(b) (1) Credits permitted in subsection (a) of this section shall be reported annually on March 1.

(2) The Insurance Commissioner shall prescribe the forms for reporting such credits and further shall examine insurer claims for credit made under this section.

(3) If the commissioner shall determine that any amount for which a credit shall have been claimed was not legally due to another state, or that an error exists in the amount of the credit shown on such return, or the amount claimed is a refund or refunded, the commissioner shall take appropriate action under any and all civil and administrative Arkansas laws at the commissioner's disposal, including suspension or revocation of the Arkansas certificate of authority of the noncomplying insurer, for collection and recovery of the premium tax due resulting from the disallowance of a claim for credit made under this section or to disallow any such claim for refund.

(b) No amended tax report or verified claim for credit or refund of an overpayment of any insurance premium tax collected under §§ 11-9-301 — 11-9-307, 23-75-119, 23-76-131, or this subchapter shall be filed after five (5) years from the date the tax report was required to be filed or the date the tax report was filed, whichever period expires later, nor shall any credit, overpayment, or previously unclaimed offset, deduction, or other reduction be paid or allowed.

Therefore an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1991."

Acts 1991, No. 1211, § 9: July 1, 1991. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.” Acts 2009, No. 180, § 6: Mar. 1, 2009. Case Notes

Constitutionality.

In General.

Applicability.

Retailers Subject to Tax.

Constitutionality.

A retail dealer of soft drinks had standing to challenge the constitutionality of this section as an illegal exaction, notwithstanding that the tax imposed by the statute only applies to distributors, manufacturers, and wholesale dealers, because it had paid and would continue to pay the full amount of the tax, which its distributor passed on to it in a separately itemized charge on its sales invoices. Ghegan & Ghegan, Inc. v. Weiss, 338 Ark. 9, 991 S.W.2d 536 (1999).

In General.

The tax imposed by this section is one on products, not individuals. Ghegan & Ghegan, Inc. v. Barclay, 345 Ark. 514, 49 S.W.3d 652 (2001).

It is clear from the context of §§ 26-57-901 and this section that two different products are taxed: this section specifically distinguishes syrups from powders in its imposition of taxes. Ghegan & Ghegan, Inc. v. Barclay, 345 Ark. 514, 49 S.W.3d 652 (2001).

This chapter does not treat retailers — or the distributors, wholesalers, or manufacturers — differently; all are taxed the same. It is the product that is taxed differently. Ghegan & Ghegan, Inc. v. Barclay, 345 Ark. 514, 49 S.W.3d 652 (2001).

Applicability.

All Arkansas licensed soft drink distributors, as the parties or sellers responsible for collecting the tax, have the option of (1) including the tax in the cost of the product or (2) separately stating the tax on the invoice or document of sale. Foxsmith, Inc. v. Coca-Cola Bottling Co., 323 Ark. 13, 912

S.W.2d 923 (1996).

Retailers Subject to Tax.

The one "subject to" the tax means the one who must file a monthly return and remit the tax to the state. Foxsmith, Inc. v. Coca-Cola Bottling Co., 323 Ark. 13, 912 S.W.2d 923 (1996).

Effective Dates. Acts 1997, No. 434, § 18: July 1, 1997. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined that cancer is a leading cause of death among Arkansans; that, of cancer deaths, breast cancer claims more lives of women than any other type except lung cancer; that there are nineteen hundred (1900) new cases of breast cancer diagnosed each year; that breast cancer mortality rates have increased in Arkansas in recent years; that presently breast cancer is claiming the lives of over four hundred seventy (470) women in Arkansas each year; that this number of deaths will increase as our population grows older; that information barriers result in women being unaware of the risk of breast cancer or the value of early detection; that financial barriers prevent some women from taking advantage of mammography; and that there is a lack of funding for breast cancer research in the state; it is further found and determined that to reduce the number of lives continuing to be needlessly lost, it is necessary to increase the state tax on cigarettes and tobacco products to provide funding for breast cancer, to provide for screening, diagnostic, and treatment services for women at risk of developing breast cancer and to assure continuing research with respect to the cause, cure and prevention of breast cancer. This act will provide greatly needed revenues to fund essential research and services with respect to the cause, cure, detection and prevention of breast cancer, and breast cancer education in the state. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1997."

Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly, that the Constitution of the State of Arkansas prohibits the appropriation of funds for more than a two (2) year period; that the effectiveness of this Act on July 1, 2001 is essential to the operation of the agency for which the appropriations in this Act are provided, and that in the event of an extension of the Regular Session, the delay in the effective date of this Act beyond July 1, 2001 could work irreparable harm upon the proper administration and provision of essential governmental programs. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 2001."

Acts 2001, No. 1698, § 4: July 1, 2001. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly that changes in distributions and funding sources must take place at the beginning of the state fiscal year in order to maintain approved accounting standards and to reduced confusion and that in the event of an extended session, this act may not take effect until after July 1 thereby placing the funding of the breast cancer program in jeopardy. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2001.”

Acts 2005, No. 2219, § 2: July 1, 2005. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on July 1, 2005.”

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 2007.”

Effective Dates. Acts 1997, No. 928, § 21: Jan. 1, 1998. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found by the General Assembly: (1) that it is impractical for the persons who are operators of vending devices, as defined by this Vending Devices Decal Act, to collect the state and local Gross Receipts (Sales) Taxes on the gross proceeds or gross receipts they realize from the sale of goods and services made through vending devices, inasmuch as such vendors do not deal in person with their customers at the point of sale; (2) that mechanical limitations on such vending devices dictate that prices for goods or services dispensed by these devices be adjusted in increments of five cents ($.05); (3) that the Sales Taxes imposed upon the sales made by vending devices must be borne by the persons who are the operators of such vending devices from the gross proceeds or gross receipts received for such sales (where other vendors are able to collect such state and local Gross Receipts (Sales) Taxes from their customers in addition to the gross receipts or gross proceeds they receive from their customer for the sale of similar goods and services as those sold by vending devices); (4) that the General Assembly finds this situation is unfair and discriminatory to the persons who are the operators of such vending devices; (5) that the states surrounding Arkansas have all recognized this specific problem imposed upon sales made by vending devices and have each provided some form of legislative relief for the persons who are operators of vending devices from their states' respective Sales Tax laws; (6) that a record was established under the prior Vending Device Decal Act that certain operators of vending devices were forced to be covered by paying the decal fee, when such operators preferred another method of taxation; (7) that it has been established that there was once a serious problem of compliance and accountability in this state with the payment of Sales Taxes on sales made by vending devices, due to the cash nature of such sales without receipts being prepared; and (8) that it being the intent of the General Assembly to place all persons who are operators of vending devices that elected to pay their taxes by way of this simplified vending device decal fee system (in lieu of paying the general state and local Gross Receipts (Sales) Taxes or special Vending Devices Sales Taxes) on the same competitive planes. Therefore an emergency is declared to exist, and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect as of January 1, 1998."

Acts 2003 (2nd Ex. Sess.), No. 107, § 12: became law without Governor's signature, Mar. 1, 2004. Emergency clause provided: "It is found and determined by the General Assembly, that the provision of an equal opportunity for an adequate education to all the citizens of the state is imperative; that additional funds are immediately needed to provide an equal opportunity for an adequate education; that this act is designed to provide the additional revenues needed to provide this equal opportunity to all citizens; and that a delay in the effective date of this act will cause irreparable harm upon the provision of essential education opportunities and the proper administration of educational programs. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after the date of March 1, 2004."

26-57-1217. Purpose.

The purpose for the enactment of this subchapter is to provide a simplified method for the operators of such vending devices to be able to pay their proportionate amount of state and local taxes, without being required to maintain complex financial records that would otherwise be required of such operators who are in the unique position among retailers in this state of not being able to pass the cost of sales taxes directly on to their customers, and to assure that the State of Arkansas and its cities and counties collect their fair share of taxes from what is almost entirely a cash business.

Case Notes

Constitutionality.

Federal Preemption.

Constitutionality.

This section and § 26-57-261 did not violate a tobacco importer's First Amendment rights where its only complaint, a loss of competitive advantage, did not unconstitutionally burden speech, whether considered personal or commercial. Int'l Tobacco Ptnrs., LTD v. Beebe, 420 F. Supp. 2d 989 (W.D. Ark. 2006).

Federal Preemption.

Tobacco importer's claim that the allocable share amendment set forth in § 26-57-261 and this section violated 15 U.S.C.S. § 1 was dismissed where the amendment did not mandate price-setting or output price fixing by private parties and, as a result, the state statutes were not preempted by the Sherman Act. Int'l Tobacco Ptnrs., LTD v. Beebe, 420 F. Supp. 2d 989 (W.D. Ark. 2006).

26-57-1304. Requirement for agent for service of process.

(2) The service shall constitute legal and valid service of process on the nonparticipating manufacturer.

(3) The nonparticipating manufacturer shall provide the name, address, phone number, and proof of the appointment and availability of the agent to and to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(b) (1) The nonparticipating manufacturer shall provide notice to the Attorney General thirty (30) calendar days before the termination of the authority of an agent and shall provide proof to the satisfaction of the Attorney General of the appointment of a new agent no less than five (5) calendar days before the termination of an existing agent appointment.

Preambles. Acts 1977, No. 456 contained a preamble which read:

“WHEREAS, Section 4 of Act 136 of 1947 requires the producer or person severing natural resources to report monthly to the Commissioner of Revenues natural resources severed during the preceding month and pay the taxes thereon and Section 7 of Act 136 of 1947 requires the purchaser of severed natural resources to report monthly natural resources purchased by him and makes the purchaser liable for any unpaid severance taxes thereon; and

“Whereas, the requirement that both the producer and the purchaser file the monthly report causes a great deal of duplication of effort and such dual reporting is not necessary to assure that the proper severance taxes are paid; and

“Whereas, it is in the best interest of the producers and the purchasers that such duplication of effort be removed by providing that either the producer or the purchaser shall file the monthly report and pay the taxes but that both need not do so;

Effective Dates. Acts 1947, No. 136, § 15: approved Mar. 3, 1947. Emergency clause provided:

“It has been found and is hereby declared by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that existing laws providing for the distribution of state revenues are such that a moderate diminution of certain of the revenues would have the effect of curtailing the activities of certain necessary agencies of the State Government, and that only the provisions of this act will correct a situation which otherwise may deprive the citizens of this state from receiving the benefits which the operation of the State Government contemplates. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage.”

Acts 1947, No. 299, § 2: approved Mar. 19, 1947. Emergency clause provided: “It has been found and is hereby declared by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that existing laws providing for the taxing of severance of timber from the soil do not tax the severance of timber upon its proper basis; that great confusion has resulted due to the fact that timber is taxed upon the basis of the finished or manufactured product and not upon the basis of measure used in the severance of timber; therefore, this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, safety and for the fair and impartial administration of justice an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act shall take full force and effect from and after its passage.”

Acts 1953, No. 42, § 13: approved Feb. 9, 1953. Emergency clause provided: “It has been found and is hereby declared by the General Assembly that the inadequacy of the state's program of fire control with respect to forest trees was graphically demonstrated in the immediate past months when losses, both actual and potential, by forest fires amounted to untold millions of dollars, and threatened the lives of many people living within the fire areas; and that only the provisions of this act will provide funds in amounts sufficient to provide comprehensive protection of forest trees, and reduce the incidence of losses as aforesaid in the future. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage.”

determined by the General Assembly that the five percent (5%) severance tax levied on the market value of such mussel shells is an undue tax burden upon the severers of such shells; that such a tax stifles competition and makes it impossible for the Arkansas mussel shell industry to compete with the mussel shell industries of neighboring states who are not so heavily taxed; and that only by the passage of this act can this burden be lifted and competition restored. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 2008 (1st Ex. Sess.), Nos. 4 and 5, § 12: Apr. 2, 2008. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly that state and local roads and highways are in need of substantial expansion, maintenance and repair, and that additional funding is necessary to address this need. It is also found and determined that increasing development and exploitation of natural gas resources in the Fayetteville Shale Play and in other areas of this state has significantly increased the burden and wear and tear on state and local roads and highway, further exacerbating the need for maintenance and repair. It is also found and determined that previous surpluses in state revenue have been largely spent to improve public education and educational facilities in this state, as was required by the Constitution as interpreted by the Arkansas Supreme Court in the Lake View case and additional revenues must be generated from other sources to address the needs of our roads and highways. It is further found and determined that due to recent and dramatic increases in the price of gasoline, and the fact that funds for highways are generated from a flat per-gallon tax, the increasing use of more fuel-efficient vehicles has caused a condition in which revenue for roads and highways has not kept pace with the wear and tear caused by vehicular use. It is further found and determined that immediate enactment of this bill is necessary to provide adequate time for various administrative agencies of state government to prepare the necessary reporting forms and instructions, to educate taxpayers responsible for paying the additional taxes levied herein, and take other steps necessary for the proper implementation and administration of this act. Therefore, the General Assembly hereby finds and declares that an emergency exists, pursuant to Article V, § 38 of the Arkansas Constitution, and this Act, being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after January 1, 2009.”

Acts 2009, No. 145, § 5: Feb. 12, 2009. Emergency clause provided: “It is found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that natural gas is a unique resource that cannot be reported accurately under the existing language of the Arkansas Code. This act will alleviate the reporting problems currently burdening the state and provide the state with more accurate information. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

A.C.R.C. Notes. The 2008 (1st Ex. Sess.), Nos. 4 and 5, § 1, provided: “Legislative findings and intent.

(a) The General Assembly has determined that the severance tax rate on natural gas should be increased and that there should be different rates of tax for different categories of natural gas.

(b) Amendment 19 of the Arkansas Constitution required this act to be passed by at least three-fourths of the members of the Senate and at least three-fourths of the members of the House of Representatives.

(c) In order to implement the increase in the severance tax rate, the General Assembly has identified the following four categories of natural gas, each as defined in Arkansas Code § 26-58-101:

“(1) High-cost gas;

“(2) Marginal gas;

“(3) New discovery gas; and

“(4) All natural gas that is not defined as high-cost gas, marginal gas, or new discovery gas.

(d) To increase the severance tax rate, the General Assembly used the method of levying a specific tax rate on each category so that any future legislative enactment that would have the effect of increasing the rate of severance tax on any of those categories of natural gas as defined by § 26-58-101 will also be subject to the three-fourths vote requirement of Amendment 19 of the Arkansas Constitution.”

Amendments. The 2008 (1st Ex. Sess.) amendment by identical acts Nos. 4 and 5, effective January 1, 2009, inserted present (2) through (4), (6) through (10), (12) through (14), and (20) and redesignated the remaining subdivisions accordingly; in (15) and (22), inserted “timber or” and substituted “excluding natural gas” for “or timber”; substituted “(19)” for “(8)” in (19)(B) and (C); and, in (23), inserted “severed” and substituted “to any” for “from the point of severance, or other.”

Case Notes

Severance.

Severance.

Where crude oil produced was partly sold by the producer and partly used to generate steam for a well injection process to increase the productivity of the producer's wells, that portion of the oil used in the injection process was held to be subject to the severance tax, although it was not, and was not intended to be, sold, traded, or produced for commercial purposes. Phillips Pet. Co. v. Heath, 254 Ark. 847, 497 S.W.2d 30 (1973) (decision prior to 1973 amendment).

Where a person had been engaged for many years in the business of cleaning out a substance known as basic sediment and water from oil field storage tanks, he did not have to pay severance taxes when he removed the sediment from the tanks during his cleaning operation, since the oil contained in the sediment was worthless at the time of removal, and also since, for purposes of this subchapter, the time and place of the severance of this substance, which collected at the bottom of the tanks, was the same as for the oil in the upper part of the tanks. Horton v. Gaddy, 268 Ark. 183, 594 S.W.2d 848 (1980).

Case Notes

County Highways.

Evidence.

Railroads.

County Highways.

County was not liable to state for severance tax where it removed gravel following purchase for use on highway. Scurlock v. Greene County, 223 Ark. 507, 266 S.W.2d 811 (1954).

Evidence.

In suit by state for royalty and severance tax alleged due Arkansas by holder of sand and gravel lease from the state, introduction of evidence as to nonnavigability of stream from whose banks the sand was taken was erroneous and highly prejudicial as tenant of the state could not be heard to dispute state's title. Scurlock v. Clark, 224 Ark. 160, 272 S.W.2d 58 (1954).

Railroads.

Railroad severing gravel from its land and using it to ballast and otherwise maintain its tracks was not engaged in business of severing natural resources for commercial purposes and not subject to tax. McLeod v. Kansas City S. Ry., 206 Ark. 281, 175 S.W.2d 391 (1943) (decision under prior law).

26-58-109. Tax additional to property tax.

26-58-110. Additional privilege or excise taxes prohibited.

No other privilege or excise taxes in addition to the severance tax shall be imposed upon the right to utilize natural resources and timber.

History. Acts 1947, No. 136, § 11; 1947, No. 299, § 1; 1983, No. 254, § 9; A.S.A. 1947, § 84-2111.

The severance tax is to be predicated upon the quantity severed and at the following rates:

(1) On barite, bauxite, titanium ore, manganese and manganiferous ores, zinc ore, and cinnabar, fifteen cents (15¢) per ton of two thousand pounds (2,000 lbs.);

(2) On coal, lignite, and iron ore, two cents (2¢) per ton of two thousand pounds (2,000 lbs.);

(3) On gypsum not used for manufacturing within Arkansas into ultimate consumer's goods, or sold for manufacturing within Arkansas into ultimate consumer's goods, and chemical grade limestone, silica sand, and dimension stone, one and one-half cents (1½¢) per ton of two thousand pounds (2,000 lbs.);

(4) On crushed stone including, but not limited to, chert, granite, slate, novaculite, and limestone, and on construction sand, gravel, clay, chalk, shale, and marl, one cent (1¢) per ton of two thousand pounds (2,000 lbs.);

(5) On natural gas, the following percent of the market value of the natural gas severed within the State of Arkansas:

(A) On new discovery gas, as defined in § 26-58-101(12), the severance tax rate shall be one and one-half percent (1.5%) for the time period provided in § 26-58-127(a);

(B) On high-cost gas, as defined in § 26-58-101(6), the severance tax rate shall be one and one-half percent (1.5%) for the time periods provided in § 26-58-127(b);

(C) On marginal gas, as defined in § 26-58-101(8), the severance tax rate shall be one and one-quarter percent (1.25%); and

(D) On all natural gas that is not defined as new discovery gas, high-cost gas, or marginal gas, the severance tax rate shall be five percent (5%);

(6) (A) On oil, five percent (5%) of the market value at time and point of severance.

(B) However, whenever the production of oil from a well which is measured separately or from a group of wells which is measured separately, including any well or wells that are utilized for the injection of salt water or other effluents for pressure maintenance or secondary recovery purposes, averages ten (10) barrels or less per well per day during any calendar month, the privilege or license tax on oil produced from that well or group of wells during that month shall be computed at the rate of four percent (4%) of the market value at time and point of severance.

(C) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration shall have the power to promulgate such reasonable rules and regulations as shall be necessary to effectively enforce the foregoing provisions;

(7) On timber, the tax shall be collected, reported, and remitted by each primary processor and shall be computed on the weight of such timber as determined at the last time the timber is weighed prior to undergoing the first processing after severance thereof and shall be at the following rates:

(A) On all pine timber, seventeen and eight-tenths cents (17.8¢) per ton of two thousand pounds (2,000 lbs.);

(B) On all other timber, twelve and five-tenths cents (12.5¢) per ton of two thousand pounds (2,000 lbs.); and

(C) (i) If any primary processor of timber is unable to weigh the timber as required herein because an approved weight scale is not available, the primary processor shall use the following conversion factors to convert other measurements of timber to weight:

SAWTIMBER:
Pine	16,000 Lbs./M
All Other	16,000 Lbs./M
PULPWOOD:
Pine	5,000 Lbs./Co

HANDLE AND OTHER CORDS	6,000 Lbs./Co
CHEMICAL CORDS	6,000 Lbs./Co
WHOLE TREE CHIPS:
Pine	5,000 Lbs./Co
All Other	6,000 Lbs./Co

(ii) If the above conversion factors are not appropriate for conversion of any particular measurement of timber to weight, the director, with the advice and approval of the Arkansas Forestry Commission, shall develop an appropriate conversion procedure to produce equivalent rates;

(8) On diamonds, fuller's earth, ochre, natural asphalt, native sulphur, salt, pearls and other precious stones, whetstone, novaculite, and on all other natural resources, except gypsum, not otherwise specifically identified under the severance tax laws of this state, except mussel shells, five percent (5%) of the fair market value at the time of severance;

(9) On salt water whose naturally dissolved components, or solutes, are used as source raw materials for bromine and other products derived from the same salt water used in the bromine production, two dollars and forty-five cents ($2.45) per one thousand (1,000) barrels, forty-two thousand United States gallons (42,000 U.S. gals.); and

(10) (A) Except as provided in subdivision (10)(B) of this section, on all other natural resources not otherwise specifically identified under the severance tax laws of this state, five percent (5%) of the market value at time and point of severance.

(B) (i) Biomass used primarily for the purpose of biofuel production is not subject to a severance tax.

(ii) As used in subdivision (10)(B)(i) of this section, "biomass" means any woody biomass that is grown for use in biofuels and is not grown for the

A.C.R.C. Notes. The 2008 (1st Ex. Sess.), Nos. 4 and 5, § 1, provided: “Legislative findings and intent.

(a) The General Assembly has determined that the severance tax rate on natural gas should be increased and that there should be different rates of tax for different categories of natural gas.

(b) Amendment 19 of the Arkansas Constitution required this act to be passed by at least three-fourths of the members of the Senate and at least three-fourths of the members of the House of Representatives.

(c) In order to implement the increase in the severance tax rate, the General Assembly has identified the following four categories of natural gas, each as defined in Arkansas Code § 26-58-101:

“(1) High-cost gas;

“(2) Marginal gas;

“(3) New discovery gas; and

“(4) All natural gas that is not defined as high-cost gas, marginal gas, or new discovery gas.

(d) To increase the severance tax rate, the General Assembly used the method of levying a specific tax rate on each category so that any future legislative enactment that would have the effect of increasing the rate of severance tax on any of those categories of natural gas as defined by § 26-58-101 will also be subject to the three-fourths vote requirement of Amendment 19 of the Arkansas Constitution.”

Amendments. The 2008 (1st Ex. Sess.) amendment by identical acts Nos. 4 and 5, effective January 1, 2009, rewrote (5).

The 2009 amendment by No. 655 substituted “(12.5¢)” for “(12½¢)” in (7)(B); and inserted “and” at the end of (7)(B) and (9).

The 2009 amendment by No. 737 added (10)(B), redesignated the remaining text of (10) accordingly, inserted “Except as provided in subdivision (10)(B) of this section” in (10)(A), and made related changes.

Effective Dates. Acts 2008 (1st Ex. Sess.), Nos. 4 and 5, § 7: Jan. 1, 2009, by their own terms.

26-58-116. Purchasers' reports and payment of tax — Penalties for noncompliance.

(a) (1) Unless a purchaser of natural resources, excluding natural gas, is excused in writing by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration in advance of the report filing deadline from filing a report, a purchaser of natural resources, excluding natural gas, shall file with the director a verified report within twenty (20) days after the end of each month in a form or forms prescribed by the director that states:

(A) The names and addresses of all producers from whom the purchaser has acquired natural resources during the respective month;

(B) The types and total quantity of each type of the natural resources acquired and the purchase price; and

(C) Any other information as the director reasonably may require for the proper enforcement of this subchapter.

(b) (1) Unless a purchaser of natural gas is excused in writing by the director in advance of the report filing deadline from filing a report, a purchaser of natural gas shall file with the director a report in a form or forms prescribed by the director that states:

(A) The names, addresses, and severance tax permit numbers of all producers from whom the purchaser has purchased natural gas during each calendar month;

(B) The total quantity of natural gas acquired and the purchase price; and

(C) Any other information as the director may reasonably require for the proper enforcement of this subchapter.

(2) The purchaser of natural gas shall file each monthly report required under this subsection (b) on or before the twenty-fifth day of the second month following the month that is covered by the report.

(c) (1) It is the duty of each purchaser of natural resources, excluding natural gas, to ascertain in advance of permitting the natural resources so purchased to be processed or otherwise changed from the natural state thereof at the time of severance or to be transported for the purpose of such processing or other change that the severance tax upon the natural resources has been paid.

(2) Each purchaser of natural gas shall determine in advance of filing the report under subsection (b) of this section that each producer from whom the purchaser has purchased natural gas has been issued a severance tax permit number and furnish the director the severance tax permit number of each producer under subsection (b) of this section.

(3) (A) The purchaser of natural resources, excluding natural gas, is primarily liable for any unpaid severance tax in the event of failure to make such advance ascertainment.

(B) Each purchaser of natural gas is primarily liable for any unpaid severance tax that is attributable to a producer from whom the purchaser purchased natural gas if the purchaser fails to furnish the director with all of the information required in subsection (b) of this section.

(4) However, the purchaser as a condition to permitting the processing or other change of such natural resources, excluding natural gas, as to which the severance tax shall not have been paid by the producer may himself or herself pay such tax either in advance or, with the advance written approval of the director for cause shown to the director, within twenty (20) days after commencing the processing or other change of the natural resources or the transportation thereof for such purpose.

(d) (1) Unless the director has given advance written approval for the removal under subsection (a) of this section, the removal by the purchaser of natural resources, excluding natural gas, to any point of concentration or assembly, either inside or outside the state, without the severance tax having been previously paid by the producer or the purchaser is a fraudulent concealment of the location of the natural resources with the intent to avoid the payment of the severance tax.

(2) Unless the director has given advance written approval for the removal, the removal by the producer, purchaser, or primary processor of any timber to any point outside the state without the severance tax having been paid on the timber is unlawful.

(e) (1) Upon conviction, each removal described in subdivision (d)(1) of this section by the purchaser of natural resources, excluding natural gas, is a violation punishable by a fine of at least fifty dollars ($50.00) and not more than five hundred dollars ($500).

of natural gas, or primary processor to file a monthly report required by this section is a violation punishable by a fine of at least fifty dollars ($50.00) and not more than five hundred dollars ($500).

Withholding of Tax.

In General.

Withholding of Tax.

This section and the administrative regulations promulgated thereunder are not an attempt to collect a severance tax upon rough lumber as such, but a levy upon the severing of timber and timber products, and supplement statutes require specified processing mills in connection with their purchases of such timber and timber products to withhold from the seller any amount of tax still owed to the state, and it does not require a purchaser of rough lumber to pay a tax thereon even though the severance tax has already been paid upon the timber from which the lumber is made. Bradley Lumber Co. v. Cheney, 226 Ark. 857, 295 S.W.2d 765 (1956).

(b) Amendment 19 of the Arkansas Constitution required this act to be passed by at least three-fourths of the members of the Senate and at least three-fourths of the members of the House of Representatives.

(c) In order to implement the increase in the severance tax rate, the General Assembly has identified the following four categories of natural gas, each as defined in Arkansas Code § 26-58-101:

(1) High-cost gas;

(2) Marginal gas;

(3) New discovery gas; and

(4) All natural gas that is not defined as high-cost gas, marginal gas, or new discovery gas.

(d) To increase the severance tax rate, the General Assembly used the method of levying a specific tax rate on each category so that any future legislative enactment that would have the effect of increasing the rate of severance tax on any of those categories of natural gas as defined by § 26-58-101 will also be subject to the three-fourths vote requirement of Amendment 19 of the Arkansas Constitution."

Emergency clause provided: "It appearing that many persons of wealth are leaving the State of Arkansas on account of the high inheritance taxes of this State and other people of wealth are refusing to move into the State of Arkansas on account of such high inheritance taxes, the Legislature hereby declares that an emergency exists and this act, being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, shall take effect and be in full force from and after the date of its passage and approval."

Acts 1943, No. 99, § 2: effective on passage.

Acts 1943, No. 142, § 4: Mar. 4, 1943. Emergency clause provided: "There being many estates in Arkansas now pending in litigation and which litigation will extend for more than a period of one year as heretofore provided by this Act, and if such interest be collected from said estates the collection thereof will be an imposition upon the estate and over which the executor or administrator has no control. An emergency is therefore declared to exist, and this Act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1945, No. 156, § 5: approved Mar. 2, 1945. Emergency clause provided: "It is ascertained and found, by the General Assembly, that there are many instances in this State where no effort has been made during a period of many years to collect inheritance taxes chiefly because the collecting authorities had no knowledge that such a tax was due, and that in such cases the property belonging to the estates involved is subject to the tax liens which constitute a cloud upon the title to such estates, seriously hamper transfers and conveyances of such property and may be costly, to innocent purchasers. Therefore, the passage of this act being necessary for the public peace, health and safety, it shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage."

Acts 1947, No. 388, § 2: Mar. 28, 1947. Emergency clause provided: "There being confusion under the provisions of existing estate tax laws as to the proper determination and computation of the exact amount of such tax due this state, it is declared to be the intention of this Act to authorize the collection of estate taxes due this state the amount of the Federal credit allowable under the Federal Estate Tax Laws, from and after the passage and approval of this Act, as to all estates of decedents dying after June 7, 1945, and to clarify such uncertainty, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this Act shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1949, No. 284, § 3: Mar. 19, 1949. Emergency clause provided: "This Act is being passed for the purpose of correcting the collection of taxes against the estates of nonresidents which estates are now inadvertently exempt from the payment of estate taxes on intangible personal property located in this State. Whereas such tax is collectible against residents of this State, and because of the inequality of such provisions, an emergency is declared to exist and this Act shall be in full force and effect upon and after its passage and approval."

Acts 1953, No. 188, § 3: Mar. 2, 1953. Emergency clause provided: "Since confusion and misunderstanding exists in the collection of Estate Taxes of residents and nonresidents owning property in this State and other states and there being no harmony between the imposition of taxes in such estates, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public health, peace and safety, the same shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1955, No. 122, § 3: Mar. 2, 1955. Emergency clause provided: “Whereas, Act 99 of 1943 was passed prior to the amendments to the Internal Revenue Code allowing the so-called marital deduction; and whereas said Act 99 has been construed as imposing a tax burden on the surviving spouse even though the property received by such spouse is deductible for Federal Estate Tax purposes; and whereas this has had the effect of reducing the amount of the marital deduction and thereby increasing the amount of Federal Estate Tax paid by estates of Arkansas decedents; and whereas it was not the intention of said Act 99 to increase the tax burden and reduce the total value of the estates of Arkansas decedents; and whereas this situation should be promptly corrected; now, therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of public peace, health and safety, shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1963, No. 25, § 3: Feb. 8, 1963. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the general assembly that the laws of this state applicable to estate taxes, inheritance taxes or transfer taxes do not contain exemptions for bequests to nonprofit educational institutions; that such laws are working an undue hardship upon non-profit educational institutions of this state and are depriving such institutions of the benefits of bequests to such institutions made by residents of other states; and that clarification of the present law is needed to correct such situation. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval, and that the estates of any Arkansas citizens which are entitled to file a deferral election, pursuant to the provisions of 26 U.S.C. § 6166 of the federal tax laws, shall be entitled to have such federal

Construction.

Applicable Federal Revenue Act.

Construction.

When construing estate tax law, the court may consider administrative construction and practice. Moses v. McLeod, 207 Ark. 252, 180 S.W.2d 110 (1944).

Applicable Federal Revenue Act.

The provisions of the federal revenue act referred to are the federal revenue law in force when this chapter was adopted and not the provisions of federal law as subsequently amended.

McLeod v. Commercial Nat'l Bank, 206 Ark. 1086, 178 S.W.2d 496 (1944); State ex rel.

Commissioner of Revenues v. Carney, 208 Ark. 943, 188 S.W.2d 310 (1945).

This chapter, having made the gross estate and the net estate depend on the applicable federal revenue act, life insurance up to the value of $40,000 payable to beneficiaries was excluded from the gross estate. State ex rel. Commissioner of Revenues v. Carney, 208 Ark. 943, 188 S.W.2d 310 (1945).

Where the federal estate tax law allowed an exemption for property received within five years from an estate on which the estate tax had been paid, this state was required to permit the same exemption. Cook v. Taylor, 210 Ark. 803, 197 S.W.2d 738 (1946).

26-59-103. Chapter to remain in effect while federal government imposes estate tax.

This chapter shall remain in force and effect so long as the United States Government retains in full force and effect, as a part of the revenue laws of the United States, the present federal estate tax, and this chapter shall cease to be operative when the federal credit for state death taxes set forth in 26 U.S.C. § 2011 is repealed completely for the estates of decedents dying on or after January 1, 2005.

History. Acts 1941, No. 136, § 46; A.S.A. 1947, § 63-145; Acts 2003, No. 645, § 1.

Amendments. The 2003 amendment substituted “federal credit for state death taxes January 1, 2005” for “United States Government ceases to impose any estate tax of the United States.”

Case Notes

Computation of Tax.

Computation of Tax.

Where net estate exceeded $100,000, the tax on the excess was 80% of the basic federal estate tax, which was the credit allowable under the federal law. Moses v. McLeod, 207 Ark. 252, 180 S.W.2d 110 (1944); Cook v. Taylor, 210 Ark. 803, 197 S.W.2d 738 (1946) (decisions prior to 1945 amendment).

Wills and Estates.

Neither the parties or the Supreme Court were bound by a decision of the Internal Revenue Service as to the construction of a will and codicil under Arkansas law, nor did subsection (a) of this section mandate that interpretation. Pledger v. Worthen Bank & Trust Co., 319 Ark. 155, 889 S.W.2d 732 (1994).

26-59-107. Tax imposed — Nonresident estates.

(a) A tax is imposed upon the transfer of all real, tangible, and intangible personal property located in the State of Arkansas of any nonresident of this state in a sum equal to the proportion of the federal credit allowable under the federal estate tax laws, 26 U.S.C. § 2001 et seq., as in effect on January 1, 2002, for estate, inheritance, legacy, and succession taxes that the Arkansas property of such a deceased person bears to the property of the entire estate, wherever located.

(b) “Arkansas property” shall be construed to include, without limiting its generality by this specification, the following items of intangible personal property:

(1) Debts including bank deposits owed to the decedent by any individual resident in this state, or by any bank or other corporation organized under the laws of this state, or by any national bank doing business in this state without regard to the physical location of any written evidence of indebtedness; and

(2) Shares of the capital stock of any corporation organized under the laws of this state without regard to the physical location of the stock certificate.

(c) However, if the decedent at the time of death was a resident of a state or territory of the United States that, at the time of his or her death, provides an exemption to a resident of this state from transfer or death taxes, then the nonresident of the other state or territory shall be exempt from the payment of the estate or inheritance tax in this state.

(d) However, if no federal estate tax is imposed upon the transfer of property, no Arkansas estate tax shall be imposed on the transfer of property.

Publisher's Notes. Acts 1983, No. 379, § 19, purported to amend "Section 1 of Act 388 of 1947 and Section 21 of Act 136 of 1941, as amended, the same having been Arkansas Statute 63-120." Acts 1941, No. 136, § 21, was formerly compiled as A.S.A. 1947, § 63-120; Acts 1947, No. 388, § 1, repealed Acts 1941, No. 136, § 21, as to estates of decedents dying after March 28, 1947. The general rule of statutory construction is that a repealed statute cannot be amended. However, in order to give effect to the apparent intent of the legislature pending either a subsequent legislative action or a judicial construction of this provision, Acts 1983, No. 379, § 19, has been codified in this section as an amendment to the 1941 and 1947 provisions, carrying references to all three acts in the historical citation of the section.

Amendments. The 2003 amendment, in (a)(1) and (a)(2), substituted "three million five hundred thousand dollars ($3,500,000)" for "one million dollars ($1,000,000)" and "composing" for "comprising"; in (a)(3), substituted "Subdivisions (a)(1) and (a)(2)" for "Subdivision (a)(1)," "$3,500,000" for "$1,000,000," deleted information for 1999 through 2001 in the table, substituted

Publisher's Notes. Acts 1983, No. 379, § 20, purported to amend "Section 22 of Act 136 of 1941, as amended, by a repealing clause of Subsection (a) of Section 48 of Act 401 of 1979." Acts 1941, No. 136, § 22, was formerly compiled as A.S.A. 1947, § 63-121, but was repealed by Acts 1979, No. 401, § 48, effective January 1, 1980. The general rule of statutory construction is that a repealed statute cannot be amended. However, in order to give effect to the apparent intent of the legislature pending either a subsequent legislative action or a judicial construction of this provision, Acts 1983, No. 379, § 20, has been codified in this section as an amendment to the 1941 and 1979 provisions, carrying references to all three acts in the historical citation of the section.

Amendments. The 2003 amendment substituted "January 1, 2002" for "January 1, 1999" in (a).

(b) (1) (A) When the director finds that the payment on the due date of the tax or any part of the tax would impose undue hardship upon the estate, the director may extend the time for any payment of any such part.

(B) However, no extension shall be for more than eighteen (18) months, and the aggregate of the extension with respect to any estate shall not exceed five (5) years from the due date, except as provided in subsection (c) of this section.

(2) In such case, the amount in respect of which the extension is granted shall be paid on or before the date of the expiration of the period of the extension unless further extension is granted.

(c) (1) The provisions of 26 U.S.C. § 6166, as amended and in effect on January 1, 2002, which provide for an election by the representative of a decedent's estate to pay the federal estate tax due on certain qualifying assets of the estate in deferred installments for a period of up to fifteen (15) years at a two percent (2%) interest rate regarding either the estate original shown due on the estate tax return or as later determined to be due following audit shall be adopted as a state estate tax law.

(2) (A) However, the two percent (2%) interest rate shall only apply to the “2-percent portion” as that term is defined in 26 U.S.C. § 6601(j)(2), as amended and in effect on January 1, 2002.

(B) The interest rate on the estate tax exceeding the “2-percent portion” shall be at the rate specified in § 26-18-508 concerning tax deficiencies.

(3) Any timely filed election by the representative of the decedent's estate for deferral of the payment of federal estate taxes shall be deemed to also defer the payment of the applicable portion of Arkansas estate tax for the same periods of time for the Arkansas assets qualifying for this special federal election.

History. Acts 1941, No. 136, §§ 24, 25; 1943, No. 142, §§ 1, 2; 1975, No. 472, § 1; A.S.A. 1947, §§ 63-123, 63-124; Acts 1989, No. 910, § 2; 1999, No. 1126, § 11; 2003, No. 645, § 6.

A.C.R.C. Notes. Acts 1989, No. 910, § 1, provided:

“It is hereby found and determined that it has been the policy of the General Assembly to attempt to conform federal and Arkansas tax laws, as much as possible, so as to eliminate confusion and complexity in the administration of Arkansas state tax laws, and to provide Arkansas citizens with the same treatment for state taxes as they receive for federal taxes. Federal tax law now provides a special installment deferral for the payment of federal estate taxes for certain qualifying assets (generally family farms and closely held businesses) of a decedent's estate that are inherited by the members of the decedent's family. This special installment deferral provision, of up to fifteen (15) years at a four percent (4%) interest rate, has been enacted by Congress to encourage the continued ownership of family farms and closely held family businesses, rather than forcing the sale or heavy mortgaging of the assets of such businesses to immediately pay estate taxes. Arkansas estate tax law does not now contain similar provisions. Arkansas law now requires a much quicker payment of Arkansas estate taxes on assets of a decedent's estate comprising family farms and closely held family businesses. The General Assembly finds and determines that the estates of Arkansas decedents that are entitled to claim the special deferral payment of federal estate taxes, at a four percent (4%) interest rate, should also be entitled to those same privileges for the payment of Arkansas Estate Tax.”

Amendments. The 2003 amendment, in (c)(1) and (c)(2), substituted “January 1, 2002” for “January 1, 1999.”

Case Notes

Allocation of Funds.

Allocation of Funds.

In a misappropriation of "public funds" case, where taxpayer challenged the constitutionality of two appropriation bills, Acts 1997, Nos. 413 and 672, and alleged that all appropriations made under the bills constituted illegal exactions in violation of Ark. Const. Art. V, § 29, the trial court did not err in applying the defense of good faith because the Acts were presumed valid and penalties should not be imposed on state officials or citizens for doing likewise; further, in the five-year span between the filing of the lawsuit and the trial court's order, the Economic Development of Arkansas Fund Commission had been abolished and all monies appropriated through the Commission were spent, thus, neither injunctive relief nor restitution were proper remedies and the taxpayer's claims were moot. *White v. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that Act 239 of 1969 provided revenues for the State Parks, Recreation and Travel Commission and the Arkansas Children's Colony Board; that a decision of the Arkansas Supreme Court has delayed these agencies in utilizing said funds; that there is immediate need for these funds particularly in the construction, repair and improvements of the public parks system and the Arkansas Children's Colonies; and that only by the immediate passage of this Act may said funds be immediately available to be appropriated by the Sixty-Eighth General Assembly. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1971, No. 398, § 3: Mar. 26, 1971. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that Act 275 of 1971, the Real Estate Transfer Tax Act, provides for the sale of documentary stamps to evidence the payment of the tax by the County Recorder rather than by the local offices of the State Revenue Department; that this additional duty placed upon the Recorder will increase the work load of the Recorder's office significantly and places a severe hardship on the various County Recorders throughout the State and should be revised immediately so as to provide for the sale of documentary stamps by the various local offices of the State Revenue Department. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1975, No. 992, § 3: Apr. 11, 1975. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the present law levying the real estate transfer tax has been interpreted to include timber deeds which convey or grant the right to sever and remove timber from lands; that the application of the real estate transfer tax to such timber deeds create an unusual and unreasonable tax burden on timber land owners in this State and that it is in the best interest of the continued growth and development of the wood products industry in the State that timber deeds conveying the right to remove timber from lands for periods of not more than eighteen (18) months be exempt from the real estate transfer tax, that this Act is designed to accomplish this purpose and should be given effect at the earliest possible date. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1981, No. 287, § 3: Mar. 3, 1981. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that the present law levying a real estate transfer tax has been the subject of conflicting interpretations as to whether the tax includes deeds, instruments or other writings by which any lands, tenements, or other realty sold or otherwise transferred from the United States, the State of Arkansas or any of the instrumentalities, agencies or political subdivisions thereof; that the confusion which has existed with respect to such conflicting interpretations is not in the public interest as it has impaired the ability of the State of Arkansas and its instrumentalities, agencies, and political subdivisions to transfer ownership of lands, tenements and other realty; and that this Act is designed to resolve such confusion and should be given effect at the earliest possible date. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and the Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1983, No. 754, § 9: July 1, 1983.

Acts 1985, No. 926, § 7: Apr. 15, 1985. Acts 1993, No. 1181, § 5: emergency failed to pass. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the provisions of this act are of critical importance to the state's ability to continue the duties, responsibilities, and functions of the Arkansas Natural and Cultural Resources Council. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist, and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Eightieth General Assembly, that various laws have been enacted since the passage of the Revenue Classification Law which have changed or created various revenues collected by the State, and that this amendment to the Revenue Classification Law is necessary in order to reflect the various taxes, licenses, fees and other revenues levied and collected for the support of and use by State Government as they currently exist and from which appropriations which become effective July 1, 1995 have been made by the Eightieth General Assembly. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1995.”

Acts 1997, No. 385, § 9: Mar. 6, 1997. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that Act 10 of the First Extraordinary Session of 1995 abolished the original ten subject matter joint interim committees of the General Assembly and in their place established House interim committees and Senate interim committees; that as a result, various sections of the Arkansas Code that refer to the joint interim committees should now refer to the House and Senate interim committees; that this act so provides; and that this act should go into effect as soon as possible in order to make those sections of the Arkansas Code compatible. Therefore an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, it shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, it shall become effective on the date the last house overrides the veto.”

Acts 1997, No. 788, § 36: became law without the Governor's signature. Noted Mar. 11, 1997. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1997.”

Acts 1997, No. 1341, § 35: became law without the Governor's signature. Noted Apr. 11, 1997. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after July 1, 1997.”

Acts 1999, No. 361, § 8: July 1, 1999. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Eighty-second General Assembly, that the authorized transfer from the real estate transfer tax to support county and circuit clerks continuing education is insufficient and when the amount of transfer is increased, the appropriation level must also be adjusted. Case Notes

Revenue Stamps.

Revenue Stamps.

Trial court did not err in awarding an individual punitive damages and attorney fees under § 5-37-226(c), and although the trial court did not make a finding that the instrument was filed with knowledge that it was not genuine or authentic, such a finding was implicit when the court awarded punitive damages under the statute, and the findings were supported by the evidence that the company prepared quitclaim deeds to the entire 40 acres, despite one acre having been carved out, the company was a shell company, and there were no revenue stamps on the deeds under subsection (b) of this section, and the letter attached to the individual's complaint implied that the company was seeking money from the individual in order to clear his title; because the award was based on a statutory remedy, the trial court could have awarded punitive damages without first having awarded compensatory damages. *J. (b) Any person guilty of providing false information on the affidavit or making a false certification or who shall fail to disclose the full amount of the consideration of the transaction on the affidavit and pay the tax due thereon or who makes a false certification and fails to pay the correct amount of tax due as required by this chapter, shall be subject to the penalties provided for in §§ 26-18-201 — 26-18-204.

26-61-111. Failure of county officials to collect taxes.

(a) It is found and determined by the General Assembly that the Arkansas Forestry Commission is in need of additional funds for the protection of the forestlands of this state from forest fires and for the performance of the various duties required to be performed by the commission, and it is further determined by the General Assembly that the commission derives its support from:

- (1) The allocation of general revenue funds to partially defray its operating costs;
- (2) The allocation of timber and timber products severance taxes; and
- (3) The income derived from the taxes levied on timberland under the provisions of this chapter.

(b) The General Assembly further determines that county officials in certain counties of this state are not enforcing the duties imposed upon their respective offices with respect to the levy and collection of the forest fire protection tax as intended by law and that, in order to recover moneys lost for the commission due to the failure of these officials to levy and collect these taxes and to assure equity in the enforcement of tax collections in this state, those counties in which the officials fail to levy and collect the forest fire protection tax shall be penalized by withholding the amount of general revenues intended to be distributed as county aid to those counties, with the amount withheld to be equal to the amount of the forest fire protection tax that should have been collected.

(c) (1) (A) Each county assessor shall report to the State Forester the number of acres of timberland as reflected in the reappraisal of real property in his or her county under Arkansas Constitution, Amendment 59.

(B) The State Forester may examine the books of the county assessor in order to verify the report.

(2) (A) (i) If the State Forester certifies to the Treasurer of State that the taxable timberland acreage within a county under this chapter has decreased in any year to less than ninety-five percent (95%) of the taxable timber land acreage as determined by the reassessment of property under Arkansas Constitution, Amendment 59, the Treasurer of State shall withhold from general revenues within the County Aid Fund an amount calculated by multiplying five cents (5¢) by the number of taxable timberland acres which the State Forester certifies as having not been taxed that year under this chapter.

(ii) The Treasurer of State shall place in escrow the funds withheld pending further instructions by the State Forester.

(B) (i) Within six (6) months after certification, the State Forester shall examine the records of the county assessor and certify to the Treasurer of State the amount of forest fire protection tax revenues which were not collected as a result of errors or omissions, and that amount shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State from the escrow account to the State Forestry Fund to be used for the maintenance, operation, and support of the commission.

(ii) The remainder of the county's escrowed funds shall be distributed as county aid to the county.

Effective Dates. Acts 1993, No. 1119, § 28: July 1, 1993. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the Seventy-Ninth General Assembly that no provisions currently exist in the Arkansas Code regarding the taxation of certain alternative fuels utilized in propelling motor vehicles in this state; that such vehicles are currently being operated on the highways, roads and streets of this state without the payment of any fuel taxes thus creating an inequity among the various classes of road-users in this state. It is further found that only by the effectiveness of this act as soon as practicable may such inequity be corrected. (2) (A) Each application for a license as an alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user, and each such license, shall have as a further condition that the applicant and holder shall not deliver or permit delivery into the fuel supply tanks of motor vehicles any alternative fuels on which the tax levied by this chapter is not collected or will be remitted pursuant to § 26-62-209.

(B) A taxable use of alternative fuels on which the tax is not collected by an applicant for, or a holder of, an alternative fuels supplier license or on a licensed interstate user or IFTA carrier user on which the tax is not remitted pursuant to § 26-62-209, in addition to the penal provisions prescribed in this chapter, shall cause immediate cancellation of the applicant or holder's license.

(c) (1) (A) Every alternative fuels supplier shall file with the director a surety bond of not less than one and one-half (1½) times or one hundred fifty percent (150%) of the prior six-months' average alternative fuels tax due which is based upon the gallon equivalent of alternative fuels to be sold or distributed:

(i) As shown by the application for a license if the applicant has not previously been engaged in the business of an alternative fuels supplier; or

(ii) As shown by sales for the previous year if the applicant previously has been engaged in such business in this state.

(B) However, no bond shall be filed for less than one thousand dollars ($1,000).

(2) If the director deems it necessary to protect the state in the collection of alternative fuels taxes, the director may require any alternative fuels supplier to post a bond in an amount up to three (3) times or three hundred percent (300%) of the prior six (6) months' average alternative fuels tax due.

(3) (A) However, the director is authorized to waive the posting of bond by any licensed alternative fuels supplier organized and operating under the laws of Arkansas and wholly owned by residents of this state who has been licensed for a period of at least three (3) years and who has not been delinquent in remitting alternative fuels taxes during the three-year period immediately preceding application by the alternative fuels supplier for waiver of bond.

(B) If any alternative fuels supplier whose bond has been waived by the director as authorized in subdivision (c)(3)(A) of this section subsequently becomes delinquent in remitting alternative fuels taxes to the director, the director may require that the alternative fuels supplier post a bond in the amount required in this section, and the alternative fuels supplier shall not be eligible to petition for a waiver of bond for a period of three (3) years thereafter.

(2) Any violation of this chapter shall be cause for revocation of any license issued under this chapter.

(e) (1) The bond or bonds shall be issued by a surety company qualified to do business in Arkansas, which shall be executed by the alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user as the principal obligor and shall be made payable to the State of Arkansas as the obligee.

(2) The bond shall be conditioned upon the prompt filing of true reports and the payment by the alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user to the director of any and all alternative fuels taxes which are levied or imposed by the State of Arkansas, together with any and all penalties and interest thereon, and generally, upon faithful compliance with the provisions of this chapter.

(f) (1) In the event that liability upon the bond filed pursuant to this section by the alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user with the director shall be discharged or reduced, whether by judgment rendered, payment made, or otherwise, or if, in the opinion of the director, any surety on the bond shall have become unsatisfactory or unacceptable, then the director may require the filing of a new bond with a satisfactory surety in the same form and amount; failing which, the director shall immediately cancel the license of the alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user.

(2) If a new bond shall be furnished, the director shall cancel the bonds for which the new bond shall be substituted.

(g) In the event that upon hearing of which the alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user shall be given five (5) days' notice in writing, the director shall decide that the amount of the existing bond is insufficient to ensure payment to the State of Arkansas of the amount of the tax and any penalties and interest for which said alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user is or may at any time become liable, then the alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user upon written demand of the director shall immediately file an additional bond in the same manner and form and with a surety company thereon approved by the director in any amount determined by the director to be necessary to secure at all times the payment to the State of Arkansas of all taxes, penalties, and interest due under the provisions of this chapter; failing which, the director shall immediately cancel the license of the alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user.

(h) (1) (A) Any surety on any bond furnished as provided in this section shall be released and discharged from any and all liability to the State of Arkansas accruing on the bond after the expiration of sixty (60) days from the date upon which a surety shall have lodged with the director a written request to be released and discharged.

(B) However, the request shall not operate to relieve, release, or discharge the surety from any liability already accrued, or which shall accrue, before the expiration of the sixty-day period.

(2) Upon receipt of notice of such request, the director shall promptly notify the alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user who furnished the bond, and unless the alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user, on or before the expiration of the sixty-day period, files with the director a new bond with a surety company satisfactory to the director in the amount and form as provided in this section, the director shall immediately cancel the license of that alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user.

(3) If a new bond shall be furnished as provided in this section, the director shall cancel the bond for which the new bond shall be substituted.

(i) In lieu of furnishing a bond or bonds executed by a surety company as provided in this section, any alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user may furnish a bond or other instrument, in form prescribed by the director, equal to the amount of the bond or bonds required by this section which will provide security or payment of all amounts as described in this section and in compliance with all provisions of this chapter.

(j) (1) Any violation of this chapter shall be cause for revocation of any license issued pursuant to this chapter.

(2) (A) Should his or her license be revoked, any alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user may bring an action against the director in the Pulaski County Circuit Court within fifteen (15) days of the date of revocation to determine whether or not the alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user has in fact violated any of the provisions of this chapter.

(B) If the court determines that the provisions of the law have been violated by the alternative fuels supplier, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user, it shall affirm the director's action in revoking the license.

(k) If any of the provisions of this chapter regarding IFTA carrier users conflicts with the International Fuel Tax Agreement, § 26-55-1101 et seq., entered into by this state, the provisions of the International Fuel Tax Agreement, § 26-55- 1101 et seq., shall govern.

(c) The sales tickets as described in subsections (a) and (b) of this section shall be the only evidence accepted for tax credit by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration under the provisions of § 26-62-209.

(d) Any licensed alternative fuels supplier or agent or employee of the alternative fuels supplier who issues any sales ticket or invoice to any user showing that the user has purchased a quantity of alternative fuels from the alternative fuels supplier, agent, or employee when, in fact, the user has not purchased alternative fuels or has purchased less alternative fuels than the sales ticket or invoice shows shall be guilty of a violation and upon conviction shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars ($100) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000).

(e) (1) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration, in consultation with the Director of State Highways and Transportation shall promulgate rules and regulations regarding an alternative to the required usage of sales tickets for all sales of natural gas fuels made by alternative fuels suppliers by separate meter as provided in § 26-62-203.

(2) It is the intent of this directive that if a user, other than an interstate user or IFTA carrier user, receives natural gas fuels through a separate meter, there shall be no sales ticket requirement.

(a) (1) Every alternative fuels supplier on or before the twenty-fifth day of each calendar month shall file with the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration on forms prescribed by the director a report accounting for the alternative fuels taxable under this chapter during the preceding month and shall remit all taxes as reflected by the report to the director at the time of filing such report.

(2) The alternative fuels supplier shall file supporting documents necessary to assure accurate reporting. The reports shall include the following:

(A) An itemized statement of the number of equivalent gallons of alternative fuels sold and delivered into the fuel supply tanks of motor vehicles during the next preceding calendar month by the alternative fuels supplier;

(B) An itemized statement of the number of gallons equivalent of alternative fuels delivered into the fuel supply tanks of motor vehicles owned, leased, or operated by the alternative fuels supplier during the next preceding calendar month by the alternative fuels supplier;

History. Acts 1993, No. 1119, § 14.

26-62-207. Records required — Invoices — Falsification of records.

(a) Every person required by law to secure a license under this chapter shall keep records in the time and manner and subject to inspection and audit as required by the Arkansas Tax Procedure Act, § 26-18-101 et seq., including a complete record of all alternative fuels taxable under this chapter and sold, delivered, or used by the person, showing for each purchase, receipt, sale, delivery, or use:

(1) The date;

(2) The name and address of the seller from whom the user, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user purchased the fuels and that interstate user or IFTA carrier user's license number; and

(3) An accurate record of the number of gallons equivalent of alternative fuels sold or used for taxable purposes with quantities measured by a meter.

(b) (1) For each delivery of alternative fuels directly into the fuel supply tank of a motor vehicle, the required record shall include a serially-numbered invoice issued in not less than triplicate counterparts on which shall be printed or stamped with a rubber stamp the name and address of the alternative fuels supplier making such delivery and on which shall be shown, in spaces to be provided on that invoice, the:

(A) Date of delivery;

(B) Number of equivalent gallons and kind of alternative fuels so delivered;

(C) Total mileage recorded on the odometer or hub meter of the motor vehicle into which delivered; and

(D) Motor vehicle registration number of the motor vehicle, or the interstate user, or IFTA carrier user's license number, if applicable.

(2) The invoice shall reflect that the tax has been paid or accounted for on each of the products delivered.

(3) (A) One (1) counterpart of the invoice required by this subsection shall be kept by the alternative fuels supplier making such delivery as a part of his or her record and for the period of time and purposes provided in this chapter.

(B) Another counterpart shall be delivered to the operator of the motor vehicle and carried in the cab compartment of the motor vehicle for inspection by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration or his or her representatives until the fuel it covers has been consumed.

(c) (1) Every person who operates a motor vehicle that is equipped to use motor fuels taxable under the Motor Fuel Tax Law, § 26-55-201 et seq., or equipped to use distillate special fuels taxable under the Special Motor Fuels Tax Law, § 26-56-101 et seq., and alternative fuels interchangeably in the propulsion of the motor vehicle shall carry in the cab compartment of the motor vehicle for inspection by the director or his or her representative not only the counterpart of the serially-numbered invoice required under subsection (b) of this section for the delivery of alternative fuels into the fuel supply tanks of the motor vehicle but also an invoice or receipt from the seller for each delivery into the fuel supply tanks of the motor vehicle of motor fuels taxable under the Motor Fuel Tax Law, § 26-55-201 et seq., or of distillate special fuels taxable under the Special Motor Fuels Tax Law, § 26-56-101 et seq., which latter invoices or receipts shall show the same information as to date of delivery, quantity, odometer or hub meter mileage, and motor vehicle registration number as is required for the invoice covering alternative fuels.

(2) These invoices shall be carried with the motor vehicle until the types of fuels covered thereby have been consumed.

(d) The willful issuance of any invoice required by this chapter, bill of sale, or receipt which is false, untrue, or incorrect in any material particular, or the alteration or changing except for errors, or forging any such invoice, bill of sale, or receipt, or any duplicate of any such receipt pertaining to alternative fuels, shall constitute a violation of this chapter.

(e) All sales to users made pursuant to § 26-62-203 shall not require the carriage of an invoice by the user, provided that the director shall provide by regulation another means of providing an indication that the tax on the fuel being utilized to propel the motor vehicle will ultimately be paid by the user to the alternative fuels supplier, who is required to remit such tax to the director.

History. Acts 1993, No. 1119, § 15.

26-62-208. Prima facie presumptions — Failure to keep records, issue invoices, or file reports — Tax, penalties, and interest.

(a) Any alternative fuels supplier, user, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user who fails to keep the records, issue the invoices, or file the reports required by this chapter shall be prima facie presumed to have sold, delivered, or used for taxable purposes all alternative fuels shown by a verified audit by the Arkansas State Highway and Transportation Department, the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration, or any authorized representative.

(b) (1) The director is authorized to fix or establish the amount of taxes, penalties, and interest due the State of Arkansas from any record or information available to the director, or to the Arkansas State Highway and Transportation Department, and if the tax claim as developed from that procedure is not paid, the claim and any audit made by the Arkansas State Highway and Transportation Department, the director, or an authorized representative, or any report filed by such alternative fuels supplier, user, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user shall be admissible in evidence in any suit or judicial proceedings filed by the director and shall be prima facie evidence of the correctness of said claim or audit.

(2) However, the prima facie presumption of the correctness of the claim may be overcome by evidence adduced by the alternative fuels supplier, user, interstate user, or IFTA carrier user.

History. Acts 1993, No. 1119, § 16.

26-62-209. Interstate users and IFTA carrier users — Reports — Computation of tax and refunds.

(a) For the purpose of determining whether an interstate user or IFTA carrier user owes alternative fuels tax or is entitled to a credit or refund, the licensed interstate user or licensed IFTA carrier user shall file a quarterly report on or before the twenty-fifth day of the month following the end of each calendar quarter, which shall be made on forms prescribed by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration, which forms shall include such information as the director may require.

(b) If it shall be determined by the quarterly report that the licensed interstate user or licensed IFTA carrier user has used alternative fuels in this state in excess of the number of equivalent gallons of the fuel upon which the Arkansas tax had been paid, the interstate user or IFTA carrier user shall remit to the director at the time of filing the report an excise tax at the rate as previously determined in accordance with § 26-62-201 per equivalent gallon for the taxable quarter multiplied by the number of equivalent gallons used on which the tax has not been paid.

(c) If it shall be determined that the licensed interstate user or licensed IFTA carrier user has purchased more equivalent gallons of alternative fuels in this state than he or she has used in this state, then the licensed interstate user or licensed IFTA carrier user shall be entitled to a credit or refund at the rate as previously determined in accordance with § 26-62-201 per equivalent gallon for the taxable quarter for the number of excess equivalent gallons upon which the tax has been paid.

(d) Licensed interstate users or licensed IFTA carrier users may not take credit on reports at a tax rate in excess of that actually paid.

(e) (1) (A) For the purpose of determining whether such a licensed interstate user or licensed IFTA carrier user owes tax or is entitled to a credit or refund, such licensed user shall determine the average miles per equivalent gallon of alternative fuels used.

(B) The average miles per equivalent gallon shall be determined by dividing total miles traveled in all jurisdictions by the total equivalent gallons of alternative fuels used in all jurisdictions.

(C) Such licensed user shall then determine the total amount of alternative fuels used within the State of Arkansas by dividing the total number of miles traveled within the State of Arkansas by the average miles per equivalent gallon.

(2) The taxpayer's tax liability shall be calculated by multiplying the number of equivalent gallons of alternative fuels used within the State of Arkansas by the applicable tax rate for that calendar quarter per equivalent gallon.

(3) A taxpayer shall be entitled to credits against his or her tax liability for tax-paid alternative fuels purchased within the State of Arkansas.

(f) (1) Whenever any licensed interstate user or licensed IFTA carrier user who fails to maintain adequate mileage or fuel records, then for the purpose of determining the amount the licensed user owes the State of Arkansas for tax on alternative fuels used in this state as provided in this section, the number of equivalent gallons of alternative fuels used in this state shall be determined by an assessment based on the following mileage factors per equivalent gallon of alternative fuels, regardless of the type of alternative fuels, as compared to the appropriate class of vehicle set out in subdivision (f)(2) of this section.

(2) For the purposes of this section:

(A) All automobiles, except buses, with a capacity of fewer than eight (8) passengers shall be deemed to be Class A vehicles;

(B) All truck-type vehicles, except buses, with a factory rating and gross loaded weight of less than twenty-two thousand five hundred pounds (22,500 lbs.), shall be deemed to be Class B vehicles;

(C) All other vehicles, except buses, with a factory rating in excess of twenty-two thousand five hundred pounds (22,500 lbs.), or whose total gross loaded weight exceeds twenty-two thousand five hundred pounds (22,500 lbs.), shall be deemed to be Class C vehicles; and

(D) All buses rated and licensed as such shall be deemed to be Class D vehicles.

(3) The mileage factor per equivalent gallon of alternative fuels for:

- (A) Class A vehicles shall be twelve (12) miles;
- (B) Class B vehicles shall be eight (8) miles;
- (C) Class C vehicles shall be five (5) miles; and
- (D) Class D vehicles shall be six (6) miles.

(4) These mileage factors shall be utilized in conjunction with the Arkansas mileage as determined through an audit and based upon the best records available regardless of source.

(g) For the purpose of determining the amount any unlicensed or unbonded user owes the State of Arkansas for tax on alternative fuels used in this state, only the above mileage factors per equivalent gallon of alternative fuels for the applicable vehicles shall be utilized.

(h) (1) (A) If a quarterly report of a licensed interstate user or licensed IFTA carrier user results in a net credit, such user may elect to have the credit carried forward and applied against the alternative fuels tax due for the succeeding eight (8) quarters or until the credit is completely used, whichever occurs first.

(B) In the alternative, a taxpayer who is entitled to a net credit on his or her quarterly fuel tax report may elect to have the amount of credit refunded to him or her.

(2) A licensed interstate user or licensed IFTA carrier user who has a total tax liability for alternative fuels tax during the previous calendar year of less than one hundred dollars ($100) upon application to the director may obtain permission to report his or her alternative fuels tax liability on an annual basis. The annual report shall be due on or before the twenty-fifth day of the month following the end of each fiscal year.

(i) The director shall prescribe the appropriate forms necessary for the administration of this chapter. The director may make appropriate rules and regulations necessary to ensure the accurate reporting of the alternative fuels tax.

26-62-210. Interstate users and IFTA carrier users — Tax refund procedure.

(a) (1) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration shall quarterly estimate the amount necessary to pay refunds to licensed interstate users and licensed IFTA carrier users of alternative fuels who are entitled to refunds with respect to alternative fuels taxes paid in this state as authorized in § 26-62-209, and upon certification by the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration, the Treasurer of State shall transfer from the gross amount of alternative fuels taxes collected each month the amount to the Interstate Alternative Fuels Refund Fund, which is established on the books of the State Treasury, from which the Department of Finance and Administration shall make refunds as provided by law.

(2) The transfers from the gross alternative fuels taxes collected each month shall be after deducting allowances for bad checks or claims but before making any other distribution as provided by law.

(b) All warrants drawn against the fund which are not presented for payment within one (1) year of issuance shall be void.

(c) Neither the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration nor any member or employee of the Department of Finance and Administration shall be held personally liable for making any refund by reason of a fraudulent claim's being filed as a basis for such refund.

(d) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration in consultation with the Director of State Highways and Transportation is authorized to promulgate rules and regulations and to prescribe the necessary forms required for the administration of claims for tax refunds from licensed interstate users or licensed IFTA carrier users of alternative fuels in this state as authorized by law, which rules and regulations shall be in conformance with the following requirements:

(1) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration shall first determine with respect to each refund claim filed that the bond of the interstate user or IFTA carrier user is adequate to compensate the State of Arkansas for any losses with respect to the recovery of any refunds illegally claimed by such user, and the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration may require the increase of the bond if the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration determines it to be inadequate before approving any such claim for refund;

(2) Each licensed interstate user or licensed IFTA carrier user of alternative fuels claiming refunds shall maintain adequate records to substantiate each claim for refund, and the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration may reject any claim for refund if the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration determines the applicant has not maintained adequate records or has not conformed to the rules and regulations of the Department of Finance and Administration in filing the claim therefor;

(3) Each claim for refund must be upon the request of the licensed interstate user or licensed IFTA carrier user, which shall be verified by such user as to its accuracy and validity;

(4) (A) Each quarterly report filed by a licensed interstate user or licensed IFTA carrier user of alternative fuels with the Department of Finance and Administration shall reflect thereon the amount of alternative fuels purchased for use in Arkansas during the quarter, the number of equivalent gallons of alternative fuels upon which taxes are due the State of Arkansas for the quarter, and the excess equivalent gallons upon which such user is entitled to refunds.

(B) At the end of each calendar quarter, the licensed interstate user or licensed IFTA carrier user may apply for a refund with respect to the number of equivalent gallons of alternative fuels upon which the alternative fuels taxes have been paid during the calendar quarter for which the licensed interstate user or licensed IFTA carrier user is entitled to a refund; and

(5) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration is authorized to promulgate any such rules or regulations the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration deems desirable in consultation with the Director of State Highways and Transportation regarding refunds to licensed interstate users and IFTA carrier users.

(e) For the purpose of determining the amount the interstate user owes the State of Arkansas for tax on alternative fuels used in this state as provided in this section, the number of equivalent gallons of alternative fuels used in this state shall be determined by an assessment based on the mileage factors per equivalent gallon of alternative fuels set out in § 26-62-209(f) compared to the appropriate class of vehicle set out in § 26-62-209(f).

(f) The alternative fuels tax levied by this chapter shall be paid upon all such fuels used to propel out-of-state motor vehicles upon the highways of this state.

(g) The tax shall be paid by the owner or operator of the motor vehicle in either of the following ways, at the option of the owner or operator:

(2) If an unlicensed alternative fuels user is within one (1) mile of the state line on the way out of the state and does not have in his or her possession a form issued by a licensed alternative fuels supplier showing the number of equivalent gallons purchased equal to the amount used in traveling upon the highways of the State of Arkansas, it shall be prima facie evidence of his or her failure to comply with the requirements of this chapter, and he or she shall be liable for the payment of the tax due, plus the fine as set out in § 26-62-106.

(3) In the event an unlicensed alternative fuels user enters the State of Arkansas via a state highway not equipped with a permanent port of entry, and the driver of the vehicle does not receive an entry form, then the burden of proof of the point of entry and time of entry for the purpose of determining the miles traveled and the tax due shall be upon the driver or owner of the vehicle.

Taxation Generally

- Subchapter 1 — General Provisions
- Subchapter 2 — Municipal Corporations
- Subchapter 3 — Counties

Effective Dates. Acts 1994 (1st Ex. Sess.), Nos. 6 and 7, § 10: Mar. 4, 1994. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found and determined by the Seventy-Ninth General Assembly that the decision of the Arkansas Court of Appeals in AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. v. City of Little Rock [44 Ark. App. 30, 866 S.W.2d 414 (1993)] has created uncertainty and confusion concerning the ability of municipalities to assess franchise fees as a term or condition for the use of public rights-of-way; that the immediate implementation of this Act is necessary to eliminate this uncertainty and confusion and to reconfirm the authority of municipalities to levy franchise fees. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act, being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

Effective Dates. Acts 1977, No. 942, § 12: Apr. 1, 1977. Emergency clause provided: "It is hereby found that providing local taxing powers to county and city governments is essential to the well-being of the populace of the State of Arkansas and is necessary to provide the ability to raise local revenues for local projects and services; therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, welfare and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.” Acts 1991, No. 200, § 6: Feb. 20, 1991. Emergency clause provided: “It has been found, and is hereby declared by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas, that certain counties and municipalities within the State of Arkansas, as a result of foreseen elimination of federal funds heretofore made available to them and used for a variety of vital public purposes, will not be able to and cannot provide the funds necessary to provide such vital public service and purpose to their inhabitants without additional funding authority from the State of Arkansas; that the most appropriate way for such counties or municipalities to provide funds for this purpose is by the levy of a sales and use tax on the gross receipts derived from certain businesses within the counties and municipalities, and that this Act is needed and should be given effect at the earliest possible date; therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this Act being necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, welfare and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1991, No. 777, § 6: Mar. 26, 1991. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby determined by the General Assembly that cities and counties are faced with financial crises with reference to having sufficient tax resources to maintain and finance capital improvements of a public nature and to provide services to their inhabitants; that under current law the cities and counties are restricted to a one percent (1%) sales and use tax levy; that the ability to levy a sales and use tax computed on any fraction of one percent (1%) would be a feasible alternative for some cities and counties in financial crisis; and that such financial crises constitute such an emergency that the immediate passage of this act is necessary in order to provide financial relief to the cities and counties. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall take effect and be in full force from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1992 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 40, § 5: Mar. 11, 1992. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the existing taxing authority for counties to fund vital county services is inadequate; and that this act will provide authority for the counties to raise additional revenues to provide for vital county services for the residents of the county. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval.”

Acts 1995, No. 565, § 25: July 1, 1995. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly of the State of Arkansas that there are in excess of 300 different local sales and use taxes in effect; that many of these taxes are for specified duration; that notification of affected taxpayers of the beginning and ending of these taxes is time consuming and costly; that requiring local sales and use taxes to begin and end on a calendar quarter basis will ease the administrative burden of taxpayers and the cost to the State of Arkansas; and that an effective date of July 1, 1995 is necessary to achieve the purpose of this legislation. Therefore, an emergency is hereby declared to exist and this act being necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall be in full force and effect on and after July 1, 1995.”

Acts 1997, No. 947, § 5: Mar. 31, 1997. Emergency clause provided: “It is hereby found and determined by the General Assembly that the existing taxing authority for counties to fund vital county services is inadequate; and that this act will provide authority for the counties to raise additional revenues to provide for vital county services for the residents of the county by renting capital improvements. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety shall become effective on the date of its approval by the Governor. If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, it shall become effective on the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill. Therefore, an emergency is declared to exist and this act being immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety shall become effective on: (1) The date of its approval by the Governor; (2) If the bill is neither approved nor vetoed by the Governor, the expiration of the period of time during which the Governor may veto the bill; or (3) If the bill is vetoed by the Governor and the veto is overridden, the date the last house overrides the veto.”

26-73-103. Levy of new taxes permitted — Exceptions.

(a) (1) In addition to all other authority of local governments to levy taxes provided by law, any county acting through its quorum court or any municipality acting through its governing body may levy any tax not otherwise prohibited by law.

(2) However, no ordinance levying an income tax authorized by this subchapter or any other tax not authorized shall be valid until adopted at a special or general election by the qualified electors of the city or in the area of the county where the tax is to be imposed, as the case may be.

(b) A local government shall not levy a tax on fuel, tobacco, or alcoholic beverages except as authorized by law.

(c) (1) The provisions of this subchapter shall not apply to lands, buildings, facilities, and equipment, also known as licensed facilities, located in this state used by a franchise holder at any time for licensed horse or dog racing in this state nor to any income of the franchise holder derived from the use of such licensed facilities from every source whatever except the sale of food and beverages at such licensed facilities.

(2) Nor shall this subchapter apply to any moneys derived by the franchise holder from pari-mutuel wagering at such licensed facilities, but this provision shall not exempt a franchise holder from a general income tax levied against all taxpayers in the taxing county or municipality.

(d) Nothing in this subchapter shall be construed to diminish the existing powers of county governments or city governments.

(e) Any taxes proposed by ordinance at the quorum court of the county shall be designed to benefit not only the county but also the municipalities located wholly or partially within the county.

(f) Nothing in this subchapter shall terminate, repeal, or otherwise affect a gross receipts tax on the receipts derived from hotels, motels, and restaurants located within any city levied under the provisions of § 26-75-601 et seq.

(g) Until otherwise authorized by the General Assembly, cities and counties shall have no authority to levy any new sales or use taxes after April 1, 1977.

(h) Nothing in this subchapter shall limit the authority of municipalities to assess or contract for franchise fees pursuant to §§ 14-54-704 and 14-200-101 or any other enabling legislation related to franchise fees.

History. Acts 1977, No. 942, § 3; A.S.A. 1947, § 17-2002; Acts 1994 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 6, § 4; 1994 (1st Ex. Sess.), No. 7, § 4.

Publisher's Notes. Identical Acts 1994 (1st Ex. Sess.) Nos. 6 and 7, § 1, provided:
"LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS.

(a) In the State of Arkansas, municipalities are granted jurisdiction and authority over the use and control of the public rights-of-way within the corporate limits of the municipality, to the extent that such jurisdiction does not conflict with state or federal statutes or regulations.

(b) This historic authority has included the right to assess franchise fees for the privilege of the use of such rights-of-way and of providing utility service to the public.

(c) On numerous occasions, the courts of the State of Arkansas have referred to this right to assess franchise fees against public utilities. For example, in Hot Springs Electric Light Co. v. Hot Springs, 70 Ark. 300 (1902), the Arkansas Supreme Court expressly stated that cities may assess a franchise fee as a condition for the use of public rights-of-way."

Identical Acts 1994 (1st Ex. Sess.) Nos. 6 and 7, § 2, provided:

"STATEMENT OF POLICY. It is, and historically has been, the policy of the State of Arkansas to permit municipalities, as one means of raising revenues, to assess municipal franchise fees against public utilities for the privilege of providing utility services to the public and of using public rights-of-way, including streets, highways, or other public places of any kind whatsoever within municipal boundaries and such franchise fees have not been considered to be within the scope of A.C.A. § 26-73-103 so as to require a vote of the electorate.

"It is also the policy of the State that nothing in this Act shall amend or adversely impact the terms and provisions of an existing franchise agreement between a municipality and a public utility entered into pursuant to A.C.A. § 14-54-704, A.C.A. § 14-200-101, or any other enabling legislation relating to franchise fees in effect at the time of the agreement."

Case Notes

Approval of Voters.

Fees.

Utility Expansion Capital.

Approval of Voters.

Because voters did not approve the surcharge, it constituted an illegal tax. Barnhart v. City of Fayetteville, 321 Ark. 197, 900 S.W.2d 539 (1995).

Fees.

A series of ordinances that placed "tapping fees" on builders or lot owners connecting onto city's existing water and sewer systems and required "access fees" from any person or entity connecting to city's transmission lines, placing the funds collected from these respective fees in separate accounts designed as the "water expansion account" and "sewer expansion account" and used solely to expand the city's water and sewer systems, were valid because they assessed fees and not taxes. City of Marion v. Baioni, 312 Ark. 423, 850 S.W.2d 1 (1993).

The distinction between a tax and a fee is that government imposes a tax for general revenue purposes, but a fee is imposed in the government's exercise of its police powers. City of Marion v. Baioni, 312 Ark. 423, 850 S.W.2d 1 (1993).

The court, in determining whether a governmental charge, assessment or fee is a tax, is not bound by how the enactment or levy labels it. City of Marion v. Baioni, 312 Ark. 423, 850 S.W.2d 1 (1993).

The holding in City of Marion v. Baioni, 312 Ark. 423, 850 S.W.2d 1 (1993), is simply inapplicable to situations where cities are statutorily authorized to assess public utilities franchise fees for the use or occupancy of the cities' rights-of-way. City of Little Rock v. AT&T Communications, 318 Ark. 616, 888 S.W.2d 290 (1994).

Illegal Exactions.

Charge that was imposed by ordinance and used to pay for a salary increase for city policemen and firemen was a payment exacted by the municipality as a contribution toward the cost of maintaining the traditional governmental functions of police and fire protection and was not for a specific, special service, but was a means of raising revenue to pay additional money for services already in effect; therefore, the charge was a tax and not a fee, and the ordinance imposing it, which was never voted on by the electors as required by this section, was void as an illegal exaction. North Little Rock v. Graham, 278 Ark. 547, 647 S.W.2d 452 (1983).

City ordinance imposing charge for police and fire protection and street lighting was not a property tax within the meaning of Ark. Const., Art. 12, § 4 or §§ 26-25-102 and 26-25-103, where ordinance placed tax on the "resident" or "occupant" of the property as opposed to a tax on the "residence" or upon the "real property," and such tax was not otherwise prohibited by subsection (a) of this section. Holt v. City of Maumelle, 302 Ark. 51, 786 S.W.2d 581 (1990).

Utility Expansion Capital.

Raising expansion capital to pay for the extension of existing water and sewer systems to developments where new users reside by setting connection charges, which do not exceed a pro rata share of reasonably anticipated costs of expansion, is permissible where expansion is reasonably required if the use of the money is limited to meeting the cost of that extension. City of Marion v. Baioni, 312 Ark. 423, 850 S.W.2d 1 (1993).

26-73-104. Levy of income and other taxes.

(a) (1) A local government may levy a tax upon the income of its individual residents and corporations and individuals owning a business within the boundaries of the local government levying the tax, but no tax shall be levied on the income of corporations or other business entities in any local governmental unit unless a like tax is levied on the income of individual residents of such governmental unit.

(2) However, in the event a municipality levies an income tax or other tax authorized by this subchapter, with the exception of the sales and use tax, the county within which such municipality is located may not levy or collect that tax being levied by the municipality within the corporate limits of such municipality.

(b) (1) For individual taxpayers, the rate of tax on income authorized by this section shall be a single percentage of the income tax payable to the State of Arkansas.

(2) (A) For all domestic or foreign corporations, the rate of tax on income authorized by this section shall be a percentage of the income tax payable to the State of Arkansas, calculated on an apportionment formula which shall consist of a fraction, the numerator of which is the property factor, plus the payroll factor, plus the sales factor and the denominator of which is three (3).

(B) The sales factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the total sales of the corporation within the local government during the tax period and the denominator of which is the total sales of the corporation within the state for the same tax period.

(C) The payroll factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the total amount paid in the local government during the tax period by the corporation for compensation and the denominator of which is the total compensation paid within the state for the same tax period.

(D) The property factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the average value of the corporation's real and tangible personal property owned or rented and used in the local government during the tax period and the denominator of which is the average value of all the corporation's real and tangible personal property owned or rented and used within the state during the same tax period.

(c) However, a corporation located within the boundaries of a local government and subject to the tax under this section, having no sales, payroll, and property in another local government, shall be permitted the election of being taxed in the same manner as an individual taxpayer under this section.

26-73-105. Collection of taxes.

(a) The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration shall collect the tax levied under this subchapter and shall perform all functions incident to the administration, collection, enforcement, and operation of the taxes in the manner and following the procedures that are prescribed for the corresponding state taxes.

(b) The director shall deduct from all revenues collected pursuant to this subchapter up to three percent (3%) as a cost of collection.

26-73-106. Revenue Local Tax Revolving Fund — Revenue Local Tax Operating Fund.

(a) There are created on the books of the Treasurer of State, the Auditor of State, and the Director of the Department of Finance and Administration a Revenue Local Tax Revolving Fund and a Revenue Local Tax Operating Fund.

(b) All taxes collected by the director under this subchapter shall be deposited into the State Treasury and credited to the Revenue Local Tax Revolving Fund and transmitted at least quarterly in each state fiscal year to the local government levying the tax.

History. Acts 1977, No. 942, § 6; A.S.A. 1947, § 17-2005; Acts 2009, No. 655, § 108.

26-73-107. Rules and regulations.

The Director of the Department of Finance and Administration shall promulgate reasonable rules and regulations not inconsistent with the provisions of this subchapter to implement the enforcement, administration, and collection of the taxes authorized in this subchapter.

History. Acts 1977, No. 942, § 8; A.S.A. 1947, § 17-2007.

26-73-108. Discrimination in use of tax funds prohibited.

(a) (1) No citizen in the State of Arkansas in a county, city, or local community on the grounds of race, color, religion, or national origin shall be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination of services or participation under any program or activity receiving Arkansas tax funds.

(2) Each county, city, local community, or agency within the State of Arkansas which is empowered to extend financial assistance to any program or activity, by the way of Arkansas state, county, or city tax funds shall not engage in any practice of discrimination in participation, employment, services, or in any other human involvement.

(b) Violation of this section shall result in the impoundment of the state, county, or city tax funds so allotted.

History. Acts 1977, No. 942, § 7; A.S.A. 1947, § 17-2006.

26-73-109. Tax information exchange agreements.

- (i) Internal Revenue Service,
- (ii) Director of the Department of Finance and Administration; or
- (iii) Tax administrator of another state or political subdivision.

(B) Any such information exchanged shall be utilized solely for the purpose of enforcing tax laws.

(2) In all other matters concerning the release of tax information, including its release to law enforcement agencies, the local government shall be governed by state law in the same manner as is the director.

(b) Any person who sells or unlawfully divulges to another person or organization any information acquired through the collection of a tax levied under authority of this subchapter is guilty of a Class A misdemeanor and subject to the penalties therefor as defined in the Arkansas Criminal Code.
