STATE CERTIFIED

Real Estate that has been delinquent for two years in our office. No tax-delinquent lands shall be sold at the county level. Each spring, a list of property which falls in this category is sent to the State Land Commissioner's Office where it will remain until the taxpayer pays the State for the delinquent years or until the property is sold at auction.

REDEMPTION

To redeem property from the State Land Commissioner for Real Estate that is delinquent for two years. Certified property can be redeemed either by the owner or it may be sold at auction by the State to another individual. If the original owner wants to redeem the property, they must pay the delinquent taxes, as well as, the State collection fees before they will be issued a Redemption Certificate. However, the property will be offered up for sale at auction by the State if the original owner does not pay the delinquent taxes. If purchased at auction, the new owner must pay the past due taxes and State collection fees before they are issued a Limited Warranty Deed. A Limited Warranty Deed gives the new owner limited ownership for a year, thus allowing the original owner a year to pay the past due taxes and fees in order to regain ownership of the property. If the original owner does not redeem the property within this period of time, the new owner is issued a permanent Warranty Deed for the property. Upon receipt of payment, the State issues a Redemption Certificate to owner and to our office and we can once again accept payments on the property.
